REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.
BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,
Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Vol. VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 3 annas per volume; for England, Rs. 2-6 per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to sicentific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI, (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts I to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year; but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

2. The whole Bill has been cross-referenced to the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, and we have introduced into the Bill all changes necessitated by the substitution of that Act for the numerous other Shipping Acts which it repealed.

3. We have closely compared the provisions of the Bill with those of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, in view to bringing the former measure into accord with the latter in all cases where it seemed clear that no sufficient reasons for a difference in the law existed.

4. We have also carefully compared the wording of the two measures and have altered the wording of the Bill so as to bring it into conformity with the wording of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, in all cases in which the intention of the two measures is the same, and in which it seemed possible that the retention of a different wording in the Bill, however it might otherwise be justified, might lead to a reasonable supposition that a difference in the two laws was intended

5. We have omitted section 17 of the Bill, which rendered liable to port-dues the space occupied by deck cargo in home-trade ships, and have recast, but without materially modifying, the provisions of the whole of Part II.

6 Section 25.—We have provided for the grant of certificates of competency to masters of "Asiatic ships", the meaning of which term we have defined in the explanation annexed to this section. We do not contemplate that the examination to which masters of Asiatic ships should be subjected should do much more than ensure their knowledge of the rules of the road at sea, the reading of signals, etc.

7 In section 26 we have provided for the grant of local certificates of service to engineers in Her Majesty's navy or in the Royal Indian Marine as well as to sub-lieutenants and officers of a higher grade in those services.

We have further provided for the grant of a local certificate of service as master or mate of a home-trade ship not exceeding three hundred tons to any master or mate who before the passing of this Act served as master or mate respectively of a home-trade ship of one hundred tons and upwards. It appears to us that it would be a hardship to require suddenly that none but certificated officers should henceforth be allowed on home-trade ships of between one hundred and three hundred tons burthen which do not under the existing law require certificated officers unless they are passenger boats carrying, if a steamer sixty, and if a sailing vessel thirty, Native passengers.

8. Section 31 (5).—We have so far modified section 31 (5) as to require that masters of Asiatic ships shall possess either local certificates of service or local certificates of competency.

9. In section 32 we have empowered the Government of Bombay to extend the definition of home-trade ships so as to include British steam-ships proceeding from Aden to any foreign port on the coast of Arabia or Africa not being more than six hundred miles distant from Aden.

10. Section 33 (1).—We have omitted the proviso to section 33 (1), which empowered Local Governments to exempt foreign steam-ships from the requirements in regard to certificated officers imposed on British ships. It has been pointed out to us that this power is not given in the English Act and that its exercise might be injurious to the interests of the country.

11. Sections 37 and 38.—We have omitted the offence of stranding a ship in section 37 and in section 38 from the list of offences for which, if caused by his wrongful act or default, the certificate of a master, mate or engineer may be suspended or cancelled by a Court or by a Local Government. The offence in question is not one for which under the English law a certificate can be suspended or cancelled unless it results in the loss or abandonment of, or serious damage to, the ship or in loss of life, or is the result of incompetency. In all such cases it will still remain punishable under the Bill as we propose to amend it, and we do not think that the Indian law should in this matter differ from the English law.

12. We have recast and considerably modified sections 50 and 51. In section 50 (g) we have inserted the words "short allowance of provisions" among the punishments for which regulations may, with the approval of the Governor General in Council, be made and inserted in the agreement with the crew. This modification will bring the clause into accord with the English law on the subject and with the existing Indian law, while it will still be possible for the Governor General in Council in any case or in any particular cases to prohibit the entry in any agreement of a penalty of the nature referred to.

To section 50 (h) we have, at the instance of the Resident at Aden and of the Government of Bombay, added a proviso to prevent lascars or other Native seamen not shipped at Aden or ordinarily resident at that port from being discharged there, a course which would be likely to result in much inconvenience both to the seamen concerned and to the State. We have added a further proviso to the effect that a statutory Native of India of European race or extraction shall not, except with his own express consent, be deemed to be a Native seaman within the meaning of this section.

We have made an important alteration in the existing law in order to permit of the agreement with the crew being signed either by the master or by the owner's agent, instead of requiring, as under the existing law in England and in India, that it shall in all cases be signed by the master.

13. Section 55.—We have modified section 55 (1), consequent on the alteration made in section 51, so as to make the master punishable when he carries a seaman to sea without a lawful agreement having been made with him either by the master himself or by the owner's agent.

14. Section 59.—We have struck out the words "or elsewhere" in section 59, which bound the master to report to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office any change in his crew occurring before his final departure no matter whether the crew was engaged in India or elsewhere. Under the section as it stands report will be necessary only when change occurs in a crew engaged in India.

15. Section 62.—We have inserted the words "otherwise than in accordance with the terms thereof" after the word "discharged" in the fifth line of this section to bring the section into harmony with the English law and with justice.

16. Section 67.—In sub-section (4) of this section and in all other sections of the Bill where an equivalent expression was used we have substituted the words "the ship may be detained" or words to that effect for the words "the Local Government may detain the ship" or equivalent words. It is quite unnecessary, as has been pointed out, that an order of a Local Government should be required in any ordinary case of breach of rule.

To section 67 (5) we have prefixed the words "In the case of a voyage terminating in British India" to show clearly that the sub-section applies only to such cases.

17. Section 68.—In section 68 (1) (a) we have included engine-drivers among the class of officers whose certificates are to be periodically produced to a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office.

18. Section 70.—This section of the Bill permits of advances being made to the seaman himself only. We have altered the section so as to admit of a stipulation to be made in an agreement for a payment in advance to be made either to, or on behalf of, a seaman. This brings the section into accord with the existing English law, from which there seem to be no reasonable grounds why it should differ.

For sub-section (2), which the modification described above practically cancels, we have substituted clause (b) of section 140 of the English Act. Further slight consequential amendments have been made in sub sections (3 and (4).

19. Sections 71 and 72.—We have limited, as in the English Act, the granting by a seaman of allotments of his wages to the case of "near relatives," for which expression we have in section 72 adopted the definition given in section 141 (4) of the English Act.

20. Section 79.—The section, as it originally stood in the Bill, provided for the wages of discharged seamen being paid to them in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office. We have slightly modified the section so as to admit of wages being paid either as above or through a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office.

21. Section 85.—For this important section, which determines the period within which a seaman's wages are to be paid, we have adopted the provisions of the English Act in preference to those of the Bill. The English law makes the whole amount of the wages due within two days (exclusive of any Sunday, fast day in Scotland, or Bank holiday) after the time when the seaman lawfully leaves the ship at the end of his engagement, an advance of pay being claimable on the day the seaman lawfully leaves the ship. The English law is in tolerably close accord with the existing Indian law, which makes the wages payable within three days after the cargo has been delivered or within five days of the seaman's discharge, whichever first happens. No sufficient reasons have been adduced for the change of practice proposed in the Bill, which makes wages payable within one week after the delivery of the cargo has commenced.

22. Section 91.—We have omitted this section and also sections 114, 117, 119 and 126, which made the provisions of Chapters IX, XII, XIII, XIV and XV applicable to Native seamen engaged at any port in British India to serve in a foreign ship. We find that there are no equivalent provisions in the English Act, and the proposed change in procedure could hardly be made without the consent of foreign Powers, which consent it would be difficult to obtain.

23. Section 100 (1) (a).—We have omitted the words "in British India" in clause (a) of this sub section in view to making the section applicable to a British ship registered in British India, which has not been heard of for twelve months or upwards since leaving a port of departure, whether situated in British India or out of British India.

24. Section 106.—We have altered section 106, a new provision in Indian law, to bring it into more exact conformity with section 206 of the English Act, with which it corresponds. We have provided, as in the English Act, that no fee shall be levied for an inspection under the section, and we have further provided that no provisions which have been certified under section 206 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, for use in any voyage shall be again inspected under this section in the course of the same voyage.

25. Section 107.—At the suggestion of the Government of Bombay we have made it compulsory on an officer to whom a complaint is made to examine the provisions and water complained of. The modification made in the section brings it into accord with the English law.

26. Section 110.—We have modified section 110 (1) (a) to provide for the case of a reduction of provisions being imposed as a punishment in accordance with section 50 (g). We have added a new sub-section empowering the Court or Magistrate trying the case to require an inspection and report by a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or other duly empowered officer.

27. Section 113.—The papers relating to the provision of space for Native crews have been considered by the Select Committee. They find that the proposal to increase the space has met with a strong opposition, and in view of this fact, and of the observations made during the discussion in Council and of the importance of the interests involved, they do not consider it wise, in discussing a measure that is mainly one of consolidation, to propose any amendment of the existing law on the subject.

28. Section 114.—We have omitted this section from the Bill. It is generally conceded that, if it is found necessary to reduce the size of lascars' chests, the desired end can best be obtained by providing for it in the agreement which a master enters into with his crew.

29. Section 115.—We have modified section 115 to admit of any other officer appointed for the purpose by the Local Government performing, in lieu of the Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, the duties of inspecting medicines, medical stores, etc.

30. Section 116 (1)—We have slightly modified the wording of clause (a) of this sub-section to make the intention clearer.

31. Section 120.—We have modified this section to bring it more closely into accord with sections 163 and 212 of the English Act, on which it is based, and we have added a new sub-section, No. (4), equivalent to section 163 (2) of the English Act, to render it clear that nothing in section 120 is intended to affect the provisions of the Bill with respect to allotment-notes.

32. Section 130.—We have modified the wording of the section to make it agree more closely with the English Act, and we have inserted in the section the provisions of the existing Indian law, under which the offences of desertion, neglect or failure to join the ship or absence without leave are punishable with imprisonment.

The English Act provides that elsewhere than in England these offences shall be punishable with imprisonment, and we think that the offence of desertion in India may involve such serious consequences that the penalty against it should not be reduced.

33. We have omitted section 134 (4) from the Bill as amended. The provision in question, which allows any seaman or apprentice of a British ship to absent himself from his ship or his duty by giving forty-eight hours' notice to the owner or the master, is by the English Act declared applicable to the United Kingdom only. A similar provision incorporated in Indian law would render nugatory the various measures which it has been found necessary to pass from time to time to prevent European seamen being left stranded in this country.

34. Section 143.—We have added a new clause 143 (1) (a) providing that a seaman or apprentice may be sent on board ship in lieu of being kept in prison if he has been imprisoned (without any limit of time) on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join or to proceed to sea in any ship, or has deserted or absented himself from the ship without leave or has committed any other breach of discipline. This is the existing Indian law, and the omission of the provision in the Bill was apparently due to oversight.

35. Section 152.—We have modified this section to admit of the wages due to a seaman or apprentice left behind in British India on the ground of unfitness or inability to proceed to sea to be paid to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office instead of to the seaman or apprentice himself.

36. Section 174.—The Bill exempts all native craft not square-rigged from the provisions of Chapter XXI in regard to life-saving appliances. We consider that the Bill goes too far, and we have limited the exemption to the case of native craft of not more than two hundred tons burthen and not carrying passengers.

37. Section 176.—In respect of the power to make rules with regard to the life-saving appliances that shall be required for each ship or class of ships we have specially provided in section 343 that draft rules shall first be published and shall not be taken into consideration for six months after date of publication.

We have made a similar provision in respect to the rules which a Local Government is empowered by section 204 of the Bill to make in view to regulating the making of surveys under Chapter XXIII. We think that the importance of the matters dealt with under the two sections referred to justifies the demand for ample time for consideration of the rules which has been pressed upon us by interested bodies.

38. Section 183A.—We have provided, as in the English Act, for the levy of a fee for the inspection of ships with regard to lights and fog-signals. No fee, however, will be levied where the lights and signals are found to be in order unless the visit is made on the application of the owner.

39. Section 183B.—We have empowered the Governor General in Council to exempt from the provisions of Chapter XXII of the Bill any classes of native craft which do not use lights or fog-signals.

40. Section 204.—Power of Local Government to make rules to regulate the making of surveys. See remark against section 176.

41. Section 205.—We have modified section 205 of the Bill, which exempts certain ships from the provisions of Chapter XXIV in regard to "unsafe ships," "load-lines," etc. We have restricted the exception proposed in the Bill of all home-trade ships of less than one hundred and fifty tons register to the case of sailing ships. In the case of steam-ships, we have limited the exemption to the case of home-trade steam-ships of less than eighty tons register. On the other hand, we have exempted all ships employed solely in fishing.

42. Section 206.—We have added a sub-section providing that for the purpose of determining whether any ship is so loaded as to submerge the centre of the disc in perfectly smooth salt water the ship may, if the owner or master so desires, be taken into a wet basin or dock. The costs of such a proceeding would, under section 225, be borne by Government if the disc were found not to be submerged.

43. Section 247.—We have omitted from clause (b) of the proviso to this section the amending words inserted in the Bill which unduly limit the powers of a Local Government to exempt officers who have not passed the survey test prescribed in section 246 from practising as surveyors in any port in which any surveyor who has passed the test is exercising the profession of a ship surveyor. The main object of the proviso as it stands in the existing law was, as was stated by the Hon'ble Mr. Stokes in proposing it, to admit of an expert-surveyor being sent to this country in certain cases from England for the special purpose of surveying and directing repairs. This object of the proviso would be defeated by the introduction of the amending words proposed in the Bill.

44. Section 253.—In cases where the amount of salvage claimed exceeds one thousand rupees we have provided that an appeal shall be allowed against the decision of a Magistrate.

45. Section 260.—We have modified section 260 (2) with the view of providing that the Magistrate who is a member of a Court of Investigation appointed by the Local Government shall be a Magistrate of the first class, that another member shall be some person of nautical skill and knowledge, and that the other or others (if any) shall be persons of nautical, engineering, mercantile or other special skill or knowledge.

46. Sections 262 and 263.—We have modified these sections in view to securing that a master, mate or engineer charged with incompetency, etc., shall have reasonable time for the preparation of his defence.

47. Section 277.—We have slightly modified the first line of the section to make the meaning clearer.

We have also added a clause exempting from the operation of this Part of the Bill any ships to which the provisions of the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, are applicable.

48. Section 279.—We have added words to the definition of "native passenger" to show that passengers of the first and second class are excluded from the definition, which is intended to refer only to passengers of the lowest class or steerage passengers.

We have modified clause (a) to show that a voyage from Aden to any other port in British India is a long voyage as well as a voyage in the contrary direction.

We have slightly modified clauses (d) and (e) to make the intention clearer.

49. Section 280.—We have omitted the last four lines of section 280 (1) after the words "seasons of foul weather." We have carefully defined the terms "long voyage," "short voyage," "shelter-port voyage" and "excursion voyage," and we think it unnecessary to vest the Governor General in Council with further power to declare what shall be deemed to be a long voyage, a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage or an excursion voyage.

50. Section 282.—We have reduced the time of notice of sailing to be given in the case of all voyages other than long voyages from twenty-four hours before the time of sailing to six hours before that time.

51. Section 284 (1)—We have provided that Certificate B shall be required to be held by a master in the case of short voyages as well as in the case of long voyages, for which latter case only the Bill provides. The Bill does not propose to exempt ships proceeding on short voyages from the necessity of holding a certificate that food, fuel, water, etc., necessary for the passengers are carried (vide section 303 of the Bill), and this is the chief matter dealt with in Certificate B. The existing law requires that Certificate B shall be held in the case of all voyages.

In sub-section (2) (c) (iii) we have added words to show that railings and netting protected by curtains will be treated as equivalent to substantial bulwarks.

52. Section 288.—We have modified the section in view to requiring the surveyor to report that the ship, besides fulfilling the other requirements of the section, is properly lighted. We have slightly altered sub-section (3) to make the meaning clearer.

53. Section 291.—We have added words to the fourth clause to exempt from the necessity of carrying a medical officer any ship carrying more than four hundred Native passengers and trading between ports in the territories administered by the Government of Bombay and other ports not in those territories in cases where these latter ports are situated on the west coast of India. The requirements of the Bill in this matter appear to us to be unnecessarily stringent.

54. Section 294.—We have added two new sub-sections: the first (sub-section (2)) providing that the upper deck, excluding the portion set apart for the first and second class passengers and the airing space for the crew and any space which may be reserved as a hospital for the use of such passengers, shall be reserved for the use of the native passengers in the proportion which the number of native passengers on board bears to the total number which the ship is calculated to carry, and the second (sub-section (3)) providing that the height between decks shall in no case be less than six feet. The intention of the Bill was to provide for these objects, both of which were included in the recommendations of the Hon'ble Dr. Lethbridge's Committee on native passenger ships, by rules under section 324. It has seemed to us preferable to make provision for them in the body of the Act.

55. Section 296.—We have inserted a new section 296A requiring the master to give immediate notice of any alteration in a ship which has the effect of altering the number of passengers which a ship can carry, and we have made failure to furnish the information punishable under a new section 316A.

56. Section 297A.—We have inserted between section 297 and section 301 of the Bill a number of new provisions dealing specially with pilgrim ships proceeding to and from the Hedjaz These special provisions give effect to the terms of the convention agreed to at the International Sanitary Conference convened by the French Government at Paris early in 1894, in so far as the terms of the convention have been accepted by the Government of India.

In the sections of the Bill referred to the words "pilgrim ship" and "pilgrim" are defined; and, while under the existing law no steam-ship carrying pilgrims comes under the Native Passenger Ships Act unless it carries sixty pilgrims of the lowest class, the Bill as amended will apply to all pilgrim ships which carry not less than one pilgrim for every one hundred tons of gross tonnage.

57. Section 297A.—The notice of sailing, which for ordinary native passenger ships on a long voyage is under section 282 (2) one day, is extended by section 297A in the case of pilgrim ships to three days.

58. Section 300 of the Bill, which gives power to the Local Government to direct that no native passenger shall be received on board a ship carrying passengers to the Red Sea until the passenger has been medically inspected, has been largely modified. It now renders medicial examination compulsory prior to being received on board ship in the case of all pilgrims, and the inspecting officer is required to prohibit the embarkation of a pilgrim suffering from cholera, choleraic indisposition or any form of suspicious diarrhœa or any dangerously infectious or contagious disease, or who has recently been in attendance upon or otherwise in contact with any person so suffering.

A new sub-section (4) is added which provides that all articles which have been contaminated by persons suffering from cholera or choleraic indisposition, or any dangerously infectious or contagious disease, or are suspected of having been so contaminated, shall, before being taken on board a pilgrim ship, be disinfected under the supervision of a medical officer appointed by the Local Government for the purpose, in such manner as the Local Government shall direct.

59. A new section 300A provides that the master of every pilgrim ship shall be required to pay the whole amount of the sanitary taxes at the ports visited

60. Section 301.—The provisions of section 301 of the Bill, which are based on the report of the native Passenger Ships Commission already referred to, prescribe the space to be allotted to native passengers on short, shelter-port and excursion voyages in sailing ships and steam-ships, respectively, and in seasons of fair weather and foul weather, respectively. We have recast the section and have introduced into it two provisos of the nature of those referred to in paragraph 54 above reserving the upper deck or portions thereof for the use of native passengers, and providing for the proper height of the roof of decks.

We have also provided that the deck on which any native passenger is carried during a short voyage or a shelter-port voyage in a season of foul weather shall have solid bulwarks.

61 Section 302.—To the words "substantial bulwarks" in the sixth line we have added the words "or rails and netting protected by curtains," as in section 284.

62. Section 303.—We have provided that clauses (c) and (d), which required the master to carry food, fuel, pure water, etc., for the use of the passengers, and to certify at each port that he has complied with this rule, shall be limited to the cases of short voyages, and shall not apply to the case of shelter-port and excursion voyages.

63. Section 315.—We have reduced the penalty in sub-section (2) of this section from two hundred to one hundred rupees.

64. Section 317 (2).—We have added a sub-section providing under the terms of the Paris Convention that the whole of any fine imposed on the master of a pilgrim ship under this section shall be paid to the complainant pilgrim or pilgrims who have suffered by the neglect.

65. Section 343.—We have somewhat modified section 343 as explained in the remarks against sections 176 and 204 above.

A Bill to Consolidate and amend certain Indian enactments relating to Merchant Shipping and the carriage of passengers by sea.

[Bill of 1867, preamble.]

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend certain Indian enactments relating to Merchant Shipping and the carriage of passengers by sea;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1895; and

(2) Except as provided in section 6 and section 272B, it shall come into force on the first day of .

Repeal.

2. (1) On and from the first day of the enactments mentioned in Part A of Schedule I shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column thereof.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 2; Act V of 1883, s. 2; Act VI of 1884, s. 3 (2); Act X of 1887, s. 4 (2); Bill of 1867, s. 2; Bill of 1882, s. 2.]

(2) But all offices established or constituted, officers appointed, persons nominated or authorised, powers conferred, ports and places appointed, directions given, rules, declarations and exemptions made, bonds executed, forms sanctioned, fees or scales fixed, investigations held, certificates granted, suspended or cancelled, agreements made, proceedings commenced and other things duly done under any enactment repealed by sub-section (1) or under any enactment repealed by any enactment repealed by sub-section (1), shall, so far as may be practicable, be deemed to have been respectively established, constituted, appointed, nominated, authorised, conferred, given, made, executed, sanctioned, fixed, held, granted, suspended or cancelled, commenced and done under this Act.

[Act VI of 1884, s. 3 (3).]

(3) For the purposes of sub-section (2), certificates of competency or service as engineer in the Sea Service or second engineer in the Sea Service respectively granted under the Burma Steamer Survey Act or Bombay Act IV of 1873 or Bengal Act I of 1868 shall be deemed to be certificates as first class and second class engineer respectively, and to have been granted under the provisions of Chapter IV of this Act.

[Act X of 1887, s. 4 (3) and cf. Act XIII of 188[illegible] s. 2 (3).]

(4) Any enactment or document referring to any enactment repealed by sub section (1), or to any enactment repealed by any enactment repealed by sub-section (1), shall, so far as may be practicable, be construed to refer to this Act or the corresponding portion thereof.

Definitions.

3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "ship" includes a steam-ship:

[Act VII of 1884, s. 3.]

(2) "steam-ship" means every description of vessel used in navigation and propelled wholly or in part by the agency of steam:

[Act I of 1859, s. 11 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s 5) Bill of 1867 s. 3; Bill of 1882, s. 3.] Cf. 1894, s. 742.

(3) "home-trade ship" means a ship employed in trading between any ports in British India, or between any port in British India and any port or place on the continent of India or in the Straits Settlements or in the Island of Ceylon:

[Act I of 1859, s. 11 (am. by Act VI of 1891, 5); Bill of 1867, s. 3; Bill of 188[illegible] s. 3.] Cf. 1894, s. 742.

(4) "foreign-going ship" means a ship employed in trading between any port in British India and any port or place not being either in British India or on the continent of India or in the Straits Settlements or in the Island of Ceylon:

[Act I of 1859, s. 11 Act XIII of 1876, s. 2; Bill of 1867, s. 3; Bill of 1882, s. 3.]

(5) "seaman" means every person (except masters, pilots, harbour-masters and apprentices duly indentured) employed or engaged in any capacity on board any ship:

Cf. 1894, s. 742.

(6) "Board of Trade certificate" means a certificate, either of competency or service, as master, mate or engineer, as the case may be, granted by the Board of Trade under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, or any Act repealed by that Act: [57 & 58 Vict., c. 60]

(7) "Colonial certificate" means a certificate of competency as master, mate or engineer, as the case may be, granted—

(a) in British India, under Chapter IV of this Act, or

(b) in any other British Possession, under the authority of the Legislature of that Possession, and which has been declared by Order in Council under the Merchant Shipping

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part I:—Chapter I.—Preliminary.—Sections 4-5. Part II.—Chapter II.—Measurement and Registry of British Ships—Sections 6-8.)

(Colonial) Act, 1869, or the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, to be of the same force as if it had been granted under the Merchant Shipping Acts therein respectively mentioned:

(8) "local certificate" means—

(i) a certificate, either of competency or service, as master or mate, as the case may be, or

(ii) a certificate of competency as engineer or engine-driver, as the case may be, granted by a Local Government under Chapter IV of this Act, not being a colonial certificate as hereinbefore defined:

(9) "Customs-collector" means a Customs-collector appointed under the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and includes, for the purposes of Chapter XXXV, any person appointed by the Local Government by name or by virtue of his office to discharge the functions of a Customs-collector under that chapter at any port:

(10) "passenger" includes any person carried in a ship other than the master and crew and the owner, his family and servants: and (11) "prescribed" means prescribed by a rule made under this Act.

Provisions as to steam-ships to apply to ships propelled by electricity, etc.

4. The provisions of this Act applying to steam-ships shall apply to ships propelled by electricity or other mechanical power, with such modifications as the Governor General in Council may by notification in the Gazette of India, direct for purposes of adaptation.

Exemption of public ships.

5. (1) Nothing in this Act except Chapter XVIII shall apply to any ship belonging to, or in the service of, Her Majesty or the Government of India, or to any ship of war belonging to any foreign Prince or State.

(2) Nothing in this Act, except Chapters VII, VIII and XVIII, shall apply to any ship belonging to any foreign Prince or State when employed mainly on the public service of the Prince or State.

PART II.

CHAPTER II.

MEASUREMENT AND REGISTRY OF BRITISH SHIPS.

Whereas certain classes of British ships are now registered in British India under certain Acts passed by the Governor General of India in Council;

And whereas certain other classes of ships are now and have for many years been registered in British India under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, as amended for the time being by subsequent Acts; 17 & 18 V. c. 104.

And whereas it is enacted in section 547 of the said Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, that "the legislative authority of any British Possession shall have power, by any Act or Ordinance, confirmed by Her Majesty in Council, to repeal wholly, or in part, any provisions of this Act relating to ships registered in such Possession; but no such Act or Ordinance shall take effect until such approval has been proclaimed in such Possession, or until such time thereafter as may be fixed by such Act or Ordinance for the purpose;"

And whereas it is expedient that certain provisions of the said Merchant Shipping Acts should be repealed so far as relates to British ships registered in British India, and that other provisions should be enacted in place thereof;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Commencement.

6. This Chapter shall come into force on the day on which Her Majesty's approval thereof is published in the Gazette of India.

Repeal.

7. (1) On and from the commencement of this chapter, the enactments mentioned in Part B of Schedule I shall be repealed to the extent specified in the third column thereof.

(2) Any enactment or document referring to any enactment repealed by sub-section (1) shall, so far as may be practicable, be construed to refer to the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as amended by this chapter. 57 & 58 V. c. 60.

Meaning of "native coasting-ship."

8. In this chapter, "native coasting ship" means a sailing ship not square-rigged, which is owned by one or more Indian subjects of Her Majesty and is a coasting-vessel within the meaning of the Sea Customs Act, 1878. VIII of 18[78].

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part II.—Chapter II.—Measurement and Registry of British Ships.—Sections 9-13.)

Re-registration of ships registered under Indian Acts.

9. (1) Any British ship registered under Act XIX of 1838 or Act X of 1841 may, within a period of twelve months after the commencement of this chapter,

Cf. 1873, s. 3, last proviso.

or, if the ship is not within a port of registry in British India at any time before the expiration of the said period, then within one month after her next return to a port of registry in British India,

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

be re-registered under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as amended by this chapter.

(2) No fee shall be payable for the measurement of the tonnage of any ship for the purposes of re-registration under sub-section (1).

(3) If any ship registered under Act XIX of 1838 or Act X of 1841 is not re-registered as provided by sub-section (1), she shall cease to be recognised as a British ship:

Provided that this sub-section shall not apply in the case of any ship referred to in section 10.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60. Registration of inland ships not to be required.

10. (1) Notwithstanding anything in section 2 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, it shall not be obligatory on any person to register under that Act any British ship which is for the time being registered under Bombay Act I of 1863 (an Act for the registry of vessels and levy of pilotage fees on the river Indus) or any other British ship which plies solely on inland water.

Cf. Act VI of 1884, s. 5, clause (3) (am. by Act III of 1890, s. (1) and clause (4), and s. 65.

(2) The expression "inland water" means any canal, river, lake or navigable water in British India.

(3) The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, define how much of any tidal water shall be deemed to be inland water for the purposes of this section.

Measurement and marking of tonnage of native coasting-ships.

11. (1) So far as regards any ship the tonnage of which is measured, ascertained and marked in accordance with rules made under sub-section (2), the rules and orders on the same subjects prescribed by or under the Merchant Shipping Act,

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

1894, or under any other Act repealed by that Act, are hereby repealed.

[Act XI of 1850, s. 3.]

(2) The Local Government may make rules to provide for measuring and ascertaining, whether for the purpose of registry or otherwise, the tonnage of native coasting-ships, and for marking the tonnage on such ships; and it shall be optional to the owner of any such ship to have her tonnage measured, ascertained and marked in accordance either with rules made under this sub-section or with the rules and orders referred to in sub-section (1).

(3) Rules made under sub-section (2) may provide, among other matters, that if any alteration be made in a native coasting-ship after she has been registered in pursuance of the said rules the certificate of registry shall be cancelled and the ship re-measured in accordance with the said rules.

(4) The word "alteration" in sub-section (3) means any change, whether temporary or permanent, either in the structure of a native coasting-ship or in the use to which any part of a native coasting-ship is put, by which the capacity of the ship for carrying cargo is, either directly or indirectly, increased.

Registrars.

[S. 15 in Bill as introduced.] 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

12. (1) Clauses (d) and (e) of section 4 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, are hereby repealed.

[Act X of 1841, s. 3 (am. by Act VII of 1891, s. 2).]

(2) The following persons shall be Registrars of British ships in British India, namely:—

(a) at the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karachi, Aden and Rangoon, the Port Officer or any other person appointed by the Local Government in this behalf by notification in the official Gazette, and

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(b) at any other port which has been approved under section 89 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, for the registry of ships, any person appointed by the Local Government in this behalf by a like notification.

Substitution of Local Government for Board of Trade.

[S. 12 in Bill as introduced.] 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

13. (1) The references to the Board of Trade in the following portions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, namely:—

[Act X of 1841, s. 11 (am. by Act VII of 1891, s. 3).]

sections 7, 47, 77 (2), 78, 80, 85, 86, 724 (4) and clause 5 of Rule 1 of the Second Schedule, shall, in their application to British India, be read and construed as if the Local Government were therein named instead of the Board of Trade.

(2) The reference to the Governor of a British Possession in section 89 aforesaid shall be read and construed as if the Local Government were therein named instead of the Board of Trade.

(3) The following portions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894 namely, sections 64 (1) and 77 (2), so far as they relate to fees, and sections 83 and 210 (3), and clauses 2 to 8, both inclusive, of the sixth schedule, are hereby repealed.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part II.—Chapter II.—Measurement and Registry of British Ships.—Sections 14-15.)

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter III.—Mercantile Marine Offices.—Section 18.)

(4) The fees payable in British India in respect of the matters mentioned in Schedule III shall be such sums, not exceeding those specified in that Schedule, as the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint.

[S. 16 in Bill as introduced.]

57 & 58 Vict; c. 60.

14. Sections 31 to 46 (both inclusive) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, are hereby repealed so far as regards native coasting-ships.

Transfers, transmissions and mortgages of native coasting-ships.

[S. 13 in Bill as introduced.]

15. (1) No place in any British ship registered in British India which is occupied by seamen or apprentices engaged under this Act and appropriated to their use shall authorise a deduction from register tonnage, unless there be in the ship one or more properly constructed privy or privies for the use of the crew; such privy or privies to be of such number and of such construction as may be approved by a surveyor appointed under section 727 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

Deduction from register tonnage on account of crew space.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(2) Every place so occupied and appropriated as aforesaid shall, whenever the ship is registered or re-registered in British India, be inspected by a surveyor appointed as aforesaid, who shall, if satisfied that the same is in all respects such as is required by section 113 of this Act, give to the Registrar a certificate to that effect, and, if such certificate is obtained, but not otherwise, such space shall be deducted from the register tonnage.

(3) No such deduction shall be authorised unless there is permanently cut in a beam, and cut in or painted on or over the doorway or hatchway of every place so occupied and appropriated, the number of men which it is constructed to accommodate, with the words "Certified to accommodate seamen."

(4) Upon any complaint concerning any place so occupied and appropriated as aforesaid, any surveyor appointed as aforesaid may inspect the same, and, if he finds that any of the provisions of section 113 of this Act with respect thereto are not complied with, he shall report the fact to the Registrar at the port where the ship is registered, and thereupon the register tonnage shall be altered, and the deduction aforesaid disallowed, unless and until it is certified by the same surveyor, or by some other surveyor appointed as aforesaid, that the provisions of the said section in respect of such place are fully complied with.

14. Fees. [Omitted.]

17. Space occupied by deck cargo to be liable to dues. [Omitted.]

PART III.

MASTERS, SEAMEN AND APPRENTICES.

Whereas it is enacted in section 288 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, that if the Governor General of India in Council should by any Acts, Ordinances, or other appropriate legal means, apply or adapt any of the provisions in the Third Part of that Act contained to any British ships registered at, trading with or being at any place within his jurisdiction, and to the owners, masters, mates and crews thereof, such provisions, when so applied and adapted as aforesaid, and as long as they remain in force, should in respect of the ships and persons to which the same are applied, be enforced, and penalties and punishments for the breach thereof should be recovered and inflicted, throughout Her Majesty's dominions, in the same manner as if such provisions had been so adapted and applied, and such penalties and punishments had been expressly imposed by that Act; [Act I of 1859, preamble; Bill of 1882, preamble.] 17 & 18 Vict., c. 104.

And whereas the said Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and the other Acts amending the same have been repealed by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, and the above recited provision of the first mentioned Act has been re-enacted in substance by section 264 of the last mentioned Act;

17 & 18 Vict., c. 104. 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

And whereas by Act I of 1859 (an Act for the amendment of the law relating to Merchant Seamen) and later Acts passed by the Governor General of India in Council, certain of the provisions aforesaid have been applied or adapted to British ships, and certain other provisions enacted with respect to foreign ships and the owners, masters, mates and crews thereof, respectively, and it is expedient that the said provisions should be re-enacted with the amendments hereinafter appearing;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER III.

MERCANTILE MARINE OFFICES.

18. (1) A Mercantile Marine Office shall be established at such ports as the Governor General in Council may deem necessary.

Mercantile Marine Offices and establishments.

[Act I of 1859, ss. 2, 3; Bill of 1867, ss. 100, 101; Bill of 1882, ss. 5, 6.] Cf. 1894, s. 246(3), 247(2).

(2) For every such office there shall be a Superintendent, with such Deputy Superintendents, clerks and servants (if any) as the Local Government may consider necessary.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter III.—Mercantile Marine Offices.—Sections 19-22.)

(3) Superintendents and Deputy Superintendents of Mercantile Marine Offices shall be appointed by the Local Government.

(4) Every act done by or before a Deputy Superintendent shall have the same effect as if done by or before a Superintendent.

[Act I of 1859, s. 8; Bill of 1867, s. 106; Bill of 1882, s. 11.] Cf. 1894, s. 246(3).

Power to direct that business of Mercantile Marine Office be transacted at Custom-house or elsewhere

19. The Local Government may direct that, at any port at which no separate Mercantile Marine Office is established, the whole or any part of the business of the Mercantile Marine Office shall be conducted at the Custom-house, or at the office of the Port Officer, or at such other office as the Local Government shall direct, and thereupon the same shall be there conducted accordingly; and in respect of such business such Custom-house or office as aforesaid shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Mercantile Marine Office, and the officer to whom such business is committed shall for all purposes be deemed to be a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office within the meaning of this Act.

[Bill of 1867, s. 107.] Cf. 1894, s.

Power to dispense with superintendence of Superintendent of Mercantile Marine Office.

20. The Local Government may, by special order in any particular case, dispense with the transaction before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or in a Mercantile Marine Office of any matters required by this Act to be so transacted; and thereupon those matters, if otherwise duly transacted, shall be as valid as if they were transacted before a Superintendent of, or in, a Mercantile Marine Office.

[Act I of 1859, s. 4; Bill of 1867, s. 102; Bill of 1882, s. 7. Cf. 1894, ss 105, 247(1).

Business of Superintendents of Mercantile Marine Offices.

21. It shall be the general business of Superintendents of Mercantile Marine Offices—

(a) to superintend and facilitate the engagement of seamen for, and the discharge of seamen from, British ships, in manner hereinafter mentioned,

(b) to provide means for securing the presence on board at the proper times of men who are so engaged,

(c) to give to all persons desirous of apprenticing boys to the sea-service, and duly authorised so to do by Act XIX of 1850 (concerning the binding of apprentices), and also to owners and masters of British ships requiring apprentices, such assistance as may be in their power for facilitating the making of such apprenticeships, and

(d) to perform such other duties relating to seamen and British or foreign ships as are for the time being committed to them by or under this Act or the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

[Act I of 1859 ss. 5, 6, 25, 116; Bill of 1867, ss. 103, 104, 125, 129; Bill of 1882, ss. 8, 9, 32, 38.]

Fees to be paid upon engagements and discharges of seamen.

22. (1) Such fees, not exceeding those specified in Table A in Schedule IV, as may be fixed by the Local Government with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council and published in the local official Gazette shall be payable—

(a) by owners or masters of British ships, upon all engagements and discharges of seamen effected before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, and

(b) by masters of foreign ships, upon all engagements and discharges before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office of seamen who have been engaged under section 63.

(2) Scales of the fees payble for the time being shall be conspicuously placed in the Mercantile Marine Offices; and all Superintendents, Deputy Superintendents, clerks and servants may refuse to proceed with any engagement unless the fees payable thereon are first paid

(3) Any owner or master who has paid the fees fixed under sub-section (1) in respect of any engagement or discharge of seamen may, for the purpose of in part reimbursing himself, deduct, in respect of each such engagement or discharge, from the wages of all seamen so engaged or discharged, and retain any sums not exceeding the sums specified in that behalf in Table B in Schedule IV:

Provided as follows:—

(i) if the Local Government has in any case fixed, under sub-section (1), fees lower than those specified in the said Table A, the sums which may be deducted and retained by owners or masters shall not exceed such sums as may be fixed in this behalf by the Local Government with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council and published in the local official Gazette;

(ii) the sums so fixed shall bear as nearly as may be the same proportion to the sums specified in the said Table B as the fees fixed under sub-section (1) bear to the fees specified in the said Table A;

(iii) if in any case the sums which an owner or master is authorised by this sub-section to deduct exceed the amount of the fees payable by him, such excess shall be paid by him to the Superintendent in addition to such fees.

(4) For the purpose of determining the fees to be paid upon the engagement and discharge of seamen engaged under a running agreement made under Chapter VII, the crew shall be considered to be engaged when the agreement is first signed, and to be discharged on the termination of the agreement; and all intermediate engagements and discharges shall be considered to be engagements and discharges of single seamen.

(5) In sub-section (4) "termination" means, when an agreement has been renewed under section 61, the termination of the period for which the agreement has been renewed.

(6) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, if it thinks fit, at any time abolish or suspend, by notification in the local official Gazette, the fees payable under sub-section (1) upon engagements and discharges; and in the event of such abolition, or during such suspension, no deduction shall be made under sub-section (3) from the wages of any person engaged or discharged.

[Act I of 1859, s. 7; Bill of 1867, s. 105; Bill of 1882, s. 10.] Cf. 1894, s. 250.

Penalty on Superintendent, etc., taking other remuneration.

23. Any Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent, or any clerk or servant in a Mercantile Marine Office, who demands or receives any remuneration whatever, either directly or indirectly, for hiring or supplying any seaman for any ship, excepting the fees payable under section 22, shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and may also be dismissed from his office.

CHAPTER IV.

EXAMINATION OF, AND GRANT OF CERTIFICATES TO, MASTERS, MATES, ENGINEERS AND ENGINE-DRIVERS.

[Act I of 1859, ss. 9, 10; Act VII of 1884, s. 26; Bill of 1867, ss. 108, 109; Bill of 1882, ss. 12, 13.] Cf. 1894, ss. 94, 96, 102.

Appointment of examiners.

24. The Local Government may appoint persons for the purpose of examining the qualifications of persons desirous of obtaining—

(a) certificates of competency as masters or mates, or

(b) certificates of competency as engineers or engine-drivers.

[Act I of 1859, s. 11 (am. by Act V of 1883, s. 35); Act VII of 1884, s. 27(1); Bill of 1867, s. 110; Bill of 1882, s. 14.] Cf. 1894, ss. 93, 98.

Grant of certificates of competency as master, mate, engineer or engine-driver.

25. The Local Government shall grant—

(a) to every person who is reported by the examiners to possess the necessary qualifications and to have given satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience, ability and general good conduct on board ship, a certificate of competency to the effect that he is competent to act as master or first mate or only mate or second mate of a foreign-going ship, or as master or mate of a home-trade ship, or as master of an Asiatic ship, as the case may be, and

(b) to every person who is reported by the examiners to possess the necessary qualifications and to have given satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience and ability a certificate of competency to the effect that he is competent to act as a first-class engineer, or a second-class engineer, or as an engine-driver, as the case may be:

Provided that the Local Government may, in any case in which it has reason to believe that the report has been unduly made, require, before granting a certificate, a re-examination of the applicant or a further enquiry into his testimonials and character.

Explanation.—In this Chapter and in Chapter V "Asiatic ship" means a sailing ship navigated and manned exclusively by Arabs, lascars or other Asiatic masters and seamen.

[Act I of 1859, s. 12 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s. 1); Bill of 1867, s. 111; Bill of 1882, s. 15.] Cf. 1894, s. 99.

Grant of local certificates of service as master or mate of a foreign-going ship.

26. (1) Local certificates of service, differing in form from certificates of competency, shall be granted by the Local Government as follows, that is to say,—

(a) every person who has attained or shall attain the rank of lieutenant, or any corresponding or higher rank, in the service of Her Majesty, or the rank of commander or lieutenant in the Royal Indian Marine, shall be entitled to a local certificate of service as master for a foreign-going ship:

(b) every person who has attained or shall attain the rank of second grade officer in the Royal Indian Marine shall be entitled to a local certificate of service as first mate for a foreign-going ship:

(c) every person who has attained or shall attain the rank of engineer or assistant engineer in Her Majesty's Navy or Indian Marine Service shall be entitled, if an engineer, to a local certificate of service as first class engineer, and, if an assistant engineer, to a local certificate of service as second class engineer.

(2) A certificate of service granted under this section, clauses (a), (b) and (c), shall have the same effect as a local certificate of competency granted under section 25, clauses (a) and (b).

Certificate of service to masters of Asiatic ships.

(d) Every person who before the passing of this Act has served as master of a home-trade ship of a burden of one hundred tons or upwards shall be entitled to a certificate of service as master of a home-trade ship of three hundred tons burden or under.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter IV.—Examination of, and Grant of Certificates to, Masters, Mates, Engineers and Engine-drivers.—Sections 27-30.)—Chapter V.—Ships required to carry Certificated Officers. Section 31.)

(3) Each of such certificates of service shall contain particulars of the name and of the length and nature of the previous service of the person to whom it is delivered; and the Local Government shall deliver every such certificate of service to the person entitled thereto upon his proving himself to have served as aforesaid and upon his giving a full and satisfactory account of the particulars aforesaid.

[Act I of 1859, s. 15; Act VII of 1884, ss. 27 (2), 29; Bill of 1867, s. 114; Bill of 1882, s. 18.] Cf. 1894, s. 100.

Certificates to be in prescribed form and to be made in duplicate.

27. Every certificate of competency or service granted under this Chapter shall be in the prescribed form, and shall be made in duplicate, and one copy shall be delivered to the person entitled to the certificate, and the other shall be kept by the Local Government and recorded in the prescribed manner.

[Act I of 1859; s 15; Bill of 1867, s. 114; Bill of 1882, s. 18.] Cf. 1894, s. 100.

Record of orders affecting certificates.

28. A note of all orders made for suspending, cancelling, altering or otherwise affecting any certificate of competency or service in pursuance of the powers contained in this Act shall be entered on the copy of the certificate kept by the Local Government.

[Act I of 1859, s. 16; Act VII of 1884, s. 30; Bill of 1867, s. 115; Bill of 1882, s. 19.] Cf. 1894, s. 100.

Copy of certificate to be granted in certain cases.

29. Whenever a master, mate, engineer or engine-driver proves, to the satisfaction of the Local Government which granted his certificate, that he has, without fault on his part, lost or been deprived of a certificate already granted to him, the Local Government shall, and in any other case may, upon payment of such fee, if any, as the Governor General in Council may direct, cause a copy of the certificate to which, by the record kept as provided by law, he appears to be entitled to be granted to him, and such copy shall have all the effect of the original.

[Act I of 1859, s. 10 (am. by Act V of 1883, s. 34); Act VII of 1884, s. 36; Bill of 1867, s. 109; Bill of 1882, s. 13.] Cf. 1894, ss. 94, 96, 100.

Power to make rules as to grant of certificates of competency or service.

30. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules to regulate the granting of certificates of competency under this Chapter, and may by such rules—

(a) provide for the conduct of the examination of persons desirous of obtaining certificates of competency as masters, mates, engineers or engine-drivers;

(b) prescribe the qualifications to be respectively required of persons desirous of obtaining certificates of competency as masters, first mates, only mates, second mates, masters of Asiatic ships, first-class engineers, second-class engineers or engine-drivers;

(c) fix the fees to be paid by all applicants for examination;

(d) prescribe the form in which such certificates are to be framed, and the manner in which the copy of the certificate which is kept by the Local Government is to be recorded; and

(e) fix the fees to be paid for copies of certificates granted under section 29.

(2) The Governor General in Council may also make rules with respect to the grant of local certificates of service to masters, mates and engineers under this Chapter, and may by such rules—

[Act VI of 1884, s. 29 (am. by Act XIII of 189 s. 1).]

(f) fix the fees to be paid for such certificates; and

(g) prescribe the form in which such certificates are to be framed, and the manner in which the copy of the certificate which is kept by the Local Government is to be recorded.

CHAPTER V.

SHIPS REQUIRED TO CARRY CERTIFICATED OFFICERS.

British ships required to carry certificated masters and mate or mates.

31. (1) A foreign-going British ship shall not proceed to sea from any port in British India unless she has, as her master, a person possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as master of a foreign-going ship.

[Act I of 1859, ss. 13, 14; Bill of 1867, ss. 112, 113; Bill of 1882, ss. 16, 7.] Cf. 1894, s. 92.

(2) A foreign-going British ship of a burden of one hundred tons or upwards shall not proceed to sea from any port in British India unless she has—

(a) as her only mate, a person possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as only mate or first mate or master of a foreign-going ship, or

(b) as her first and second mates, two certificated mates,—

(i) the first possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as first mate or master of a foreign-going ship, and (ii) the second possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as second mate of a foreign-going ship or a certificate of a higher grade.

(3) A home-trade British ship carrying passengers, or a home-trade British ship of a burden of one hundred tons or upwards not carrying passengers, shall not proceed to sea from any port in British India unless she has, as her master, a person possessing a local certificate as master of a home-trade ship, or a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as master of a foreign-going ship.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter V.—Ships required to carry Certificated Officers.—Section 33-34.)

(4) A home-trade British ship of a burden of one hundred tons or upwards shall not proceed to sea from any port in British India unless she has, as her only or first mate, a person possessing a local certificate as mate of a home-trade ship, or a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as only or first mate of a foreign-going ship or a certificate of a higher grade:

[Act V of 1883, s. 37; Bill of 1867, s. 116; Bill of 1882, s. 20.]

(5) Provided that, notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this section, an Asiatic ship may proceed to sea from any port in British India if she has a master possessing a local certificate as master of an Asiatic ship.

[Act VII of 1884, ss. 31, 32, 33; Bill of 1867, s. 112.] Cf. 1894, s. 92.

British steam-ships required to carry certificated engineers, engineer or engine-driver.

32. (1) A foreign-going British steam-ship shall not proceed to sea from any port in British India unless she has,—

(a) if the steam-ship has engines of one hundred nominal horse-power or upwards, as her first and second engineers, two certificated engineers,—

(i) the first possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as first-class engineer, and

(ii) the second possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as second-class engineer or first-class engineer;

(b) if the steam-ship has engines of under one hundred nominal horse-power, as her only or first engineer an engineer possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as second-class engineer or first-class engineer.

(2) A home-trade British steam-ship shall not proceed to sea from any port in British India unless she has—

(c) if the steam-ship has engines of fifty nominal horse power or upwards, as her only or first engineer, an engineer possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as second-class engineer or first-class engineer;

(d) if the steam-ship has engines of under fifty nominal horse-power, as her engineer, a person possessing a local certificate as engine-driver, or a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as second-class engineer or first-class engineer.

(2A) The Governor of Bombay in Council, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the official Gazette, declare that all or any British steam-ships proceeding from Aden to any foreign port on the coast of Arabia or Africa not being more than six hundred miles distant from Aden shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to be home-trade ships.

(3) This section shall not apply to any steam-ship to which the provisions of the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, are applicable. VI of 1884.

[Act VII of 1884, ss. 31, 32.] Cf. 1894, s. 92.

Foreign steam-ships required to carry British certificated master, mate, engineer or engine-driver.

33. (1) A foreign steam-ship shall not carry passengers from any port in British India to any other port in British India unless she has—

(a) as her master, a person possessing a local certificate as master of a home-trade ship or a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as master of a foreign-going ship;

(b) if the steam-ship is of a burden of one hundred tons or upwards, as her only or first mate, a person possessing a local certificate as mate of a home-trade ship or a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as mate of a foreign-going ship or a certificate of a higher grade;

(c) if the steam-ship has engines of fifty nominal horse-power or upwards, as her only or first engineer, an engineer possessing a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as second-class engineer or first-class engineer;

(d) if the steam-ship has engines of under fifty nominal horse-power, as her engineer, a person possessing a local certificate as engine-driver or a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate as second-class engineer or first-class engineer.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 33.]

(2) So much of this section as relates to engineers or engine-drivers shall not apply to any steam-ship to which the provisions of the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, are applicable. VI of 1884.

[Act I of 1859, s. 13; Act VII of 1884, s. 34; Bill of 1867, s. 112; Bill of 1882, s. 16.] Cf. 1894, s. 92.

Penalty for serving, or engaging a person to serve, as master, mate, engineer or engine-driver without a certificate.

34. (a) If any person who has been engaged to serve in any of the capacities referred to in section 31, section 32 or section 33 in any ship to which those sections apply, respectively, proceeds in the ship in that capacity without being at the time entitled to, and possessed of, the certificate thereby required, or of a certificate of a higher grade, or

(b) if any person employs any person in any capacity referred to in section 31, section 32 or section 33 in any ship to which those sections apply, respectively, without ascertaining that he is at the time entitled to, and possessed of, the certificate thereby required, or of a certificate of a higher grade, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter VI.—Suspension and Cancellation of Certificates of Masters, Mates, Engineers and Engine-drivers, and Grant of New Certificates.—Sections 35-39.)

CHAPTER VI.

SUSPENSION AND CANCELLATION OF CERTIFICATES OF MASTERS, MATES, ENGINEERS AND ENGINE-DRIVERS, AND GRANT OF NEW CERTIFICATES.

[Act V of 1883, s. 18; Bill of 1882, s. 147.]

Saving of powers conferred by English Acts and Orders in Council in reference to Board of Trade and Colonial certificates.

35. Nothing in this Act shall affect—

(a) the powers conferred by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, on Courts making investigations referred to in section 260 or section 263 or holding enquiries under section 262 of this Act to suspend or cancel Board of Trade or Colonial certificates, or [57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.]

(b) any powers conferred on any Local Government by Order in Council made under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, or under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, for dealing with, or granting, Colonial certificates in place of Board of Trade or Colonial certificates which have been suspended or cancelled. [32 & 33 Vict., c. 11. 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.]

[Act V of 1883, s. 19; Bill of 1882, s. 147.]

Power to issue local certificates in lieu of Board of Trade or Colonial certificates which have been suspended or cancelled.

36. (1) When any Court referred to in clause (a) of section 35 suspends or cancels any Board of Trade or Colonial certificate, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, whether or not a recommendation to that effect has been made by the Court, grant, without examination, to the holder of the certificate, when the certificate is a certificate as master, a local certificate of competency as mate, and, when the certificate is a certificate as mate or engineer, a local certificate of competency as mate or engineer, as the case may be, of a grade lower than that which he held at the time of the suspension or cancellation:

Provided that the power conferred by this sub-section shall not be exercised by any Local Government which is for the time being empowered to grant Colonial certificates in place of Board of Trade or Colonial certificates which have been suspended or cancelled

(2) A certificate granted under sub-section (1) shall have the same effect as if it had been granted after examination.

[Act V of 1883, s. 24A (1), (2) (added by Act VI of 1891, s. 13); Bill of 1867, ss. 195, 196; Bill of 1882, s. 148.] Cf. 1894, s. 470 (1), (2), (4).

Power of Court to suspend or cancel local certificates of masters, mates or engineers.

37. (1) A local certificate (whether of competency or service) granted to a master, mate or engineer may, if a Court conducting an investigation under Chapter XXVII finds that the loss, abandonment or serious damage to any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by the wrongful act or default of the master, mate or engineer, or that he is incompetent or has been guilty of any gross act of drunkenness, tyranny or other misconduct, be suspended or cancelled by the Court:

Provided that the Court shall not suspend or cancel a certificate unless the holder of the certificate was furnished before the commencement of the investigation with the copy of the report or statement required by section 262 or section 263, as the case may be.

(2) At the conclusion of the investigation, or as soon afterwards as possible, the Court shall state in open sitting the decision to which it may have come with respect to the suspension or cancellation of any certificate.

Power of Local Government to suspend or cancel local certificates of masters, mates or engineers.

38. A local certificate (whether of competency or service) granted to a master, mate or engineer may be suspended or cancelled, either by the Local Government which granted the same or by any other Local Government, in any of the following cases, that is to say:— [Act V of 1883, s. 20 (rep. in part by Act VI of 1891, s. 12); Bill of 1867, s. 199; Bill of 1882, s. 148.] Cf. 1894, s. 469.

(a) if, on any investigation made beyond British India under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, or on any investigation made beyond British India by any Court or tribunal for the time being authorised by the Legislature of any British Possession to make inquiry into charges of incompetency or misconduct on the part of masters, mates or engineers of ships, or as to shipwrecks or other casualties affecting ships, the Court or tribunal reports that the master, mate or engineer is incompetent, or has been guilty of any gross act of misconduct, drunkenness or tyranny, or that the loss or abandonment of, or serious damage to, any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default; [57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.]

(b) if he is proved to have been convicted of any offence which, if committed in British India, would be non-bailable, or, if committed in England, would be a felony;

(c) if, in the case of a master, he has been superseded by the order of any Admiralty Court, or of any Naval Court constituted as provided* by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, or by any other law for the time being in force. [57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.]

Power of Local Government to suspend or cancel local certificates of engine-drivers.

39. Notwithstanding anything in the foregoing provisions of this chapter, the Local Government may at any time, after such enquiry as it may think necessary, suspend or cancel any [Act VII of 1884, s. 28.]

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

local certificate granted by it to an engine-driver, if, in its opinion, the holder is, or has become, unfit to act as an engine-driver.

[Act V of 1883, s. 21, s. 24A (3), (4) (added by Act VI of 1891, s. 13); Bill of 1867, s. 200; Bill of 1882, s. 149.] Cf. 1894, s. 473.

Obligation to deliver up local certificate on suspension or cancellation.

40. (1) Every master, mate or engineer whose certificate has been suspended or cancelled by a Court under section 37 shall deliver the certificate to the Court, and the Court shall forward the same to the Local Government, together with the report which it is required by section 269, sub-section (1), to transmit to that Government.

(2) Every master, mate, engineer or engine-driver whose certificate has been suspended or cancelled under section 38 or section 39 shall deliver the certificate to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office or to such other person as the Local Government which suspended or cancelled the certificate may direct.

(3) Any master, mate, engineer or engine-driver failing to deliver a certificate as required by this section shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

[Act V of 1883, s. 22; Bill of 1867, ss. 196, 200; Bill of 1882, s. 150.]

Report to other Local Governments.

41. If the Local Government which suspends or cancels a certificate under section 38 is not the Local Government which granted the certificate, the Local Government so suspending or cancelling the certificate shall report the proceedings, and the fact of suspension or cancellation, to the Local Government which granted the certificate.

[Act V of 1883, s. 23; Bill of 1867, s. 196; Bill of 1882, s. 151.]

Report to Board of Trade.

42. Every Local Government suspending or cancelling a certificate under section 38 shall, as soon as may be practicable, report to the Board of Trade the fact of such suspension or cancellation.

[Act V of 1883, s. 24; Bill of 1867, s. 200; Bill of 1882, s. 152.] Cf. 1894, s. 474.

Power to revoke suspension or cancellation and to grant new local certificate.

43. (1) Any Local Government may, at any time, revoke or alter any order of suspension or cancellation which it may have made under section 38 or section 39, or grant, without examination, to any person whose certificate it has so cancelled, a new local certificate of the same or of any lower grade.

(2) A certificate granted under sub-section (1) shall have the same effect as if it had been granted after examination.

[Act V of 1883, s. 24A (5) (added by Act VI of 1891, s. 13).]

Duties and powers of Local Government where a local certificate has been suspended or cancelled by a Court.

44. (1) The Local Government to which the Court has forwarded the certificate under section 40 may, if it thinks that the justice of the case requires it, re-issue and return the certificate of a master, mate or engineer which has been cancelled or suspended, or shorten the time for which it is suspended, or grant in place thereof a certificate of the same or any lower grade.

(2) A local certificate for a home-trade ship shall be deemed, for the purposes of this and the next preceding section, to be of a lower grade than a local certificate for a foreign-going ship.

[Act VI of 1891, s. 14.]

General provision with respect to surrender of certificates.

45. (1) When any Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate of a master, mate, engineer or engine-driver is suspended or cancelled under any law for the time being in force, he shall deliver to the Court or person entitled to receive delivery from him of such suspended or cancelled certificate every other Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate, if any, held by him.

(2) If any master, mate, engineer or engine-driver fails to comply with the requirement of sub-section (1), he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

CHAPTER VII.

ENGAGEMENT OF SEAMEN.

[Act I of 1859, s. 18; Bill of 1867, s. 117; Bill of 1882, s. 21.] Cf. 1894, s. 110.

Licenses to procure seamen.

46. (1) The Local Government, or any Board or officer authorised by the Local Government in this behalf, may grant to such persons as may be deemed fit licenses to engage or supply seamen or apprentices for ships

(2) Such licenses shall be granted on such terms, shall continue for such periods, and shall be revocable on such conditions, as the Local Government may think proper.

[Act I of 1859, s. 19; Bill of 1867, s. 118; Bill of 1882, s. 22.] Cf. 1894, s. 111.

Penalty for engaging seamen without license.

47. (1) A person shall not engage or supply a seaman or apprentice to be entered on board any ship unless that person either holds a license granted under the last preceding section, or is the owner or master or mate of the ship, or is bonâ fide the servant and in the constant employment of the owner, or is a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office.

(2) A person shall not employ for the purpose of engaging or supplying a seaman or apprentice to be entered on board any ship any person, unless that person either holds a license granted as aforesaid, or is the owner or master or mate of the ship, or is bonâ fide the servant and in the constant employment of the owner, or is a Superintendent as aforesaid.

(3) A person shall not receive or accept to be entered on board any ship any seaman or apprentice, if that person knows that the seaman or apprentice has been engaged or supplied in contravention of this section.

(4) If a person acts in contravention of this section, he shall, for each seaman or apprentice in respect of whom an offence is committed, be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, if a licensed person, shall forfeit his license.

[Act I of 1859, s. 20; Bill of 1867, s. 119; Bill of 1882, s. 23.] Cf. 1894, s. 112.

Penalty for receiving remuneration from seamen for engagement.

48. (1) A person shall not demand or receive directly or indirectly from a seaman or apprentice to the sea service, or from a person seeking employment as a seaman or apprentice to the sea service, or from a person on his behalf, any remuneration whatever for providing him with employment other than any fees authorised by this Act.

(2) If a person acts in contravention of this section, he shall for each offence be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Engagement of Seamen.

[Act V of 1883, s. 26; Bill of 1867, s. 120; Bill of 1882, s. 24.] Cf. 1894, s. 113 (1).

Agreements with crew.

49. (1) The master of every foreign-going British ship shall enter into an agreement in accordance with this Act with every seaman whom he carries to sea as one of his crew from any port in British India.

[Act V of 1883, ss. 27, 28, 29; Bill of 1867, s. 120; Bill of 1882, ss. 25, 26, 27.] Cf. 1894, s. 114 (1), (2), (3).

Form and contents of agreement.

50. (1) Every such agreement shall be in a form sanctioned by the Governor General in Council, shall be dated at the time of the first signature thereof, and shall be signed by the master or the agent of the owner before any seaman signs the same.

(2) Every such agreement shall contain the following particulars as terms thereof (that is to say)—

(a) either—

(I) the nature and, as far as practicable, the duration of the intended voyage or engagement, or

(II) the maximum period of the voyage or engagement and (i) the places or parts of the world to which the voyage or engagement is to extend, or (ii) the places or parts of the world to which the voyage or engagement is not to extend;

(b) the number and description of the crew, specifying how many are engaged as sailors;

(c) the time at which each seaman is to be on board or to begin work;

(d) the capacity in which each seaman is to serve;

(e) the amount of wages which each seaman is to receive;

(f) a scale of the provisions which are to be furnished to each seaman, such scale being, in the case of lascars or other native seamen, not less than a scale to be fixed by the Governor General in Council and published in the Gazette of India;

(g) any regulations as to conduct on board, and as to fines or short allowance of provisions or other lawful punishments for misconduct, which have been sanctioned by the Governor General in Council as regulations proper to be adopted, and which the parties agree to adopt; and

(h) where it is agreed that the service of any lascar or other native seaman shall end at any port not in British India, a stipulation to provide him either fit employment on board some other ship bound to the port at which he was shipped, or to such other port in British India as may be agreed on, or a passage to some port in British India free of charge, or on such other terms as may be agreed on:

Provided that, for the purpose of this section, Aden shall not be deemed to be a port in British India except in the case of sailors shipped from, or ordinarily resident in, that port:

Provided also that a statutory native of India of European race or extraction shall not, except with his own express consent, be deemed to be a native seaman within the meaning of this section.

(3) Every such agreement shall be so framed as to admit of such stipulations, to be adopted at the will of the master and seaman in each case, whether respecting the advance and allotment of wages, supply of warm clothing, or otherwise, as are not contrary to law.

(4) Every stipulation referred to in clause (h) of sub-section (2) shall be signed by the owner of the ship or his agent.

Signature of agreement, explanation of agreement to seamen, and disposal of copies.

[Act I of 1859, s. 22; Act V of 1883, ss. 27, 29; Bill of 1867, ss. 120, 123; Bill of 1882, ss. 25, 27, 29.] Cf. 1894, ss. 114 (1), 115 (1), (2), (3), (4).

51. (1) Every such agreement shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (4), be signed by each seaman in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office.

(2) The Superintendent shall cause the agreement to be read over and explained to each seaman, in a language understood by him, or shall otherwise ascertain that each seaman understands the same before he signs it, and shall attest each signature.

(3) When the crew is first engaged the agreement shall be signed in duplicate. One copy shall be retained by the Superintendent, and the other shall be delivered to the master and shall contain a special place or form for the descriptions and signatures of substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship.

(4) Where a substitute is engaged in the place of a seaman who duly signed the agreement, and whose services are within twenty-four hours of the ship's putting to sea lost by death, desertion or other unforeseen cause, the engagement shall, when practicable, be made before some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office and, when not practicable, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea, if practicable, and if not as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to the substitute, and the substitute shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, and the witness shall attest the signature.

[Act I of 1859, s. 22; Act V of 1883, s. 30, Bill of 1867, ss. 120, 123, Bill of 1882, ss. 28, 29] Cf. 1894, s. [illegible] (4).

Engagement of a single seaman for a foreign-going ship belonging to the United Kingdom or a British possession.

52. (1) If the master of any foreign-going British ship belonging to the United Kingdom or any British possession other than British India has an agreement with his crew, made in due form according to the law of the place to which the ship belongs, or in which her crew were engaged, and engages single seamen, not being lascars or other native seamen, at any port in British India, each seaman may sign the agreement so made, and, notwithstanding anything in section 50, it shall not be necessary for him to sign an agreement in the form required by that section.

(2) Each seaman signing an agreement under sub-section (1) shall do so in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office.

(3) The Superintendent shall cause the agreement to be read over and explained to the seaman, in a language understood by him, or shall otherwise ascertain that the seaman understands the same before he signs it, and shall attest his signature.

[Act I of 1859, s. 23; Bill of 1867, s. 127; Bill of 1882, s. 30.] Cf. 1894, s. 115 (5), (6).

Running agreements for foreign-going British ships making short voyages.

53. (1) In the case of any foreign-going British ship making voyages averaging less than six months in duration, a running agreement with the crew may be made to extend over two or more voyages, but every such agreement shall terminate either within six months from the date on which it was executed, or on the first arrival of the ship at her port of destination in British India after the expiration of that period, or on the discharge of cargo consequent upon such arrival, whichever of these dates shall be the latest:

Cf. Board of Trade's Instructions No. 446, dated March, 1892.

Provided that no such agreement shall continue in force if, after the expiration of such period of six months as aforesaid, the ship proceeds on a voyage from a port out of British India to any other such port which is not on the direct road to her port of destination in British India.

(2) The provisions of sections 50 and 51 shall apply to every running agreement made under sub-section (1); and every seaman shall sign the same, whether engaged upon the first commencement thereof or otherwise.

[Act I of 1859, ss. 26, 32 (1); Act V of 1883, s. 26; Bill of 1867, ss. 120, 130, 136 (1); Bill of 1882, ss. 24, 33, 42 (1).] Cf. 1894, ss. 113, 114, 116.

Agreements for home-trade British ships.

54. (1) The master of every home-trade British ship of eighty tons or upwards registered tonnage shall enter into an agreement with every seaman whom he engages at, and carries to sea from, any port in British India as one of his crew.

(2) The provisions of sections 50 to 53 (both inclusive) shall apply to every such agreement, as if the ship were a foreign-going ship:

Provided as follows:—

(a) the agreement need not, unless the master thinks fit, be signed by the seamen in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office;

(b) where any seaman has not so signed the agreement, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea, if practicable, and, if not, as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to him, and the seaman shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness who shall attest his signature;

[Act I of 1859, s. 27, s. 32, second para. (added by Act VI of 1891, s. 3); Bill of 1867, s. 131; Bill of 1882, s. 34.]

(c) where several home-trade ships of a burden of eighty tons or upwards belong to the same owner, then—

(i) the agreement with the seamen may be made by the owner instead of by the master, and the seamen may be engaged to serve in any two or more of such ships, provided that the names of the ships and the nature of the service are specified in the agreement; and

(ii) the owner or his agent may enter into time-agreements, in forms to be sanctioned by the Governor General in Council, with individual seamen to serve in any Penalties.

55. (1) If in any case a master of a British ship carries any seaman to sea with whom no agreement has been entered into in the form and manner and at the place and time hereby in such case required, the master, in the case of a foreign-going ship, and the master or the owner, in the case of a home-trade ship, shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees for each such seaman.

[Act V of 1883, s. 28; Bill of 1882, s. 26.]

(2) If any master or owner of a British ship enters into an agreement with a lascar or other native seaman for a scale of provisions less than the scale fixed under section 50, clause (f), he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees for each such seaman.

[Act I of 1859, s. 30; Bill of 1867, s. 134; Bill of 1882, s. 37.] Cf. 1894, s. 723.

Power to board British ship and muster seamen.

56. (1) For the purpose of preventing seamen from being taken on board any British ship at any port in British India contrary to the provisions of this Act, any Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office may enter at any time on board any such ship upon which he has reason to believe that seamen have been shipped, and may muster and examine the several seamen employed therein.

(2) Any person who obstructs a Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent in the exercise of his powers under sub-section (1) shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

[Act I of 1859, s. 48; Bill of 1867, s. 168; Bill of 1882, s. 60.] Cf. 1894, s. 156 (1).

Irregular stipulations and alterations in agreements to be void.

57. (1) If any agreement made under this chapter (other than an agreement signed under section 52) between a master or owner of a British ship and a seaman contains a stipulation which is inconsistent with any provision of this Act, such stipulation shall be void.

[Act I of 1859, s. 33; Bill of 1867, s. 137; Bill of 1882, s. 43.] Cf. 1894, s. 122.

(2) Every erasure, interlineation or alteration in any agreement as aforesaid (except additions made under this chapter for shipping substitutes or persons engaged subsequently to the first departure of the ship) shall be inoperative unless proved to have been made with the consent of all the persons interested in such erasure, interlineation or alteration by the written attestation—

(a) (if made in Her Majesty's dominions) of some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, Justice, officer of Customs or other public functionary, or

(b) (if made out of Her Majesty's dominions) of a British consular officer, or, where there is no such officer, of two respectable British merchants.

Copy of agreement to be made accessible to crew.

58. The master of every British ship for which an agreement has been made under this chapter (other than an agreement signed under section 52) shall, at the commencement of every voyage or engagement, cause a legible copy of the agreement, and if necessary a translation thereof in a language understood by the majority of the crew (omitting the signatures), to be placed or posted up in the ship so as to be accessible to the crew, and in default shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Changes in crew of foreign-going British ship to be reported.

59. (1) The master of every foreign-going British ship of which the crew has been engaged before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in British India shall, before finally leaving British India, sign and send to the nearest Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office a full and accurate statement, in a form sanctioned by the Governor General in Council, of every change which takes place in his crew before finally leaving British India, and in default shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(2) Such statements shall be admissible in evidence.

[Act I of 1859, s. Bill of 1 s. 128; Bill of 1 s. 31.] Cf. 1894, s. 115 (7).

Discharge and engagement of seamen of foreign-going British ship during pendency of a running agreement.

60. (1) The master of every foreign-going British ship for which a running agreement is made under section 53 shall, upon every return to any port in British India before the termination of the agreement, discharge or engage before the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at such port any seaman whom he is required by law so to discharge or engage; and shall, upon every such return, endorse on the agreement a statement (as the case may be) either that no such discharges or engagements have been made or are intended to be made before the ship again leaves port, or that all such discharges or engagements have been duly made as hereinbefore required; and shall deliver the agreement so endorsed to the Superintendent.

(2) Any master who wilfully makes a false statement in such endorsement shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter VII.—Engagement of Seamen.—Sections 61-63.)

(3) The Superintendent shall also sign an endorsement on the agreement to the effect that the provisions of this Act relating to such agreement have been complied with, and shall re-deliver the agreement so endorsed to the master.

(4) In this section "termination" means, when an agreement has been renewed under section 61, the termination of the period for which the agreement has been so renewed.

Renewal of running agreement for foreign-going British ship.

61. (1) When a running agreement with the crew of a foreign-going British ship has been made under section 53, and the ship arrives, after the expiration of a period of six months from the date on which the agreement was executed, at a port of destination in British India which is not the port at which the crew have agreed to be discharged, the master may, with the previous sanction of the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office, renew the agreement, or he may be required by the Superintendent to renew the same, for the voyage from such port of destination to the port in British India at which the crew have agreed to be discharged.

(2) If the master is required by the Superintendent to renew the agreement and refuses so to do, any expenses which may be incurred by the Government for the subsistence of the crew and their conveyance to the port at which they have agreed to be discharged shall be a charge upon the ship, and shall be recoverable as if they were expenses incurred in respect of distressed seamen under the provisions of Chapter XVIII.

Seamen of British ship discharged before voyage to have compensation.

62 Any seaman belonging to a British ship who has signed an agreement under this chapter, and is afterwards discharged otherwise than in accordance with the terms thereof before the commencement of the voyage or before one month's wages are earned without fault on his part justifying such discharge and without his consent, shall be entitled to receive from the master or owner, in addition to any wages he may have earned, due compensation for the damage thereby caused to him, not exceeding one month's wages, and may, on adducing such evidence as the Court or Magistrate hearing the case may deem satisfactory of his having been discharged as aforesaid, recover such compensation as if it were wages duly earned.

Engagements between masters of foreign ships and native seamen.

[Act I of 1859, s. 115 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s. 4, and Act XII of 1891; Bill of 1867, s. 124; Bill of 1882, s. 38.]

63. (1) Whenever the master of a foreign-going foreign ship or a home-trade foreign ship of a burden of eighty tons or upwards makes an engagement—

(a) at Aden, with a seaman being a native of Asia or Africa, or

(b) at any other port in British India, with a seaman being a native of India, to proceed to sea, he shall enter into an agreement with such seaman.

(2) The provisions of section 50, section 51, sub-sections (1), (2) and (3), and sections 57, 58, 59 and 62 shall apply to every agreement made for a foreign going foreign ship under this section, as if the ship were a British ship.

(3) The provisions of section 50, section 51, sub-sections (1), (2) and (3), and sections 57, 58 and 62 shall apply to every agreement made for a home-trade foreign ship under this section, as if the ship were a British ship:

Provided as follows:—

(i) the agreement need not, unless the master thinks fit, be signed by the seaman in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office;

(ii) where any seaman has not so signed the agreement, the master shall, before the ship puts to sea if practicable, and, if not, as soon afterwards as possible, cause the agreement to be read over and explained to him, and the seaman shall thereupon sign the same in the presence of a witness, who shall attest his signature.

(4) Whenever an agreement for a foreign-going foreign ship has been made under this section, the master shall give to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office before whom the agreement was signed a bond, with the security of some approved person resident in British India, for an amount calculated at the rate of one hundred rupees for every seaman signing the agreement and conditioned for the due observance of the agreement and of the provisions referred to in sub-section (2), and for the repayment to the Secretary of State for India in Council of all expenses which may be incurred by the Government in respect of any such seaman who may be discharged or left behind at any port out of India and becomes distressed and is relieved under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, section 191, and the enactments amending the same.

Power to board foreign ship and muster seamen.

65. (1) Any Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office may enter at any time on board any foreign ship upon which he has reason to believe that any such seaman has been shipped, and may muster and examine the several seamen employed therein.

(2) Any person who obstructs a Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent in the exercise of his powers under sub-section (1) shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

[Act XIII of 1876, s. 5; Bill of 1882, s. 46.]

Power to prohibit engagement of native seamen.

66. (1) The Local Government, or such officer as it may appoint in this behalf, may, by order in writing signed by one of its Secretaries or by such officer, prohibit any person from engaging in the territories subject to the said Government, or in any specified portion of such territories, any native of India to serve as a seaman on board any ship, whether British or foreign, specified in the order; but in every case the reasons for the prohibition shall be stated in writing.

(2) Whoever wilfully disobeys any such prohibition shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or to both.

CHAPTER VIII.

PRODUCTION OF CERTIFICATES OF OFFICERS AND AGREEMENTS WITH SEAMEN.

[Act I of 1859, s. 31; Act VII of 1884, s. 35; Bill of 1867, s. 135; Bill of 1882, s. 41.] Cf. 1894, ss. 103, 118.

Production of certificates and agreements in the case of foreign-going British ships.

67. (1) The master of every foreign-going British ship for which an agreement is made under Chapter VII (other than an agreement signed under section 52) shall, on signing the agreement, produce to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office before whom the same is signed the certificate or certificates which the master, mate or mates (if any) and engineer or engineers (if any) are required by Chapter V to possess; and upon such production being duly made, and the agreement being duly executed as required by Chapter VII, the Superintendent shall sign and give to the master a certificate to that effect.

(2) Where a running agreement for a foreign-going British ship has been made under section 53, the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office shall, before the second and every subsequent voyage made after the commencement of the agreement, sign and give to the master, on his complying with the provisions contained in Chapter VII with respect to such agreements, and producing to the Superintendent the certificate of any mate or engineer then first engaged by him, a certificate to that effect.

(3) The master of every ship referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall, before proceeding to sea, produce the certificate given to him thereunder to the officer authorised to grant a port-clearance.

(4) No officer as aforesaid shall grant a port-clearance for any such ship unless such certificate is so produced; and, if any attempt is made to take any such ship to sea without a clearance, the ship may be detained until such certificate is so produced.

(5) In the case of a voyage terminating in British India, the master of every foreign-going British ship shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her final port of destination, or upon the discharge of the crew at that port, whichever first happens, deliver the agreement with the crew (whether the same was made under this Act or any other law) to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office.

(6) Such Superintendent shall thereupon give to the master a certificate of such delivery; and no officer of Customs shall permit the entry of any such ship inwards unless such certificate is produced to him.

(7) If any master fails to deliver the agreement with the crew to the Superintendent as directed by sub-section (5), he shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Production of certificates and agreements in the case of home-trade British ships.

[Act I of 1859, s. 32; Act VI of 1884, s. 35; Bill of 1867, s. 136; Bill of 1882, s. 42.] Cf. 1894, ss. 103, 119.

68. (1) Within a period of twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, or, if the ship is not at any port in British India within such period in any year, then within forty-eight hours after her next arrival at any port in British India,—

(a) the master or owner of every home-trade British ship which is required by Chapter V to carry a certificated officer or certificated officers shall produce to some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in British India the certificate or certificates which the master, mates, engineers and engine-drivers are required by that chapter to possess, and (b) the master or owner of every home-trade British ship of a burden exceeding eighty tons shall transmit or deliver to some Superintendent as aforesaid every agreement made with the crew within the six calendar months next preceding the said thirtieth day of June or thirty-first day of December, as the case may be.

(2) Such Superintendent shall thereupon sign and give to the master or owner a certificate of such production, transmission or delivery, as the case may be.

(3) The master of every ship referred to in sub-section (1) shall, before proceeding to sea, produce the certificate or certificates given to him under sub-section (2) to the officer authorised to grant a port-clearance.

(4) No officer as aforesaid shall grant a port-clearance for any such ship unless such certificate or certificates is or are so produced; and, if any attempt is made to take any such ship to sea without a clearance, the ship may be detained until such certificate or certificates is or are so produced.

(5) If any agreement made with the crew of any such ship is not transmitted or delivered to a Superintendent as directed by sub-section (1), the master or owner, as the case may be, shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Production of certificates and agreements in the case of foreign ships.

69. (1) The master of every foreign steamship which is required by section 33 to carry an officer or officers possessing a local Board of Trade or Colonial certificate shall, before taking the ship from any port in British India, produce the said certificate or certificates to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office; and upon such production being duly made, the Superintendent shall sign and give to the master a certificate to that effect.

(2) When any agreement between the master of a foreign ship and a seaman has been duly executed under Chapter VII at any port, and (in the case of a foreign-going ship) the master has given a bond under section 63, sub-section (4), the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at that port shall sign and give to the master a certificate to that effect.

(3) The master of every ship referred to in sub-sections (1) and (2) shall, before proceeding to sea, produce the certificate or certificates given to him thereunder to the officer authorised to grant a port-clearance.

(4) No officer as aforesaid shall grant a port-clearance for any such ship unless such certificate or certificates is or are so produced; and, if any attempt is made to take any such ship to sea without a clearance, the ship may be detained until such certificate or certificates is or are so produced.

(5) The master of every foreign ship for which an agreement has been made under section 63 shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arrival at her port of final destination in British India, or upon the discharge of the crew at that port, whichever first happens, deliver the agreement to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office.

(6) Such Superintendent shall thereupon give to the master a certificate of such delivery; and no officer of Customs shall permit the entry of any such ship inwards unless such certificate is produced to him.

(7) If any master fails to deliver the agreement with the crew to the Superintendent as directed by sub-section (5), he shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

CHAPTER IX.

WAGES AND DISCHARGE OF SEAMEN AND APPRENTICES, AND SETTLEMENT OF CLAIMS.

Advance of Wages.

Advance of wages.

70. (1) Any agreement with a seaman of a British ship made under Chapter VII may contain a stipulation for payment to or on behalf of the seaman, conditionally on his going to sea in pursuance of the agreement, of a sum not exceeding the amount of one month's wages payable to the seaman under the agreement.

[Act I of 1859, ss. 36, 37; Bill of 1867, ss 140, 141; Bill of 1882, ss. 48.] Cf. 1894, s 140.

(2) Stipulations for the allotment of a seaman's wages may be made in accordance with this Act.

(3) Any agreement made otherwise than as authorised by this section, by or on behalf of the

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter IX.—Wages and Discharge of Seamen and Apprentices, and Settlement of Claims.—Sections 71-75.)

employer of a seaman of a British ship, for the payment of money to or on behalf of the seaman conditionally on his going to sea from any port in British India, shall be void, and no money paid in satisfaction or in respect of any such agreement shall be deducted from the seaman's wages, and no person shall have any right of action, suit or set-off against the seaman or his assignee in respect of any money so paid or purporting to have been so paid.

(4) Nothing in this section shall affect any allotment made under this chapter.

Allotment of Wages.

[Act I of 1859, s. 38; Bill of 1867, s. 142; Bill of 1882, s. 49.] Cf. 1894, ss. 140 (b), 141.

Stipulation for allotment to be inserted in the agreement.

71. (1) Every agreement with a seaman of a British ship made under Chapter VII shall, if the seaman so require, stipulate for the allotment during his absence of any part not exceeding one-half of the wages of the seaman in favour of any near relative of the seaman.

(2) Every such stipulation shall be signed by the owner of the ship or his agent.

[Act I of 1859, s. 38; Bill of 1867, s. 142; Bill of 1882, s. 49.] Cf. 1894, s. 141.

Allotment-notes.

72. (1) Every such allotment shall be signed by means of an allotment-note.

(2) Every allotment-note shall be in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, and shall be made for the benefit only of a near relative of the seaman to be named in the note.

(3) For the purpose of the provisions of this Act with respect to allotment-notes, the expression "near relative" means one of the following persons, namely, the wife, father, mother, grandfather, grandmother, child, grandchild, brother or sister of the seaman.

[Act I of 1859, ss. 39, 40; Bill of 1867, ss. 143, 144; Bill of 1882, ss. 50, 51.] Cf. 1894, ss. 143, 144.

Payment of sums allotted.

73. (1) A payment under an allotment-note shall begin at the expiration of one month from the date of the agreement with the crew or at such later date as may be fixed by the agreement, and shall be made at expiration of every subsequent month, or of such other periods as may be fixed by the agreement, and shall be made only in respect of wages earned before the date of payment.

(2) The owner or any agent who has authorised the drawing of an allotment-note shall pay to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office on demand the sums due under the note, and, if he fails to do so, the Superintendent may sue for and recover the same with costs:

Provided as follows:—

(a) no such sum shall be recoverable if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court or Magistrate trying the case that the seaman has forfeited, or ceased to be entitled to, the wages out of which the allotment was to have been paid;

(b) the seaman shall be presumed to be duly earning his wages unless the contrary is shown to the satisfaction of the Court or Magistrate, either by a statement made under section 59 of the change in the crew caused by his absence, or by a duly certified copy of some entry in the official log to the effect that he has died or left the ship, or by a credible letter from the master of the ship to the same effect, or by such other evidence, of whatever description, as the Court or Magistrate may consider sufficient.

(3) The Superintendent, on receiving any such sum as aforesaid, shall pay it over to the person named in that behalf in the allotment-note.

(4) All such receipts and payments shall be entered in a book to be kept for the purpose, and all entries in the said book shall be authenticated by the signature of the Superintendent or the Deputy Superintendent.

(5) The said book shall be at all reasonable times open to the inspection of the parties concerned.

Legal Rights to Wages and Salvage.

Right to wages when to commence.

[Act I of 1859, s. 47; Bill of 1867, s. 159; Bill of 1882, s. 59.] Cf. 1894, s. 155.

74. The right of a seaman of a British ship to wages shall be taken to commence either at the time at which he begins work, or at the time specified in the agreement for his being on board or beginning work, whichever first happens.

Seamen not to forfeit lien on ship, remedy for recovery of wages, or salvage rights.

[Act I of 1859, s. 48; Bill of 1867, s. 160; Bill of 1882, s. 60.] Cf. 1894, s. 156.

75. (1) No seaman of a British ship shall by any agreement forfeit his lien upon the ship or be deprived of any remedy for the recovery of his wages to which he would otherwise have been entitled.

(2) Every stipulation in any agreement by which a seaman of a British ship consents to abandon his rights to wages in case of the wreck or loss of the ship, or to abandon any right which he may have or obtain in the nature of salvage, shall be wholly inoperative.

[Bill of 1867, s. 160.]

(3) Nothing in this section shall apply to any stipulation made by the seamen belonging to any British ship which, according to the terms of the agreement, is to be employed on salvage service, with respect to the remuneration to be paid to them for salvage services to be rendered by such ship to any other ship.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter IX.—Wages and Discharge of Seamen and Apprentices, and Settlement of Claims.—Sections 76-81.)

Wages not to be dependent on the earning of freight.

76. (1) The right of a seaman of a British ship to wages shall not be dependent on the earning of freight.

(2) Every seaman and apprentice of a British ship who would be entitled to demand and recover any wages if the ship had earned freight shall, subject to all other rules of law and conditions applicable to the case, be entitled to claim and recover the same notwithstanding that freight has not been earned; but, in all cases of wreck or loss of the ship, proof that he has not exerted himself to the utmost to save the ship, cargo and stores shall bar his claim.

Right of seaman to wages to cease with termination of service by wreck or by being left on shore under a certificate.

77. Where the service of any seaman of a British ship terminates before the period contemplated in the agreement, by reason of the wreck or loss of the ship, or by reason of his being left on shore under a certificate of unfitness or inability to proceed to sea granted under section 188 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, or section 150 of this Act, the seaman shall be entitled to wages for the time of service prior to such termination as aforesaid, but not for any further period.

Wages not to accrue during refusal to work or imprisonment.

78. No seaman or apprentice of a British ship shall be entitled to wages for any period during which he unlawfully refuses or neglects to work when required, whether before or after the time specified in the agreement for his beginning work; nor, unless the Court or Magistrate hearing the case otherwise directs, for any period during which he is lawfully imprisoned for any offence committed by him.

Discharge and Payment of Wages, and Settlement of Claims.

Discharge and payment before Superintendent.

79. (1) All seamen discharged from any foreign-going British ship at any port in British India shall be discharged and receive their wages through or in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office; except in cases where some competent Court otherwise directs.

(2) Any master or owner who discharges any seaman or pays his wages in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(3) In the case of home-trade British ships of a burden exceeding eighty tons, seamen may, if the owner or master so desires, be discharged and receive their wages in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office at a port in British India, except in cases where some competent Court otherwise directs.

Master to deliver account of wages.

[57 & 58 Vict., c. 60, s. 132.]

80. (1) The master of every British ship shall, before paying off or discharging a seaman, deliver at the time and in the manner provided by this Act a full and true account, in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, of the seaman's wages, and of all deductions to be made therefrom on any account whatever.

(2) The said account shall be delivered—

(a) when the seaman is not to be discharged before a Superintendent, to the seaman himself not less than twenty-four hours before the discharge or payment off; and

(b) when the seaman is to be discharged before a Superintendent, either to the seaman himself at or before the time of his leaving the ship, or to the Superintendent not less than twenty-four hours before the discharge or payment off.

(3) If the master of a British ship fails without reasonable cause to comply with this section, he shall for each offence be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(4) No deduction from the wages of any seaman of a British ship (except in respect of any matter happening after such delivery as aforesaid) shall be allowed unless it is included in the account delivered under sub-section (1).

(5) Every master of a British ship shall during the voyage enter the various matters in respect of which such deductions are made, with the amounts of the respective deductions, as they occur, in a book to be kept for the purpose, and shall, if required, produce such book at the time of the payment of wages and also upon the hearing before any competent authority of any complaint or question relating to such payment.

On discharge, master to give seamen certificates of discharge, and return certificates to mates and engineers.

[Act I of 1859, s. 43; Bill of 1867, s. 147; Bill of 1882, s. 54.] Cf. 1894, ss. 128, 129.

81. (1) Every master of a British ship shall, upon the discharge of any seaman, or upon payment of his wages, sign and give him a certificate of discharge, in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, specifying the period of his service and the time and place of his discharge; and shall in default be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Reports of seaman's character.

[57 & 58 Vict. c. 60, s. 129 (1).]

(2) When a seaman is discharged before a Superintendent the master shall make and sign in a form approved by the Local Government a report of the conduct, character and qualifications of the seaman discharged, or may state in the said form that he declines to give any opinion upon such particulars or upon any of them, and the Superintendent before whom the discharge is made shall, if the seaman desires, give to him or endorse on his certificate of discharge a copy of such report.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter IX.—Wages and Discharge of Seamen and Apprentices, and Settlement of Claims.—Sections 82-86.)

(3) Every master of a British ship shall, upon the discharge of any certificated officer whose certificate has been delivered to and retained by him, return such certificate, and shall, if without reasonable cause he fails to do so, be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

[Act I of 1859, s. 46; Bill of 1867, s. 157; Bill of 1882, s. 57.] Cf. 1894, s. 136(1) to (4).

Release to be signed on settlement of claims.

82. (1) Upon the completion in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office of any discharge and settlement, as between the master or owner of a British ship and a seaman, the master or owner and the seaman shall respectively, in the presence of the Superintendent, sign, in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, a mutual release of all claims in respect of the past voyage or engagement, and the Superintendent shall also attest the release and shall retain the same.

Cf. 1894, ss.

(2) Such release, so signed and attested, shall operate as a mutual discharge and settlement of all demands between the parties thereto in respect of the past voyage or engagement.

(3) A copy of such release, certified under the hand of such Superintendent to be a true copy, shall be given by him to any party to the release who may require the same, and such copy shall be admissible in evidence upon any future question touching such claims as aforesaid, and shall have all the effect of the original.

(4) In cases in which discharge and settlement in the presence of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office are required by section 79, sub-section (1), no payment, receipt, settlement or discharge otherwise made shall operate as, or be admissible in evidence of, the release or satisfaction of any claim.

Cf. 1894, s. 134(b).

Settlement of wages by Superintendent.

83. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, the final settlement of the wages of a seaman of a British ship may, if the seaman consents, be left to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office under rules (if any) made by the Local Government; and the receipt of the Superintendent shall in that case operate as a release by the seaman under section 82.

[Act I of 1859, s. 46, Bill of 1867, s. 157; Bill of 1882, s. 57.] Cf. 1894, s. 136 (5).

Statement of payments made to be given to master, and to be evidence.

84. Upon any payment being made by a master of a British ship before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, the Superintendent shall, if so required, sign and give to the master a statement of the whole amount so paid; and such statement shall, as between the master and his employer, be admissible in evidence that he has made the payments therein mentioned.

[Act I of 1859, s. 5 Bill of 18 s. 165; B 1882, s. 6 Cf. 1894, ss. 134, 1

Period within which wages are to be paid.

85. (1) The owner or master of every foreign-going British ship shall pay to each seaman, on account of the time when he lawfully leaves the ship at the end of his engagement, twenty rupees or one-fourth of the balance of wages due to him, whichever is least, and shall pay him the remainder of his wages within two clear days (exclusive of any Sunday or public holiday) after he so leaves the ship.

(2) In the event of a seaman's wages or any part thereof not being paid or settled as by this section required, then, unless the delay is due to the act or default of the seaman, or to some reasonable dispute as to liability or to some other cause not being the wrongful act or default of the owner or master, the seaman's wages shall continue to run and be payable until the time of the final settlement thereof.

Period within which wages are to be paid.

85A. (1) The master or owner of every home-trade British ship shall pay to every seaman his wages within two days after the termination of the agreement with the crew or at the time when the seaman is discharged, whichever first happens.

(2) If a master or owner fails without reasonable cause to make payment at that time, he shall pay to the seaman a sum not exceeding the amount of two days' pay for each of the days during which payment is delayed beyond that time, but the sum payable shall not exceed ten days' double pay.

(3) Any sum payable under this section may be recovered as wages.

[Act I of 1859, s. 5 (am. by A XIII of 18 s. 10); Bi 1867, s. 1 Bill of 18 s. 66.] Cf. 1894, s. 139.

Rate of exchange for payment of seamen or apprentices in British Indian money.

86. (1) Where an agreement with the master of a British ship stipulates for the payment of wages or any other money to a seaman or apprentice in British sterling or any other currency not being British Indian currency, any payment in British India, if made in British Indian currency, shall, notwithstanding anything in the agreement, be made at the rate of exchange for the time being current at the place where the payment is made.

(2) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare what shall be deemed, for the purposes of sub-section (1), to be the rate of exchange for the time being current at any place in British India.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter IX.—Wages and Discharge of Seamen and Apprentices, and Settlement of Claims.—Sections 87-91. Chapter X.—Master's Wages, Disbursements and Liabilities.— Section 92.)

Award by Superintendent.

87. (1) Any Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office may hear and decide any question as to wages which is raised before him between the master or owner of a British ship and a seaman or apprentice, provided the amount in question does not exceed fifty rupees and the Superintendent does not consider that the question ought to be decided by a Court of law.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), every Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office shall hear and decide any question whatever between a master or owner of a British ship and a seaman or apprentice which both parties agree in writing to submit to him.

(3) Every award made by a Superintendent under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be binding on both parties, and shall, in any legal proceeding which may be taken in the matter before any Court or Magistrate, be deemed to be conclusive as to the rights of the parties.

(4) Any document purporting to be an agreement or award made under this section shall not require to be stamped and shall be admissible in evidence.

Master and others to produce ship's papers to Superintendents, and give evidence.

88. (1) In any proceeding relating to the wages, discharge or claims of any seaman or apprentice of a British ship which is carried on before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office under the provisions of this Act, the Superintendent may call upon the owner or his agent, the master, or any mate or other member of the crew, to produce any logs, papers or other documents in their respective possession or power relating to any matter in question in such proceeding, and may call before him and examine on any such matter any of such persons being then at or near the place where such office is situate.

(2) If any person so required fails without reasonable cause to comply with the requisition, he shall for each offence be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Application to Magistrate for recovery of wages not exceeding five hundred rupees.

89. (1) Any seaman or apprentice of a British ship, or any person duly authorised on his behalf, may apply to any Magistrate acting in or near the place at which the service has terminated or at which the seaman or apprentice has been discharged, or at which any person upon whom the claim is made is or resides, for the recovery of any amount of wages due to such seaman or apprentice not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(2) Every application dealt with by a Magistrate under sub-section (1) shall be heard and determined in a summary manner, and the order of the Magistrate thereon shall be final.

Bar of jurisdiction of superior Civil Courts in suits for wages not exceeding five hundred rupees.

[Act I of 1859, s. 57; Act XVI of 1891; Bill of 1867, s. 169; Bill of 1882, s. 69.] Cf. 1894, s. 165.

90. No suit or proceeding for the recovery of wages not exceeding the sum of five hundred rupees shall be instituted by or on behalf of any seaman or apprentice of a British ship in any Colonial Court of Admiralty or (where there is a Court of Small Causes) in any Civil Court other than a Court of Small Causes, unless the owner of the ship is adjudged bankrupt or declared insolvent, or unless the ship is under arrest or has been sold by the authority of any such Court, or unless the Magistrate, to whom application has been made under section 89, refers the parties to such Court.

91. Application of chapter to certain seamen of foreign ships. [Omitted.]

CHAPTER X.

MASTER'S WAGES, DISBURSEMENTS AND LIABILITIES.

Remedies for recovery of master's wages and disbursements and for liabilities incurred by master.

[Act I of 1859, s. 58; Act XVI of 1891; Bill of 1867, s. 170; Bill of 1882, s. 70.] Cf. 1894, s. 167.

92. (1) Every master of a British ship shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens and remedies for the recovery of his wages as by this Act or any other law or any custom a seaman has for the recovery of his wages.

(2) Every master of a British ship, and every person lawfully acting as master of a British ship by reason of the disease or incapacity from illness of the master of the ship, shall, so far as the case permits, have the same rights, liens and remedies for the recovery of disbursements properly made by him on account of the ship and for liabilities properly incurred by him on account of the ship, as a master of a British ship has, by sub-section (1) or any other law or any custom, for the recovery of his wages.

(3) If in any proceeding in any Colonial Court of Admiralty touching the claim of a master of a British ship, or any person lawfully acting as master of a British ship, to wages or such disbursements as aforesaid, or on account of such liabilities as aforesaid, any right of set-off or counter claim is set up, it shall be lawful for the Court to enter into and adjudicate upon all questions and to settle all accounts then arising or outstanding and unsettled between the parties to the proceeding, and to direct payment of any balance which is found to be due.

CHAPTER XI.

POWER TO RESCIND CONTRACTS.

Cf. 1894, s. 168.

Power to rescind contracts.

93. (1) Where a proceeding is instituted in or before any Court in relation to any dispute between an owner or master of a British ship and a seaman or apprentice to the sea service, arising out of or incidental to their relation as such, or is instituted for the purposes of this section, the Court, if, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, it thinks it just so to do, may rescind any contract between the owner or master and the seaman or apprentice, or any contract of apprenticeship, upon such terms as the Court may think just.

(2) The power conferred by this section shall be in addition to any other jurisdiction which the Court can exercise independently of this section.

(3) For the purposes of this section, "Court" includes any Magistrate having jurisdiction in the matter to which the proceeding relates.

CHAPTER XII.

WAGES AND EFFECTS OF DECEASED SEAMEN AND APPRENTICES.

[Act I of 1859, s. 9; Bill of 1867, s. 172; Bill of 1882, s. 72.] Cf. 1894, s. 169.

Property of seamen who die during voyage.

94. Whenever a seaman or apprentice dies during a voyage in a British ship which is to terminate at a port in British India, the master shall take charge of all money and effects which he leaves on board.

(2) The master may, if he thinks fit, cause any of the effects to be sold by auction at the mast or otherwise by public auction.

(3) The master shall enter in the official log-book the following particulars:—

(a) a statement of the amount of the money and a description of the effects;

(b) in case of a sale, a description of such articles sold and the sum received for each;

(c) a statement of the sum due to the deceased for wages and of the amount of deductions (if any) to be made from the wages.

(4) The entry shall be signed by the master and attested by a mate and some other member of the crew.

[Act I of 1859, s. 60; Bill of 1867, s. 173; Bill of 1882, s. 73.] Cf. 1894, 170.

Effects to be delivered, and money and wages paid, to Superintendent, with full account.

95. (1) The master shall, within forty-eight hours after his arrival at his port of destination in British India, deliver such effects as aforesaid remaining in his hands, and pay all money which he has so taken charge of or received, and also the wages due to the deceased, to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at such port, and shall give to such Superintendent an account of the effects, money and wages so to be delivered and paid.

(2) No deductions claimed in such account shall be allowed unless verified,—

(a) if there is an official log, by the entry therein required by section 166, clause (i), and

(b) by such other vouchers (if any) as may be reasonably required by the Superintendent.

[Act I of 1859, s. 6[illegible]; Bill of 18[illegible], s. 174; Bill of 1882, s. 74.] Cf. 1894, 171.

Penalties for contravening section 94 or section 95.

96. If any master fails to take charge of any money or effects of a seaman or apprentice or to make or cause to be made entries in respect thereof, or to make delivery or payment, or to give an account, as hereinbefore directed, he shall be accountable for the money, wages and effects of the seaman or apprentice to such Superintendent as aforesaid, and shall pay and deliver the same accordingly; and shall in addition be liable to fine which may extend to treble the value of the money, wages and effects, or, if such value is not ascertained, to five hundred rupees.

Cf. 1894, 174.

Wages of seamen and apprentices lost with their ship to be paid to Superintendent.

97. Where a seaman or apprentice of a British ship registered in British India has been lost with his ship, his wages shall be paid by the owner of the ship to some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in British India.

Cf. 1894, 175.

Wages and effects of seamen and apprentices dying in British India to be made over to Superintendent.

98. Whenever any seaman or apprentice dies in British India, and is at the time of his death entitled to claim from the master or owner of any British ship in which he has served any unpaid wages or undelivered effects, such master or owner shall pay such wages, and deliver or account for such effects, to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at the port at which the seaman or apprentice was discharged or was to have been discharged, and in default of so doing shall be liable to fine which may extend to treble the value of the money and effects, or, if such value is not ascertained, to five hundred rupees.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XII.—Wages and Effects of Deceased Seamen and Apprentices.—Sections 99-104.)

Procedure for recovery of money, wages and effects of deceased seamen and apprentices.

99. Any money, wages or effects referred to in section 94, section 95, section 97 or section 98 may be recovered by the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in the manner provided by Chapter IX or any other law for the time being in force for the recovery of a seaman's wages.

Evidence as to loss of ship with reference to the recovery of wages.

100. (1) In any proceeding for the recovery of the wages of a seaman or apprentice of a British ship registered in British India who has been lost with his ship,—

(a) if it is shown by some official return produced out of the custody of any officer authorized to grant a port-clearance, or by other evidence, that the ship has twelve months or upwards before the institution of the proceeding left a port of departure, and

(b) if a certificate from the Local Government is produced to the effect that the ship has not been heard of within a period of twelve months after such departure, and

(c) if it is not shown that the ship has been heard of within such period, the ship shall be deemed to have been lost with all hands on board, either immediately after the time at which she was last heard of, or at such later time as the Court may think probable.

(2) The production out of the custody of the Superintendent of any Mercantile Marine Office of any duplicate agreement or list of the crew made out at the time of the last departure of the ship from British India, or the production of a certificate purporting to be a certificate from a Consular or other public officer at any port beyond British India stating that certain seamen or apprentices were shipped in the ship from such port, shall, unless the contrary be proved, be sufficient evidence that the seamen or apprentices therein named were on board at the time of the loss.

Disposal by Superintendent of money, wages and effects of deceased seaman and apprentice.

101. When money, wages or effects left by or due to any deceased seaman or apprentice who belonged to a British ship is or are received by a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, then, subject to such deductions for expenses incurred in respect of the seaman or apprentice or of his said money, wages or effects as the Superintendent may think proper to allow, the Superintendent may pay and deliver the said money, wages and effects to any claimants who can prove themselves to his satisfaction to be entitled thereto, and the Superintendent shall be thereby discharged from all further liability in respect thereof ; or, if he thinks fit so to do, the Superintendent may require probate or letters of administation, or a certificate under the Succession Certificate Act, 1889, to be taken out, and thereupon pay and deliver the said money, wages and effects to the legal representative of the deceased.

Procedure where money, wages or effects of deceased seaman or apprentice not claimed within one year.

[Act I of 1859, s. 63 (rep. in part by Act XII of 1876); Bill of 1867, s. 176; Bill of 1882, s. 76.] Cf 1894, s. 170.

102. (1) Where the money, wages or effects of any deceased seaman or apprentice who belonged to a British ship has or have been received by a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, and no claim thereto is substantiated within one year from such receipt, the Superintendent shall cause such effects to be sold and pay the proceeds of the sale, together with the unclaimed money and wages, into the public treasury.

(2) If, after any money has been so paid into the public treasury, any claim is made thereto, then, if the claim is established to the satisfaction of the Superintendent, the amount or so much as shall appear to be due to the claimant shall be paid to him, and if the claim is not so established, the claimant may apply by petition to a Magistrate ; and such Magistrate, after taking evidence, either orally or on affidavit, shall make such order on the petition as shall seem just :

Provided that after the expiration of six years from the receipt of such unclaimed money, wages or effects by the Superintendent, no claim to such money or wages or to the proceeds of the sale of such effects shall be entertained without the sanction of the Local Government.

Recovery of wages where freight has not been earned.

[Act I of 1859, s. 50; Bill of 1867, s. 162; Bill of 1882, s. 62.] Cf. 1894, s. 157 (2).

103. The provisions of this chapter as to wages shall apply to wages due to any seaman or apprentice of a British ship under section 76 and remaining unpaid at the date of his death.

Right to provisions when to commence.

105. The right of a seaman of a British ship to provisions shall be taken to commence either at the time at which he begins work, or at the time specified in the agreement for his being on board or beginning work, whichever first happens.

Cf. 1894, s. 206.

Inspection of provisions and water for crew of foreign-going ship, prior to departure of ship.

106. (1) All beef or pork in barrels, preserved meat or vegetables in tins, and flour or biscuits in casks, and all water, intended for the use of the crew of any British ship which is about to proceed to sea from a port in British India on a voyage through the Suez Canal or round the Cape of Good Hope or Cape Horn shall be inspected by an officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf:

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

Provided that no provisions which have been certified under section 206 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, for use in any such voyage shall be so inspected.

(2) Such inspection shall be made, if practicable, before the articles are placed on board the ship, and shall be made in the prescribed manner.

(3) If the said officer is satisfied that the said articles are fit for such use as aforesaid, he shall sign and give to the master of the ship a certificate to that effect.

(4) The inspecting officer may at any time proceed on board any such ship to ascertain whether the stores and water provided have been duly inspected, or, if not, whether they are of a quality fit for the use of the crew of the ship, and if he finds the same not to have been inspected and to be deficient in quality, the ship shall be detained until the defects are remedied to his satisfaction.

(5) The Local Government may make rules to regulate the inspection of provisions and water under sub-section (1).

(6) No fee for an inspection under this section shall be levied on the ship.

[Act I of 1859, s. 64; Bill of 1867, s. 177; Bill of 1882, s. 77.] Cf. 1894, s. 198 (1), (2), (3).

Examination of provisions or water on complaint of crew.

107. (1) Any three or more members of the crew of any British ship may complain to any Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or to any officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf that the provisions or water provided for the use of the crew are or is at any time of bad quality, unfit for use or deficient in quantity.

(2) Any officer to whom such complaint is made shall thereupon examine the said provisions or water or cause them or it to be examined; and if, on examination, any of such provisions or water are or is found to be of bad quality and unfit for use or to be deficient in quantity, the person making such examination shall signify the same in writing to the master of the ship.

(3) If the master does not thereupon provide other proper provisions or water in place of any so signified to be of bad quality and unfit for use, or does not procure the requisite quantity of any so signified to be deficient in quantity, or uses any provisions or water which have or has been so signified to be of bad quality and unfit for use, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(4) When any such examination as aforesaid has been made, the officer to whom complaint was made as aforesaid shall enter a statement of the result of the examination in the official log (if any), and shall, unless he is himself the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, send a report thereof to such Superintendent.

(5) Such report, if produced out of the custody of such Superintendent, shall be admissible in evidence.

[Act I of 1859, s. 65; Bill of 1867, s. 178; Bill of 1882, s. 78.] Cf. 1894, s. 198 (4).

Forfeiture for frivolous complaint.

108. If any officer to whom a complaint is made under section 107 certifies in such statement as aforesaid that there was no reasonable ground for the complaint, each of the parties so complaining shall be liable to forfeit to the owner out of his wages a sum not exceeding the amount of one week's wages.

[Act I of 1859, s. 71; Bill of 1867, s. 184; Bill of 1882, s. 84.]

Inspection of provisions or water by Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent.

109. (1) The Superintendent or Deputy Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at any port in British India may enter at any time on board of any British ship upon which seamen or apprentices have been shipped at such port, and inspect any of the provisions or water provided for the use of the crew, other than provisions or water which have been inspected under section 106.

(2) If on any such inspection any of the provisions or water are or is found to be of bad quality and unfit for use, or deficient in quantity, the Superintendent shall proceed as provided in section 107, and the penalty provided by that section shall be incurred by any default of the master of the ship in respect of such provisions or water.

Allowance for short or bad provisions.

[Act I of 1859, s. ; Bill of 18 s. 179; Bill 1882, s. 79] Cf. 1894, s. 199.

110. (1) In either of the following cases (that is to say)—

(a) if during a voyage in a British ship the allowance of any of the provisions for which a seaman has stipulated by his agreement is reduced except in accordance with any regulations for reduction by way of punishment contained in the agreement with the crew, and also except for any time during which the seaman wilfully and without sufficient cause refuses or neglects to perform his duty or is lawfully under confinement for misconduct either on board or on shore; or

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XIII.—Provisions, Health and Accommodation.—Sections 111-113.)

(b) if it is shown that any of such provisions are or have during the voyage been bad in quality and unfit for use;

the seaman shall receive by way of compensation for such reduction or bad quality, according to the time of its continuance, the following sums, to be paid to him in addition to and to be recoverable as wages (that is to say)—

(i) if his allowance is reduced by any quantity not exceeding one-third of the quantity specified in the agreement, a sum not exceeding four annas per diem in the case of a European seaman or other person shipped on the same footing as a European seaman, or one anna per diem in the case of a lascar or other native seaman

(ii) if his allowance is reduced by more than one-third of such quantity, eight annas per diem in the case of a European seaman or other person shipped on the same footing as a European seaman, or two annas per diem in the case of a lascar or other native seaman:

(iii) in respect of such bad quality as aforesaid, a sum not exceeding twelve annas per diem in the case of a European seaman or other person shipped on the same footing as a European seaman, or three annas per diem in the case of a lascar or other native seaman.

Provided that, if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court or Magistrate trying the case that any provisions, the allowance of which has been reduced, could not be procured, or supplied in proper quantities, and that proper and equivalent substitutes were supplied in place thereof, the Court or Magistrate shall take such circumstances into consideration, and shall modify or refuse the compensation payable under this sub-section as the justice of the case may require.

(2) The Court or Magistrate trying the case may, before making an order awarding compensation under sub-section (1), require the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office, or any other officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, to inspect any provisions, which are alleged to be bad in quality and unfit for use, and to report to such Court or Magistrate the result of such inspection.

Medicines, medical stores, disinfectants and medical appliances to be provided and kept on board certain ships.

111. (1) All foreign-going British ships all home-trade British ships carrying passengers, and all home-trade British ships of a burden of eighty tons or upwards not carrying passengers, shall have always on board a sufficient supply of medicines, medical stores, disinfectants and medical appliances suitable for diseases and accidents likely to happen on sea voyages, according to such scale as may be fixed by the Governor General in Council and published in the Gazette of India.

(2) If in any ship medicines, medical stores, disinfectants or medical appliances are not provided or kept on board as required by sub-section (1), the owner or master of the ship shall be deemed to be in fault and shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, unless he can prove that the non-compliance with the said requirements was not caused by any inattention, neglect or wilful default on his part, and, if it is proved that some person other than the owner or master is in fault, such person shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(3) Nothing in this section shall apply to ships navigating from the United Kingdom and complying with the provisions of section 200 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

Weights and measures

112 (1) Every master of a British ship shall keep on board proper weights and measures for the purpose of determining the quantities of the several provisions and articles served out to the crew, and shall allow the same to be used at the time of serving out such provisions and articles in the presence of a witness whenever any dispute arises in regard to such quantities.

[Act I of 1859, s. 68; Bill of 1867, s. 181; Bill of 1882, s. 81.] Cf. 1894, s. 201.

(2) Any master failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Provision of accommodation for seamen and apprentices

113 (1) Every place in any British ship which is occupied by seamen or apprentices engaged under this Act and appropriated to their use shall have,—

[Act I of 1859, s. 70 (am. by Act XIII of 1876, s. 9); Bill of 1867, s. 183; Bill of 1882, s. 83.] Cf. 1894, s. 201.

(a) for each European seaman or apprentice or other person shipped on the same footing as a European seaman, a space of twelve superficial and seventy-two cubic feet, and

(b) for each lascar or other native seaman person shipped on the same footing as a lascar, a space of six superficial and thirty-six cubic feet, measured on the deck or floor of such place.

(2) Every such place shall be such as to make the space aforesaid available for the proper accommodation of the seamen or apprentices who are to occupy it, shall be securely constructed, properly lighted and ventilated, properly protected from weather and sea and, as far as practicable, properly shut off and protected from effluvium which may be caused by cargo or bilge-water

(3) No place under the top-gallant forecastle shall be occupied by or appropriated to the use of any lascar or other native seaman or person shipped on the same footing as a lascar unless the forecastle deck is not less than five feet six inches above the deck immediately below it.

(4) Every place referred to in sub-section (1) shall be kept free from stores or goods of any kind, not being the personal property of the crew in use during the voyage.

Expenses consequent upon illness of master, seaman or apprentice how to be defrayed.

116. (1) The following expenses in respect of the illness or burial of the master or any seaman or apprentice of any British ship registered in British India shall be defrayed by the owner of the ship, without any deduction on that account from the wages of the master, seaman or apprentice:—

(a) when any such master, seaman or apprentice receives any hurt or injury in the service of the ship—the expenses of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance, with medicines, and of his subsistence, until he is cured, or is brought back to the port from which he was shipped or other port agreed upon, and the expenses of his conveyance to such port, and in case of death the expenses (if any) of his burial;

(b) when any such master, seaman or apprentice is, on account of illness, temporarily removed from the ship for the purpose of preventing infection, or otherwise for the convenience of the ship, and subsequently returns to his duty—the expenses of such removal, and of providing the necessary surgical and medical advice and attendance with medicines, and of his subsistence, while away from the ship;

(c) when any such master, seaman or apprentice is ill otherwise than as mentioned in clause (a)—the expenses of all medicines and surgical or medical advice and attendance given to him while on board his ship:

Provided that where a seaman or apprentice is during any period, by reason of illness, incapable of performing his duty, and it is proved that such illness has been caused by his own wilful act or default, he shall not be entitled to wages for that period.

(2) Whenever it is shown that any seaman or apprentice of any British ship registered in British India is ill and has, through the neglect of the owner or master, not been provided with proper food or water according to his agreement, or with such medicines, medical stores, medical appliances, anti-scorbutics or accommodation as are required by or under this Act or the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as the case may be, then, unless it can be shown that the illness has been produced by other causes, the owner or master shall be liable to pay all expenses properly and necessarily incurred by reason of such illness (not exceeding in the whole three months' wages), either by the seaman or apprentice himself or on his behalf by—

(d) any Local Government or Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in British India, or (e) any officer authorised in that behalf by the Government of any other British Possession, or (f) any British Consular officer.

[Bill of 18 s. 180, 1 clause.]

(3) Nothing in sub-section (2) shall affect—

(g) any further liability to which any owner or master is subject in respect of such neglect as aforesaid, or

(h) any remedy which any seaman or apprentice would have but for that sub-section.

(4) In cases not provided for by sub-section (1) or sub-section (2), any reasonable expenses

(i) for a master or seaman in respect of illness, or

(j) in respect of the burial of a master, seaman or apprentice dying while on service, shall, if duly proved, be deducted from the wages of such master, seaman or apprentice.

(5) Where any expenses referred to in sub-section (1) have been paid by the master, seaman or apprentice himself, or where any expenses are payable under sub-section (2), the same may be recovered as if they were wages duly earned; and, if any such expenses are paid or allowed out of any moneys forming part of the revenues of India, the amount shall be a charge upon the ship, and may be recovered with full costs of suit by the Secretary of State for India in Council.

CHAPTER XIV.

COMPLAINTS BY SEAMEN AND APPRENTICES.

Seaman or apprentice to be allowed to go ashore to make complaint to a Magistrate or Superintendent.

118. (1) If any seaman or apprentice, while on board any British ship, states to the master that he desires to make complaint to a Magistrate or a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office against the master or any member of the crew, the master shall,

if the ship is then at a place where there is a Magistrate or a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, so soon as the service of the ship will permit, or, if the ship is not then at such a place, so soon after her first arrival at such a place as the service of the ship will permit, allow such seaman or apprentice to go ashore or send him ashore in proper custody, so that he may be enabled to make such complaint.

(2) Any master failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

119. Application of section 118 to certain seamen of foreign ships. [Omitted.]

Penalty for being on board ship without permission before seamen leave.

124. Where a British ship is about to arrive, is arriving or has arrived at the end of her voyage, every person, not being in Her Majesty's service or not being duly authorised by law for the purpose, who—

(a) goes on board the ship, without the permission of the master, before the seamen lawfully leave the ship at the end of their engagement, or are discharged (whichever last happens), or,

(b) being on board the ship, remains there after being warned to leave by the master, or by a police-officer, shall for each offence be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, o with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months; and the master of the ship may take him into custody, and deliver him up forthwith to a police-officer to be taken before a Court or Magistrate capable of taking cognizance of the offence, and dealt with according to law.

Punishment for misconduct endangering ship, life or limb.

129. If any master, seaman or apprentice of a British ship, by wilful breach of duty, or by neglect of duty or by reason of drunkenness,—

(a) does any act tending to the immediate loss, destruction or serious damage of the ship, or tending immediately to endanger the life or limb of any person belonging to, or on board of, the ship, or

(b) refuses or omits to do any lawful act proper and requisite to be done by him for preserving the ship from immediate loss, destruction or serious damage, or for preserving any person belonging to or on board of the ship from immediate danger to life or limb, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or to both.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XVI.—Discipline.—Sections 130-131.)

Punishment of seamen and apprentices for certain other offences.

130. Whenever any seaman of a British ship who has been lawfully engaged, or any apprentice of a British ship, commits any of the following offences, he shall, notwithstanding anything in Chapter XXII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, be tried in a summary way, and shall be punishable as follows (that is to say)—

Desertion.

(1) if he deserts, he shall be liable—

(a) to forfeit all or any part of the effects he leaves on board and of the wages or emoluments which he has then earned, and

(b) if the desertion takes place at any place not in British India, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit all or any part of the wages or emoluments which he may earn in any other ship in which he may be employed until his next return to a port in British India, and to satisfy any excess of wages paid by the master or owner of the ship from which he deserts to any substitute engaged in his place at a higher rate of wages than the rate stipulated to be paid to him, and also, except in the United Kingdom, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding twelve weeks, with or without hard labour;

Failing to join ship, or absence without leave.

(2) for neglecting or refusing, without reasonable cause, to join his ship or proceed to sea in his ship, or for absence without leave at any time within twenty-four hours of the ship's sailing from any port either at the commencement or during the progress of any voyage, or for absence at any time without leave and without sufficient reason from his ship or from his duty, where such absence does not amount to desertion or is not treated as such by the master, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding two days' pay, and, in addition, for every twenty-four hours of absence, either a sum not exceeding six days' pay or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute, and also, except in the United Kingdom, he shall be liable to imprisonment for any period not exceeding ten weeks, with or without hard labour;

Quitting without leave before ship is secured.

(3) for quitting his ship without leave after her arrival at her port of delivery and before she is placed in security, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding one month's pay;

Disobedience.

(4) for wilful disobedience to any lawful command he shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to four weeks, and shall also be liable, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit out of his wages a sum not exceeding two days' pay:

Continued disobedience or neglect of duty.

(5) for continued wilful disobedience to lawful commands, or continued wilful neglect of duty, he shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to twelve weeks, and shall also be liable, at the discretion of the Court, to forfeit, for every twenty-four hours' continuance of such disobedience or neglect, either a sum not exceeding six days' pay or any expenses which have been properly incurred in hiring a substitute:

Assault on officer.

(6) for assaulting the master or any mate or certificated engineer of his ship he shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to twelve weeks:

Combining to disobey, or to neglect duty, etc.

(7) for combining with any other member or members of the crew to disobey lawful commands, or to neglect duty, or to impede the navigation of the ship or the progress of the voyage, he shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to twelve weeks:

Wilful damage or theft.

(8) for wilfully damaging his ship, or committing theft or criminal misappropriation in respect of, or wilfully damaging, any of her stores or cargo, he shall be liable to forfeit out of his wages a sum equal in amount to the loss thereby sustained, and also, at the discretion of the Court, to imprisonment for a term which may extend to twelve weeks:

Act of smuggling, causing loss or damage to owner or master.

(9) for any act of smuggling of which he is convicted, and whereby loss or damage is occasioned to the owner or master, he shall be liable to pay to the owner or master such sum as is sufficient to reimburse the owner or master for such loss or damage; and the whole or a proportionate part of his wages may be retained in satisfaction or on account of such liability, without prejudice to any further remedy.

Section 130 not to take away remedy for breach of contract.

Cf. 189, s. 236.

131. Nothing in section 130 shall be deemed to take away or limit any remedy which an owner or master would have but for that section for any breach of contract in respect of matters constituting an offence against that section; but no owner or master shall be compensated more than once in respect of the same damage.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XVI.—Discipline.—Sections 132-135.)

132. (1) Upon the commission of any offence mentioned in section 130, or of any act of misconduct for which the offender's agreement imposes a fine, and it is intended to enforce the fine, the master shall make, or cause to be made, an entry thereof in the official log (if any), and such entry shall be signed by the master and also by the mate or some other member of the crew.

Entry of offences in official log.

(2) The offender, if still in the ship, shall, before the next subsequent arrival of the ship at any port, or, if she is at the time in port, before her departure therefrom, either be furnished with a copy of such entry or have the same read over distinctly and audibly to him, and may thereupon make such reply thereto as he may think fit.

(3) A statement that a copy of the said entry has been so furnished, or that the same has been so read over as aforesaid, and the reply (if any) made by the offender, shall likewise be entered and signed in manner aforesaid.

(4) In any subsequent legal proceeding, the entries hereinbefore required shall, if practicable, be produced or proved, and in default of such production or proof the Court hearing the case may, at its discretion, refuse to receive evidence of the offence or act of misconduct.

133. (1) If any seaman of a British ship, on or before being engaged, wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement as to the name of his last ship, or last alleged ship, or wilfully and fraudulently makes a false statement as to his own name, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for false statement as to last ship or as to name.

(2) Such fine may be deducted from any wages which the seaman may earn by virtue of such engagement as aforesaid, and may be applied in whole or in part in reimbursement of the loss and expenses (if any) occasioned by any previous desertion.

134. (1) Whenever, either at the commencement or during the progress of a voyage, any seaman or apprentice deserts from, or neglects or refuses to join or proceed to sea in, any British ship in which he is duly engaged to serve, or is found otherwise absenting himself therefrom without leave,

Procedure in case of desertion, failure to join ship, or absence without leave.

the master or any mate, or the owner, ship's husband or consignee may, with or without the assistance of police-officers, who are hereby directed to give the same if required, convey him on board:

Provided that, if the seaman or apprentice so requires, he shall first be taken before some Court capable of taking cognizance of the matter, to be dealt with according to law.

(2) If any master, mate, owner, ship's husband or consignee—

(a) conveys a seaman or apprentice on board without first complying with any requisition made by him to be taken before a Court as aforesaid, or

(b) conveys a seaman or apprentice on board, or takes him before a Court, on grounds which appear to the Court to be improper or insufficient, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees; but such fine, if inflicted, shall be a bar to any suit for false imprisonment.

(3) Whenever any seaman or apprentice is brought before any Court on the ground of his having deserted from, or neglected or refused to join or proceed to sea in, any British ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, the Court may, if the master or the owner or his agent so requires, cause the seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage, or deliver him to the master or any mate of the ship, or the owner or his agent, to be by him so conveyed, and may in such case order any costs and expenses properly incurred by or on behalf of the master or owner by reason of the offence to be paid by the seaman or apprentice, and if necessary to be deducted from any wages which he has then earned, or which by virtue of his then existing engagement he may afterwards earn.

135. (1) Whenever in any proceeding against any seaman or apprentice belonging to a British ship for the offence of desertion, or absence without leave or for otherwise being absent from his ship without leave, it is alleged by one-fourth, or if their number exceeds twenty by not less than five, of the seamen belonging to the ship, that the ship is, by reason of unseaworthiness, overloading, improper loading, defective equipment or for any other reason, not in a fit condition to proceed to sea, or that the accommodation in the ship is insufficient, the Court having cognizance of the case shall take such means as may be in its power to satisfy itself concerning the truth or untruth of the allegation, and shall for that purpose receive the evidence of the persons making the same, and may summon any other witnesses whose evidence it may think it desirable to hear, and shall, if satisfied that the allegation is groundless, adjudicate in the case, but if not so satisfied shall before adjudication cause the ship to be surveyed.

(2) A seaman or apprentice charged with desertion, or with quitting his ship without leave, shall not have any right to apply for a survey under this section unless he has before quitting his ship complained to the master of the circumstances so alleged in justification.

(3) For the purposes of this section the Court shall require any surveyor of ships appointed under this Act, or, if such a surveyor or person cannot be obtained without unreasonable expense or delay, or is not, in the opinion of the Court, competent to deal with the special circumstances of the case, then any other competent person appointed by the Court, and having no interest in the ship, her freight, or cargo, to survey the ship, and to answer any question concerning her which the Court thinks fit to put.

(4) Such surveyor or other person shall survey the ship, and make his written report to the Court, including an answer to every question put to him by the Court, and the Court shall cause the report to be communicated to the parties, and, unless the opinions expressed in the report are proved to the satisfaction of the Court to be erroneous, shall determine the questions before it in accordance with those opinions.

(5) Any person making a survey under this section shall for the purposes thereof have all the powers of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office under this Act.

(6) The costs (if any) of the survey shall be determined according to a scale of fees to be fixed by the Local Government, and shall be paid in the first instance out of the general revenues.

(7) If it is proved that the ship is in a fit condition to proceed to sea, or that the accommodation is sufficient, as the case may be, the costs of the survey shall be paid by the person upon whose demand or in consequence of whose allegation the survey was made, and may be deducted by the master or owner out of the wages due or to become due to that person, and shall be paid over to Government.

(8) If it is proved that the ship is not in a fit condition to proceed to sea, or that the accommodation is insufficient, as the case may be, the master or owner of the ship shall pay the costs of the survey to Government, and shall be liable to pay to the seaman or apprentice, who has been detained in consequence of the said proceeding before the Court under this section, such compensation for his detention as the Court may award.

Report of desertions and absences without leave.

136. (1) Whenever any seaman or apprentice not shipped in British India deserts or otherwise absents himself without leave from a British ship in which he is engaged to serve, the master of the ship shall, if practicable within forty-eight hours of discovering such desertion or absence, report the same to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or to such other officer (if any) as the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf, unless in the meantime the deserter or absentee returns.

(2) Any master wilfully neglecting to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or to both.

Entries and certificates of desertion abroad to be copied, sent to British India and admitted in evidence.

137. (1) Whenever a seaman or apprentice shipped in British India on a British ship registered in British India deserts therefrom while the ship is out of British India, the master shall produce the entry in the official log (if any) of such desertion to the person or persons required or authorised by section 188 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion.

(2) Such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and a copy of the said certificate of desertion.

(3) The master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at the port at which the seaman or apprentice was shipped, and the Superintendent shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding.

(4) Such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be admissible in evidence.

Facilities for proving desertion so far as concerns forfeiture of wages or emoluments.

138. (1) Whenever a question arises whether the wages or emoluments of any seaman or apprentice of a British ship are forfeited for desertion, it shall be sufficient for the party insisting on the forfeiture to show that the seaman or apprentice was duly engaged in, or that he belonged to, the ship from which he is alleged to have deserted, and that he quitted such ship before the completion of the voyage or engagement, or, if the voyage was to terminate at any port in British India, and the ship has not returned to British India, that he is absent from her, and that an entry of the desertion has been duly made in the official log (if any).

(2) Thereupon the desertion shall, so far as relates to any forfeiture of wages or emoluments under the provisions hereinbefore contained, be deemed to be proved, unless the seaman or

Amount of forfeiture how to be ascertained when seamen contract for the voyage.

139. (1) Where a seaman of a British ship contracts for wages by the voyage or by the run or by the share, and not by the month or any other stated period of time, the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as a month or other the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage or run.

(2) If the whole time spent in the voyage or run does not exceed the period for which pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Questions of forfeitures may be decided in suits for wages.

140. Any question concerning the forfeiture of or deductions from the wages of any seaman or apprentice of a British ship may be determined in any proceeding lawfully instituted with respect to such wages, notwithstanding that the offence in respect of which such question arises, though hereby made punishable by imprisonment as well as forfeiture, has not been made the subject of any criminal proceeding.

Application of forfeitures.

141. (1) All wages and effects which, under the provisions hereinbefore contained, are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the re-imbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master or by the owner or his agent in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and, subject to such re-imbursement, the same shall be paid into the public treasury and carried to the account of the Government.

(2) In all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

[Act I of 1859, s. 91; Bill of 1867, s. 210; Bill of 1882, s. 119.] Cf. 1894, s. 161.

Power to deduct from wages costs of procuring conviction.

142. Whenever, in any proceeding relating to a seaman's or apprentice's wages, it is shown that any seaman or apprentice of a British ship has in the course of the voyage been convicted of any offence by any competent tribunal and rightfully punished therefor by imprisonment or otherwise, the Court hearing the case may direct a part of the wages due to such seaman or apprentice, not exceeding thirty rupees, to be applied in re-imbursing any costs properly incurred by the master in procuring such conviction and punishment.

[Act I of 1859, s. 88; Act XIII of 1876, s. 7; Bill of 1867, s. 207; Bill of 1882, ss. 114, 115.] Cf. 1894, s. 223 (4).

Power to send on board seaman or apprentice not shipped in British India who is undergoing imprisonment.

143. (1) (a) If any seaman or apprentice is imprisoned on the ground of his having neglected or refused to join, or to proceed to sea in, any ship in which he is engaged to serve, or of having deserted or otherwise absented himself therefrom without leave, or of his having committed any other breach of discipline, or

(b) if any seaman or apprentice of a British ship who was not shipped in British India is imprisoned for any offence for which he has been sentenced to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month, and if during such imprisonment and before his engagement is at an end the services of such seaman or apprentice are required on board his ship, any Magistrate may, at the request of the master or of the owner or his agent, cause the seaman or apprentice to be conveyed on board the ship for the purpose of proceeding on the voyage or to be delivered to the master or any mate of the ship or to the owner or his agent, to be by him so conveyed, notwithstanding that the period for which he was sentenced to imprisonment has not terminated.

(2) The officer in charge of the jail in which such seaman or apprentice is confined shall obey all orders given by a Magistrate under this section.

[Act XIII of 1876, s. 8 (am. by Act XII of 1891); Bill of 1882, s. 116.]

Procedure where seaman or apprentice not shipped in British India is imprisoned on complaint of master or owner.

144. (1) If any seaman or apprentice of a British ship, who was not shipped in British India, is imprisoned, on complaint made by or on behalf of the master or owner of the ship, for any offence for which he has been sentenced to imprisonment for a term not exceeding one month, then—

(a) while such imprisonment lasts, no person shall, without the previous sanction in writing of the Local Government or of such officer as it may appoint in this behalf, engage any native of India to serve as a seaman on board such ship; and

(b) the Local Government, or such officer as it may appoint in this behalf, may tender such seaman or apprentice to the master or owner of the ship, and if such master or owner, without assigning reasons satisfactory to the Local Government or to such officer as aforesaid, refuses to receive him on board, may require such master or owner to deposit in the local Mercantile Marine Office—

(i) the wages due to such seaman or apprentice, and his money, clothes and effects, and

(ii) such sum as may in the opinion of the Local Government or such officer as aforesaid be sufficient to defray the cost of the passage of the said seaman or apprentice to the port at which he was shipped, according to the scale of cost usual in the case of distressed seamen.

(2) Whoever wilfully disobeys the prohibition contained in clause (a) of sub-section (1) shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or to both.

(3) Any master or owner refusing or neglecting to deposit any wages, money, clothes and other effects or sum when required under clause (b) of sub-section (1) so to do shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and in default of payment of such fine to imprisonment which may extend to three months.

145. (1) Whenever any seaman of a British ship commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine, and which it is intended to punish by exacting such fine, the master shall make, or cause to be made, an entry thereof in the official log (if any), and such entry shall be signed by the master and also by the mate or some other member of the crew.

Entry in official log, and recovery of fines levied under agreement.

(2) The provisions of section 132, sub-sections (2) and (3), shall apply to every such entry.

(3) Such fine shall be deducted and paid over as follows (that is to say),—

(a) if the offender is discharged at any port in British India, and the offence, and the entries in respect thereof required by sub-sections (1) and (2), are proved, in the case of a foreign-going ship, to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office before whom the offender is discharged, and, in the case of a home trade ship, to the satisfaction of the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged, the master or owner shall deduct the fine from the wages of the offender and pay the same over to such Superintendent:

(b) if, before the final discharge of the crew in British India, the offender enters into any of Her Majesty's ships or is discharged at any place not in British India, and the offence and such entries as aforesaid are proved to the satisfaction of the officer in command of the ship into which he so enters, or of the consular officer, officer of Customs or other person by whose sanction he is so discharged, the master or owner shall deduct the fine from the wages of the offender, and the master shall make or cause to be made an entry of such deduction in the official log (if any), and such entry shall be signed by such officer or other person as aforesaid, and on the return of the ship to British India the master or owner shall pay over the fine, in the case of a foreign-going ship, to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office before whom the crew is discharged, and in the case of a home-trade ship to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at or nearest to the place at which the crew is discharged.

(4) If any master or owner neglets or refuses to pay over any fine to a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office as required by sub-section (3), he shall be liable to fine which may extend to six times the amount of the fine retained by him.

(5) No act of misconduct for which a fine has been deducted under sub section (2) shall be otherwise punished under the provisions of this Act.

146. (1) If a person by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade a seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship, or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, he shall for each offence in respect of each seaman or apprentice be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

Penalty for enticing to desert and harbouring deserters.

(2) If a person wilfully harbours or secretes a seaman or apprentice who has wilfully neglected or refused to join, or has deserted from, his ship, knowing or having reason to believe the seaman or apprentice to have so done, he shall for every seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

147. Any person who secretes himself and goes to sea in any British ship without the consent of the master or owner or some other person entitled to give such consent shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to four weeks.

Penalty for obtaining passages surreptitiously.

[Act I of 1859, s. 98; Bill of 1867, s. 217; Bill of 1882, s. 126.] Cf. 1894, s. 237 (1).

Seafaring persons whom masters of ships are compelled to convey and persons going in ships without leave, to be subject to laws for preserving discipline.

148. Every seafaring person whom the master of a British ship is, under the authority of this Act or any other law, compelled to take on board and convey and every person who goes to sea in a British ship without the consent of the master or owner or some other person entitled to give such consent, shall, so long as he remains in the ship, be subject to the same laws and regulations for preserving discipline, and to the same penalties and punishments for offences constituting or tending to a breach of discipline, to which he would be subject if he were a member of the crew and had signed the agreement.

CHAPTER XVII.

LEAVING SEAMEN OR APPRENTICES IN BRITISH INDIA.

Bill of 1867, s. 148.] Cf. 189, s. 36.

Discharge of seamen or apprentices on disposal of ship in British India, and procedure thereupon.

149. (1) Whenever a British ship, other than a home-trade ship of a burden of less than eighty tons, is transferred or disposed of at any port in British India, and any seaman or apprentice belonging to the ship does not, in the presence of the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office, signify his consent in writing to complete the voyage if continued, the master—shall give to each such seaman or apprentice a certificate of discharge, in the form mentioned in section 81, and, where a certificated mate or engineer whose certificate has been delivered to and retained by the master is so discharged, shall return such certificate, and shall, besides paying the wages to which such seaman or apprentice is entitled, either—

(a) provide him with adequate employment on board some other British ship bound to the port in Her Majesty's dominions at which he was originally shipped, or to such other port in Her Majesty's dominions as may be agreed to by him, or

(b) provide the means of sending him back to such a port, or

(c) provide him with a passage home, or

(d) deposit with such Superintendent as aforesaid such a sum of money as may by such Superintendent be deemed sufficient to defray the expenses of his subsistence and passage home.

(2) Such Superintendent shall indorse upon the agreement of the ship which the seaman or apprentice is leaving the particulars of every such payment, provision or deposit.

(3) If any master of a British ship refuses or neglects to comply with the requirements of this section in respect of any seaman or apprentice, the expenses of the subsistence of the seaman or apprentice and of his passage home shall, unless the seaman or apprentice has been guilty of barratry, be recoverable as follows, that is to say:—

(i) if such expenses are defrayed by such Superintendent as aforesaid, they shall be a charge upon the ship and upon the owner for the time being thereof, and may be recovered from such owner, with costs, as a debt due to the Secretary of State for India in Council, either by ordinary process of law, or in the manner provided by Chapter IX or any other law for the time being in force for the recovery of a seaman's wages;

(ii) if such expenses are defrayed by the seaman or apprentice himself, they may be recovered as wages due to him.

[Act XI 1876, s. 4 Bill of 18 ss. 149, 1, Bill of 18 s. 58.] Cf. 1894, 188.

Discharge, or leaving behind in British India, of seamen or apprentices not shipped in British India.

150. (1) No seaman or apprentice of a British ship who was not shipped in British India—

(a) shall be discharged at any port in British India without the previous sanction in writing of the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office, or

(b) shall be left behind at any place in British India without a certificate in writing previously obtained from some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office and indorsed on the agreement with the crew, stating the fact and whether the cause thereof is unfitness or inability to proceed to sea, desertion or disappearance.

(2) Such sanction or certificate shall be given or withheld at the discretion of the Superintendent; but, whenever it is withheld, the reasons for withholding it shall be recorded by him in writing.

(3) The Superintendent to whom any application for a certificate is made under

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XVII.—Leaving Seamen or Apprentices in British India.—Sections 151-152.—Chapter XVIII.—Distressed Seamen and Apprentices.—Sections 153-154.)

sub-section (1) shall enquire in a summary way into any allegation of unfitness, inability, desertion or disappearance as aforesaid, and may for that purpose, if he thinks fit so to do, administer oaths.

(4) Any person discharging or leaving behind a seaman or apprentice in wilful disobedience to the prohibition contained in sub-section (1) shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or to both.

[Bill of 1867, s. 150.] Cf. 1894, s. 188 (4).

Proof of sanction or certificate on whom to lie.

151. (1) Upon the trial of any proceeding against any person for discharging or leaving behind any seaman or apprentice contrary to the provisions of section 150, it shall lie upon such person either to produce the sanction or certificate, as the case may be, required by that section, or to prove that he had obtained the same previously to having discharged or left behind such seaman or apprentice, or that it was impracticable for him to obtain such sanction or certificate.

[Bill of 1867, ss. 151, 152.] Cf. 1894, s. 189.

Wages to be paid when seaman or apprentice is left behind on ground of unfitness or inability.

152. (1) Every master of a British ship who leaves any seaman or apprentice on shore at any place in British India under a certificate of his unfitness or inability to proceed to sea shall deliver to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office by whom such certificate is granted a full and true account of the wages due to such seaman or apprentice, and shall pay such wages to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office either in money or by a bill drawn upon the owner:

Provided that, whenever it is practicable so to do, such payment shall be made in money and not by bill.

(2) Whenever a bill is so drawn, such Superintendent shall by indorsement certify thereon that the same is drawn for money due on account of a seaman's or apprentice's wages, and shall indorse the amount for which such bill is drawn with such further particulars in respect of the case as the Board of Trade may require, upon the agreement of the ship.

(3) Where a bill is so drawn, the owner of the ship shall be liable to pay the amount of the same to the holder or indorsee thereof; and it shall not be necessary in any proceeding against the owner upon any such bill to prove that the master had authority to draw the same.

(4) Any bill produced out of the custody of a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office and purporting to be drawn in pursuance of this section, and to be indorsed as herein required, and any indorsement on any such bill purporting to be made in pursuance of this section, and to be signed by the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office, shall be admissible in evidence.

(5) Any master who without reasonable cause refuses or neglects to deliver an account of wages, or to pay any wages, as required by sub-section (1), shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees; and any master who delivers a false account of such wages shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees; without prejudice in either case to his liability to pay the said wages.

CHAPTER XVIII.

DISTRESSED SEAMEN AND APPRENTICES.

Definition of "Local Authority."

[Act VII of 1880, s. 54; Bill of 1882, s. 92.]

153. In this chapter "local authority" means such person as the Local Government may, subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, appoint by name or in virtue of his office to exercise the powers conferred, and to perform the duties imposed, on the local authority under this Chapter.

Relief of distressed seamen and apprentices at British Indian ports.

154. Subject to any rules made under section 162, the local authority may provide for the subsistence—

(a) of all seamen and apprentices, being Native Indian subjects of Her Majesty, who have been shipwrecked, discharged or left behind at any place in British India, whether from any British ship employed in the merchant service, or from any ship belonging to or in the service of Her Majesty or the Government of India, or who have been engaged by any person (whether acting as principal or agent) to serve in any ship belonging to any foreign Prince or State, or to the subject of any foreign Prince or State, and who are in distress in any such place; and

(b) of all seamen and apprentices, not being Native Indian subjects of Her Majesty, who have been shipwrecked, discharged or left behind at any place in British India from any British ship registered in British India and who are in distress in any such place,

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XVIII.—Distressed Seamen and Apprentices.—Sections 155 159.)

until such time as such authority is able to provide them with a passage under the provisions hereinafter contained.

[Act VII of 1880, ss. 56, 57; Bill of 1867, s. 135; Bill of 1882, ss. 94, 95.] Cf. 1894, s. 191 (2).

Distressed seamen and apprentices to be sent home.

155. (1) Subject as aforesaid, the Local Authority may cause such seamen or apprentices to be put on board some ship belonging to any subject of Her Majesty which is in want of men to make up its complement and is bound—

(a) in the case of seamen or apprentices who are Native Indian subjects of Her Majesty to their home or to a port in British India near their home;

(b) in the case of other British seamen or apprentices, to any port in the United Kingdom or the British Possession to which they belong (as the case requires); and

(c) in the case of seamen or apprentices not being subjects of Her Majesty, to such place as the local authority, subject to the control of the Governor General in Council, may in each case determine.

(2) In default of any such ship, the local authority, may, subject as aforesaid, provide such seamen or apprentices with a passage in any ship (whether British or foreign) bound as aforesaid.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 58; Bill of 1867, s. 153; Bill of 1882, s. 96.] Cf. 1894, s. 191 (3).

Name and other particulars with regard to seamen and apprentices to be indorsed on agreement of British ship.

156. The local authority shall indorse on the agreement of any British ship on board of which any seaman or apprentice is sent under section 155 the name of every person so sent on board thereof, with such particulars concerning the case as may be prescribed.

[Act VII of 1880, ss. 59, 60; Bill of 1867, s. 154; Bill of 1882, ss. 97, 98.] Cf. 1894, s. 192.

Master of British ship compelled to convey and give subsistence to such seamen and apprentices.

157. (1) The master of every British ship bound as aforesaid shall receive and afford a passage and subsistence to all seamen and apprentices whom he is required to take on board his ship under the provisions of section 155, not exceeding one for every fifty tons burden, and shall, during the passage, provide every such seaman or apprentice with a proper berth or sleeping-place effectually protected against sea and weather.

(2) If the master of any such ship fails without reasonable cause to receive on board his ship or to give a passage or subsistence to, or to provide for, any such seaman or apprentice contrary to the provisions of sub-section (1), he shall, for each seaman and apprentice with respect to whom he so fails or refuses, be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 61; Bill of 1882, s. 90.] Cf. 1894, s. 192.

Conditions under which master may claim payment.

158. (1) When any master of a British ship has conveyed a seaman or apprentice in excess of the number if any) wanted to make up the complement of his crew to any place in accordance with the requisition of a local authority under this Chapter, such master shall be entitled to be paid by the Secretary of State for India in Council in respect of the subsistence and passage of such seaman or apprentice such sum per diem as the Governor General in Council may appoint:

Provided that no payment shall be made under this section except on the production of the following documents (that is to say):

a) a certificate signed by the Local Authority by whose direction such seaman or apprentice was received on board, specifying the name of such seaman or apprentice and the time when he was received on board; and

(b) a declaration in writing by such master, stating—

(i) the number of days during which such seaman or apprentice received subsistence and was provided for as aforesaid on board his ship;

(ii) the number of men and boys forming the complement of his crew;

(iii) the number of seamen and apprentices employed on board his ship during the time such seaman or apprentice was on board; and

(iv) every variation (if any) of such number.

(2) The declaration required by clause (b) of sub-section (1) shall, in the case of a ship conveying Native Indian subjects of Her Majesty to a port in British India, be made before a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office or such officer as the Local Government may appoint; and shall, in other cases, be made and verified in the same manner as declarations made under section 192 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

Wages of, and expenses incurred in respect of, distressed seamen and apprentices to be charged in certain cases upon ship to which they belong.

159. (a) If any seaman or apprentice, being a Native Indian subject of Her Majesty and belonging to any British ship, is discharged or left behind at any place in British India without full compliance on the part of the master with all the provisions in that behalf of the law for the time being in force, and becomes distressed and is relieved under the provisions of this Chapter; or

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XVIII.—Distressed Seamen and Apprentices.—Sections 160-164.)

(b) if any seaman or apprentice, being a Native Indian subject of Her Majesty, after having been engaged by any person (whether acting as principal or agent) to serve in any ship belonging to any Foreign Prince or State or to the subject of any Foreign Prince or State, becomes distressed and is relieved as aforesaid; or

(c) if any seaman or apprentice belonging to any British ship registered in British India, and not being a Native Indian subject of Her Majesty, is discharged or left behind at any place in British India without full compliance as aforesaid, and becomes distressed and is relieved as aforesaid, the wages (if any) due to such seaman or apprentice, and all expenses incurred for his subsistence, necessary clothing, conveyance home, and, in case he should die before reaching home, for his burial, shall be a charge upon the ship, whether British or foreign, to which he so belonged as aforesaid.

Mode of recovering such wages and expenses.

160. (1) All such wages and expenses shall be recoverable with costs either from the master of such ship or from the person who is owner thereof for the time being, or, in the case of an engagement for service in a foreign ship, from such master or owner or from the person by whom such engagement was so made, in the same manner as other debts due to the Secretary of State for India in Council, or in the manner provided by Chapter IX or any other law for the time being in force for the recovery of a seaman's wages.

(2) The Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, auhorise, either generally or specially, such persons as it may think fit to sue for any such wages and expenses and recover the same.

(3) Every person so authorised shall be entitled to sue and recover accordingly, and shall be deemed to be a person filling a public office within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, section 57, clause (7):

Provided that when any such wages or expenses are due to or in respect of a seaman or apprentice referred to in section 159, clause (a), they may, instead of being recovered by a person authorised under sub-section (2), be recovered by the Board of Trade in manner provided by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, section 193, and when so recovered shall be paid by the said Board to the Secretary of State for India in Council.

Evidence of distress and expenses incurred.

161. In all proceedings under the foregoing provisions of this Chapter, whether in British India or elsewhere, the production of a certificate signed by the local authority by which any seaman or apprentice named therein was relieved, or any expenses were incurred, under the said provisions to the effect that such seaman or apprentice was in distress, and that such expenses were incurred in respect of such seaman or apprentice, shall be conclusive proof that such seaman or apprentice was relieved, conveyed home or buried (as the case may be) at the expense of the revenues of India.

Power to make rules.

162. The Governor General in Council may make rules to determine under what circumstances and subject to what conditions seamen or apprentices may be relieved and provided with passages under the foregoing provisions of this Chapter, and generally to carry out the said provisions.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 67; Bill of 1882, s. 105.] Cf. 1894, s. 190.

Relief of distressed seamen to whom the English Merchant Shipping Act applies.

163. (1) Nothing in the foregoing provisions of this Chapter shall apply to seamen or apprentices to whom the provisions of section 191 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, apply.

[Act XII of 1876, s. 3; Act VII of 1880, s. 54; Bill of 1882, ss. 92, 157.] Cf. 1894, ss. 92, 193. 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(2) A certificate signed by a Secretary to the Local Government, or by such other officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, to the effect that any seaman named therein is distressed, shall, in all proceedings under sections 191, 192 and 193 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, be conclusive proof that such seaman is distressed within the meaning of those sections.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(3) Any master of a British ship refusing to accept such seaman as a distressed seaman under the provisions of the said sections shall, for each seaman with respect to whom he so refuses, be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Recovery in British India, under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, of wages and expenses of distressed seamen and apprentices.

164. (1) Where any wages or expenses recoverable under section 193 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, are, under that section, a charge upon any ship, or recoverable from any master, owner or other person, within the jurisdiction of any Court in British India, the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India authorise, either generally or specially, such persons as he may think fit to sue for and recover those wages or expenses in the manner provided in that section.

[Act V of 1883, ss. 32, 33; Bill of 1882, s. 71.] 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(Part III.—Masters, Seamen and Apprentices.—Chapter XIX.—The Official Log.—Sections 165-167.)

(2) Every person so authorised shall be entitled to sue and recover accordingly in any such Court, and shall be deemed to be a person filling a public office within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, section 57, clause (7).

I of 1872.

(3) All suits and proceedings under this section shall be instituted and carried on in the name of the Secretary of State for India in Council.

CHAPTER XIX.

THE OFFICIAL LOG.

[Act I of 1859, s. 103; Bill of 1867, s. 219; Bill of 1882, s. 128.] Cf. 1894, s. 239 (1), (2), (3).

Official log to be kept for certain ships.

165. (1) An official log, in a form sanctioned by the Governor General in Council, shall be kept for every British ship registered in British India which is required by section 31 to have a certificated master.

(2) The official log may, at the discretion of the master or owner, either be kept distinct from the ordinary ship's log or be united therewith: Provided that in the latter case all the entries required by this Act or any other law to be made in the official log be duly made.

[Act I of 1859, s. 105; Bill of 1867, s. 221; Bill of 1882, s. 130.] Cf. 1894, ss. 240, 423.

Entries required in official log.

166. Every master of a ship for which an official log is required by section 165 shall make or cause to be made in such log entries of the following matters (in addition to all other entries which he is required by this Act or any other law to make therein), that is to say:—

Offences for which it is intended to take proceedings.

(a) every offence committed by any member of the crew for which it is intended to prosecute, or to enforce a forfeiture, or to exact a fine, together with such statement concerning the furnishing of a copy of, or the reading over of, such entry, and concerning the reply (if any) made to the charge, as is required by section 132, sub-sections (2) and (3):

Punishments inflicted on board.

(b) every offence for which punishment is inflicted on board, and the punishment inflicted:

Convictions.

(c) every legal conviction of any member of the crew, and the punishment inflicted:

Conduct, etc., of crew.

(d) a statement of the conduct, character and qualifications of each member of the crew, or a statement that the master declines to give an opinion on such particulars:

Illness and injuries.

(e) every case of illness or injury happening to any member of the crew, with the nature thereof, and the medical treatment adopted (if any):

Marriages.

(f) every marriage taking place on board, with the names and ages of the parties:

Quitting ship.

(g) the name of every seaman or apprentice who ceases to be a member of the crew otherwise than by death, with the place, time, manner and cause thereof:

Wages of men entering Navy.

(h) the amount of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's naval service during the voyage:

Wages of deceased seamen or apprentices.

(i) the wages due to any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, and the gross amount of all deductions to be made therefrom:

Sale of deceased men's effects.

(j) the sale of the effects of any seaman or apprentice who dies during the voyage, including a statement of each article sold and of the sum received for it; and Collisions.

(k) every collision with any other ship, and the circumstances under which the same occurred.

Entries in official log when to be made.

167. (1) Every entry in such official log shall be made as soon as possible after the event to which it relates, and no entry in respect of an event occurring previously to the arrival of the ship at her final port of discharge shall be made more than twenty-four hours after such arrival.

[Act I of 1859, s. 104, Bill of 1867, s. 220; Bill of 1882, s. 129.] Cf. 1894, s. 239 (4).

(2) If any entry is made after the day on which the event to which it relates occurred, the dates both of the event and of making the entry shall be shown therein.

[Act I of 1859, s. 106; Bill of 1867, s. 22; Bill of 1882, s. 131.] Cf. 1894, ss. 269 (4), 228, 239 (5).

Entries in official log how to be signed.

168. Every entry in such official log shall be signed as follows, that is to say:—

(a) every entry shall be signed by the master;

(b) every entry of illness or injury shall be also signed—

(i) by the medical officer of the ship or, if there is no such medical officer, by some other surgeon or medical practitioner (if any) on board, and

(ii) by the mate or some other member of the crew;

(c) every entry of wages due to, or of the sale of the effects of, any seaman or apprentice who dies shall be also signed by the mate and by some other member of the crew;

(d) every entry of wages due to any seaman who enters Her Majesty's service shall be also signed—

(iii) by the mate or some other member of the crew, and

(iv) by the seaman or the officer authorised to receive the seaman into such service; and

(e) every entry not specified in clause (b), clause (c) or clause (d) shall be also signed by the mate or some other member of the crew.

Penalties in respect of official logs.

169. (1) If in any case an official log is not kept as required by this chapter, or if any entry required by this Act to be made by the master or by his direction in such log is not made as required by this Act, or if any entry is not signed by the master as required by this Act, the master shall, if no other penalty is provided by this Act, be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

(2) Every person who makes or procures to be made or assists in making any entry in an official log kept under this chapter, in respect of any event occurring previously to the arrival of the ship at her final port of discharge, more than twenty-four hours after such arrival, shall be liable to fine which may extend to three hundred rupees.

(3) Every person who wilfully destroys, mutilates or renders illegible any entry in, or wilfully makes or procures to be made or assists in making any false or fraudulent entry or omission in, any such official log shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year.

[Act I of 1859, s. 108; Bill of 1867, s. 24; Bill of 1882, s. 133.] Cf. 1894, s. 239 (6).

Entries in official log to be admissible in evidence.

170. All entries made in any such official log in pursuance of this Act or any other law shall, if signed as thereby required, be admissible in evidence.

[Act I of 1859, s. 109; Bill of 1867, s. 225; Bill of 1882, s. 134.] Cf. 1894, s. 242.

Delivery of official log to Superintendent periodically.

171. (1) The master of every foreign-going British ship, whether registered in British India or not, shall, within forty-eight hours after the ship's arival at her final port of destination in British India, or upon the discharge of the crew, whichever first happens, deliver to the Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office before whom the crew is discharged the official log of the voyage.

(2) The master or owner of every home-trade British ship, whether registered in British India or not, which is required by section 31, sub-section (3), to have a certificated master shall, within twenty-one days after the thirtieth day of June and the thirty-first day of December in every year, transmit or deliver to some Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office in British India the official log for the preceding half-year.

(3) Every master or owner who fails without reasonable cause to deliver or transmit an official log as required by this section shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

[Act I of 1859, s. 110; Bill of 1867, s. 226; Bill of 1882, s. 133.] Cf. 1894, s. 243.

Delivery of official log to Superintendent in case of transfer, loss or abandonment.

172. (1) If any British ship registered in British India ceases, by reason of transfer of ownership or change of employment, to fall within the operation of section 165, the master or owner thereof shall, if the ship is then at any port in British India, within one month, and, if she is elsewhere, within six months, deliver or transmit to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at the port to which the ship belonged the official log duly made out to the time at which she ceased to be within such operation, and in default shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(2) If any British ship registered in British India is lost or abandoned, the master or owner thereof shall, if practicable, and as soon as possible, deliver or transmit to the Superintendent of the Mercantile Marine Office at the port to which the ship belonged the official log (if any) duly made out to the time of such loss or abandonment, and in default shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

CHAPTER XX.

RECOVERY OF FINES IMPOSED ABROAD.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 60.]

Recovery in local currency, of fines imposed abroad.

173. Where any person, being the owner or master or a member of the crew of a British ship, is tried under this Part at any place in Her Majesty's dominions beyond British India for an offence for which a fine is imposable, any fine imposed shall be recoverable in the currency of such place at the current rate of exchange.

PART IV.

SAFETY AND PREVENTION OF ACCIDENTS.

CHAPTER XXI.

LIFE-SAVING APPLIANCES.

Exemption of certain ships.

174. Nothing in this chapter shall apply to—

(a) any ship which is duly provided with life-saving appliances in accordance with rules made by the Board of Trade under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, and for the time being in force,

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(b) any ship which is duly provided with boats and other appliances for saving life in accordance with rules made by the Governor General in Council under section 324 and for the time being in force,

(c) native craft of not more than two hundred tons burden not being square-rigged and not carrying passengers.

Cf. 1894 s. 428.

Duty to carry life-saving appliances.

175. It shall be the duty of the owner and master of every British ship to see that his ship is provided, in accordance with rules made under this chapter, with such life-saving appliances as, having regard to the nature of the service on which the ship is employed and the avoidance of undue encumbrance of the ship's deck, are best adapted for securing the safety of her crew and passengers.

Cf. 1894 427.

Power to make rules.

176. The Local Government may make rules with respect to all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) the arranging of British ships into classes, having regard to the services in which they are employed, to the nature and duration of the voyage, and to the number of persons carried;

(b) the number and description of the boats, life boats, life-rafts, life-jackets and life-buoys to be carried by British ships, according to the class in which they are arranged, and the mode of their construction; also the equipments to be carried by the boats and rafts, and the methods (which may include oil for use in stormy weather) to be provided to get the boats and other life-saving appliances into the water;

(c) the quantity, quality and description of buoyant apparatus to be carried on board British ships carrying passengers, either in addition to or in substitution for boats, life-boats, life-rafts, life-jackets and life-buoys;

(d) the places in which the life-jackets, life-buoys or other buoyant apparatus are to be kept so as to ensure their being immediately available for use when required.

Cf. 1894, 1).

Penalty for breach of rules.

177. If any British ship required by rules made under section 176 to be provided, with life-saving appliances proceeds on any voyage or excursion without being so provided, in accordance with the rules applicable to the ship, then, if the owner appears to be in fault, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and, if the master appears to be in fault, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Cf. 1894. s. 431 (1).

Appointment and powers of inspectors.

178 (1) The Local Government may appoint persons to inspect British ships in any port, for the purpose of seeing that such ships are properly provided with appliances for saving life at sea in pursuance of the rules made under section 176.

(2) Every person so appointed shall, in the port for which he is appointed, have, for the purposes of such inspection, the following powers (that is to say)—

(a) he may go on board any British ship and may inspect the same or any part thereof, or any of the boats, equipments or articles on board thereof, not unnecessarily detaining or delaying her from proceeding on any voyage;

(b) he may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance of all such persons as he may think fit to call before him, may examine such persons, and may, by a like summons, require returns in writing to any enquiries which he may think fit to make; and

(c) he may administer oaths, or may, instead of administering an oath, require any person examined by him to make and subscribe a declaration of the truth of the statements made by him in his examination.

Cf. 1894, s. 431 (2).

Notice of deficiency to be given to master or owner by such inspectors.

179. If any person so appointed finds that any British ship is not so provided, he shall give to the master or owner notice in writing pointing out the deficiency, and also what is, in his opinion, requisite in order to remedy the same.

Cf. 1894 s. 431 (3)

Port-clearance not to be granted till inspector certifies that ship is properly provided with life-saving appliances.

180. Every notice so given shall be communicated, in such manner as the Local Government may direct, to the Customs-collector at any port from which such ship may seek to clear; and no officer authorised to grant a port-clearance from such port shall grant the same without a certificate under the hand of some person appointed as aforesaid, to the effect that the said ship is properly provided with appliances for saving life at sea in pursuance of the said rules.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

CHAPTER XXII.

INSPECTION OF SHIPS WITH REGARD TO LIGHTS AND FOG-SIGNALS.

[Act VII of 1880, ss. 11, 81.] Cf. 1894, ss. 420 (1), (3), 739. 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

Appointment and powers of inspectors of lights and fog-signals.

181. (1) The Local Government may appoint persons to inspect, in any port, ships, whether British or foreign, to which the regulations for the prevention of collisions at sea, made under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, or any other similar law for the time being in force, may apply, for the purpose of seeing that such ships are properly provided with lights and with the means of making fog-signals, in pursuance of such regulations or law.

(2) Every person so appointed shall, in the port for which he is appointed, have, for the purposes of such inspection, the following powers (that is to say)—

(a) he may go on board any ship and may inspect the same or any part thereof, or any of the equipments or articles on board thereof, not unnecessarily detaining or delaying her from proceeding on any voyage;

(b) he may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance of all such persons as he may think fit to call before him, may examine such persons, and may, by a like summons, require returns in writing to any enquiries which he may think fit to make; and

(c) he may administer oaths, or may, instead of administering an oath, require any person examined by him to make and subscribe a declaration of the truth of the statements made by him in his examination.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 82.] Cf. 1894, s. 420 (1).

Notice of deficiency to be given to master or owner by such inspectors.

182. If any person so appointed finds that any ship is not so provided, he shall give to the master or owner notice in writing pointing out the deficiency and also what is, in his opinion, requisite in order to remedy the same.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 83.] Cf. 1894, s. 420 (2).

Port-clearance not to be granted till inspector certifies that ship is properly provided with lights and fog-signals.

183. Every notice so given shall be communicated, in such manner as the Local Government may direct, to the Customs-collector at any port from which such ship may seek to clear, and no officer authorised to grant a port-clearance from such port shall grant the same without a certificate under the hand of some person appointed as aforesaid, to the effect that the said ship is properly provided with lights and with the means of making fog-signals in pursuance of the said regulations or law.

Cf. 1894, s. 420 (8).

Fees.

183A. Such fees as the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may determine shall be paid in respect of an inspection of lights and fog-signals under this Chapter, not exceeding those specified in Schedule IVA.

Power to exempt ships from inspection.

183B. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, exempt from inspection under this Chapter any native craft which do not use lights or signals.

CHAPTER XXIII.

SURVEY OF STEAM-SHIPS.

[Bill of 1867, ss. 235 to 250. Act VII of 1884, s. 4.] Cf. 1894, s. 271 (1).

Certain steam-ships carrying passengers to have certificate of survey.

184. (1) A British or foreign steam-ship shall not carry more than twelve passengers between ports in British India, and a British steam-ship shall not carry more than twelve passengers to or from any port in British India from or to any place out of British India, unless she has a certificate of survey under this Chapter in force and applicable to the voyage on which she is about to proceed, or the service on which she is about to be employed.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 5 (a), (b), (e).] Cf. 1894, ss. 278 (2), 284.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall apply to—

(a) any steam-ship having a certificate of survey granted by the Board of Trade or any British Colonial Government, unless it appears from the certificate that it is inapplicable to the voyage on which the steam-ship is about to proceed or the service on which she is about to be employed, or unless there is reason to believe that the steam-ship has, since the grant of the certificate, sustained injury or damage, or been found unseaworthy or otherwise inefficient; or

(b) any steam-ship having a certificate of survey granted under the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, in force and applicable to the voyage on which the steam-ship is about to proceed or the service on which she is about to be employed; or

VI of 1884.

(c) any steam-ship carrying passengers during the interval between the time at which her certificate of survey under this Chapter expires and the time at which it is first practicable to have the certificate renewed.

(Part IV.—Safety and Prevention of Accidents.—Chapter XXIII.—Survey of Steam-ships.—Sections 185-192.)

[Act VII of 1884, s. 25.]

Power for Local Government to except certain steam-ships

185. The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare that all or any of the provisions of this Chapter shall not apply in the case of any specified class of steam-ships or shall apply to them with such modifications as the Local Government may prescribe.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 6.] Cf. 1894, s. 283.

Penalty for carrying passengers without certificate of survey.

186. (1) If any steam-ship carries or attempts to carry passengers in contravention of section 184, the owner and master of the steam-ship shall each be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(2) If the master or any other officer of any steam-ship which carries or attempts to carry passengers in contravention of section 184 is a licensed pilot, he shall be liable to have his license as a pilot suspended for any period, or cancelled, by the Local Government, as the Local Government may see fit to order.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 7.] Cf. 1894, s. 271 (6).

No port-clearance until certificate of survey produced.

187. No port-clearance shall be granted, nor shall any pilot be assigned, to any steam-ship for which a certificate of survey is required by section 184, until after the production by the owner or master thereof of a certificate under this Chapter in force and applicable to the voyage on which she is about to proceed and the service on which she is about to be employed.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 8.] Cf. 1894, s. 271 (2).

Power to detain steam-ship not having certificate of survey.

188. If any steam-ship for which a certificate of survey is required by section 184 leaves or attempts to leave any port of survey without a certificate, the ship may be detained until she obtains a certificate.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 9 (1).] Cf. 1894, s. 724 (1).

Appointment of surveyors and ports of survey.

189. The Local Government may appoint so many persons as it may think fit to be surveyors for the purposes of this Chapter at such ports within the territories under its administration as it may appoint to be ports of survey.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 10] Cf. 1894, s. 725.

Powers of surveyors.

190. (1) For the purposes of a survey under this Chapter, any surveyor appointed under this Chapter may, at any reasonable time, go on board any steam-ship, and may inspect the same or any part thereof, or the machinery, equipments or articles on board thereof:

Provided that he does not unnecessarily hinder the loading or unloading of the steam-ship, or unnecessarily detain or delay her from proceeding on any voyage.

(2) The owner, master and officers of the steam-ship shall afford to the surveyor all reasonable facilities for a survey, and all such information respecting the steam-ship, and her machinery and equipments, or any part thereof, respectively, as he may reasonably require.

[Act VII 1884, s. 1 (inserted Act III of 1890, s. 1); Cf. 1894, s. 277.

Fees in respect of surveys.

191. Before a survey under this chapter is commenced, the owner or master of the steam-ship to be surveyed shall pay to such officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf—

(a) a fee calculated on the tonnage of the steam-ship according to the rates in Schedule V, or according to any other prescribed rates ; and

(b) when the survey is to be made in any port of survey at which a surveyor has not been appointed under section 189, such additional fee in respect of the expense (if any) of the journey of the surveyor to the port as the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, direct.

[Act VII 1884, s. 1 Cf. 1894, s. 272 (2), (3) (4).

Declaration of surveyor.

192. When a survey under this Chapter is completed, the surveyor making it shall forthwith, if satisfied that he can with propriety do so, give to the owner or master of the steam-ship surveyed a declaration in the prescribed form containing the following particulars, namely:—

(a) that the hull of the steamer is sufficient for the service intended and in good condition ;

(b) that the boats, life-buoys, lights, signals, compasses and shelter for deck passengers are such, and in such condition, as are required by this Act ;

(c) that the machinery of the steamer is sufficient for the service intended, and in good condition ;

(d) the time (if less than one year) for which the hull and equipments will be sufficient ;

(e) the time (if less than one year) for which the machinery will be sufficient ;

(f) that the safety-valves and fire-hose are such and in such condition as are required by this Act ;

(g) the limit of the weight to be placed on the safety-valves ;

(h) the limits (if any) beyond which, as regards the hull and equipments, the steamer is in the surveyor's judgment not fit to ply ;

(i) the limits (if any) beyond which, as regards the machinery, the steamer is in the surveyor's judgment not fit to ply ;

(j) the number of passengers which the steamer is in the judgment of the surveyor fit to carry, distinguishing, if necessary, between the respective numbers to be carried on the deck

Sending of declaration by owner or master to Local Government.

193. (1) The owner or master to whom a declaration is given under section 192 shall, within fourteen days after the date of the receipt thereof, send the declaration to such officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf.

(2) If he fails to do so, he shall be liable to forfeit a sum not exceeding five rupees for every day during which the sending of the declaration is delayed.

(3) The owner or master shall pay the sum so forfeited on the delivery of the certificate of survey.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 13 am. by Act III of 1890, s. 17).] Cf. 1894, ss. 274, 276.

Grant of certificate of survey.

194. (1) Upon receipt of a declaration by the officer appointed in that behalf under section 193, the Local Government shall, if satisfied that the provisions of this Chapter have been complied with, cause a certificate in duplicate to be prepared and delivered, through such officer at the port at which the steam-ship was surveyed as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, to the owner or master of the steam-ship surveyed, on his applying and paying the sum (if any) mentioned in section 193, sub-section (3), as payable on delivery of a certificate.

(2) A certificate granted under this section shall be in the prescribed form; shall contain a statement to the effect that the provisions of this Chapter with respect to the survey of the steam-ship and the transmission of the declaration in respect thereof have been complied with; and shall set forth—

(a) the particulars concerning the steam-ship which clauses (d), (e), (h), (i) and (j) of section 192 require the declaration by the surveyor to contain; and

(b) any other prescribed particulars.

(3) When a certificate is ready for delivery under this section, the Local Government shall cause notice thereof to be given by post or otherwise to the owner or master of the steam-ship to which the certificate relates.

(4) The Local Government may delegate,—

(c) with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, to any person, by name or as holding an office, the function, assigned to the Local Government by sub-section (1), of granting a certificate of survey under that sub-section;

(d) of its own authority, to any person, by name or as holding an office, the function, assigned to the Local Government by sub-section (3), of causing notice to be given of a certificate of survey being ready for delivery:

Provided, with respect to clause (c) of this sub-section, that no delegation of the function mentioned in that clause shall be construed to authorise the grant of a certificate of survey by the surveyor who gave the declaration of survey under section 192.

Duplicate of certificate of survey to be affixed on conspicuous part of steam-ship.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 15.] Cf. 1894, s. 281.

195. (1) The owner or master of every steam-ship for which a certificate of survey has been granted under this Chapter shall forthwith, on the receipt of the certificate, cause the duplicate thereof to be affixed, and kept affixed so long as the certificate remains in force and the steam-ship is in use, on some conspicuous part of the steam-ship where it may be easily read by all persons on board thereof.

(2) If the said duplicate is not so kept affixed, the owner and master of the steam-ship shall each be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Term of certificate of survey.

[Act VII of 1884, s 16.] Cf. 1894, ss. 271 (a), 278 (1).

196. A certificate of survey granted under this Chapter shall not be in force—

(a) after the expiration of one year from the date thereof or such shorter time as may be specified; or

(b) after the expiration of the period, if less than one year, for which the hull, boilers, engines or any of the equipments have been stated in the certificate to be sufficient; or

(c) after notice has been given by the Local Government, to the owner or master of the steam-ship to which the certificate relates, that the Local Government has suspended or cancelled it.

Suspension or cancellation of certificate of survey by Local Government.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 17.] Cf. 1894, s. 279 (1).

197. Any certificate of survey granted under this Chapter may be suspended or cancelled by a Local Government if it has reason to believe—

(a) that the declaration by the surveyor of the sufficiency and good condition of the hull, boilers, engines or any of the equpments of the steam-ship has been fraudulently or erroneously made; or

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

Part IV.—Safety and Prevention of Accidents.—Chapter XXIII.—Survey of Steam-ships.—Sections 198-204.)

(b) that the certificate has otherwise been granted upon false or erroneous information; or

(c) that, since the making of the declaration, the hull, boilers, engines or any of the equipments of the steam-ship have sustained any injury, or have otherwise become insufficient.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 18.] Cf. 1894, s. 280.

Power to require delivery of expired, suspended or cancelled certificate of survey.

198. (1) The Local Government may require any certificate of survey granted under this Chapter which has expired or has been suspended or cancelled to be delivered up to such person as it may direct.

(2) If the owner or master of any steam-ship, without reasonable cause, neglects or refuses to deliver up a certificate when required under sub-section (1) so to do, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 19 (am. by Act III of 1890, s. 19).]

Report of suspension or cancellation of certain certificates.

199. If the Local Government which suspends or cancels a certificate of survey granted under this Chapter is not the Local Government which or whose delegate granted the certificate, the Local Government suspending or cancelling the certificate shall report the fact of suspension or cancellation, together with the reasons therefor, to the Local Government which or whose delegate granted the certificate.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 20.] Cf. 1894, s. 272 (1).

Power for Local Government to direct that two surveyors be employed.

200. A survey under this Chapter shall ordinarily be made by one surveyor, but two surveyors may be employed if the Local Government, by order in writing, shall so direct, either generally in the case of all steam-ships at any port of survey, or specially in the case of any particular steam-ship or class of steam-ships at any such port.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 21 (am. by Act III of 1890, s. 20).]

Power for Local Government to order a second survey.

201. (1) If the surveyor or surveyors making a survey under this Chapter refuses or refuse to give a declaration under section 192 with regard to any steam-ship, or gives or give a declaration with which the owner or master of the steam-ship surveyed is dissatisfied, the Local Government may, on the application of the owner or master and the payment by him of such fee, not exceeding twice the amount of the fee for the previous survey, as the Local Government may require, direct two other surveyors appointed under this Chapter to survey the steam-ship.

(2) The surveyors so directed shall forthwith survey the steam-ship, and may, after the survey, either refuse to give a declaration or give such declaration as may under the circumstances seem to them proper; and their decision shall be final.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 22.]

Division of duties when two surveyors employed.

202. When a survey is made under section 200 or section 201 by two surveyors, each of the surveyors making the survey shall perform a prescribed portion of the duties assigned by this Chapter or the rules made under this Chapter to a surveyor making a survey.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 23. Cf. 1894,

Power to dispense with survey of foreign steam-ship surveyed abroad.

203. When a foreign steam-ship requires to be furnished with a certificate of survey under this Chapter, and the Local Government is satisfied, by the production of a certificate of survey attested by a British Consular Officer at the port of survey, that the ship has been officially surveyed at a foreign port, and that the requirements of this Chapter are proved by that survey to have been substantially complied with, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, dispense with any further survey of the ship in respect of the requirements so complied with, and give a certificate which shall have the same effect as a certificate given after survey under this Chapter:

Provided that this section shall not apply in the case of an official survey at any foreign port at which it appears to Her Majesty that corresponding advantages are not extended to British ships, and with respect to which Her Majesty has by Order in Council directed that section 363 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, shall not apply.

57 & 58 Vict. c. 60.

[Act VII of 1884, s. 2[illegible] (am. by A[illegible] III of 189[illegible] s. 21).] Cf 1894, s. 277, etc.

Power to make rules.

204. (1) The Local Government may make rules to regulate the making of surveys under this Chapter.

(2) Rules under this section may, among other matters,—

(a) declare the times and places at which, and the manner in which, surveys are to be made;

(b) regulate the duties of the surveyor making a survey, and, where two surveyors are employed, assign the respective duties of each of the surveyors employed;

(c) declare the form in which the declarations of surveyors and certificates of survey under this Chapter are to be framed, and the nature of the particulars which are to be stated therein, respectively; and

(d) fix the rates according to which the fees payable in respect of surveys are to be calculated in the case of all or any of the ports of survey within the territories under its administration.

CHAPTER XXIV.

UNSAFE SHIPS.

Preliminary.

[Act VII of 1880, ss. 3, 43 (am. by Act XVII of 1891, ss. 2, 4).] Cf. 1894, ss. 438(1), 444.

Exception of certain ships.

205. (1) Nothing in this Chapter shall apply to—

(a) any home-trade sailing ship of less than one hundred and fifty tons register, or

(b) any home-trade steam-ship of less than eighty tons register, or

(c) any ship employed solely in fishing, or

(d) any pleasure-yacht.

(2) Sections 237 to 245 (both inclusive) shall not apply to—

(d) ships registered in the United Kingdom and having load-lines fixed, marked and certified in accordance with the provisions of the law for the time being there in force, or (e) ships registered in a British possession and having such lines fixed, marked and certified in accordance with the provisions of an enactment passed by the Legislature of that possession, with respect to which enactment such a declaration as is mentioned in section 444 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, has been made by an Order of Her Majesty in Council and is for the time being in force.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(3) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, exclude from, or bring again within, the operation of any of the provisions of sections 237 to 245 (both inclusive), subject to such modifications thereof (if any) as may be specified in the notification, any Native craft not square-rigged.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 2, s. 4 (am. by Act XVII of 1891, s 3).] Cf. 1894, ss. 437(4), 439, 459(1), 742.

Definitions.

206. (1) In any provision of this Chapter, "port" includes also any part of a river or channel leading to a port which for the purposes of such provision the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, declare to be included in such port.

(2) A ship is "unsafe" within the meaning of this Chapter when by reason of the defective condition of her hull, equipments or machinery, or by reason of overloading or improper loading, she is unfit to proceed to sea without serious danger to human life, having regard to the nature of the service for which she is intended, and every ship so loaded as to submerge in perfectly smooth salt water the centre of the disc placed thereon in pursuance of this Chapter or the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, or any enactment repealed thereby, and the rules and regulations made thereunder, shall be deemed to be "unsafe" within the meaning of this Chapter, and every such submersion shall be reasonable and probable cause for the detention of the ship.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(3) For the purpose of determining whether any ship is so loaded as to submerge the centre of the said disc in perfectly smooth salt water, the ship may, if the owner or master so desires, be taken into a wet basin or dock.

(4) In this Chapter, "amidships" means the middle of the length of the load water-line as measured from the foreside of the stem to the aft-side of the stern-post.

Detention of Unsafe Ships.

Power of Local Government to provisionally detain unsafe ship.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 7.] Cf. 1894, s. 459(a), (b).

207. (1) The Local Government, if it has reason to believe, on complaint or otherwise, that a British ship in any port to which it may specially extend this section is unsafe, may provisionally order the detention of the ship for the purpose of being surveyed.

(2) A written statement of the grounds of such detention shall be forthwith served on the master of the ship.

Power of Local Government to release or finally detain ship, or refer the matter to Court of Survey.

[Act VII of 1880, ss. 8, 10.] Cf. 1894, s. 459 (b), (c), (f).

208. When the Local Government provisionally orders the detention of a British ship, it shall forthwith appoint some competent person to survey the ship and report thereon, and, on receiving his report, may, subject to the provisions of section 210, either order the ship to be released or, if in its opinion the ship is unsafe, order her to be finally detained:

Provided that the Local Government may, at any time after a ship has been provisionally detained, refer the matter to the Court of Survey (hereinafter mentioned) for the port where the ship is detained.

Terms of order for final detention, and appeal to Court of Survey.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 8.] Cf. 1894, s. 459(c), (d).

209. An order under section 208 for the final detention of a British ship may be either absolute or until the performance of such conditions with respect to the execution of repairs or alterations or the unloading or reloading of cargo as the Local Government may think necessary for the protection of human life; and the Local Government may vary or add to any such order:

Provided that, before an order for final detention is so made, a copy of the report shall be served upon the master of the ship, and within seven days after such service the owner or master may appeal against the report, in the manner prescribed, to the Court of Survey (hereinafter mentioned) for the port where the ship is detained.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part IV.—Safety and Prevention of Accidents.—Chapter XXIV.—Unsafe Ships.—Sections 210-215.)

[Act VII of 1880, s. 9.] Cf. 1894, s. 459 (c).

Option to owner or master of appointing assessor to accompany surveyor, and appeal to Court of Survey.

210. Where a British ship has been provisionally detained and a person has been appointed under section 208 to survey the ship, the owner or master of the ship, at any time before such person makes the survey, may require that he shall take with him as assessor such person as the owner or master may select, being a person named in the list of assessors prepared under section 216, sub-section (4), or, if there is no such list, or if it is impracticable to procure the attendance of any person named in such list, a person of nautical, engineering or other special skill and experience; and in such case, if the surveyor and assessor agree that the ship should be detained or released, the Local Government shall cause the ship to be detained or released accordingly, and the owner or master shall have no appeal;

but, if the surveyor and assessor differ in their report, the Local Government may act as if the requisition had not been made, and the owner or master shall have such appeal touching the report of the surveyor as is provided in section 209.

Power to appoint referee to hear appeal.

211. If the Local Government is of opinion that an appeal under section 209 or section 210 involves a question of construction or design, or of scientific difficulty or important principle, it may refer the matter to such one or more out of a list of scientific referees, to be prepared by the Local Government, as may appear to possess the special qualifications necessary for the particular case, and may be selected by agreement between the Port-officer and the appellant, or, in default of any such agreement, by the Local Government; and thereupon the appeal shall be determined by the referee or referees instead of by the Court of Survey.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 25.] Cf. 1894, s. 490 (2).

Option to appellant to require referee to be appointed.

212. The Local Government, if the appellant in any such appeal so requires and gives security to its satisfaction to pay the costs of and incidental to the reference, shall refer such appeal to a referee or referees selected as aforesaid.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 26.] Cf. 1894, s. 490 (3).

Referee to have powers of Court of Survey.

213. The referee or referees to whom an appeal is referred under section 211 or section 212 shall have the same powers as a Judge of the Court of Survey.

[Act VII of 1880, ss. 11, 12.] Cf. 1894, s. 459 (2), (3), (d).

Detaining-officers.

4. (1) For the better execution of this Chapter, the Local Government may appoint a sufficient number of fit persons as its officers, and may suspend or remove any of them.

(2) Every officer so appointed (hereinafter referred to as a detaining-officer) shall have, for the purpose of his duties under this Chapter, the following powers (that is to say) :—

(a) he may go on board any British ship and may inspect the same or any part thereof, or any of the machinery, equipments and cargo on board thereof, and may require the unloading or removal of any cargo, ballast or tackle, not unnecessarily detaining or delaying the ship from discharging, unloading or proceeding on any voyage;

(b) he may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance of all such persons as he may think fit to call before him, may examine such persons, and may, by a like summons, require returns in writing to any enquiries which he may think fit to make;

(c) he may require and enforce the production of all books, papers or documents which he considers important; and

(d) he may administer oaths, or may, instead of administering an oath, require any person examined by him to make and subscribe a declaration of the truth of the statements made by him in his examination

(3) Every detaining-officer shall, in addition to the powers conferred by sub-section (2), have the same power as the Local Government has under sections 207 and 208, respectively, of provisionally ordering the detention of a British ship for the purpose of being surveyed, and of appointing a person to survey her; and, if he thinks that a ship so detained by him is not unsafe, may order her to be released.

(4) Every detaining-officer shall forthwith report to the Local Government any order made by him for the detention or release of a ship.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 49.] Cf. 1894, s. 488 (4).

Powers of person authorised to survey ship.

215. For the purposes of the survey of a British ship under this Chapter, any person authorised to make the same may go on board the ship and may inspect the same or any part thereof, or the machinery, equipments or cargo on board thereof, and may require the unloading or removal of any cargo, ballast or tackle.

Constitution of Court of Survey.

216. (1) A Court of Survey for a port shall consist of a Judge sitting with two assessors.

(2) The Judge shall be a District Judge, Judge of a Court of Small Causes, Presidency Magistrate, Magistrate of the first class or other fit person appointed in this behalf by the Local Government either generally or for any specified case.

(3) The assessors shall be persons of nautical, engineering or other special skill and experience.

(4) One of the assessors shall be appointed by the Local Government either generally or in each case, and the other shall be summoned by the Judge, in the manner prescribed, out of a list of persons prepared for the purpose and published by the Local Government in the official Gazette, or, if there is no such list or if it is impracticable to procure the attendance of any person named in such list, shall be appointed by the Judge.

Act VII of 1880, s. 16.] Cf. 1894, s. 487 (4).

Judge to summon assessors.

217. The Judge shall, on receiving notice of an appeal under section 209 or section 210 or a reference under section 208, immediately summon the assessors, in the manner prescribed, to meet forthwith.

Act VII of 1880, s. 17.] Cf. 1894, s. 488 (1).

Case to be heard in open Court.

218. Every such appeal and reference shall be heard in open Court.

Act VII of 1880, s. 18.] Cf. 1894, s. 488 (2).

Powers of Judge and assessors.

219. The Judge and each assessor shall, for the purposes of this Chapter, have the same powers as are by section 214, sub-section (2), conferred on a detaining-officer.

Act VII of 1880, s. 19.] Cf. 1894, s. 488 (3).

Power of Judge to appoint surveyor.

220 The Judge may appoint any competent person to survey the ship and report thereon to the Court.

Act VII of 1880, s. 20.] Cf. 1894, s. 488 (6).

Owner or master may attend at inspection or survey.

221. The owner and master of the ship and any person appointed by the owner or master, and also any person appointed by the Local Government, may attend at any inspection or survey made in exercise or pursuance of the powers conferred by section 219 or section 220.

Act VII of 1880, s. 21.] Cf. 1894, s. 488 (5).

Power of Judge to release or finally detain ship.

222. The Judge shall have the same power as the Local Government has to order the ship to be released or finally detained; but, unless one of the assessors concurs in an order for the detention of the ship, the ship shall be released.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 22.] Cf. 1894, s. 488 (7).

Report to Local Government by Court.

223. The Judge shall report the proceedings of the Court in each case to the Local Government in the manner prescribed, and each assessor shall either sign such report or report to the Local Government the reasons for his dissent.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 23.] Cf. 1894, s. 489.

Power to make rules with respect to Court of Survey.

224. The Local Government may make rules to carry into effect the provisions of this Chapter with respect to a Court of Survey, and in particular with respect to—

(a) the procedure before the Court;

(b) the requiring, on an appeal, of security for costs and damages;

(c) the amount and application of fees; and

(d) the ascertainment, in case of dispute, of the proper amount of costs under this Chapter.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 27.] Cf. 1894, s. 460 (1).

Liability of Government for costs and damages when ship wrongly detained.

225. If it appears that there was not reasonable and probable cause, by reason of the condition of the ship or act or default of the owner, for the provisional detention of a ship, the Government shall be liable to pay to the owner of the ship his costs of and incidental to the detention and survey of the ship, and also compensation for any loss or damage sustained by him by reason of the detention or survey.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 28.] Cf. 1894, s. 460 (2)

Liability of owner for costs when ship rightly detained.

226. If a British ship is finally detained under this Chapter or if it appears that a British ship provisionally detained was at the time of such detention unsafe, the owner of the ship shall be liable to pay to the Government its costs of and incidental to the detention and survey of the ship; and such costs shall, without prejudice to any other remedy, be recoverable as salvage is recoverable.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 29.] Cf. 1894, s. 460 (3).

What included in costs of detention and survey.

227. For the purposes of this Chapter, the costs of and incidental to any proceeding before a Court of Survey, and a reasonable amount in respect of the remuneration of the surveyor or officer of the Local Government, shall be deemed to be part of the costs of the detention and survey of the ship.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 30.] Cf. 1894. s. 461 (1), (2).

Power to require from complainant security for costs, etc.

228. When a complaint is made to the Local Government or a detaining-officer that a British ship is unsafe, it shall be in the discretion of such Government or officer (as the case may be) to require the complainant to give security to the satisfaction of such

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part IV.—Safety and Prevention of Accidents.—Chapter XXIV.—Unsafe Ships.—Sections 229-237.)

Government or officer for the costs and compensation which such complainant may become liable to pay under the provisions of section 229:

Provided that where the complaint is made by one-fourth, being not less than three, of the seamen belonging to the ship, and is not in the opinion of such Government or officer frivolous or vexatious, such security shall not be required; and such Government or officer shall, if the complaint is made in sufficient time before the sailing of the ship, take proper steps to ascertain whether the ship ought to be detained under this Chapter.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 31.] Cf. 1894, s. 461 (3).

Costs, etc., payable by Government recoverable from complainant.

229. Where a British ship is detained in consequence of any complaint, and the circumstances are such that the Government is liable under this Chapter to pay to the owner of the ship any costs or compensation, the complainant shall be liable to pay to the Government all such costs and compensation as the Government incurs, or is liable to pay, in respect of the detention and survey of the ship.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 45.] Cf. 1894, s. 492 (1).

Who may enforce detention of ship.

230. When under this Chapter a British ship is authorised or ordered to be detained, any commissioned officer on full pay in the naval or military service of Her Majesty, any commander or lieutenant of any of Her Majesty's Indian Government ships, or any port-officer, harbour-master, conservator of a port or officer of customs may detain the ship.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 46.] Cf. 1894, s. 692 (1).

Penalty for proceeding to sea after detention.

231. If any British ship, after such detention, or after service on the master of any notice of or order for such detention, proceeds to sea before she is released by competent authority, the master of the ship shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 47.] Cf. 1894, s. 692 (2).

Penalty for carrying to sea officer in execution of his duty.

232. (1) If a British ship so proceeding to sea takes to sea, when on board thereof in the execution of his duty, any person authorised under this Chapter to detain or survey the ship, the owner and master of the ship shall each be liable to pay all expenses of, and incidental to, such person being so taken to sea, and shall also each be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(2) When any owner or master is convicted of an offence against this section, the convicting Magistrate may enquire into and determine the amount payable on account of expenses by such owner or master under this section, and may direct that the same shall be recovered from him in manner provided by law for the recovery of fines

[Act VII of 1880, s. 48.] Cf. 1894, s. 459 (5).

Detained ship not to be released because British registry closed.

233. When a British ship has been detained under this Chapter, she shall not be released by reason of her British or British Indian register being subsequently closed.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 44.] Cf. 1894, s. 459 (6).

Release of ship at any time by Local Government.

234. The Local Government may at any time, if satisfied that a British ship detained under this Chapter is not unsafe, order her to be released either upon or without any conditions.

[Act VII of 1880, ss. 51, 52.] Cf. 1894, s 696 (1).

Service of order, etc.

235. (1) Where any order, notice, statement or document is required for the purpose of any provision of this Chapter to be served on the master of a British ship, the same shall be served, where there is no master, on the owner of the ship, if he resides in the port where the ship is detained, or, if there is no owner residing there, on some agent of the owner residing there; or, where such owner or agent is unknown or cannot be found, a copy of such order, notice, statement or document shall be affixed to the mast of the ship, and shall thereupon be deemed to be duly served.

(2) Any such order, notice, statement or document may be served by delivering a copy thereof personally to the person to be served, or by leaving the same at his last place of abode, or, in the case of a master, by leaving it for him on board the ship with the person being or appearing to be in command or charge of the ship.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 85 (added by Act XVII of 1891, s. 5).] Cf 1894, ss. 445, 462.

Application to foreign ships of provisions respecting detention.

236. Where a foreign ship has taken on board all or any part of her cargo at a port in British India, and is while at that port, unsafe by reason of overloading or improper loading, all the foregoing provisions of this Chapter with respect to the detention of British ships shall apply to that foreign ship as if she were a British ship, unless such foreign ship, if in a port of the United Kingdom, would be entitled to the benefit of an Order of Her Majesty in Council under section 445 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894. outside upon each of her sides amidships or as near thereto as practicable, in white or yellow on a dark ground or in black on a light ground, a circular disc twelve inches in diameter, with a horizontal line eighteen inches in length drawn through its centre.

VII of 1880, 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(2) The centre of the disc shall be placed at such level below the deck-line marked under the provisions of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1880, or of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, as may be approved by the Local Government, and shall indicate the maximum load-line in perfectly smooth salt-water to which it shall be lawful to load the ship.

(3) When a ship has been marked as by this section required, she shall be kept so marked until she next returns to a port of discharge in British India or arrives at a port in the United Kingdom.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 35 (am. by Act XVII of 1891, s. 4).] Cf. 1894, s. 440 (2), (3), (4).

Statement in application to Customs-collector for entry outwards of such ship as aforesaid.

238. (1) Every person applying for entry of any such ship outwards shall insert, in the form of application made to the Customs-collector, a statement in writing of the distance in feet and inches between the centre of such disc and the upper edge of each of the lines indicating the position of the ship's decks which is above such centre; and, if default be made in delivering such statement, the Customs-collector may refuse to enter the ship outwards.

(2) A copy of such statement shall be entered in the agreement with the crew before it is signed by any member of the crew, and no Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office shall proceed with the engagement of a crew for any such ship until such entry has been made.

(3) The master shall enter, or cause to be entered, a copy of the said statement in the official log (if any).

Annual statement as to position of load-line on coasting-vessel.

239. (1) When a ship is employed in the coasting trade she shall be marked before the ship proceeds to sea from any port, and the master shall also once in every twelve months, immediately before the ship proceeds to sea, send or deliver to the Customs-collector, or other principal officer of Customs of such port as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, a statement in writing of the distance in feet and inches between the centre of the disc and the upper edge of each of the lines indicating the position of the ship's decks which is above that centre.

(2) The master, before the ship proceeds to sea after any renewal or alteration of the disc, shall send or deliver to the Customs-collector or other principal officer of Customs aforesaid notice in writing of such renewal or alteration, together with such statement in writing as before mentioned of the distance between the centre of the disc and the upper edge of each of the deck-lines.

(3) If default be made in sending or delivering any notice or statement required by this section to be sent or delivered, the master shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(4) When a ship has been marked as required by this section, she shall be kept so marked until notice has been given of an alteration.

Power to make rules.

242. (1) The Local Government may make rules—

(a) determining the lines or marks to be used in connection with the disc in order to indicate the maximum load-line under different circumstances and at different seasons, and declaring that the provisions of this Chapter with respect to load-line are to have effect as if any such maximum load-line were drawn through the centre of the disc;

(b) as to the mode in which the disc and the lines or marks to be used in connection therewith are to be marked or affixed on the ship, whether by painting, cutting or otherwise;

(c) as to the mode of application for, and form of, certificates under section 241, sub-section (2); and

(d) as to the entry of such certificates, and any other prescribed particulars concerning the draught of water and freeboard of the ship, in the official log (if any) of the ship, or other publication thereof on board the ship, and as to delivering copies of such entries.

(2) Rules under clause (a) of sub-section (1) may, with respect to any class or classes of ships,—

(e) declare what shall be deemed to be seasons of fair weather and seasons of foul weather, respectively, for any of the purposes of the rules, and (f) modify the tables referred to in section 241, sub-section (1), or the application thereof.

Penalty for neglecting to mark, or submerging, load-line.

243. Any master of a British ship who neglects to cause his ship to be marked as by this Chapter required, or to keep her so marked, or who allows the ship to be so loaded that when in perfectly smooth salt-water the centre of the disc is submerged, and any person who conceals, removes, alters, defaces or obliterates, or suffers any person under his control to conceal, remove, alter, deface or obliterate, any of the lines or marks prescribed by or under this Chapter, except in the event of the particulars thereby denoted being lawfully altered, or for the purpose of escaping capture by an enemy, shall be liable in respect to each offence to a fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 42 (am. by Act XVII of 1891 s. 4).] Cf. 1894, s. 442 (2).

Penalty on master for having misleading marks.

244. The master of any British ship on which any of the marks or lines prescribed by or under this Chapter is inaccurately placed so as to be likely to mislead, who does not forthwith cause such inaccuracy to be corrected, shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

Cf. 1894, s. 443 (3).

Penalty for neglecting to comply with rules as to entry or publication of certificates or other particulars or as to delivery of copies of entries.

245. If any person makes default in complying with any rule made under section 242, clause (d), he shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

CHAPTER XXV.

SHIP SURVEYORS.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 68 (am. by Act XII of 1891).]

Power to appoint examiners, and make rules as to qualifications, etc., of ship surveyors.

246. The Local Government may appoint competent persons for the purpose of examining the qualifications of persons desirous of practising the profession of a ship surveyor at any port in the territories administered by such Government, and may make rules—

(a) for the conduct of such examinations and the qualifications to be required,

(b) for the grant of certificates to qualified persons,

(c) for the fees to be paid for such examinations and certificates,

(d) for holding enquiries into charges of incompetency and misconduct on the part of holders of such certificates, and (e) for the suspension and cancellation of such certificates.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 69.]

No person to practise as ship surveyor unless qualified.

247. No person shall, in any port in which there is a person exercising the profession of a ship surveyor and holding a certificate granted under section 246, exercise such profession unless he holds a certificate granted under that section.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part IV.—Safety and Prevention of Accidents.—Chapter XXV.—Ship Surveyors.—Section 248. Part V.—Wrecks, Casualties and Investigations.—Chapter XXVI.—Receivers of Wreck.—Sections 249-253.)

Provided that nothing in this section shall—

(a) prevent any person employed by Lloyd's Register of British and Foreign Shipping or Bureau Veritas from discharging any of the duties of such employment, or (b) apply to any person specially exempted by the Local Government from the operation of this section.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 70.]

Penalty for practising as ship surveyor without certificate.

248. Any person exercising the profession of a ship surveyor in contravention of the provisions of section 247 shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and shall be incapable of maintaining any suit for any fee or reward for anything done by him in such exercise of such profession.

PART V.

WRECKS, CASUALTIES AND INVESTIGATIONS.

CHAPTER XXVI.

RECEIVERS OF WRECK.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 72 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s. 6, and Act XII of 1891).] Cf. 1894, s. 521 (2).

Savings.

249. Nothing in this Chapter shall—

(a) affect the declaration of the twenty-third day of October, 1889, in Schedule VI, between the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Government of the French Republic, with reference to the disposal of the proceeds of wrecks on their respective coasts, that declaration having been made applicable to India, or X of 1889.

(b) affect section 29 of the Indian Ports Act, 1889, or entitle any person to salvage in respect of any property recovered by creeping or sweeping in contravention of that section.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 71.] Cf. 1894, s. 510.

Definition of "wreck."

250. In this Chapter, "wreck" includes the following when found in the sea or any tidal water or on the shores thereof, that is to say:—

articles which have been cast into the sea and then sink and remain under water; articles which have been cast or fall into the sea and remain floating on the surface; articles which are sunk in the sea, but are attached to a floating object in order that they may be found again:

articles which are thrown away or abandoned; and a ship abandoned without hope or intention of recovery.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 73.] Cf. 1894, s. 566.

Appointment of Receivers.

251. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, appoint such person as it may think fit to receive and take possession of wreck and to perform such duties connected therewith as are hereinafter mentioned, within such local limits as it may direct.

(2) Persons so appointed shall be called Receivers of Wreck.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 74 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s. 7), s. 79.] Cf. 1894, s. 518.

Procedure to be observed by person finding wreck.

252. (1) Any person finding and taking possession of any wreck within any local limits for which a Receiver of Wreck has been so appointed, or bringing within such limits any wreck which has been found and taken possession of elsewhere, shall, as soon as practicable,—

(a) if he be the owner of such wreck, give the Receiver of Wreck notice in writing of the finding thereof and of the marks by which the same is distinguished;

(b) if he be not the owner of such wreck, deliver the same to the Receiver of Wreck.

(2) If any person fails, without reasonable cause, to comply with sub-section (1), he shall be liable to fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and shall, in addition, if he be not the owner of the wreck, forfeit all claim to salvage, and pay to the owner of the wreck, if it is claimed, or, if it is unclaimed, to the Government, a penalty not exceeding twice the value of such wreck.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 75.] Cf. 1894, s. 546.

Government or person finding wreck entitled to salvage.

253. (1) Whenever any wreck is found by the Receiver of Wreck or has been delivered to him in accordance with the provisions of section 252 by any person, not being the owner thereof, the Government or such other person so delivering such wreck, as the case may be, shall be entitled to receive a reasonable sum for salvage, having regard to all the circumstances of the case.

(2) Any dispute arising concerning the amount due under this section may be determined by a Magistrate of the first class, or a Sub-divisional Magistrate, upon application to him for that purpose by either of the disputing parties.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part V.—Wrecks, Casualties and Investigations.—Chapter XXVI.—Receivers of Wreck.—Sections 254-256. Chapter XXVII.—Investigations into Casualties and Charges against Masters, Mates and Engineers.—Sections 258-259.)

(3) In any case in which the amount claimed exceeds one thousand rupees, either party may appeal from the decision of the Magistrate to the Colonial Courts of Admiralty.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 76.] Cf. 1894, s. 520.

Notice to be given by Receiver.

254. The Receiver of Wreck shall, on taking possession of any wreck, publish a notice in such manner and at such place as the Local Government may direct in this behalf, containing a description of the same and a statement of the time at which and the place where the same was found.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 77.] Cf. 1894, ss. 522, 525.

Wreck may in certain cases be sold.

255. If after the publication of such notice the wreck is unclaimed, or if the person claiming the same fails to pay the amount due for salvage and for charges incurred by the Receiver of Wreck in respect thereof, the Receiver of Wreck may sell such wreck by public auction, if of a perishable nature forthwith, and, if not of a perishable nature, at any period not less than six months after such notice as aforesaid.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 78.] Cf. 1894, s. 521.

Proceeds how applied.

256. On the realisation of the proceeds of such sale, the amount due for salvage and charges as aforesaid, together with the expenses of the sale, shall be deducted therefrom, and the balance shall be paid to the owner of the wreck, or, if no such person appears and claims the same, shall be held in deposit for payment, without interest, to any person thereafter establishing his right to the same:

Provided that he makes his claim within one year from the date of the sale.

257. Penalty for failure to give notice of, or deliver, wreck to the Receiver of Wreck. [Incorporated with section 252.]

CHAPTER XXVII.

INVESTIGATIONS INTO CASUALTIES AND CHARGES AGAINST MASTERS, MATES AND ENGINEERS.

[Act V of 1883, s. 4 (1); Bill of 1867, s. 201; Bill of 1882, s. 136.] 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

Saving of powers for removal of master.

258. Nothing in this Chapter shall affect the powers conferred by section 472 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, or by section 127 of this Act on Courts mentioned in those sections, respectively.

[Act V of 1883, s. 6 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s. 9, and Act XII of 1891); Bill of 1867, s. 255; Bill of 1882, s. 137.] Cf. 1894, ss. 425, 426, 464, 465 (2), 729.

Report of casualties to be made to Local Government.

259. (1) Whenever any First Class Magistrate or Sub-divisional Magistrate, or any officer appointed by the Local Government in this behalf by name or by virtue of his office, receives credible information that—

(a) any British or foreign ship has been lost, abandoned, stranded or materially damaged on or near the coasts of British India or

(b) by reason of any casualty happening to, or on board of, any British or foreign ship on or near those coasts, loss of life has ensued; or

(c) any British or foreign ship has caused loss or material damage to any other ship on or near those coasts; or

(d) any such loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty has happened elsewhere to, or on board of, any British ship, and any competent witnesses thereof have arrived or are to be found at any place in British India; or

(e) any British ship is supposed to have been lost, and any evidence can be obtained in British India as to the circumstances under which she proceeded to sea or was last heard of;

he shall forthwith report in writing the information to the Local Government.

(2) The word "coasts" in sub-section (1) includes the banks of creeks and tidal rivers.

(3) In the cases mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of sub-section (1), the master, pilot, harbour-master or other person in charge of the ship, or (where two ships are concerned) in charge of each ship, at the time of the loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty, and in cases under clause (d) of sub-section (1), where the master of the ship concerned, or (except in the case of a loss) where the ship concerned proceeds to any place in British India from the place where the loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty has occurred, the master of the ship, shall, on arriving in British India, give immediate notice of the loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty to the nearest Magistrate, or, when he arrives at a port in British India, to the officer appointed as aforesaid at that port.

(4) In cases under clause (e) of sub-section (1), the managing owner of the ship, or, where there is no managing owner, the ship's husband, shall, as soon as conveniently may be, send to some officer appointed by the Local Government as aforesaid notice in writing of the loss.

(5) Any person bound to give notice under this section and wilfully failing to give the same shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(6) The Magistrate or other officer whose duty it is under sub-section (1) to report to the Local Government such information as is referred to in that sub-section shall have, for the purposes of such report, the following powers (that is to say)—

(f) he may go on board any ship to which the provisions of this Chapter apply and may inspect the same or any part thereof or any of the machinery, boats, equipments or articles on board thereof, not unnecessarily detaining or delaying the ship from proceeding on any voyage;

(g) he may enter and inspect any premises the entry or inspection of which appears to him to be requisite;

(h) he may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance of all such persons as he may think fit to call before him, may examine such persons, and may, by a like summons, require returns in writing to any inquiries which he may think fit to make;

(i) he may require and enforce the production of all books, papers or documents which he considers important; and

(j) he may administer oaths, or may, instead of requiring or administering an oath, require any person examined by him to make and subscribe a declaration of the truth of the statements made by him in his examination.

[Act V of 1883, s. 7 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s. 10); Bill of 1867, s. 255; Bill of 1882, s. 138] Cf. 1894, s. 466 (1), (3).

Power for Local Government to appoint special Court of Investigation.

260. (1) If the Local Government to which the report required by section 259 has been made or within whose territories any competent witnesses of any such loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty as is described in clause (a), (b), (c) or (d) of sub-section (1) of the same section have arrived or are to be found, or any evidence of such supposed loss as is described in clause (e) of the same sub-section can be obtained, is of opinion that a formal investigation into the facts referred to in any of the said clauses is requisite or expedient, the Local Government may appoint a special Court, consisting of not less than two nor more than four persons, and direct the Court to make the investigation, and may fix the place for making the same.

[Cf.] 1876, s. [1]0, para. 1.

(2) One of the members of the Court shall be a Magistrate of the first class or Sub-divisional Magistrate, acting in or near the place where the investigation is made; another shall be some person of nautical skill and knowledge and the other or others (if any) shall be persons of nautical, engineering, mercantile or other special skill or knowledge.

Power for Admiralty and Criminal Courts to hold investigations into casualties when so directed.

[Act V of 1883, s. 8 (am. by Act VI of 1891, s. 11); Act XVI of 1891; Bill of 1867, s. 195; Bill of 1882, s. 139.]

261. Any Colonial Court of Admiralty in British India, and the principal Court of ordinary criminal jurisdiction at any port in British India where there is no Colonial Court of Admiralty, may, when so directed by the Local Government or by such officer as the Local Government has empowered in this behalf, make the investigation referred to in section 260.

Power for Court of Investigation to inquire into charges against masters, mates and engineers.

[Act V of 1883, s. 9; Bill of 1882, s. 140.] Cf. 1894, s. 471.

262. (1) Any Court making an investigation referred to in section 260 may inquire into any charge of incompetency or misconduct arising in the course of the investigation against any master, mate, engineer or engine-driver, as well as into any charge of a wrongful act or default on his part causing any loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty referred to in section 259.

(2) Every formal investigation into a shipping casualty shall be conducted in such manner that, if a charge is made against any person, that person shall have an opportunity of making a defence.

(3) In every case in which any such charge, whether of incompetency or misconduct, or of a wrongful act or default as aforesaid, arises against any master, mate or engineer in the course of an investigation, the Court shall, before the commencement of the inquiry into the charge, cause to be furnished to him a copy of the report or statement of the case upon which the investigation has been directed.

Power for Local Government to direct independent investigation into charge of incompetency or misconduct.

[Act V of 1883, s. 10; Bill of 1867, s. 197; Bill of 1882, s. 141.] Cf. 1894, s. 471.

263 (1) If the Local Government has reason to believe that there are grounds for charging any master, mate or engineer holding a Board of Trade, Colonial or local certificate with incompetency or misconduct, otherwise than in the course of an investigation referred to in section 260, it may send a statement of the case to—

(a) any Court mentioned in section 261, or

(b) the Court of any Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, at or nearest to the place at which it may be convenient for the parties and witnesses to attend, and may direct the Court to make an investigation into the charge, and shall at the same time cause the master, mate or engineer so charged to be furnished with a copy of such statement.

Person accused to be heard.

[Act V of 1888, s. 11; Bill of 1867, s. 198; Bill of 1882, s. 142.] Cf. 1894, ss. 466 (11), 471 (c).

264. For the purpose of an investigation under the foregoing provisions of this Chapter into any charge against a master, mate, engineer or engine-driver, the Court may summon him to appear and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence, either in person or otherwise.

Assessors.

265. (1) When any investigation under the foregoing provisions of this chapter involves, or appears likely to involve, any question as to the suspension or cancellation of the certificate of a master, mate or engineer, the Court making the investigation shall constitute as its assessors, for the purposes of the investigation, two persons having experience in the merchant service: and in every other investigation under the said provisions the Court making it may, if it thinks fit, constitute as its assessors, for the purposes of the investigation, any person conversant with maritime affairs and willing to act as assessor.

(2) Every assessor shall attend during the investigation and deliver his opinion in writing, to be recorded on the proceedings. But the exercise of all powers conferred on the Court by this Act or any other enactment for the time being in force shall rest with the Court.

[Act V of 1883, s. 12; Act XVI of 1891; Bill of 1867, ss. 198, 257; Bill of 1882, s. 143.] Cf. 1894, s. 466 (10).

Powers of Court as to evidence and regulation of proceedings.

266. For the purposes of any investigation under the foregoing provisions of this Chapter, the Court making the investigation, so far as relates to compelling the attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of documents and the regulation of the proceedings, shall have—

(a) if the Court is a special Court—the same powers as are exerciseable by the principal Court of ordinary criminal jurisdiction for the place at which the investigation is made;

(b) if the Court is a Colonial Court of Admiralty, or a principal Court of ordinary criminal jurisdiction, or a Court of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class—the same powers as are exerciseable by that Court in the exercise of its admiralty or criminal jurisdiction (as the case may be).

[Act V of 1883, s. 14; Bill of 1882, s. 144]

Power to arrest witnesses and cause entry and detention of ships.

267. (1) If any Court making an investigation under the foregoing provisions of this Chapter thinks it necessary for obtaining evidence that any person should be arrested, it may issue a warrant for his arrest, and may, for the purpose of effecting the arrest, authorise any officer (subject, nevertheless, to any general or special instructions from the Local Government) to enter any ship.

(2) Any officer so authorised may, for the purpose of enforcing the entry, call to his aid any officers of Police or Customs, or any other persons, and may seize and detain the ship for such time as is reasonably necessary to effect the arrest.

(3) No person shall be detained by virtue of this section for more than forty-eight hours.

[Act V of 1883, s. 15. Bill of 1882 s. 145.]

Power to commit for trial and bind over witnesses.

268. (1) Whenever, in the course of any investigation under the foregoing provisions of this Chapter, it appears that any person has committed, within the jurisdiction of any Court in British India, an offence punishable under any law in force in British India, the Court making the investigation may (subject to such rules consistent with this Act as the High Court may, from time to time, make) cause him to be arrested, or commit him or hold him to bail to take his trial before the proper Court; and may bind over any person to give evidence at the trial, and may, for the purposes of this section, exercise all the powers of a Magistrate of the first class or of a Presidency Magistrate.

(2) For the purposes of this section the Recorder of Rangoon shall, throughout Lower Burma, be deemed to be the High Court.

[Act V of 1883, s. 17 Bill of 1867 s. 258; Bill of 1882, s. 146.] Cf. 1894, ss. 466 (6), 470 (3).

Report by Court to Local Government.

269. (1) The Court shall, in the case of every investigation under the foregoing provisions of this Chapter, transmit to the Local Government a full report of the conclusions at which it has arrived, together with the evidence.

57 & 58 Vic. c. 60.

(2) In cases in which, under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, the Court is required to send a report to the Board of Trade, the report shall be sent through the Local Government, and the transmission of the report to the Local Government shall be a sufficient compliance with this section.

Cf. 1894, s. 475.

Re-hearing.

270. (1) The Local Government may, in any case where an investigation into a shipping casualty, or into the conduct of a master, mate or engineer, has been held under this Chapter, order the case to be re-heard either generally or as to any part thereof, and shall do so—

(a) if new and important evidence which could not be produced at the investigation, has been discovered, or

(b) if for any other reason there is, in its opinion, ground for suspecting that a miscarriage of justice has occurred.

(2) Where a re-hearing is ordered on the ground that new and important evidence a aforesaid has been discovered, the case shall, i practicable, be re-heard by the Court by whic

Investigations into Explosions on Steam-ships.

II of 37]

Power to investigate causes of explosions on board steam-ships.

271. (1) Whenever an explosion occurs on board any steam-ship, whether British or foreign, on or near the coasts of British India, the Local Government may, if it thinks fit, direct that an investigation into the cause of the explosion be made by such person or persons as it may think fit.

(2) The person or persons so directed may enter into and upon the steam-ship, with all necessary workmen and labourers, and remove any portion of the steam-ship or of the machinery thereof, for the purpose of the investigation, and shall report to the Local Government what, in his or their opinion, was the cause of the explosion.

PART VI.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

ASSISTANCE TO PASSENGERS ABROAD.

Whereas, by section 368 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, it is enacted that "The Governor-General of India in Council may, by any Act passed for the purpose, declare that all or any provisions of this Part of this Act shall apply to the carriage of steerage passengers upon any voyage from any specified port in British India to any other specified port whatsoever," and that the "provisions of any such Act while in force shall have effect without as well as within British India as if enacted by this Act: Provided that any such Act shall be of no effect under this section, unless it be reserved for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure thereon, or contain a suspending clause providing that the Act shall not come into operation until Her Majesty's pleasure thereon has been publicly signified in British India;"

And whereas it is expedient that the provisions hereinafter appearing should be enacted under the authority aforesaid;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Commencement.

271A. This Chapter shall not come into operation until Her Majesty's pleasure thereon has been publicly signified by notification in the Gazette of India.

Repeal.

271B. (1) On and from the commencement of this Chapter, the Indian Sea Passengers Act, 1885, shall be repealed.

(2) Any enactment or document referring to the said Act shall be construed to refer to this Chapter.

Certain provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, made applicable to specified voyages from British India.

[Act XII of 1885, s. 3; Bill of 1867, s. 285.] Cf. 1894, s. 368. 57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

272. The provisions in sections 273, 274 and 275 and Schedule VII of this Act are declared applicable to the carriage of steerage passengers, whether in British or foreign ships, upon the following voyages, namely:—

(a) voyages from the ports of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay to the British colonies of Mauritius, Jamaica, British Guiana, Trinidad, St. Lucia, Grenada, St. Vincent, Natal, St. Kitts, Nevis, Fiji, British North Borneo and Labuan;

(b) voyages from the ports of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay to the French colonies of Réunion, Martinique, Guadeloupe and its dependencies, and Guiana;

(c) voyages from the ports of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay to the Netherlands colony of Dutch Guiana;

(d) voyages from the ports of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay to the Danish colony of St. Croix;

(e) voyages under Part VII from Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karachi, Rangoon and other ports in British India to the Straits Settlements, to the protected Forwarding of passengers by Governors or Consuls.

274. (1) If any steerage passenger from any ship which is carrying passengers on any such voyage as is specified in section 272 finds himself, without any neglect or default of his own, at any port outside the British Islands other than the port for which the ship was originally bound, or at which he, or the Board of Trade, or any public officer or other person on his behalf, has contracted that he should land, it shall be lawful—

(a) if the place is in a British possession, for the Governor of that possession, or any person authorised by the Governor for the purpose, and

(b) if the place is elsewhere, for the British Consular Officer there, to forward the passenger to his intended destination, unless the master of the ship, within forty-eight hours of the arrival of the passenger, gives to the Governor or Consular Officer, as the case may be, a written undertaking to forward or convey within six weeks thereafter the passenger to his original destination, and forwards or conveys him accordingly within that period.

(2) A passenger so forwarded by or by the authority of a Governor or a British Consular Officer shall not be entitled to the return of his passage-money, or to any compensation for loss of passage.

Recovery of expenses incurred in conveying wrecked passengers and forwarding passengers.

275. (1) All expenses incurred under section 273 or section 274, by or by the authority of a Governor of a British possession or Consular Officer, in respect of a wrecked passenger, or in forwarding of a passenger to his destination, including the cost of maintaining the passenger until forwarded to his destination, and of all necessary bedding, provisions and stores, shall be a joint and several debt to the Crown from the owner, charterer and master of the ship on board of which the passenger had embarked.

(2) In any proceeding for the recovery of that debt a certificate in the form set out in Schedule VII to this Act, or as near thereto as circumstances admit, purporting to be under the hand of a Governor or Consular Officer, and stating the circumstances of the case and the total amount of the expenses, shall be admissible in evidence in the manner provided by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, and shall be sufficient evidence of the amount of the expenses, and of the fact that the same were duly incurred; unless the defendant specially pleads and duly proves that the certificate is false and fraudulent, or that the expenses were not duly incurred under this Chapter:

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(3) The sum recovered on account of the expenses shall not exceed twice the total amount of passage-money which the owner, charterer or master of the ship proves to have been received by him or on his account, or to be due to and recoverable by him or on his account in respect of the whole number of passengers, whether cabin or steerage, who embarked in the ship.

[Act XII 1885, s. 7.] Cf. 1894, s. 335.

Validity of insurance of passage-money.

276. A policy of assurance effected in respect of any streerage passage, or of any steerage passage or compensation money, by any person by this Chapter made liable, in the events aforesaid, to provide such passage or to pay such money, or in respect of any other risk under this Chapter, shall not be invalid by reason of the nature of the risk or interest sought to be covered by the policy of assurance.

PART VII.

NATIVE PASSENGER-SHIPS.

CHAPTER XXIX.

PRELIMINARY.

[Act X of 1887, s. 2; Bill of 1867, s. 262.]

Application.

277. (1) The application of this Part extends—

(a) to all subjects of Her Majesty within the dominions of Princes and States in India in alliance with Her Majesty;

(b) to all native Indian subjects of Her Majesty without and beyond British India; and,

(c) subject to the exceptions mentioned in section 5 and in sub-section (2) of this section, to ships, whether British or foreign, carrying as passengers more than thirty natives of Asia or Africa.

(2) But it does not apply—

(d) to any steam-ship not carrying as passengers more than sixty natives of Asia or Africa,

(e) to any ship not intended to carry natives of Asia or Africa as passengers to or from any port in British India, or (f) to any ship to which the provisions of the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, are applicable.

VI of 1894.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in sub-sections (1) and (2), the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare all or any of the provisions of this Part to apply—

(g) to sailing-ships, or any class of sailing-ships, whether British or foreign, carrying as passengers more than fifteen natives of Asia or Africa; or

(h) to steam-ships or any class of steam-ships, whether British or foreign, carrying as passengers more than thirty natives of Asia or Africa.

[Act X of 1887, s. 57.]

Power to exempt ships.

278. (1) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, subject to such conditions as it may think fit, exempt any ship or class of ships from any provision of this Part.

(2) In imposing a condition under this section the Local Government may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, when the breach is a continuing breach, with a further fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which the breach continues.

Definitions.

279. In this Part, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

[Bill of 1867, s. 267 (2).]

(1) "native passenger" means a passenger by a ship who is a native of Asia or Africa of the age of twelve years or upwards and is not on the articles of agreement of the ship as one of the crew;

but does not include a first or second class passenger, a passenger in attendance on a person who is not a native of Asia or Africa, or a child under one year of age; and, in the computation of native passengers for any of the purposes of this Part, two persons of the age of one year or upwards and under the age of twelve years shall be reckoned as one passenger;

(2) "long voyage" means,—

(a) any voyage to or from Aden from or to any other port in British India, whether the ship performing it proceeds to or from Aden direct or calls at one or more intermediate ports, or

(b) any voyage from or to a port in British India to or from a port in the Red Sea, whether the ship performing it proceeds to such port direct or calls at one or more intermediate ports, or

(c) any voyage (not being a voyage referred to in clause (a) or clause (b)) during which the ship performing it will in ordinary circumstances be one hundred and twenty hours or upwards continuously out of port, or

(d) any voyage (not being a voyage referred to in clause (a) or clause (b)) during which the ship performing it will not in ordinary circumstances be one hundred and twenty hours continuously out of port, but during which the ship calls at one or more intermediate ports and has any native passenger on board continuously for two hundred and forty hours or upwards;

(3) "short voyage" means,—

(e) any voyage (not being a voyage referred to in clause (a) or clause (b), or a shelter-port voyage or an excursion voyage) during which the ship performing it will not in ordinary circumstances be one hundred and twenty hours continuously out of port, and

(i) does not call at any intermediate port, or

(ii) calls at one or more intermediate ports but has no native passengers on board for two hundred and forty hours continuously;

(4) "shelter-port voyage" means, subject to the provisions of section 280,—

(f) in the case of a steam-ship having a certificate of survey, granted under Chapter XXIII or by the Board of Trade or by a British Colonial Government, in force and applicable to the voyage on which the ship is about to proceed or the service on which she is about to be employed—any voyage (not being an excursion voyage) during which the ship is at no time more than eight hours distant from a port of shelter, and

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships.—Chapter XXIX.—Preliminary.—Section 280. Chapter XXX.—General Provisions as to Voyages.—Sections 280-284.)

(g) in the case of any other ship—any voyage (not being an excursion voyage) during which the ship performing it is at no time more than six hours distant from a port of shelter;

(5) "excursion voyage" means, subject to the provisions of section 280, any voyage beginning and ending in a season of fair weather, during which the ship performing it is not out of port before sunrise or after sunset, and during which native passengers are not embarked before sunrise or kept on board after sunset;

(6) "voyage", when used without the prefix "long", "short", "shelter-port" or "excursion", means the whole distance between the ship's port or place of departure and her final port or place of arrival; and (7) "Chief Customs-officer" means the chief executive officer of sea-customs in any port or place to which this Part applies.

[Act X of 1887, s. 55; Bill of 1867, s. 276.]

Power to declare what shall be deemed "seasons of fair weather" and "seasons of foul weather", and to modify or supplement certain definitions in section 279

280. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare what shall be deemed to be, for the purposes of this Part, "seasons of fair weather" and "seasons of foul weather."

(2) The Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may, by notification in the local official Gazette, declare what ports shall, for the purposes of this Part, be deemed to be "ports of shelter."

CHAPTER XXX.

GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO VOYAGES.

[Act X of 1887, s. 6; Bill of 1867, s. 263.]

Ports for departure of ships or discharge or receiving of native passengers.

281. (1) A ship carrying native passengers shall not depart or proceed on a voyage from, or discharge such passengers at, any port or place in British India other than a port appointed in this behalf by the Local Government.

(2) After a ship has departed or proceeded on a voyage from a port so appointed, a person shall not be received on board as a native passenger except at some other port so appointed.

[Act X of 1887, s. 7; Bill of 1867, s. 268.]

Notice to be given of destination and time of sailing.

282. (1) The master, owner or agent of any ship so departing or proceeding shall give notice to an officer appointed in this behalf by the Local Government that the ship is to carry native passengers, and of her destination, and of the proposed time of sailing.

(2) The notice shall be given not less than twenty-four hours before that time in the case of a long voyage and not less than six hours in any other case.

[Act X of 1887, s. 8; Bill of 1867, s. 269]

Power to enter on and inspect ship.

283. After receiving the notice, the officer aforesaid or any person authorised by him shall be at liberty at all times to enter on the ship and inspect her and her fittings and the provisions and stores in her.

[Act X of 1887, ss. 9, 10, 11; Bill of 1867, ss. 264, 26(1), (4).]

Ship not to sail without certificate or certificates.

284. (1) A ship intended to carry native passengers shall not commence a voyage from a port appointed under section 281 unless the master holds a certificate (hereinafter called Certificate A) to the effect mentioned in sub-section (2), and, in the case of a ship proceeding on a long voyage or a short voyage, a certificate (hereinafter called Certificate B) to the effect mentioned in sub-section (3).

(2) "Certificate A" shall state—

(a) that the ship is seaworthy and properly equipped, fitted and ventilated; and

(b) in the case of a ship proceeding on a long voyage, the number of native passengers which she is capable of carrying; or

(c) in the case of a ship proceeding on a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage or an excursion voyage,—

(i) the full number of native passengers which the ship is capable of carrying during a season of fair weather and a season of foul weather, respectively, and on a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage and an excursion voyage, respectively, when fully equipped and fitted in accordance with this Part and the rules thereunder,

(ii) the number of native passengers which the ship is capable of carrying on each division of a deck during a season of fair weather and a season of foul weather, respectively, and on a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage and an excursion voyage, respectively, a plan of each such division being given on the certificate and the number of native passengers being stated on the plan, and

(iii) if the ship is to carry upper-deck passengers during a season of fair weather, that she is furnished with a double awning or other sufficient protection against the weather and with substantial bulwarks or rails and netting protected by curtains; and

(d) in the case of a ship referred to in section 291, that she has on board a medical officer licensed in accordance with the rules under this Part.

(3) "Certificate B" shall state—

(e) the voyage which the ship is to make, and the intermediate ports, if any, at which she is to touch;

(f) that she has the proper complement of officers and seamen;

(g) that food, fuel, pure water and medical stores and appliances, over and above what is necessary for the crew,

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships.—Chapter XXX.—General Provisions as to Voyages.—Sections 285-291.)

and the other things, if any, prescribed for the ship, have been placed on board, of the quality prescribed, properly packed, and sufficient to supply the native passengers on board during the voyage which the ship is to make (including such detention in quarantine as may be probable) according to the scale for the time being prescribed;

(h) that the master holds Certificate A;

(i) if the ship is to carry native passengers to any port in the Red Sea, that she is propelled principally by steam; and,

(k) such other particulars, if any, as may be prescribed.

[X of 1887, s. 9 (2);]

Port-clearance not to be granted without certificate or certificates.

285. No officer authorised to grant a port-clearance shall grant the same for a ship carrying native passengers unless the master holds a certificate or certificates granted in accordance with section 284.

[X of 1867, s. 12;]

Grant of certificates.

286. The person by whom Certificate A and Certificate B are to be granted shall be the officer appointed under section 282.

[X of 13.].

Production of certificate of survey containing particulars required for certificate A

287. Where the master of a ship produces to that officer a certificate of survey granted under Chapter XXIII or by the Board of Trade or by a British Colonial Government, in force and applicable to the voyage on which the ship is about to proceed or the service on which she is about to be employed, and any of the particulars required by section 284, sub-section (2), are certified thereby, the officer may take the certificate as evidence of those particulars, and the same may thereupon be inserted in Certificate A.

Survey of ship.

288. (1) After receiving the notice required by section 282, the officer appointed under that section may, if he thinks fit, cause the ship to be surveyed at the expense of the master or owner by competent surveyors, who shall report to him whether the ship is, in their opinion, seaworthy and properly equipped, fitted, ventilated and lighted for the voyage which she is to make:

Provided that he shall not cause a ship having a certificate of survey mentioned in section 287 to be surveyed unless, by reason of the ship having met with damage or having undergone alterations, or on other reasonable ground, he considers it likely that she may be found unseaworthy or not properly equipped, fitted, ventilated or lighted for the voyage.

(2) If the officer causes a survey to be made of a ship holding a certificate of survey mentioned in section 287, and the surveyors report that the ship is seaworthy and properly equipped, fitted, ventilated and lighted for the voyage, and that there was no reasonable ground why the officer should have thought it likely that she would be found unseaworthy, or not properly equipped, fitted, ventilated or lighted for the voyage, the expense of the survey shall be paid by the Local Government.

(3) If at the time of making a survey under this section all the prescribed equipments are not on board the ship, the officer granting Certificate A shall note thereon the deficiency and the number of native passengers proportionate to such deficiency; and the maximum number of passengers to be carried shall be reduced by such number, until the deficiency has been supplied and the fact endorsed on the certificate by the said officer.

[Act X of 1887, s. 15.]

Discretion as to grant of certificate.

289. (1) The officer authorised to grant a certificate under this Part in respect of a ship shall not grant it unless he is satisfied that she has not on board any cargo likely from its quality, quantity or mode of stowage to prejudice the health or safety of the passengers.

(2) But save as aforesaid, and subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), it shall be in the discretion of the officer to grant or withhold the certificate.

(3) In the exercise of that discretion that officer shall be subject to the control of the Local Government, and of any intermediate authority which that Government may appoint in this behalf.

[Act X of 1887, s. 16.]

Copy of certificate to be exhibited.

290. The master or owner shall post up in a conspicuous part of the ship, so as to be visible to persons on board thereof, a copy of the certificate or each of the certificates granted under this Part in respect of the ship, and shall keep the copy or copies so posted up throughout the voyage.

[Act X of 1887, s. 26; Bill of 1867, s. 267 (5).]

Certain ships to carry medical officer.

291. Every ship carrying more than four hundred native passengers from or to any port on the Coromandel Coast to or from Rangoon, or from or to Calcutta to or from Rangoon, or from or to any port in the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council to or from any port not in those territories, except ports on the western coast of India, or from or to Aden or Perim to or from any other port in the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council, and

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships.—Chapter XXX.—General Provisions as to Voyages.—Sections 292-293. Chapter XXXI.—Special Provisions as to Long Voyages.—Sections 294-296A.)

every ship carrying more than one hundred native passengers from or to any port in British India to or from any port in the Red Sea, shall have on board a medical officer licensed in accordance with the rules under this Part.

[Act X of 1887, ss. 20, 23.]

Report of deaths.

292. (1) The master of every ship carrying native passengers shall notify the date and supposed cause of death of every native passenger dying on the voyage.

(2) Such notification shall be made at the first port at which the ship calls after the occurrence of any such death, and shall be made,—

(a) in the case of a long voyage, to a person lawfully exercising Consular authority on behalf of Her Majesty at such port, or to the Chief Customs-officer thereat, or to the officer (if any) appointed there under section 282, and

(b) in the case of a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage or an excursion voyage, to such officer as the Governor General in Council may appoint in this behalf.

Report as to animals carried.

293. The master of every ship carrying native passengers and calling at any intermediate port in British India between the first port of departure and the final port of arrival shall at each such intermediate port report to the officer appointed under section 282 the number of cattle and other live animals on board which may be occupying space measured for native passengers.

CHAPTER XXXI.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO LONG VOYAGES.

[Act X of 1887, s. 21; II of 1867, s. 267 (2).]

Space to be available for native passengers.

294. Every ship carrying native passengers and performing a long voyage shall, subject to the provisions of section 326, contain in the between-decks the spaces hereinafter respectively mentioned for each such passenger:

if the ship is propelled by sails, twelve superficial and seventy-two cubic feet;

if the ship is propelled by steam, or partly by steam and partly by sails, nine superficial and fifty-four cubic feet.

(2) Every such ship shall have reserved for the use of the native passengers the upper-deck (excluding the portion set apart for the first and second class passengers and the airing space for the crew and any space which may be reserved as a hospital for the use of the passengers): Provided that, if any such ship has less than the full number of native passengers which she is authorised to carry, only so much of such upper deck need be reserved for such passengers as is proportionate to the actual number of such passengers carried.

Illustration.

If a ship can carry twelve hundred native passengers and there are only six hundred on board, half only of the upper deck need be reserved for the use of such passengers.

(3) In every such ship the height between decks and the height of any permanently covered upper deck shall not be less than six feet.

[Act X of 1887, s. ...]

Statements concerning passengers.

295. The master of a ship departing or proceeding on a long voyage from any port in British India shall sign two statements, specifying the number and the respective sexes of all the native passengers, and the number of the crew, and shall deliver them to the officer appointed under section 282, who shall thereupon, after having first satisfied himself that the numbers are correct, countersign and return to the master one of the statements.

[Act X 1887, s. ...]

Ship taking additional passengers at intermediate places.

296. (1) In either of the following cases, namely,—

(a) if after the ship has departed or proceeded on a long voyage, any additional native passengers are taken on board at a port in British India appointed under section 281 for the embarkation of such passengers, or,

(b) if the ship upon her voyage touches or arrives at any such port, having previously received on board additional native passengers at any place beyond British India, the master shall obtain a new certificate to the effect of Certificate B from the officer appointed at that port under section 282, and shall make additional statements specifying the number and the respective sexes of all the additional native passengers.

(2) All the foregoing provisions of this Part with respect to Certificate B and statements concerning native passengers shall be applicable to any certificate granted or statement made under this section.

Alteration of passenger accommodation.

296A. If after Certificate A has been granted to the master of any ship any alteration is made in the ship which has the effect of changing the number of native passengers which she is capable of carrying, as stated in such certificate in pursuance of clause (c), sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii), of section 284, the master shall, before the ship proceeds on any voyage from a port appointed under section 281, report the circumstances to the officer appointed at that port under section 282, and such officer shall alter the certificate accordingly.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships—Chapter XXXII.—Special Provisions with regard to Pilgrim Ships.—Sections 297-300.)

CHAPTER XXXII.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS WITH REGARD TO PILGRIM SHIPS.

Definitions.

297. In this Chapter,—

"pilgrim ship" means a vessel conveying Muhammadan pilgrims from or to any port in British India to or from any port in the Red Sea:

Provided that no vessel carrying passengers other than pilgrims of the lowest class and having on board pilgrims of the lowest class in a less proportion than one pilgrim for every one hundred tons of the gross tonnage of the vessel shall be subject to the provisions of this Chapter.

Explanation.—By "pilgrims of the lowest class" are meant "pilgrims who are steerage passengers:"

"pilgrim" means a Muhammadan passenger going to or returning from the Hedjaz, and, in the computation of pilgrims for any of the purposes of this Chapter, two pilgrims under the age of twelve years shall be reckoned as one pilgrim.

Notice of sailing.

297A. The notice required by section 282 shall in the case of a pilgrim ship be given at least three days before the proposed time of sailing.

Deck space and provision of hospital.

297B. (1) The proviso to section 294, sub-section (2), shall not apply to any pilgrim ship.

(2) In addition to the ordinary passenger space a hospital shall be reserved on every pilgrim ship so as to be able to accommodate five per cent. of the pilgrims embarked allowing thirty-two superficial feet per head.

[Act X of 1887, s. 25.] Ships to be propelled principally by steam.

297C. Every pilgrim ship shall be propelled principally by steam.

[Act X of 1887, ss. 27.] Ships to touch at Aden and obtain bill of health.

298. (1) Every pilgrim ship shall touch at Aden, and shall not leave that port without having obtained from the proper authority a clean bill of health.

(2) The authority at Aden empowered to grant the bill of health shall refuse to grant it if the ship has on board a greater number of pilgrims than the number allowed for the ship by or under this Chapter, and may refuse to grant it if the requirements of any rule under this Chapter are not complied with on board the ship.

Bond.

299. No officer authorised to grant port-clearances shall grant a port-clearance to any pilgrim ship unless and until the master, owner or agent of the ship and two sureties resident in British India have executed in favour of the Secretary of State for India in Council a joint and several bond, for the sum of five thousand rupees, conditioned— [Act X of 1887, s. 29.]

(a) that the ship shall touch at Aden on the outward voyage and there obtain a clean bill of health, and shall do the same on the homeward voyage if the ship continues to carry more than sixty pilgrims, and

(b) that the master and medical officer (if any) of the ship shall comply with, on the outward voyage, and also on the homeward voyage if the ship continues to carry more than sixty pilgrims, the provisions of this Chapter and of such rules relating to pilgrim ships as the Governor General in Council may make under this Chapter.

Power to direct medical inspection of passengers.

300. (1) No pilgrim shall be received on board any pilgrim ship unless and until he has been inspected, at such time and place, and in such manner, as the Local Government may fix in this behalf, by a medical officer to be appointed by that Government for the purpose. [Act X of 1887, s. 30.]

(2) If in the opinion of any officer making inspection under this section any pilgrim is suffering from cholera, choleraic indisposition or any form of suspicious diarrhœa or any dangerously infectious or contagious disease, he shall prohibit the embarkation of the pilgrim.

(3) If any such officer has reason to believe that any pilgrim, though not suffering from any dangerously infectious or contagious disease, is or has recently been in attendance upon, or otherwise in contact with, any person so suffering, he may prohibit the embarkation of the pilgrim for such period as he may think fit.

(4) All articles, which have been contaminated by persons suffering from cholera or choleraic indisposition, or any dangerously infectious or contagious disease, or are suspected of having been so contaminated, shall, before being taken on board a pilgrim ship, be disinfected under the supervision of a medical officer appointed by the Local Government for the purpose, in such manner as the Local Government shall direct.

Sanitary taxes payable by master.

300A. The master of every pilgrim ship shall be required to pay the whole amount of the sanitary taxes at the ports visited.

CHAPTER XXXIIA.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS AS TO SHORT, SHELTER-PORT AND EXCURSION VOYAGES.

[Act X of 1887, s. 18 (1), (2), (3); Bill of 1867, s. 267 (2).]

Space to be available for passengers.

301. Every ship carrying native passengers and performing a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage or an excursion voyage shall, subject to the provisions of section 326, have the spaces hereinafter respectively mentioned:—

(1) when performing a short voyage during a season of fair weather,— whether the ship is propelled by sails, or partly by steam and partly by sails, for each native passenger, nine superficial and fifty-four cubic feet on any deck;

(2) when performing a short voyage during a season of foul weather,—

if the ship is propelled by sails,— for each native passenger carried in the between-decks, twelve superficial and seventy-two cubic feet in the between-decks, and four superficial feet of airing space on the upper deck;

if the ship is propelled by steam, or partly by steam and partly by sails,— for each native passenger, seven superficial and forty-two cubic feet;

(3) when performing a shelter-port voyage during a season of fair weather,— for each native passenger, seven superficial and forty-two cubic feet on any deck;

(4) when performing a shelter-port voyage during a season of foul weather,— if the ship is propelled by sails,— for each native passenger, nine superficial and fifty-four cubic feet;

if the ship is propelled by steam, or partly by steam and partly by sails,— for each native passenger, seven superficial and forty-two cubic feet;

(5) when performing an excursion voyage,— for each native passenger, six superficial and thirty-six cubic feet on any deck:

Provided that, in the case of a ship performing a short voyage or a shelter-port voyage during a season of foul weather—

(a) if native passengers are carried in more than one deck below the main or tonnage deck, the ship shall have on each such additional deck fourteen superficial and eighty-four cubic feet of space for each such passenger;

(b) the spaces hereinbefore prescribed for the carriage of native passengers shall be sheltered by a permanent iron or wooden deck-covering and by solid bulwarks; and

(c) there shall be reserved for the use of the native passengers the uppermost deck or decks (excluding the portion set apart for the first and second class passengers and the airing space for the crew, and any space which may be reserved as a hospital for the use of the passengers): Provided that, if any such ship has less than the full number of native passengers which she is authorised to carry, only so much of such upper-deck or decks need be reserved for such passengers as is proportionate to the number of such passengers carried:

Illustration.

If a ship can carry twelve hundred native passengers and there are only six hundred on board, half only of the uppermost deck or decks need be reserved for the use of such passengers;

(d) in every such ship the height between decks and the height of any permanently covered upper deck shall not be less than six feet.

[Act X of 1887, s. 18 (4).]

Upper-deck passengers.

302. A ship performing a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage or an excursion voyage during a season of fair weather shall not carry upper-deck passengers unless she is furnished with substantial bulwarks or rails and netting protected by curtains and a double awning or with other sufficient protection against the weather.

[Act X 1887, s. 11 (c), s. 19; Bill of 1867 s. 273.]

Food, &c., to be carried, awnings to be spread and statement as to passengers to be furnished.

303. (1) The master of every ship proceeding on a short voyage, a shelter-port voyage or an excursion voyage shall be bound—

(a) to keep awnings spread over all exposed decks at sea at all times when the weather permits; and

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships.—Chapter XXXIII.—Penalties.—Section 304-310.)

(b) to furnish to the officer appointed under section 282 at every port in British India at which the ship touches a statement in a form sanctioned by the Local Government, showing the number of native passengers taken on board at the last port at which the ship touched, the number to be landed at the port at which the statement is furnished and the number to be conveyed to the next port.

(2) The master of every ship proceeding on a short voyage shall be bound—

(a) to carry food, fuel, pure water and medical stores, and appliances, over and above what is necessary for the crew, and the other things, if any, prescribed for the ship, of the quality prescribed, properly packed and sufficient to supply the native passengers on board during the voyage which the ship is to make (including such detention in quarantine as may be probable) according to the scale for the time being prescribed;

(b) to certify to such officer at each port as aforesaid that the several articles mentioned or referred to in clause (a) have been placed on board in accordance with that clause.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

PENALTIES.

[Act X of 1887, s. 31; Bill of 1867, s. 277.]

Penalty for ship unlawfully departing or receiving native passengers on board.

304. If any ship departs or proceeds on a voyage from, or discharges native passengers at, any port or place in British India in contravention of section 281, sub-section (1), or section 284, or if any person is received as a native passenger on board a ship in contravention of section 281, sub-section (2), or if any native passenger is carried on board a ship in contravention of section 288, sub-section (3), the master or owner shall, for every native passenger carried in the ship, or for every native passenger so discharged, received or carried on board, be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or to both, and the ship, if found within two years in any port or place in British India, may be seized and detained by a Chief Customs-officer until the penalties incurred under this Part by her master or owner have been adjudicated, and the payment of the fine imposed on him under this Part, with all costs, has been enforced, under the provisions of this Part:

Provided that the aggregate term of imprisonment awarded under this section shall not exceed one year.

Penalty for opposing entry on or inspection of ship.

[Act X of 1887, s. 32; Bill of 1867, s. 278.]

305. If any person impedes or refuses to allow any entry or inspection authorised by or under this Part, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

Penalty for not exhibiting copy of certificates.

[Act X of 1887, s. 33.]

306. If any master or owner without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, fails to comply with the requirements of section 290, with respect to the posting of copies of certificates, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or to both.

Penalty for sailing without medical officer.

[Act X of 1887, s. 42.]

307. If any ship referred to in section 291 has not on board a medical officer as required by that section, the master shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

Penalty for failing to notify death.

[Act X of 1887, s. 34.]

308. If any master without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, fails to notify any death, as required by section 292, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

Penalty for failing to make a report as to animals carried.

309. If any master fails to make a report, as required by section 293, as to animals carried on board his ship and occupying space measured for native passengers, or wilfully makes any false statement in any such report, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every animal occupying such space and not duly reported.

Penalty for not complying with requirements as to statements concerning passengers and certain other matters.

[Act X of 1887, s. 34.]

310. If any master fails to comply with any of the requirements of section 295, as to statements concerning native passengers, or wilfully makes any false entry or note in or on any such statement, or without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, fails to obtain any such new certificate, or to make any such statement of the number of additional native passengers, as is mentioned in section 296,

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships.—Chapter XXXIII.—Penalties.—Sections 311-318.)

he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

[Act X of 1887, s. 41.]

Penalty for carrying native passengers to or from the Red Sea in ship not propelled by steam.

311. If any ship carrying native passengers from or to any port in British India to or from any port in the Red Sea is not propelled principally by steam as required by section 297C., the master and owner shall each be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

[Act X of 1887, s. 43.]

Penalty for not obtaining bill of health at Aden.

312. If, in the case of a ship to which section 298 applies, the master, without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, fails to touch at Aden, or leaves that port without having obtained a bill of health under that section, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or to both.

[Act X of 1887, s. 44.]

Penalty on master or medical officer of certain ships disobeying rules.

313. If, in the case of a ship to which section 298 applies, the master or the medical officer, if any, of the ship, without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, breaks or omits or neglects to obey any rule under this Part applicable to the ship, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

[Act X of 1887, s. 45.]

Penalty on master receiving passenger in contravention of section 300.

314. If the master of any ship to which a direction under section 300 applies knowingly receives on board the ship any person in contravention of that section, or of any prohibition made thereunder, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees for each person so received, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

Penalty for contravention of section 303.

315. (1) If any master fails to comply with any of the requirements of section 303, sub-section (2), clause (a), as to the carrying of food, fuel, water, medical stores and appliances and other prescribed things, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(2) If any master fails to comply with the requirement of section 303, sub-section (1), clause (a), as to the spreading of awnings, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(3) If any master fails to comply with any of the requirements of section 303, sub-section (1), clause (b), as to furnishing a statement concerning native passengers, or wilfully makes any false entry in any such statement, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and no officer authorised to grant a port-clearance for the ship shall grant the same unless and until the master has furnished a statement, or an amended statement, as the case may be, of the nature required by the said clause.

(4) If any master fails to give the certificate required by section 303, sub-section (2), clause (b), or wilfully makes any false entry or note in or on any such certificate, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

Penalty for fraudulent alteration in ship after certificate obtained or given.

[Act X of 1887, s. 35; Bill of 1867, s. 281.]

316. If any master, after having obtained any of the certificates mentioned in section 284 or section 296, or after having given a certificate under section 303, sub-section (2), clause (b), fraudulently does or suffers to be done anything whereby the certificate becomes inapplicable to the altered state of the ship, her passengers or other matters to which the certificate relates, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or to both.

Penalty for not reporting alterations of passenger accommodation.

316A. If any master fails to make a report as required by section 296A, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Penalty for failing to supply native passengers with prescribed provisions.

[Act X of 1887, s. 36; Bill of 1867, s. 282.]

317. (1) If any master, without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, omits to supply to any native passenger the prescribed allowance of food, fuel and water, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every passenger who has sustained detriment by the omission.

(2) The whole of any fine imposed on the master of a pilgrim ship under this section shall be paid to the complainant pilgrim or pilgrims who have suffered by the neglect.

Penalty for having excessive number of native passengers on board.

[Act X of 1887, s. 37; Bill of 1867, ss. 279, 280.]

318. (1) If any ship carrying native passengers to or from any port in British India has on board a number of native passengers which is greater than the number allowed for the ship by or under this Part, the owner and master shall, for every native passenger over and above that number, be each liable to fine which may extend to twenty rupees, and the master shall further be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one week in respect of each such passenger:

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships.—Chapter XXXIII.—Penalties.—Sections 319-321.) Chapter XXXIV.—Supplemental Provisions.—Sections 322-323.)

Provided that the aggregate term of imprisonment awarded under this section shall not exceed six months.

(2) Any officer authorised in this behalf by the Local Government may cause all native passengers over and above the number allowed by or under this Part to disembark, and may forward them to any port at which they may have contracted to land, and recover the cost of so forwarding them from the master or owner of the ship as if the cost were a fine imposed under this Part; and a certificate under the hand of that officer shall be conclusive proof of the amount of the cost aforesaid.

[Act X of 1887, s. 38.]

Penalty for bringing native passengers from foreign port in excess of authorised number.

319. If any ship carrying native passengers from any port or place beyond British India to any port in British India has on board a number of native passengers greater either than the number allowed for the ship by or under this Part or than the number allowed by the license or certificate, if any, granted in respect of the ship at her port or place of departure, the master and owner shall, for every native passenger in excess of that number, be each liable to fine which may extend to twenty rupees.

[Act X of 1887, s. 39; Bill of 1867, s. 283.]

Penalty for landing native passenger at a place other than that at which he has contracted to land.

320. If any master lands any native passenger at any port or place other than the port or place at which the passenger may have contracted to land, unless with his previous consent, or unless the landing is made necessary by perils of the sea or other unavoidable accident, the master shall for every native passenger so landed be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or to both.

Penalty for making voyage in contravention of contract with passengers.

321. If any ship, otherwise than by reason of perils of the sea or unavoidable cause or accident, touches at any port or place in contravention of any express or implied contract or engagement with the native passengers with respect to the voyage which the ship was to make and the time which that voyage was to occupy, whether the contract or engagement was made by public advertisement or otherwise, the master and owner shall each be liable to fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or to imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or to both.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS.

[Act X of 1887, s. 51; Bill of 1867, s. 274.]

Information to be sent to ports of embarkation and discharge.

322. (1) The Chief Customs-officer, or other officer, if any, appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, at any port in British India at which a ship carrying native passengers touches or arrives, shall, with advertence to the provisions of this Part, send any particulars which he may deem important respecting the ship, and the native passengers carried therein, to the officer appointed under section 282 at the port from which the ship commenced her voyage, and to the officer appointed under the said section at any other port in British India where the passengers or any of them embarked or are to be discharged.

(2) The Chief Customs-officer or other officer, if any, appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, at any port in British India at which a ship to which this Part applies touches or arrives, may enter on the ship and inspect her in order to ascertain whether the provisions of this Part as to the number of native passengers and other matters have been complied with.

[Act X of 1887, s. 52; Bill of 1867, s. 275.]

Certain documents to be admissible in evidence.

323. In any proceeding for the adjudication of any penalty incurred under this Part, any document purporting to be a report of such particulars as are referred to in section 322, sub-section (1), or a copy of the proceedings of any Court of Justice duly authenticated, and also any like document purporting to be made and signed by any person lawfully exercising consular authority on behalf of Her Majesty in any foreign port, shall be admissible in evidence, if it appears to have been officially transmitted to any officer at or near the place where the proceeding under this Part is had.

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VII.—Native Passenger-ships.—Chapter XXXIV.—Supplemental Provisions. —Section 324-328.)

[Act X of 1887, s. 53(1), (2), (3).]

Power to make rules.

324. (1) The Governor General in Council may make rules to regulate, in the case of any ship or class of ships, all or any of the following matters:—

[Bill of 1867, s. 266.]

(a) the scale on which food, fuel and water are to be supplied to native passengers or to any class or classes of native passengers, and the quality of the food, fuel and water;

(b) the medical stores and other appliances and fittings to be provided on board for maintaining health, cleanliness and decency;

(c) the licensing and appointment of medical officers in cases where they are required by section 201 to be carried;

(d) the anchors and cables to be provided on board;

(e) the instruments for purposes of navigation to be supplied;

(f) the apparatus for ventilation and for the purpose of extinguishing fires on board, and the precautions to be taken to prevent such fires;

(g) the provision of boats and other appliances for saving life and of means for making signals of distress, and the supply of lights inextinguishable in water and fitted for attachment to life-buoys:

(h) the area to be deducted from the space measured for native passengers when live animals are carried in such space;

(i) the functions of the master, medical officer (if any) and other officers of the ship during the voyage;

(j) the access of between-decks passengers to the upper deck; and

(k) generally, to carry out the purposes of this Part.

(2) The Local Government may make rules to regulate, in the case of any ship or class of ships,—

(l) the local limits within which, and the time and mode at and in which, native passengers are to be embarked or discharged at any port appointed under section 281 in that behalf; and

(m) the time within which the ship or any ship of the class is to depart or proceed on her voyage after commencing to take native passengers on board.

(3) In making a rule under this section the authority making it may direct that a breach of it shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and, when the breach is a continuing breach, with a further fine which may extend to twenty rupees for every day after the first during which the breach continues.

Supply by passengers of their own food.

325. If any officer appointed in this behalf by the Local Government is satisfied that a native passenger has brought on board a ship for his own use food of the quality and in the quantity for the time being prescribed, the requirements of this Part respecting the supply of food for native passengers shall not apply so far as regards the supply of food for that passenger.

[Act X of 1887, s. 17.]

Power to declare space to be available for native passengers.

326. The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare in the case of any ship or class of ships and for all or any voyages the number of superficial and cubic feet of space to be available for native passengers; and the order shall be alternative to, or override, as the Governor General in Council may direct, the provisions of sections 294 and 301 so far as they apply to that ship or class of ships.

[Act X of 1887, s. 56.]

Appointment of officers.

327. The Local Government shall appoint such persons as it may think fit to exercise and perform the powers and duties which are conferred and imposed by this Part or may be conferred and imposed thereunder.

[Act X of 1887, s. 54; Bill of 1867, s. 265.]

Authority to institute proceedings for penalties.

328. The penalties to which masters and owners of ships are made liable by this Part shall be enforced only on information laid at the instance of officers appointed to grant certificates under this Part, or, at any port or place where there is no such officer, at the instance of the Chief Customs-officer.

[Act X of 1887, s. 48; Bill of 1867, s. 293.]

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VIII.—Chapter XXXV.—Coast-light Dues.—Sections 329-335)

PART VIII.

CHAPTER XXXV.

COAST-LIGHT DUES.

Preliminary.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 3.]

Definition of "voyage."

329. In this Chapter, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context, "voyage" means the whole distance between a ship's place of departure and her final place of arrival; but the return of a ship from any place shall, notwithstanding the terms of any charter-party, be deemed a distinct voyage.

Levy and Recovery of Dues.

[Act IX of 1879, ss. 4, 6.] 1894, s.

Dues chargeable.

330. For the purpose of establishing and maintaining coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal, a toll, hereinafter called "coast-light dues," shall be paid in respect of every ship, whether British or foreign, of the burden of fifty tons or upwards making any voyage mentioned in Schedule VIII, at the rate of one anna and six pies per ton of burden:

Provided that such ship sails from, or enters during the course of, or at the termination of, such voyage, a port in British India, or takes in, or discharges, cargo off the coast of British India:

Provided further that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India,—

(a) reduce, and again raise to an amount not exceeding one anna and six pies per ton of burden, the rate of coast-light dues payable in respect of all ships or any particular class of ships, or (b) abolish the coast-light dues payable in respect of all ships or any particular class of ships.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 5.]

Dues when payable.

331. Coast-light dues chargeable under section 330 shall become due and payable—

(a) in the case of a ship clearing out of a port in British India upon any such voyage as aforesaid—previous to the grant of any port-clearance;

(b) in the case of a ship entering a port in British India in the course, or at the termination, of any such voyage as aforesaid—immediately upon her entering such port:

Provided that the said dues shall not be levied more than once on any ship in the course of the same voyage.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 7.] Cf. 1894, s. 671 (2).

Collection of dues.

332. The Customs-collector shall collect the coast-light dues, and shall grant to the person paying the same a voucher in writing under his hand, setting forth the name of his office, the port at which the coast-light dues are paid, the amount so paid, the name, tonnage and other proper description of the ship in respect of which such payment is made, and the voyage on which she is or has been bound.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 8.]

Master to report arrival of ship.

333. Within twenty-four hours after the arrival within a port of any ship chargeable with coast-light dues, the master of the ship shall give notice of such arrival to the Customs-collector.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 9.]

Ascertainment of tonnage of ship chargeable with dues.

334. In order to ascertain the tonnage of any ship chargeable with coast-light dues, the following rules shall be observed:—

(1) (a) if the ship is registered in the United Kingdom or in British India or any other British Possession, the Customs-collector may require the owner or master of the ship or any person having possession of her certificate of registry to produce such certificate for inspection.

(b) If the owner or master or such person as aforesaid neglects or refuses to produce such certificate, or otherwise to satisfy the Customs-collector as to what is the true tonnage of the ship in respect of which the coast-light dues are payable, he shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, and the Customs-collector may cause the ship to be measured, and the tonnage thereof to be ascertained, according to the mode of measurement for the time being prescribed by or under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, for ascertaining the tonnage of British ships; and in such case the owner or master of the ship shall also be liable to pay the expenses of the measurement.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(2) If the ship is not registered in the United Kingdom or in British India or some other British Possession, and the owner or master thereof fails to satisfy the Customs-collector as to what is her true tonnage according to the mode of measurement for the time being prescribed by or under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, for ascertaining the tonnage of British ships, the Customs-collector shall cause the ship to be measured, and the tonnage thereof to be ascertained, according to the mode aforesaid; and in such case the owner or master of the ship shall be liable to pay the expenses of the measurement.

57 & 58 Vict., c. 60.

(3) If the ship is a ship of which the tonnage cannot be ascertained according to the mode of measurement mentioned in clauses (1) and (2), the tonnage of the ship shall be determined by the Customs-collector on such an estimate as may seem to him to be just.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 10.] Cf. 1894, s. 671 (2).

On refusal to pay dues or expenses, the Collector may distrain and sell.

335. If the master of any ship refuses or neglects to pay to the Customs-collector on demand by him the amount of any dues or expenses payable in respect of the ship under this Chapter, the Customs-collector may distrain or arrest the ship and the tackle, apparel and furniture belonging thereto, or any part thereof, and detain the same until the amount of such dues or expenses is paid;

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Part VIII.—Chapter XXXV.—Coast-light Dues.—Sections 336-340.

Part IX.—Chapter XXXVI.—Miscellaneous.—Sections 341-343.)

and in case any part of such dues or expenses, or of the costs of the distress or arrest, or of the keeping of the same, remains unpaid for the space of five days next after any such distress or arrest is so made, the Customs-collector may cause the ship or other thing so distrained or arrested to be sold, and with the proceeds of such sale may satisfy such dues, expenses and costs (including the costs of sale) remaining unpaid, and shall render the surplus (if any) to the master of the ship upon demand.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 11,] Cf. 1894, s. 671 (2).

No port-clearance to be granted until dues, etc., are paid.

336. No officer authorised to grant a port-clearance shall grant the same for a ship to which this Chapter applies until her master or some other person has paid, or secured to the satisfaction of such officer, the amount of all dues, expenses and costs with which the ship is chargeable under this Chapter, and of any fine to which any person is liable for anything done by him in contravention of this Chapter.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 12.]

Master to specify on demand voyage on which ship is bound.

337. The master of any ship departing from or entering any port in British India upon, or in the course of, or at the termination of any voyage, shall, upon the demand of the Customs-collector, specify upon what voyage she is or has been bound.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 13.]

Penalty for evading payment of dues, etc.

338. If the master of any ship evades, or attempts to evade, the payment of any coast-light dues, expenses or costs payable in respect of the ship under this Chapter, he shall be liable to fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 14.]

Magistrate to decide disputes.

339. (1) If any dispute arises as to whether any ship is chargeable with any coast-light dues, expenses or costs under this Chapter, or as to the amount of such dues, expenses or costs, such dispute shall, upon application made in that behalf by either of the disputing parties, be heard and determined in the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay by a Presidency Magistrate, and elsewhere by any Sub-Divisional Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class.

(2) All decisions under this section shall be final.

Statement of Receipts and Expenditure.

[Act IX of 1879, s. 16.] Cf. 1894, s. 675.

Statement of receipts and expenditure to be published.

340. The Governor General in Council shall publish annually in the Gazette of India, as soon after the first day of April as may be, a statement showing the amount received on account of coast-light dues during the year ending on the thirty-first day of March last preceding, and the amount expended during the same period on the establishment and maintenance of coast-lights in the eastern part of the Bay of Bengal.

PART IX.

CHAPTER XXXVI.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Certain persons to be deemed "public servants."

341. The following persons shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code, namely:—

[Act VII of 1880, s. 50; Act V of 1883, s. 6 (4) (added by Act VI of 1891, s. 9), s. 14 (3); Act VII of 1884, ss. 9 (3), 37(3).] Cf. 1894, s. 696 (2).

(a) every surveyor appointed under section 189,

(b) every judge, assessor, officer or surveyor acting under Chapter XXIV,

(c) every person appointed under section 259, sub-section (1), to report information as to casualties,

XLV of 1860.

(d) every officer authorised under section 267, sub-section (1), to enter a ship, and all persons whom he calls to his aid, and

(e) every person making an investigation under section 271.

Suspension and removal of officers.

342. Any officer or surveyor appointed under this Act may be suspended or removed by the authority which appointed him.

[Act I of 1859, s. 3; Act VII of 1880, s. 11, s. 39 (am. by Act XVII of 1891, s. 4), s. 54, s. 81. Act VII of 1884, s. 9 (2).]

Provisions with respect to rules.

343. (1) The power to make rules under this Act is subject (except in the case of rules made under section 30 or section 268) to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication in such manner as the Governor General in Council may direct, and in the case of rules made under section 176 or section 204 the draft shall not be taken into consideration for six months after such publication.

[Act VII of 1880, s. 23, s. 40 (am. by Act XVII of 1891, s. 4), s. 67, s. 68; Act VII of 1884, s. 42; Act X of 1887, s. 53 (2), (4), and see Act I of 1887, s. 6.]

(2) A rule made by a Local Government under this Act shall not take effect until it has been sanctioned by the Governor General in Council and published in the local official Gazette.

(3) A rule made by the Governor General in Council under this Act shall not take effect until it has been published in the Gazette of India.

(4) The publication in the Gazette of a rule purporting to be made under this Act shall be conclusive proof that the rule has been duly made and sanctioned.

Deposition of absent witness.

346. (1) Whenever, in the course of any legal proceeding under this Act instituted at any place in British India before any Court or Magistrate or before any person authorised by law or by consent of parties to receive evidence, the testimony of any witness is required in relation to the subject-matter, and the defendant or the person accused, as the case may be, after being allowed a reasonable opportunity for so doing, does not produce the witness before the Court or Magistrate, any deposition previously made by the witness in relation to the same subject-matter before any Court, Justice or Magistrate in Her Majesty's dominions (including all parts of British India other than those subject to the same Local Government as the place where the proceeding is instituted), or before any British Consular officer elsewhere, shall be admissible in evidence—

(a) if the deposition is authenticated by the signature of the presiding officer of the Court, or of the Justice, Magistrate or Consular officer before whom it was made, and

(b) if the defendant or the person accused had an opportunity, by himself or his agent, of cross-examining the witness, and

(c) if the proceeding be criminal, on proof that the deposition was made in the presence of the person accused:

Provided that, when such cross-examination has taken place, it shall be recorded as part of the deposition.

(2) It shall not be necessary in any case to prove the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed any such deposition; and a certificate by such person that the defendant or the person accused had an opportunity of cross-examining the witness, and that the deposition, if made in a criminal proceeding, was made in the presence of the person accused, shall, unless the contrary be proved, be sufficient evidence that he had that opportunity and that it was so made.

Levy of wages, &c., by distress of moveable property.

347. When an order for the payment of any wages or other money is made by a Superintendent of a Mercantile Marine Office under section 87 or by a Magistrate under section 89, and the money is not paid at the time or in the manner directed, the sum mentioned in the order, with such further sum as may be thereby awarded for costs, shall be levied by distress and sale of the moveable property of the person directed to pay the same, under a warrant to be issued for that purpose by a Magistrate.

[Act I of 1859, ss. 44, 56; Bill of 1867, ss. 155, 168; Bill of 1882, ss. 55, 68.]

Levy of wages, fines, &c., by distress of ship.

348. Where any Court or Magistrate has power to make an order under this Act directing payment to be made of any seaman's wages, fine, or other sum of money, then, if the person so directed to pay the same is the master or owner of a ship, and the same is not paid at the time or in the manner directed by the order, the Court or Magistrate may, in addition to any other power it or he may have for the purpose of compelling payment, by warrant direct the amount remaining unpaid to be levied by distress and sale of the ship, and the tackle, apparel and furniture thereof.

[Act I of 1859, s. 113; Act VII of 1884, s. 40; Act X of 1887, s. 46 (2); Bill of 1867, s. 291; Bill of 1882, s. 155.] Cf. 1894, s. 693.

Application of fines.

349. A Magistrate imposing a fine under this Act may, if he thinks fit, direct the whole or any part thereof to be applied in compensating any person for any detriment which he may have sustained by the act or default in respect of which the fine is imposed, or in or towards payment of the expenses of the prosecution.

SCHEDULE VI.

DECLARATION BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT OF THE UNITED KINGDOM OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND AND THE GOVERNMENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC, WITH REFERENCE TO THE DISPOSAL OF THE PROCEEDS OF WRECKS ON THEIR RESPECTIVE COASTS.

[Act VII of 1880, Sch. (added by Act VI of 1891, s. 8.)]

(See section 249.)

The Government of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, and the Government of the French Republic, desiring to regulate by a new Agreement questions relative to the disposal of the proceeds of wrecks on the coasts of the two States, have agreed to replace the Declaration signed at London on the 16th June, 1879, by the following arrangements :—

ARTICLE I.

When any ship belonging to the subjects of one of the two Contracting States is wrecked or stranded on the coast of the other, the competent local authorities shall, with as little delay as possible, bring the fact to the knowledge of the Consul General, Consul, Vice-Consul or Consular Agent nearest to the spot where the wreck or stranding has taken place.

ARTICLE II.

All operations relative to the salvage of British ships which may be wrecked or stranded on the coasts of France shall be directed by the Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls or Consular Agents of Great Britain, and reciprocally

The Indian Merchant Shipping Bill, 1895.

(Schedule VI.—Declaration between the Government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Government of the French Republic with reference to the disposal of the proceeds of Wrecks on their respective Coasts.)

the French Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls and Consular Agents shall direct all operations relative to the salvage of ships of their nation wrecked or stranded on the coasts of Great Britain.

ARTICLE III.

If the owners of the ship and cargo, or their duly authorised representatives, shall be present and shall claim it, the Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls and Consular Agents shall hand over to them the conduct of the salvage operations after requiring the deposit of the ship's papers, as well as the reimbursement of the expenses already defrayed, and a sufficient guarantee for those incurred before the operations were handed over, and which may not have been already settled.

ARTICLE IV.

The intervention of the local authorities shall only take place in the two countries for the purpose of assisting the Consular authority, of maintaining order, of securing the interests of the salvors if they are strangers to the shipwrecked crews, and of assuring the due execution of the arrangements to be carried out for the entry and departure of the merchandise saved.

In the absence, and until the arrival, of the Consuls General, Consuls, Vice-Consuls or Consular Agents, the local authorities shall, moreover, take all necessary measures for the protection of the persons and for the preservation of the articles which shall have been saved from the wreck.

This intervention shall not give rise to any charges, with the exception of those which the salvage operations and the protection of the articles saved shall have rendered necessary, and those to which national ships would, under similar circumstances, be liable. These charges shall be paid according to the circumstances of the case, either by the Agents of the Consular service, or by their owners or their proxies.

In case absence, sickness or any other cause should prevent the Agents of the Consular service from seeing to the operations and the management of the salvage, the local authorities who may be charged with the operations and management in question shall be bound to remit to the aforesaid Agents the ship's papers and the net proceeds of the ship and the cargo.

ARTICLE V.

The merchandise and articles saved shall not be liable to any customs-duties, unless they are intended for home consumption, in which case they shall pay the same duties as they would have had to pay if they had been imported in national vessels.

ARTICLE VI.

The stipulations of the present Declaration shall be applicable to all the Colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty, excepting to those hereinafter named, that is to say, except to—

India.	New South Wales.
The Dominion of Canada.	Victoria.
Newfoundland.	Queensland.
The Cape.	Tasmania.
Natal.	South Australia.
	Western Australia.

New Zealand.

Provided always that the stipulations of the present Declaration shall be made applicable to any of the above-named Colonies or foreign possessions on whose behalf notice to that effect shall have been given by Her Britannic Majesty's Representative to the French Republic within one year from the date of the signature of the present Declaration.

The stipulations of the present Declaration shall be applicable to all the Colonies and foreign possessions of France.

ARTICLE VII.

The present Declaration shall come into operation three months after the date of its signature, and shall remain in force until the expiration of one year from the day on which either party may give notice of its intention to terminate it.

In witness whereof, the undersigned plenipotentiaries, His Excellency the Earl of Lytton, Ambassador of Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India, and His Excellency M. Eugene Spuller, Minister for Foreign Affairs, have signed the present Declaration, and have affixed thereto their seals.

Done at Paris, this twenty-third day of October, 1889.

(The remaining portion of the debate in Council on the 2nd March, 1895, regarding the Public Demands Recovery Act, 1880, Amendment Bill.)

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT moved that clause (f) of section 7 be omitted, and that the necessary alterations be made in other parts of the Bill. He said:—

"Under the law as it at present exists, the certificate procedure may be had recourse to for arrears of rent due to estates under the Court of Wards, and managers of estates under the Court of Wards have for many years past applied to the Collector for certificates for realization of arrears of rent. I am not sure that the result of this practice has always been either successful or what is desirable. It has been my experience in several districts that managers have taken undue advantage of this facility in collecting rents, and that tahsildars have not exerted themselves as they would if they had not the advantage of this procedure. In several districts, year after year, thousands of requisitions were sent by managers to the Collector for realizing rents from raiyats which it was the duty of the manager to realize, but which he did not exert himself to realize. And the result was that as the Collector had charge of the property, he had to make the certificates in the way laid down by the law. Some years ago an order was passed by the Government that certificates should not be made with regard to rents due to any estates unless such estates had been surveyed and settled. The result is that in most parts of the estates managed by the Court of Wards, the certificate procedure is not now followed. There are something like 8 or 10 such estates in the Midnapore district, and in Burdwan there is the very large estate of the Burdwan Raj under the Court of Wards. Very small portions of these estates have been surveyed and settled, and the managers are therefore trying to realize rents without the help of the certificate procedure. I do not think the result has been any worse than in previous years, and this shows that managers can realize rents without that procedure.

"I therefore submit that it is unnecessary to invest managers of Court of Wards' estates with the power of sending requisitions to the Collector for the collection of arrears under the certificate procedure. I do not think, strictly speaking, rents due to such estates can be called public demands. They are not rents due to the Government, but they are rents due to private zamindars, whose estates we are managing for the time being, and they are being realized by managers who are paid out of the proceeds of the estate. They are not public revenue in any sense of the word, and the principle upon which we have recourse to the certificate procedure to realize Government demands does not apply, I humbly think, to such classes of demands. The principle I understand is that, when money is shown in public books as due to the Government, there is very little doubt as to the amount being due, and therefore it is unnecessary to go to the Civil Court for the realisation of the amount, and a simple declaration of the Government that the sum is due may be held to be tantamount to a Civil Court decree. I do not think that this principle can apply to rents due to a private zamindar from his raiyats; he depends upon a large number of tahsildars who are there before we take charge of an estate, and who continue making collections after we take charge, and on whom we have to depend to a large extent. I do not think we can be as certain in this class of demands as we can be with regard to demands due to Government; and I therefore object to this procedure being followed for the recovery of such demands. And our recent experience has shown that it is quite unnecessary, because managers can do the work very well without the aid of the certificate procedure."

The Hon'ble Mr. Buckland said:—"I am not prepared to accept this amendment on behalf of Government. The hon'ble gentleman who has just spoken is perhaps not aware that this question has been debated more than once in this Council. It has been the subject of a number of reports, and comes before us with a long history attached to it. If the hon'ble gentleman before entering upon this question had only referred to the proceedings of this Council which took place when Act VII (B.C.) of 1880 was being passed, he would have seen a great deal of discussion upon this very point, namely, whether the principle of the certificate procedure should be applied to the recovery of arrears of rents in estates under the management of the Court of Wards. It becomes almost painful to have to go over the same ground over and over again. When the Sale Law Bill and this Bill were first circulated for criticism some years ago, the High Court went into this question and made some remarks about it. The Judges considered in paragraph 10 of their letter of the 29th August, 1891, that the system, i.e., the certificate procedure, should no longer be allowed to prevail in respect of rents due upon private estates under the management of the Courts of Wards or otherwise in the hands of the Collector. The Board of Revenue, I think, fully answered everything which had been said by the High Court, and before the Government referred the present Bill to the Government of India in 1893, we examined carefully the proceedings of this Council at the time the Certificate Act was passed. It will probably save the time of the Council on the whole if I read a rather long extract from our letter to the Government of India, because there we take care to sum up as precisely as possible all that has been said on the subject. We said:—

"The High Court's argument was mainly directed against the inclusion in the class of public demands of rents due in estates under the management of the Court of Wards, and the Lieutenant Governor asked the Board whether there was any reason why the conditions suggested by the High Court should not be fulfilled in the case of Wards' estates.

The Board's reply (in paragraphs 7-12 of their letter of 12th September, 1893) is that demands on behalf of the Court of Wards partake but slightly of the character of claims made on behalf of a private individual: such estates are under Government officials, their records are open to inspection, and their accounts are audited, so that the theoretical objection to the use of the certificate procedure hardly exists in case of such estates more than in respect of Government estates.

"'An estate,' the Board observe 'under the Court of Wards is not liable to sale for arrears of revenue, and as the demands due to it from tenure-holders, and raiyats are often so numerous and for so small an amount as to make a resort to the Civil Court in every case impossible, the management of the estate could not be carried on without the employment of a summary procedure. It is also the fact that the management of a Government estate, as regards the nature of the demand, is on all fours with that of an estate under the Court of Wards; yet the High Court have not objected to the employment of the certificate procedure in respect of demands due from the raiyats on a Government estate.'

"The principle which is now criticised is not a new one, but has been established for a long period of years. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks it unnecessary to go over the whole history of this matter, but he would invite a reference inter alia (1) to Section XIX of Regulation VII of 1799, which rendered a certain stringent procedure, authorized for the recovery of arrears of rent due to proprietors and farmers, applicable to the Managers of Wards' estates and to joint undivided estates, as well as to Collectors holding lands in attachment or under khas collection; (2) to the proceedings in the Bengal Legislative Council of the 13th and 20th March and 3rd April, 1880, in connection with the Bill which became Act VII (B.C.) of 1880; (3) to the Hon'ble Mr. O'Kinealy's speech in Council on the 20th March, when he 'agreed with the Hon'ble Advocate-General and Mr. Dampier that since the beginning of the British rule in India, realizations in rent in Wards' estates were subject to exactly the same procedure as that of Government estates, and the reason was that the Government having taken charge of the estates and looked after them, considered itself justified in recovering amounts due to the estate by the same process as in Government estates;' (4) to the fact that, on the 3rd April, 1880, when the Hon'ble Babu Kristo Das Pal, in Council, moved that the certificate procedure should not be applicable to the realization of rents in Wards' estates, his motion was negatived almost unanimously, mainly on the ground that Government should be allowed such powers by reason of its fiduciary interest in Wards' estates. The principle had been admitted when section 63 of Act IX (B.C.) of 1879 was passed; it was extended to the recovery of interest and costs by section 10 of Act III (B.C.) of 1881, and the Lieutenant-Governor does not see that any facts have come to light which require a reversal of this policy. It is true that there are cases where estates when first taken over are found to have their accounts in confusion, and the Board have, at the Lieutenant-Governor's request, issued orders that the certificate procedure is not to be employed in a Ward's estate until a settlement and record of rights have been made therein, and that no certificate shall issue in any case where a question of right or title is involved."

"That sums up the history of the discussion upon the question as shortly as it can be done. As regards Wards' estates, the Government occupies very much the same position as it does with regard to estates belonging to the Government. It is absolutely responsible for the good management of Wards' estates as much as it is responsible for its own property. It has been held hitherto that without this summary procedure rents could not be properly collected. The hon'ble gentleman referred to some Wards' estates in the Midnapore and Burdwan districts under his supervision, which showed that managers were trying to do their best. I trust that all managers would try to exert themselves to collect rents whatever the law might be; but it is much too early to say, in fact we have absolutely no information before us, whether those managers are successful or whether they will fail. We know that this procedure has been found necessary elsewhere to enable the Board of Revenue and the Court of Wards to render a proper account of their stewardship, and I am not prepared on behalf of the Government to surrender it at present."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose said:—"Although I have an amendment on the same subject which is in the nature of a compromise between the amendment of my hon'ble friend and the provision contained in the Bill, I shall be very glad if this amendment is carried. I entirely agree with my hon'ble friend that it is difficult to see how rents due to private estates under the management of the Court of Wards or of the Revenue authorities can properly be said to be public demands, and I do not see any reason why a summary procedure, which is only justifiable in the case of debts due to the Crown, and which are easily and correctly ascertainable from public records, should be extended to private demands having no analogy to those exceptional cases. I will not dwell on the evils and the abuse to which this system is liable. The hon'ble mover of this amendment can speak on that subject with an authority which I do not possess. Hon'ble members are well aware that the learned Judges of the High Court are strongly opposed to this provision of the law, and I submit that their opinion on a matter like this is entitled to the greatest deference. The hon'ble member in charge of the Bill alluded to the previous debate on the principle of this provision as having settled the question so far as the principle of this amendment is concerned, but he did not tell the Council that even in 1880 some strong protests were made against this measure. The Hon'ble MR. FIELD, who was then in charge of the Bill, certainly spoke in very guarded and hesitating terms when he alluded to the principle of this provision. He said:—

'I then come to clause (7), which proposes to extend the special procedure to the recovery of rents in estates which, under any law for the time being, are under the management of the Court of Wards. This is a new provision, and I am prepared to admit that it is a provision which carries the principle of the Bill to its extremest limits.'

"The hon'ble gentleman has also told us that a motion was made in regard to this provision, and that it was lost by a large majority. The late Babu Kristo Das Pal, than whom no abler representative of his countrymen has ever sat within these walls, made a strong protest, and he was supported by his colleague, Raja Peary Mohun Mookerjee. Then, again, what is of greater importance and to which no reference was made by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, the protests of those gentlemen were virtually endorsed by no less an authority than the then Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, SIR ASHLEY EDEN. I will, with your permission, Sir, draw the attention of hon'ble members to the grave and weighty words which fell from the President of the Council on that occasion. His Honour said:—

'His Honour the President, before putting the question that the Bill be read in Council, would say, as regards the question of principle that had been raised, that he must admit it seemed to have a great deal of force and reason in it, and it was a subject which the Select Committee should carefully consider. It was not a matter which the Council could raise and dispose of off-hand. He understood it was not the intention of the hon'ble member who raised this question to move a specific amendment, but to request that the Select Committee should consider it. It might be quite true, as the hon'ble member on the right (Mr. Dampier) said, that the history of this principle, although it had been rather confused at times, had been generally to affirm that there should be a special procedure for the recovery of demands in estates under the management of Government officers, even though they were not the property of Government. His Honour did not think it necessary to go back to the practice of 1799, because the summary procedure which existed then was not the present certificate procedure, and bore no sort of resemblance to it. Then, in the Act of 1870, a clear distinction was drawn in section 4 as to estates managed khas and those managed through a Manager or agent, and he thought the necessity for making that distinction showed how unsound was the principle of bringing Wards' estates under the procedure of that Act; the section provided that under direct management of the Collector, the special procedure might be accepted, but not where Wards' estates were under the charge of managers, showing the doubts that existed in the minds of the framers of that measure. Therefore it could not be said that the principle of the provision in the present Bill was absolutely affirmed in 1870. It would no doubt be said that if the special procedure was absolutely necessary to ensure the recovery of a sufficient amount of rent to meet the Government demand, the same security was necessary for all estates in the country. It should be remembered that special powers were given to Government, because it was not holding as a private individual, but as a trustee for the public. Government had no individual interests in the collection of its dues, and was not likely to be influenced by selfish or unjust motives, but that was not the case where the interests of a private estate were concerned. Where estates were managed by the Court of Wards, it was not the interests of the public which were being guarded and protected, but the interests of a private individual: the loss or profit did not affect the public revenues, but the revenues of a private estate, and therefore the question of Wards' estates differed altogether from Government estates * * * * * * *

'On the whole, he thought it desirable that the Select Committee should consider very carefully the whole principle, whether the grounds which made it necessary to have a summary procedure for the recovery of Government demands applied to the management of Wards' estates. He should be very glad, in consequence of what had passed, if the Committee would give to the subject their serious consideration when the Bill was laid before them.'

"Under these circumstances, I think my hon'ble friend who moved this amendment and those who agree with him are perfectly justified in respectfully asking the Council to reconsider a principle, the soundness of which was at that time condemned in such unmistakable language by the President, which was protested against by those who then represented the popular voice in this Council, and which is still opposed by public opinion and by the learned Judges of the High Court."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I was a party in the discussions to which the Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND has referred, and as I think that the arguments which I then adduced were very strong arguments, and as they commend themselves to me now as much as they did then, perhaps the view I took then may serve to convince hon'ble members of the necessity for this provision of the law. I said then:—

'Although an estate managed by the Court of Wards was not a Government estate, still the Government was to a certain extent directly interested in the collection of the rents of that estate. When an estate came under the charge of the Court of Wards it could not be sold for arrears of revenue, and it behoved the officer in charge to get in the rent (as speedily as possible) in order to pay the Government revenue, and in that way the collection of rents in Wards' estates became a matter as important to the Government as its own revenue.'

"That was what I then stated, and although on principle one is perfectly justified in saying that the rent which the Court of Wards collects is not a public demand, still in reality there is very scarcely any difference between a Government demand which should go into the treasury as speedily as possible and may be recovered by summary procedure, and a demand which the Government through the Court of Wards is entitled to realize without delay for the benefit in part of themselves. Therefore the difference, although it exists in principle, does not appear in reality, and hon'ble members are justified in extending to such demands the summary procedure prescribed by this Act."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"I desire to traverse one or two of the statements which have been made by the hon'ble mover of the amendment. He said that at the end of the year a number of requisitions are filed by the managers of the Court of Wards' estates. I would ask whether the zamindars do not follow the same course in respect of their rents? Do not they file suits to avoid claims being barred by limitation? And why should not managers of Courts of Wards of estates take proceedings to avoid their claims being barred? That these requisitions are made broadcast at the end of the year I deny so far as my experience goes, and I think it is generally admitted that out of the many departments administered by Government few or none do more good to the country at large than the Court of Wards. Many families have been saved from ruin by its management, and estates have been saved from sale. Such being the case, I think we are bound to give every facility to managers to do their work, and I am convinced that the Court of Wards would not be able to do the amount of work it does without this summary procedure. This procedure was legalized under the Court of Wards Act, 1879, section 63 of which provides that 'all arrears of rent due by farmers, under-tenants and raiyats in respect of property under the charge of the Court, (whether such rents have become due before or after the Court has taken charge) shall be recoverable as arrears of revenue, and shall constitute a demand under Bengal Act VII of 1868, or any similar Act for the time being in force. The last preceding clause shall not apply to arrears of rent enhanced after issue of notice under section 13 of Act X of 1859, or under section 14 of Act VIII of 1869, but of which the enhancement has not been agreed to by the person who is liable to pay the same, or has not been confirmed by competent authority.' That law is now in force, and even if the amendment is carried, it will absolutely have no effect, for what I have read will still remain the law. I desire also to bring to the notice of the Council what has happened since the passing of that Act. Almost immediately after the Wards Act was passed, the Tenancy Act came before the Government—a measure which was originally based on a digest of the then existing law prepared by Mr. Field, and in section 4 of that digest he retained this procedure as regards Wards' estates. The next draft of the Tenancy Act was prepared by a Commission, and there again this procedure was included in section 4. The next was what is generally known as the Bengal Bill, and in section 4 of that Bill also it was included. It was again included in section 284 of the Bill introduced in the Council of the Governor-General; and finally when the Tenancy Act was passed, this provision was contained in section 195, and no word was said in the Imperial Council against the retention of this provision in the Tenancy Act. The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE has read what was said by SIR ASHLEY EDEN on this subject. I desire to place before the Council a later opinion of a Lieutenant-Governor of this Province (SIR RIVERS THOMPSON) when he reported to the Government of India his opinion upon the Tenancy Act. In paragraph 28 of that letter he said:—

'There is besides the paramount reason that the rents collected by Government are really revenue, and the procedure for enforcing payment of State dues must, in the general public interests, be more summary than the procedure for enforcing private dues. If this were not so, the ultimate result would be the employment of larger establishments, greater expenditure, and increased taxation. Thus a summary procedure for collecting the public revenue, while necessary if the Government of the country is to be efficiently administered, and while not open to the objections to which a summary procedure for collecting private debts is opposed, is in the long run the easiest and the cheapest for the people. Nor is this principle inapplicable in case of estates of disqualified proprietors managed by Government, for the rents of such estates include the revenue.'

"The above embodies a later opinion of this Government than that quoted by the Hon'ble MR. GHOSE, and we have heard from the Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND that this is still the opinion of the Bengal Government. In conclusion, I wish to say that the Board of Revenue believe that if this amendment is passed, the management of estates under the Court of Wards will suffer very severely."

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT in reply said:—"The Hon'ble the Advocate-General has admitted that in principle rents due to estates under the management of the Court of Wards are not public demands, and this Council will have to decide whether under these circumstances the law for the recovery of public demands should be applied for the realization of such rents. I entirely agree with what has fallen from the Hon'ble MR. LYALL as to the amount of good which is done to the country by the Court of Wards managing the estates of minors incapable of managing their own estates, and also as to the feeling all over the country that the Government is doing a vast amount of good by saving the property of minors by employing their own officers to manage minors' estates. My only contention is that we shall be able to manage just as well without this summary procedure. In that respect I have ventured to differ from a senior and more experienced officer. I believe that the experience of the last few years has shown that what I propose can well be done."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"This is in my opinion the most important amendment before the Council to-day, and although the opinion of the Government has been well and ably expressed by the hon'ble members who have spoken on behalf of the Government, I think it right to express my own view as briefly as possible in order to show why I consider it most inadvisable to accept this amendment. The Hon'ble MR. DUTT has supported his amendment upon two grounds—first, that it is just in principle, and secondly, that it is feasible in practice. Taking the latter point first, the question of practice, I do not think the hon'ble member has himself sufficient information to put the matter fully before the Council. The order passed at my request by the Board of Revenue, that in Wards' estates which are not settled and surveyed the certificate procedure should not be adopted, has not been in force very long, and we have no definite statistics as to the effect it has produced. I find in the last Board's Report (for 1893-94) that in Court of Wards' estates 7,930 certificates were filed. This is not altogether in agreement with the impression which exists in the mind of the Hon'ble MR. DUTT, and which he conveyed to us, namely, that the certificate procedure in these estates has been to a large extent stopped. It is evident that it is to a large extent going on, although it may have decreased. But what would be the effect of stopping it altogether?

"The hon'ble member seems to think that this procedure is only used by managers and tahsildars in Wards' estates who are lax in collecting rents; that they are slack in their procedure and rush into the Collectorate with a bundle of requisitions at the end of the year. I am not prepared to say that this is not altogether correct, simply because there is a certain amount of imperfection in the human organization. No one will believe that tahsildars are absolutely free from the faults due to common human nature. But as the Hon'ble MR. LYALL has explained, it is absolutely necessary, when all has been done which could be done, at the last moment, to avoid the operation of the Limitation Act, that a certain number of certificates should be filed on the requisition of tahsildars, just as suits are filed by zamindars during the last two or three days of the year. If these 7,930 certificates were to be turned into 7,930 civil suits, what would be the result? Would it be for the good of the 'poor and oppressed' raiyats? Certainly not. They would have the cost and labour of defending the suits, and they would also have to pay the expense incurred in the execution of decrees instead of the simple procedure and trifling expense of a certificate. It would be to his injury and not to his good if the principle of this amendment is carried out. I entirely agree with the expression of SIR RIVERS THOMPSON'S opinion which the Hon'ble MR. LYALL has read, that the certificate procedure is the most convenient and easy procedure on behalf of the judgment-debtor. It is for the debtor's good that we should use this procedure.

"Then, from the question of practice we come to the question of principle. The attack is based on the principle that this is a Public Demands Recovery Act, and that money due to Wards' estates is not a public demand. Even on that ground the attack should be resisted. We have heard the Hon'ble the Advocate-General say that the opinion which he held fourteen years ago is still held by him in his maturer mind unchanged, and the same opinion is expressed by the Government letter which has been read by the Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND. But I take my stand from a different point of view. Although this is called a Public Demands Act, it is not intended to be confined to public demands. That is a convenient way of denoting demands on account of which a certificate is issued, but it is not an exhaustive description. The operation of the Act is not confined to public demands, for we know that under the Road Cess Act this procedure may be used for the recovery of sums due to a landlord who has paid the cess on behalf of his shareholders. That is essentially a private demand, and yet we allow the certificate procedure to be used by the zamindar, and I wish to impress upon the Council that the reason why we do so is that it is a demand which is positively known. This is what differentiates claim for which a certificate may be taken out from other claims. If there be no dispute, if it is clearly laid down in the jamabandi or the jamawasil-baki, that a certain tenant owes a certain sum as rent to Government or to the Manager of the estate on behalf of Government, what necessity is there to file a suit in the Civil Court when you know absolutely the fact that the demand is due? This question will come before the Government shortly in another shape. A suggestion has been made with regard to the maintenance of the Record of Rights Bill that zamindars who pay the survey cess on behalf of their tenants should be allowed to recover it if necessary by taking out a certificate. This suggestion seems to me a reasonable one, and if the Select Committee approve it I shall be ready to give the assent of Government to it. I shall do this the more readily because it will to some extent pave the way to granting to zamindars a more summary method of collecting arrears of rent. Hon'ble members know that it has long been my desire to be able to provide a measure of this sort. The difficulties are very great, but I hope before I leave India that I may be able at least to put before the Government of India a project of law to the effect that where there is a demand which is absolutely certain, where a zamindar has had his estates surveyed and settled under the Tenancy Act, and the record kept up and all mutations registered, he should be able to get a certificate from the Collector, and be free from the trouble and annoyance of going to the Munsif to enforce his right on account of arrears. For these reasons, I think it will be extremely inconvenient to take a retrograde step now. My view is that we should be able to extend the law to other cases in which the sum in demand is truly and certainly known to be due, so that there can be no dispute about it."

The Motion being put, the Council divided:—

So the Motion was lost.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, moved that in the proviso to clause (f) of section 7, after the word "this" the words "and the preceding" be inserted. He said :—

"It is but fair that the proviso should be extended also to clause (e) with reference to Government khas mahals as well as to estates under the management of the Court of Wards. I submit that where there is any question about the enhancement of rent, about which there is a dispute, it is but fair that the procedure of the Certificate Act ought not to be applied, and the raiyats be forced to pay the enhanced rate of rent in this summary manner. I therefore move that this proviso, which is applicable to the Court of Wards' estates, ought to apply also to clause (e) regarding the recovery of arrears in khas mahals, and which the Government is in the same position as a zamindar."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"As far as I can make out, the hon'ble member has not brought forward a single reason for altering the existing law. He proposes to extend to clause (e) a proviso which applies only to clause (f). It applies to clause (f) because it is the present law under section 63 of the Court of Wards' Act of 1879. That clause does not now appear in the Court of Wards' Act, as it finds a place in the Certificate Act, but I cannot see any reason for extending it to clause (e). Does the hon'ble gentleman suppose that the Government—the Collector or other Certificate Officer—would issue a certificate as a means of enhancing and recovering any enhanced revenue or rent under clause (e)? The object of the whole Act, as His Honour the President explained, is that certificates may be issued for the dues of Government, which are absolutely and certainly known to be due. Is it likely that the Collector would deliberately issue a certificate for an enhanced rate of rent without being certain that it is absolutely due? I see no real reason whatever for adopting the amendment. Has the hon'ble member known of any single case in which a Certificate Officer has tried, on behalf of the Government, to levy a demand which he is not perfectly entitled to levy? If he has not, I am bound to say that I cannot accept the amendment."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I must confess I do not understand the meaning of this amendment. Enhanced rent must be rent which has been either agreed upon or which has been confirmed by a competent Court. There can be no element of uncertainty about it."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"As I understand the object of this amendment is to introduce some sort of uniformity in the issue of certificates, and to remove want of some uniformity. One uniform rule is suggested to govern cases falling within both clauses (e) and (f), and it is contended that both the clauses should be governed by the same principle both as regards the cases in which the certificates ought to be issued and also in regard to cases in which certificates ought not to be issued; the law laid down in the Bill makes a distinction by applying the proviso only to clause (f). The question, therefore, is, do not the cases which fall under both the clauses (e) and (f) stand on the same footing, and should they not be dealt with in all respects by the same rule and the same principle? I do not see any material difference between the cases falling under those two clauses, regarded from the point of view from which they are now being considered. If the principle regulating the issue of certificates is the certainty of the demand, and if the cases under clauses (e) and (f) have been included under the certificate procedure by reason of such certainty, and further, if, by reason of want of such certainty, some cases are to be taken out of the operation of the rule laid down in clause (f) and thrown in the proviso to that clause, then it is clear that the very same want of certainty affects those identical cases when they fall under clause (e). There is no reason why the exception should be confined to clause (f), and should not be extended to clause (e). If it is necessary that there should be an exception in clause (f) in favour of cases in which there has been no decree of a competent Court, then it is likewise necessary that there should be a corresponding exception in clause (e) in favour of like cases. Under clause (f) the landlord is the Court of Wards; under clause (e) the landlord is the Secretary of State. Both might have power to issue a certificate when the demand is certain, and consists of what is really and strictly an arrear of rent; but an enhanced rent is only nominally an arrear of rent. To make it really an arrear of rent, the enhancement must have been agreed upon or finally adjudicated upon; and before adjudication by a competent authority, the enhanced rent is not a demand for a sum certain. Until such adjudication, the enhanced rent contains all the elements of uncertainty in consequence of the parties interested entertaining conflicting notions of the right to enhance. I therefore venture to think that when the demand results from a question of enhancement of rent, the right to issue the certificate should be withheld from clause (e) for the same reasons for which it has been considered proper to with— hold it from clause (f)."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"I venture to point out a mistake which has been made by the hon'ble gentleman who last spoke. He contended that clauses (e) and (f) are analogous, but I say they are quite different. The gist of the demand under clause (e) is that it is a public demand and no enhancement of rent is payable unless it is legally due. The wording of clause (e) is entirely different from the wording of clause (f). Nothing is entered in the Collector's books as 'payable' until it has become a legal liability, and certificates are properly issued for the recovery of such demands."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, in reply said:—"With great respect to the hon'ble gentleman who spoke last, I do not think that the word 'payable' makes everything payable to Government a legal liability. It may be payable in the view of the Collector, but a Civil Court may hold otherwise, and say that enhanced rent is not payable, though the Collector or the manager of a Ward's estate may claim it to be payable. There may be a dispute whether enhanced rent is payable or not, and under such circumstances the certificate procedure should not apply. With regard to the observation which fell from the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill whether it is likely that the Collector would issue a certificate for a demand which was not due, if the Collector was bound to look into the matter himself it would be different. If the Collector could do everything personally there could be no complaint; and as a matter of fact many complaints are made of irregularities occurring and, therefore, this power should not be given to a Government officer or a manager of a Ward's estate. It is admitted to be the principle of this law that where a demand is disputed this procedure ought not to apply. The very foundation of this Act is that the demand is justly due, and therefore this summary procedure is granted; but where there is a question of enhancement of rent, I submit that this summary procedure ought not to be given even to the Government."

The Motion being put, the Council divided :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi Muhammad Yusuf Khan Bahadur.	The Hon'ble Mr. Wilkins.
The Hon'ble Mr. Womack.	The Hon'ble Mr. Buckland.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dutt.	The Hon'ble Mr. Lyall.
	The Hon'ble Sir John Lambert.
	The Hon'ble Sir Charles Paul.
	The Hon'ble the President.

So the Motion was lost.

The Hon'ble Mr. R. C. Dutt, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice that the last paragraph of section 7, beginning with the words "Provided also that a certificate filed" be omitted.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose moved that the following proviso be added at the end of section 7 :—

'Provided further that as regards claims under clause (f), no certificate shall issue until after such estate has been surveyed and a record of rights made in respect thereof, and in no case shall a certificate be issued in respect of such claims where any question of right or title is involved.'

He said :—"After the discussion which has taken place on the motion of my hon'ble friend, the Commissioner of Burdwan, it will not be necessary for me to detain the Council for more than a moment or two. I said on that occasion that the amendment I have now the honour to move is a compromise between the amendment moved by my hon'ble friend and the provision contained in this Bill. I ask the Council to embody in the law the wholesome restrictions that under instructions from your Honour's Government, have been imposed by executive order forbidding, in certain cases, the employment of the certificate procedure for the realization of debts due to estates under the management of the Court of Wards. I have endeavoured to follow almost word for word the terms of the letter of the Government of Bengal, and I hope the Government may be able to accept this amendment. The Public are thankful to the Government for its endeavours to mitigate the hardships and rigour of the law by executive order, but I submit that when this Bill is under consideration those restrictions should be embodied in the law itself rather than that the executive administration should continue to exercise a sort of dispensing power to moderate the hardships of the law. Under these circumstances, I ask the Council to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Buckland said :—"The hon'ble gentleman's amendment consists of two parts, but he has spoken only to one of them. With regard to the part to which he has spoken, I should like to ask him whether any fault can be found with the executive administration since that order to which reference has been made was issued in May, 1892? That order was issued in consequence of a Resolution of this Government in April, 1892, and the order now in force is an order of the Board of Revenue with which I need not trouble the Council. The effect of that order is, that the certificate procedure is, not to be used until a survey and settlement of rights has been carried out. Since May, 1892, has any single case come to notice in which that order has been disregarded? I hear no reply, and I am not prepared to say of my own knowledge that a single case has occurred in contravention of that order. Therefore it seems to me that the order has sufficiently fulfilled its purpose. It is very often made a charge against the Legislature that they legislate for things which are unnecessary. It has certainly been a charge against us in the past that a great many things have been included in Acts which might better have been made the subject of executive orders. We are told that an order which has been working well for the last three years should be included in the law, but I fail to see any necessity for it so far as regards the first part of the amendment. But the second part of it is just as important, namely, that in no case should a certificate issue in respect of claims where any question of right or title is involved. Very serious objection has been taken to that suggestion by the Board of Revenue, and for this reason, that there is hardly any case in which an ingenious Pleader or learned Counsel would not be able to make out a primâ facie case that a question of right or title is involved. It will never do for the course of a certificate to be suddenly arrested at the outset by some very fine drawn plea that some remote question of right or title is involved. We had this question brought to our notice at full length in a report of the Board of Revenue submitted in respect to the particular Bill. What we want is to be able to issue the certificate and then if it is found subsequently to be the fact that the man has a bonâ fide question of right or title, let him go to the Civil Court, but we do not want that the certificate should be nipped in the bud in the first instance because some clever Pleader or experienced Counsel may be able to show that in some way or other a question of right or title is involved. Therefore, in regard to both branches of the amendment, I put it to the Council that this amendment should not be accepted."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE said:—"It is admitted by the hon'ble gentleman who has just spoken that the first part of my hon'ble friend's amendment has been made the subject of an executive order. What objection can there be to make it also the subject of a legislative enactment? The hon'ble member has asked the hon'ble mover of the amendment whether any case has occurred in contravention of the executive order. But an executive order is a very unstable thing; it is liable to changes. His Honour the present Lieutenant-Governor has issued this order, but his successor may not agree with him, and may modify or rescind the order. I am quite aware that a legislative enactment may also be changed, but it can only be changed by a very complicated process. I think that if there is no objection to the executive order, it ought now to be made the subject of legislative enactment."

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"I would suggest that there seems no particular objection to accepting the amendment proposed by the Hon'ble MR. GHOSE. Although an executive order has been passed which substantially gives effect to this provision, I am not altogether satisfied that that order has been strictly carried out. Of course, I am not in a position to answer the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill by pointing out any particular case, but I will take the figures the President read out a few minutes ago, when His Honour himself observed that the order which had been passed had not led to much reduction in the number of certificates. [The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I did not intend to convey that impression, because I have not got the figures separately for estates which have been surveyed and settled."] I have not the figures either, but I think it should be unnecessary to issue so many as 7,930 certificates in the comparatively limited number of estates which have been surveyed and settled, and I am not at all satisfied that the order has been entirely carried out. I would venture to point out that an executive order is very different indeed from a statutory provision. If the proposed provision is contained in the law, it would afford a ground of objection in the Civil Court; but I do not think the Civil Court will take any cognizance of an executive order if it were brought to its notice by a plaintiff. There can be no question that the object of the Government is identical with that of the Hon'ble Member who has moved this proviso, and I think it will be the best solution of the question to accept the amendment which has been proposed. And with regard to the last portion of the amendment, I believe I am right in saying that similar orders have also been issued that no certificate shall issue in respect of a claim where any question of right or title is involved. If such an order has issued and it is desirable that it should be carried out, then I think it well that it should find a place in the statute book. I hope, therefore, Your Honour will find no difficulty in accepting this amendment, which is intended to give effect to executive orders which have been issued by the Government."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"I am prepared to support both branches of this amendment; and I venture to think that if the amendment were to be adopted, the law would be improved because the section would then, in express terms, correspond to what has been the admitted practice under, and by force of, the executive orders. I think it is highly desirable that there should be no uncertainty in the words of a Statute, and that an enactment should express correctly and properly the real intention of the Legislature. If it is the deliberate intention of the Council not to authorise the issue of a certificate in certain cases, then that intention should be made clear in the Bill itself, and not left to be gathered by executive orders and rules. I submit that it is wholly undesirable to make the law expressly and in terms extend beyond the limit of expediency, leaving it to executive rules and orders to cut down the law, and tone it down so as to be brought within the limits of expediency. Before the executive orders which have been referred to in the course of the debate, I know that the practice in the matter of issue of certificates was quite different. Those orders introduced a very salutary change, and brought about a very wholesome result; they mitigated much of the inconvenience and annoyance which existed before; by making the law conform to the practice, permanency would be given to the practice, and the result would be public confidence and security in the existence of the practice which would have the sanction of the law.

"In regard to the second branch of the amendment, I submit that the principle of the amendment is equally beyond question. Claims which involve a question of right and title fall, I submit, outside the principle which regulates the certificate procedure. Certificates should only issue in cases in which there is positive certainty, and where all elements of doubt are removed. When a question of right and title is involved, the parties interested are likely to hold conflicting views on that question, and so it would be undesirable to arm one of those parties with a weapon which he might wield with dangerous consequences to his adversary. In a case involving the question of right and title, both parties should be left to fight out their difference on equal terms without the law placing one of them on a vantage ground."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"If I apprehend rightly the question comes to this, that in cases where the parties differ and where there is no agreement, this certificate procedure should not be adopted. If that is so, the matter answers itself."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"I think there are many things which are desirable, but which are not desirable to put into a law; and that restrictions are far more easily put into an executive order, and with better effect. It is not always well that such executive orders should be made rigid by being enacted into law. The present is a case in point. The executive orders have been thoroughly carried out in both these cases, and there is an inelasticity in a law which does not exist in an executive order. It may be that some future Lieutenant-Governor may think fit to enlarge the scope of the present orders, or it may be found necessary to reduce them; therefore I think such orders should not be made too unbending. Then as to the last portion of the amendment, I think the hon'ble member will admit that at first it does not appear whether a case is one of right or title or not; that only appears when an objection is filed. The present order is that when the Collector finds that it is a case of right or title, he is to dispose of the case under section 13 by dismissing it and leaving the decision to the Civil Courts. It is impossible for the Collector to see when a matter first comes before him on requisition that it will develope into a question of right or title. All that he can do when he finds that out after he has started the case is to take it off the file. Beyond that it is impossible to ask him to go."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"I agree with the hon'ble mover of the amendment, but I wish to suggest a modification, namely, the addition of the words 'bonâ fide' before the words 'question of right or title.'"

The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE in reply said:—"I have unfortunately not by me the blue book relating to this subject, but if my memory serves me rightly, it will be found in page 134 of the blue book that, under instructions from your Honour's Government, the Board of Revenue have issued orders that not only in cases where a survey and record of rights have not been made, but also in cases where a question of right or title is involved, the certificate procedure should not be applied. That being so, there is no conflict between my amendment and the orders passed by the executive Government. The only question which remains for consideration is, whether those executive orders ought not to be incorporated with the law. I submit that they ought. As long as the law remained defective the Public were grateful to the Government for moderating the hardships of the law, but the whole law on the subject is now under amendment, and I see no reason why those orders should not now be made part of the law. As has been pointed out by the Hon'ble the Chief Secretary, if these orders are disregarded, the Courts of Law will not take cognizance of them, and a man who is proceeded against in spite of those orders will have no remedy. And, moreover, another order may be passed abrogating the existing orders. The hon'ble member in charge of the Bill has asked me if I know of any case of grievance after the issue of these orders. I am not in a position to give the information, but it should be remembered that the orders are now fresh, and therefore they are probably being implicitly obeyed. They will, however, gradually grow old and rusty, and be forgotten, and when certificates are made in spite of those orders, the poor men concerned will have no remedy; whereas by incorporating those orders with the law you will make it absolutely impossible for any one to disregard them. On these grounds I desire to put this motion before the Council, but before doing so I ask leave to divide the motion into parts, inasmuch as hon'ble members who may support one part may not be disposed to support the other; and as regards the second portion of the amendment, I thankfully accept the suggestion of my hon'ble friend, MAULVI SERAJAL ISLAM, to insert the words 'bonâ fide' before the words 'question of right or title.'"

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Before putting the question to the vote, I wish to say that I am unhesitatingly opposed to both the motions, and I trust the Council will not accept them. It is not a question of principle. We are all agreed as to what should be done, and I think you may take it that we of the executive know best the way in which to carry out our intentions. I have no doubt that the best way is to put it into an executive order rather than into a law. It is true it is less difficult to change a law than to change an executive order, but if this motion is carried it will not be long before the Council is called upon to change it, because I feel sure it will not work in the way in which it is intended to be worked. It is easy to frame an order, but it is very difficult to pass a legislative enactment in such a way that holes will not be picked in it. In the executive order the words 'record of rights' are used in a rough and practical way which is not liable to be misunderstood, but technically and legally speaking it has only one meaning, namely, such a record of rights as is framed under section 102 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. But the intention of Government was not to confine the operation of the order to those rights. We have other estates in other districts settled under other Acts. We have recently settled the Western Duars in the Jalpaiguri district under a very peculiar Act, which I have already proposed should be abolished, but the record prepared under that Act is not what the Bengal Tenancy Act calls a 'record of rights,' and once this provision is put into law every kind of objection will be raised against the Government in passing its orders. With regard to excluding any cases which may involve a question of right and title, it was the intention of the Government to introduce that principle, but the Board of Revenue, after grave consideration, pointed out that there is great danger of technical objections being raised. The first thing every objector will do will be to say that there is question of right and title involved. It will lead to a good deal of litigation, expense and delay, and throw a good deal of difficulty in the way of carrying out the simple and summary procedure of this Act, and will have no effect in producing a better administration of the principles of the law."

The amendment was divided into two parts: the first part to consist of the words "Provided further that as regards claims under clause (f), no certificate shall issue until after such estate has been surveyed and a record of rights made in respect thereof"; the second part to consist of the words "and in no case shall a certificate be issued in respect of such claims where any bonâ fide question of right or title is involved."

The first part of the amendment was put to the vote and negatived.

The second part of the amendment was put to the vote and also negatived.

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT moved that after section 9 the following new section be added:—

'Before making a certificate under the provisions of sections five, seven or nine, the Certificate Officer shall send by post, addressed to the person from whom the demand is alleged to be due, at his last known residence, and registered under Part III of the Indian Post Office Act, 1866, or any similar Act for the time being in force, a notice calling upon such person to pay such amount within a date to be specified in the notice. And no certificate will be made if such amount be paid within the date fixed.

'The sending of such notice may be proved by the production of the Post Office receipt.'

He said:—"My object in moving this amendment is this. In a great many cases defaulters fail to pay the amounts due from them, not because they are unwilling or unable to pay, but because they do not remember that there is such a demand due on a fixed date. Under the Certificate Act we have to deal with a very large class of people, many of whom are in very humble circumstances and are not in the habit of keeping accounts of sums due to them or payable by them. As an instance, I may mention that in the district of Hooghly we realize road cess from about 6,000 zamindars and 16,000 rent-free tenure-holders, and about 10,000 of the latter hold tenures whose annual value is not more than Rs. 40. If the road cess is not paid in due time a certificate is filed and notice is issued under section 10, and the cost of serving the notice is added to the amount of road cess to be paid. The property of the defaulter is attached, and he has to pay the road cess with the costs incurred. I admit that it is the duty of these people to remember their liabilities, and to send in the amounts by the due date, but it would save a good deal of trouble and of expense to the defaulters if simple post office notices were sent to them. My experience is that even if a post-card were sent, probably in 75 per cent. of these cases the money would come in, and there would be no necessity to saddle these people with the cost of a certificate. The Board of Revenue have already recognized the necessity and desirability of issuing post-card notices in certain cases, but the number of cases included in the Circular is very small. It does not include the road cess except where the rate of cess has been altered. The Circular is contained in Rule 21, section 3 of the Rules framed by the Board of Revenue under this Act, and runs thus:—

'To obviate hardship, District Officers are directed to notify the existence of arrears before certificates are issued—(a) by putting up a list of defaulters in their offices, and (b) by sending warnings to defaulters by printed post-cards (see Appendix C) in all cases in which there is no reason to believe that the debtor has had intimation of his liability. In the case of road cess and zamindari dak cess collections, this procedure will probably be unnecessary, except in the rare instances in which the amount of the demand has recently been changed.'

"Most of our certificates are issued for realization of road cess: I may almost say that the certificate exists for realization of road cess. I was looking into the figures in Burdwan the other day, and I found that out of about 10,000 certificates dealt with in the current year, very nearly 9,000 related to road cess. My contention therefore is, that such post-card notices are most necessary in the case of road cess. My desire is, that notices should be sent in all cases before certificates are made. I may mention that in Burdwan we have travelled a little beyond the letter of the Board's Circular and have issued notices in all cases. The result has been very successful, for I find that within the last five months 1,119 defaulters paid up the amounts they were asked to pay by post-card, and were also good enough to pay in each case an additional pice, being the price of the post-card. So that without any expense to Government, we are able to realize a large amount and save the cost to the people and the trouble to our office, of making certificates. For these reasons I hope this amendment will be accepted, and that it will be made compulsory to send post-cards as a sort of warning to defaulters."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"I am afraid that I cannot hold out any hope of this amendment being accepted on the part of Government. All that the hon'ble member has said points to the extension or amplification of the Board's Circular on the point rather than to an amendment of the law. It is a very different thing, as we have heard just now, to issue an executive order and to put a direction into the law and thus stereotype it. Here we have an excellent executive order issued by the Board of Revenue, the object of which is very good as far as it goes; but the hon'ble gentleman thinks it should go further. There is nothing to prevent him from persuading the Board of Revenue to extend the scope of the circular without putting it into the law. I see no reason why he should not try to influence the Board of Revenue in this way, but it is entirely a different thing for us to put a provision of this sort into law; because if you once put it into the law, it would allow the thin edge of the wedge to be inserted for all kinds of complications. As soon as a certificate is filed it has the force of a decree. It has been deliberately enacted that Government has a right to adopt this summary procedure for the recovery of sums due to itself, and by this procedure all the preliminary steps prior to a decree are waived; and, for this reason, that the demands for which certificates are issued are well known. We must consider how many complications may be introduced directly we begin to introduce any preliminary steps and make them obligatory by law. We should have to prove that the notice by post-card reached the individual to whom it was addressed, and then we have the suggestion made that preliminary evidence should be recorded—and the hon'ble gentleman will allow me to remind him that in his report he made this suggestion—that no certificate should be issued without this first step being taken. Thus we should have a procedure before the issue of the certificate, and I do not know what other complications might not be introduced. I think I am right in saying that we should have to prove the receipt of the notices. What is there to compel the addressee to give a receipt? [The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT said:—"I meant the receipt of the issuing Post Office."] What guarantee is there that the receipt of the Post Office will be accepted as evidence that the notice reached the addressee? We should have to prove the arrival of the notice at the hands of the addressee; we should have the postmen called in, and they would thus be taken away from the performance of their legitimate duty of serving letters, and would be constantly hanging about the Courts to prove the receipt of a number of preliminary notices with which we now dispense. But the matter will stand on quite a different footing if notices are issued in all cases, including road cess, by executive orders in extension of the existing orders. Then, if the notice fails to reach its mark, the certificate process can go on all the same, but it is a serious objection to impose by law all this preliminary trouble upon our already overburdened officers."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"This amendment raises a very important question—a question which, while it combines simplicity and usefulness, strikes at the very root of the complaint raised against the certificate system. The issue of a notice before a certificate is made will tend very largely to avert a great deal of the inconvenience and annoyance which, it is believed, follow in the wake of the certificate procedure. The issue of the notice is in itself the easiest thing imaginable, and no serious objection could be imagined against the proposal for the issue of such a notice. But objections have been raised, and it is necessary, therefore, to see whether the proposal should be entertained. Some of the objections raised by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill do not appear to me to present serious obstacles against the reception of the amendment. If the issue of a notice is desirable in itself, no post-office difficulty need trouble our minds; but I submit that, as a matter of law, no difficulty exists in connection with any steps relating to the issue of the notice, because the receipt given by the issuing Post Office would, by a natural presumption, lead to the inference that the notice was duly received by the party to whom it was addressed. The question, therefore, not being surrounded by any consideration of embarrassment, we revert to the question itself, and the first matter to enquire is whether a notice is necessary or desirable before the making of a certificate. Upon that, I submit, there should not be two opinions. Of persons who make default in payment, a large body consists of those whose default is not wilful. To such a body the notice would be most welcome, whilst the issuing of the notice would not increase the work of the Collector to any appreciable extent; nay, rather the work of the Collector would be diminished in proportion as the issue of the notice would reduce the list of default, and obviate the necessity of making of the certificate and carrying it through. Even in cases of persons whose default is wilful, the notice would serve to remind them of their default, and therefore in some of those cases also it is possible to imagine that the necessity to make a certificate might be removed. Altogether, I submit, it is in every way desirable that there should be a notice preliminary to a certificate being made."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE said:—"I have listened attentively to the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, but I have not been able to follow him in regard to the complications to which he referred. On the other hand, the hon'ble mover of the amendment has made out a very strong case. I know something about the service of these notices. In the year 1888-89 the estate of Sujamutha came under the management of the Court of Wards, and in the Bengali year 1295 I think it was, so many as 12,000 certificates were showered on the devoted heads of the raiyats, and the complaint which they urged in their petition to the Board of Revenue was that they had not in many cases received notices of certificates issued against them, and that their properties had been sold without their having received any intimation of the issue of the certificates. I have with me an extract from their memorial to the Board of Revenue, made in November, 1889, in which they say:—

'Further, in many cases no notices of the issue of certificates or of auction sale are received, and decrees obtained and their holdings put up to sale without their knowledge.'

"That was deliberately stated in their memorial. I had an opportunity of visiting the estate, and discussing the matter with a body of about 5,000 raiyats, and the one complaint they made was that the service of these notices was made in the most careless and perfunctory manner. I submit that this amendment will afford an easy remedy, and it should be accepted by the Council."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I confess that I am in sympathy with the hon'ble mover on this particular motion. It appears to me that the right of the Crown is to take action without previous notice, but inasmuch as it is provided in section 10, to take action without notice when a certificate is made, notice must be given, the mode of giving notice which is here suggested might be given. I do not say that two notices should be given, and I cannot understand that the giving of one notice should lead to any administrative inconvenience. And, inasmuch as one notice must be given, it does appear to me that it would be more logical to give the notice before making the certificate than after doing so. And in regard to the service of the notice, I do not think there will be such difficulty as the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill apprehends. The production of the receipt of the Post Office would be primâ facie evidence of the letter having reached its destination. Of course that evidence may be rebutted, but we have no reason to suppose that in every case in which people owe money they will deny the receipt of notice; and as this change of law is likely to lead to no serious administrative inconvenience, I approve of this amendment."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"Section 8 of the Bill gives the mere filing of a certificate the force of a decree; and under section 10 all the judgment-debtor's properties, moveable and immoveable, are attached in pursuance of such ex-parte decree, and if the judgment-debtor wants to sell any portion of that property for the payment of the demand, he cannot do so. I think it but fair and reasonable that before having recourse to this harsh procedure, the alleged debtor ought to have the notice which is proposed in this amendment. I can assure the Government from my experience that cases of intentional default are very rare. People do not, as a matter of fact, intentionally omit to pay road cess or Government revenue, but only do so from want of proper information or forgetfulness. Therefore I think that this amendment is a move in the right direction, and ought to be accepted."

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"I should like to say one word to the Council in reference to this proposal. It appears to me that this is a proposal which comes in far more suitably in the form of an executive order than in that of a legislative enactment. I have seen enough of the working of the certificate procedure to be satisfied that in many cases it is an engine of oppression—that is perhaps rather a strong expression to use—but I mean that the certificate procedure is no doubt productive of hardship in many cases. It is, therefore, incumbent upon the Government, which has this powerful engine at its disposal, to avoid issuing certificates whenever it can do so, and I quite agree with the Hon'ble Mover of the amendment that if notices are regularly given before making certificates, it would have the effect of largely reducing the number of certificates. His own experience shows that in the Burdwan district thousands of persons in whose names these notices were issued paid up their dues without being required to do so by the certificate procedure. I therefore entirely agree with him that these notices should be issued, but I fail to see why a provision of this kind should find a place in the statute book. It is eminently an arrangement which ought to be provided for by means of an executive order. I desire to point out that if this were made the subject of legislative enactment, and if it were allowed to objectors to come forward and say, 'I did not get this preliminary notice,' it would add immensely to the difficulty of working the Certificate Department and recovering demands. There would be nothing more difficult than to prove to the mind of the Court that a preliminary notice of this nature had been properly served. I look upon this preliminary notice as conferring an advantage upon defaulters by saving them from all the harshness and annoyance of a certificate, and therefore I am in favour of issuing such notices, but I would not introduce such a provision in the statute book, as it might lead to a great deal of doubt and difficulty."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"I consider that the foundation of this proposal, as stated by the hon'ble mover, is entirely incorrect. He assumes that a great many of the demands covered by certificates are not known to the payees. I assert the contrary. If we go over the list of the dues which can be recovered by certificate procedure. They are all well known; but notwithstanding that, in the majority of cases we issue notices, especially as regards embankment dues. I say that no demand is unknown to those who have to meet them. There is certainly no arrear of revenue or rent due to the Government which is not known to the payee. Then, as regards water-rate, a person who gets his field irrigated must know that he has to pay for the water. In the case of cesses, I am quite aware that there is some hardship, chiefly owing to the number of co-sharers in estates. Then, as to estates under the management of the Court of Wards, as in the case of rents due to the Government, every raiyat knows what he owes, and the amount has been demanded from him over and over again. Then, there are the zamindari dâk cess, famine loans, agricultural loans, land improvement loans, forest dues, and dues under the abkari law. All these are dues which are well known. Every man who takes out a license knows that he has to pay for his license on the first day of every month. I consider that it is entirely exceptional when a man does not know what he owes. On receiving notice of this amendment I called on the Collectors of the districts in which the greatest number of certificates are issued to report in how many cases notices were issued before the issue of certificates.

"I have received telegraphic replies from the Collectors of six of these districts, in which the greatest number of certificates are issued. In Darbhanga, in 145 cases postal notices were issued—all in embankment cess cases; in Midnapore, 3,542 notices were issued; in Burdwan, 21,473; in Gaya, 16 were issued last year and 7,841 have already issued in the current year; in Cuttack 172, and in Patna 500. These figures show that the orders which have been issued are not a dead-letter.

"I turn now to another point. We are asked now to add another stage to the certificate procedure. In other words, we are asked to compel by law Collectors of districts, who are already overburdened with work, to issue as much as 150,000 notices year by year, or in other words, we ask them here to do about 150 times more work they have to do at present. It is very easy for us here to add to the burdens of Collectors of districts, but I know that they have an almost intolerable amount of work to go through, and what is now proposed to be added is, I submit, another piece of useless routine. The hon'ble mover has stated that these notices have been largely responded to. I take the figures of last year's certificate returns. I find that in 44,827 cases, which is about one-third of the 143,886 certificates issued, men paid up on the issue of the first notice. Is it probable that more men would have paid on receipt of a post-card than upon receipt of notices which bind their property? I say that the utmost which will be gained will be as much as is now gained under the notices at present issued, that is to say, about one-third of the debtors will pay up. If this amendment is adopted, our Collectors and their offices, already overburdened with work, will be unable to cope with the large increase. Another point is that the notices now issued under the law bind the whole of a man's property, but the notices now proposed to be issued would bind nothing, but would afford a man the opportunity of disposing of his property, and thus diminish the collection of the Government dues. This is a point which should be taken into consideration before disposing of this motion. And, further, if this motion is adopted, you will throw the cost of these notices on the debtors. At present the notices which are given under executive order are given free of cost; but if this amendment is passed, you will throw the cost of these notices on the debtors, and thus add to the amounts they will have to pay. I maintain that as far as I have been able to look up the records of the last 15 years, there has been no public demand for these notices, and I fail to see that any intimation of the nature proposed is necessary."

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT in reply said:—"A suggestion has been made that the addressees will refuse to sign the receipt; but all that will be necessary on my wording of the amendment will be to prove the sending of the notices by production of the Post Office receipt. It has been said by the Hon'ble MR. LYALL that defaulters do know the amounts due by them. I have no doubt that they do know this in regard to the dues to which he referred; but as regards road-cess dues, I believe I am correct in saying that in the case of a large number of petty holders, they do not remember that a small amount is due from them by a certain date. In the Hooghly district we have over 10,000 petty tenure-holders, the annual value of whose holdings ranges from Rs. 16 to Rs. 40 per annum, and the road and public works cesses due from these ranges from one Rupee to Rs. 2-8. That is a small amount due, once a year, and it is possible they may forget to pay it. Under the present procedure they have not only to pay that amount, but a great deal more in the way of costs, and it is to avoid this that I suggest that post-cards may be sent beforehand. The fact that they have taken heed of such notices in many instances shows that it is not an inefficacious mode of recovery. With the permission of the President I will read to the Council a note on this subject which I made in the course of a recent inspection in Burdwan. I there said:—

'Before sending requisitions for certificates, the Road Cess Deputy Collector sends post-card warnings to the defaulters in every case, under Rule 21, section III of the Board's Certificate Manual, and the result is that many defaulters remit the money,—with one pice additional, being the value of the post-card,—by money order, and the issue of a certificate becomes unnecessary. I am glad to find that in October last, road cess was voluntarily paid by 853 persons on receipt of these post-cards; in January, such payments were made by 77 persons, and in the current month by 189 persons. The Deputy Collector has thus avoided having recourse to the cumbrous and harassing certificate procedure in 1,119 cases, within this half year by the issue of post-cards.'

"I gather from the remarks which have been made by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, and by the Hon'ble MR. COTTON that they are not unwilling to accept the amendment, but they would rather have it in the shape of an executive order. If that be so, I shall have no objection to withdraw this amendment on an assurance being given on the part of the Government that they will issue such an order."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I must complement the hon'ble member on the excellent way in which he put his case, and I think the Council may be congratulated in having an official in their midst, who has been practically engaged in carrying out the work of this particular Act, and who has given a sympathetic and intelligent consideration to the matter. I do not think, after what he has already stated, that there is considerable difference between the views he holds and those of the Government; and though on the part of the Government I agree with the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill that this amendment, as a motion, should be opposed, yet I am prepared to meet the hon'ble member a long way and to undertake the issue of executive orders that Post Office notices should be sent, though not, I think, in all cases. I will ask the hon'ble member to have confidence in the executive Government, and give them time to consider the matter with a little more leisure. I think such notices will be of no use in cases of khas mahals and Wards' estates. There we have establishments, the members of which go round to every village to collect the dues, and it is only when they fail to collect that they send in requisitions for the issue of certificates. In these cases the parties cannot be ignorant of their liabilities. On the other hand, it would be extremely useful to extend the present orders to all road-cess cases, embankment cess cases, and dâk cess cases—in fact, to all those cases in which a current demand exists, and it is possible that the debtor might forget, and would pay it if he had a reminder. But I think that what has been said by the Hon'ble MR. COTTON and by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill has forcibly shown that we should incur some danger by embodying the proposed provision into the law, and I accept with pleasure the proposal of the hon'ble mover of the amendment to withdraw the motion on the receipt of this promise and the assurance of the Government which I have given."

The Motion was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice that, for section 10, the following section be substituted:—

'Before a certificate is filed in the office of a Certificate Officer under the provisions of sections five, seven or nine, such Certificate Officer shall issue to the debtor a notice in Form No. 4 in the Schedule hereto annexed, calling upon him either to pay the amount claimed from him, or to show cause within thirty days from the date of service of such notice why a certificate should not be filed against him.'

The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE, by leave of the Council, also withdrew the motion of which he had given notice that Form No. 4 in the Schedule and the sections relating to appeals be amended accordingly.

The Hon'ble Mr. R. C. DUTT moved that the proviso to sub-section (2) of section 12 be omitted. He said:—

"This is a new provision which has no place in the existing Act, and the operation of this provision is likely to be attended with a great deal of hardship to judgment-debtors. It requires that before a judgment-debtor can file his objection, he may be called upon to pay the full amount which is alleged to be due from him. I do not think there is any real necessity for this provision, and I think the working of it is likely to be attended with a great deal of hardship. I will state a recent instance which will show that the operation of this provision is likely to choke off reasonable objections and compel people to go to the Civil Court. Many villages in the Burdwan and Hooghly districts are irrigated by water from the Eden Canal, for which the Government realises a moderate water-rate. It is impossible for the Government to accept a contract from every particular villager whose fields are irrigated, and therefore one or two leading men in every village come forward for the whole of the villagers and undertake to pay for all the villagers whose fields are irrigated. Either last year or the year before, a man who agreed on behalf of all the villagers to pay a large sum of money did not pay in advance, and the Engineer stopped the irrigation of that village altogether, and then sent a requisition for the collection of the rate for water which was not supplied. The man said he had been sufficiently punished by not getting water; why should he pay the water-rate over and above that. A case like this ought to be fairly gone into, but this new proviso may compel such a man to pay the whole of the money down before he can raise such an objection. This man had undertaken to pay for a number of co-villagers, and it would be impossible for him to get the money from his co-villagers who had not got the water, and he to pay it within 15 days. The new proviso is likely therefore to be attended with a great deal of hardship, and it is not practically necessary. Under the present Act we are succeeding in getting money from all defaulters who have money to pay, but if this new provision is enacted, it is likely to be very harsh in its operation."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"I do not know whether the hon'ble member who moves this amendment has noticed that it is not meant to be a compulsory provision, and the wording makes that very clear. In the case to which he referred I cannot imagine it possible that a deposit of the full amount would be demanded. But there may be cases in which a merely frivolous petition is put in to gain time, and in a case of that sort the Select Committee were of opinion that some reasonable course of action should be open to the Certificate Officer with the view of preventing the certificate procedure being practically laughed at. We have therefore provided that if the Certificate Officer sees fit he may call upon the judgment-debtor to deposit the amount, but not when the petition alleges payment in full, as the petition has to be verified in a special way and the verifier renders himself liable to very serious pains and penalties if he makes a false verification. Therefore, in that particular case we do not require the Certificate Officer to act on this provision, but we think it sufficient for the Certificate Officer to possess this power with a view to prevent the filing of frivolous objections. I cannot, however, suppose that it will often lead to such hardships as occurred in the unique case which the hon'ble member has just mentioned. Therefore I think we ought to take this power in the Act, although it may not be necessary to often use it."

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT in reply said:—"The hon'ble member thinks it is not likely that the Certificate Officer will use this power in cases of the nature to which I have just referred. We should, however, remember that the Certificate Officer is responsible for the collections, and that he is naturally inclined to look to the collections first, and to leave other questions for consideration later on; he may, therefore, be tempted to ask the man to pay the amount before he will listen to the objection. It is better, therefore, to omit this proviso, and, as I have said, under the present Act we do not feel any inconvenience."

The Hon'ble Mr. LYALL said:—"I wish, with your Honour's permission, to say a word in regard to the slur which the hon'ble mover of the amendment has cast upon the officers who are working the Certificate Act. I have found those officers do their duty strictly and in a straightforward way, and I should be wrong to pass over such an imputation as has been cast upon them by the hon'ble member."

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT explained:—"I certainly had not the least intention to cast any slur upon these gentlemen. I only said that an officer whose duty it is to collect is naturally inclined to look to the collections first. I have the highest respect for the class of Deputy Collectors from among whom Certificate Officers are appointed, and many of them are my personal friends, and I certainly never meant to cast any slur or imputation upon them."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The proviso which it is proposed to omit was suggested to us by the High Court, but I cannot say that I feel very strongly about it, and what has fallen from the hon'ble mover of the amendment shows that there is just a possibility of hardship attending its operation. I am sure, however, that the hon'ble member did not mean to cast any aspersions upon the officers who will have to exercise the proposed power. The Government would wish in respect of this amendment to be guided by the feeling of the majority of the Council."

The Motion being put, the Council divided :—

So the Motion was carried.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice that in line 3 of the proviso to section 12, after the words "alleged in the petition" the words "or when he is satisfied that the objection is made in good faith" be inserted.

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT moved that the proviso to sub-section (2) of section 13 be omitted. He said :—

"This proviso enables the Collector to suspend proceedings for six months in cases of doubt. My only reason for proposing its omission is, that the proviso seems to me to be very vague. It does not lay down any special procedure, and it is not quite clear what is to be done after the proceedings before the Collector are suspended for six months. I may point out that there is a parallel provision in the Land Registration Act, to the effect that when a Collector has any doubt as regards a point of law, he may suspend his orders and refer the issues for the decision of the Judge, and then, on receiving the decision of the Judge, he may proceed accordingly. I do not find that such a provision has been made in this Bill, nor is there anything to show the intention of this proviso. Is it intended that the judgment-debtor should go to the Civil Court and prove a negative, namely, that nothing is due from him, or is it intended that the Collector should go to the Civil Court and find out whether any claim can be legally made or not? If, on the other hand, it is proposed to make provision like that in the Land Registration Act, I shall be very glad to accept it."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"The form which this proviso should take was a matter of considerable discussion in Select Committee. We at one time thought of adopting almost exactly the words of section 55 of the Land Registration Act, that the Collector should refer the petition to the Civil Court. We discussed all the alternatives, but for some reasons we thought it better to adopt the present language. The Collector may refer the petitioner to the Civil Court, but the man may not go; so we thought the best form of provision to adopt was that the Certificate Officer should suspend proceedings, and that will give the petitioner the opportunity of considering the situation and going to the Civil Court during the six months. If the judgment-debtor does not go to the Civil Court during that time, then the certificate will become absolute. I am not particularly enamoured with the wording of the proviso, and if something better is suggested, I shall be happy to accept it; but I will repeat that, with section 55 of the Land Registration Act before us, we deliberately adopted these words as being the best under the circumstances."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"I desire to add a word or two in explanation of the reason which influenced me as a member of the Select Committee in leaving the proviso as it is. Both the hon'ble speakers have referred to section 55 of the Land Registration Act. Under that Act a case is referred for the decision of the Civil Court, but under the Certificate Act there is no case to refer. We also had section 24 of the Partition Act before us, and under that section the proceedings are simply hung up for a certain time. All that we provide in the Bill is that the Collector, if he considers a case is a fit one for the decision of the Civil Court, shall hang up the proceedings and allow the parties to take it to the Civil Court, and himself go on with the proceedings under section 16 after that time lapses."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose said:—"It seems to me that the last suggestion made by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill will meet the requirements of the case. The mere omission of the proviso will not attain the object which my hon'ble friend, the mover of the amendment, has in view. The proviso in the Bill is so worded that it makes no provision for the reference of the petition to the Civil Court. In the Report of the Select Committee this matter is put thus:—

'The idea of referring hard cases to a Civil Court, which found place in the proviso to section 13, sub-section (2) of the original Bill, has been maintained in the corresponding provision of this Bill, but it is considered necessary to limit to six months the period within which the opportunity of bringing a suit may be taken.'

"The proviso does not say that a reference is to be made to the Civil Court, but the idea was that such a reference should be made in any case which, in the opinion of the Collector, is a fit case for the decision of the Civil Court. I cannot see any objection to say that the Collector when he thinks fit may refer a case to the Civil Court."

The Hon'ble Maulvi Serajul Islam, Khan Bahadur, said:—"I think this is a very wholesome provision, and that it ought to be retained. The reasons urged by the hon'ble mover of the amendment do not point to the omission of the proviso but to an alteration of its wording. If section 55 of the Land Registration Act can be made applicable, then the Collector would have power to refer the matter to the Civil Court. The existence of this proviso in the Bill will show that the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill is anxious to give the judgment-debtor every opportunity to show that he is not liable to the payment demanded from him."

The Motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee moved that in line 5 of section 15, the words "from the date of the determination of the objection" to the end of the sentence be omitted, and that in their place the following be substituted:—

'from the service upon him of notice under section ten, or, if he files a petition of objection under section twelve, from the date of the determination thereof, or, if he appeals under section eighteen, from the date of the decision of such appeal, bring a suit in the Civil Court to have the said certificate cancelled or modified on the ground that the arrears stated therein were not due by him.'

He said:—"There are two classes of judgment-debtors referred to in this Bill—one mentioned in section 6, the other in section 8. Section 6 of the Bill lays down the conditions as regards time within which a judgment-debtor may bring a suit in the Civil Court to contest the certificate. Section 15 does the same as regards judgment-debtors mentioned in section 8. But the conditions are not the same. There is an important omission in section 15 of the Bill, which does not occur in section 6. Under section 6 a judgment-debtor may bring a suit to contest a certificate in a Civil Court within six months from the service of notice, or from the determination of the objection or the decision of the appeal by the revenue authorities. Under section 15, he may bring a suit within six months from the determination of the objection. What if six months elapse before the determination of the objection by the revenue authorities? Then he loses his right of contesting the certificate in a Civil Court. The object of this amendment is to place both classes of judgment-debtors as regards the time within which they are to bring a suit in the Civil Court on the same footing, so that section 15 may follow the lines of section 6. I hope the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill will see his way to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"I am prepared to accept the greater part of the hon'ble gentleman's amendment, the object of which, as he rightly said, is to bring the sections 15 and 6 into harmony. On looking over the sections more carefully, I am not quite sure if I can accept the whole of the amendment. The last few words say, that a suit may be brought in the Civil Court to have the certificate cancelled or modified on the ground that the arrears stated therein were not due by him. Section 17 goes on to state the grounds upon which certificates can be cancelled or modified. I quite see that in section 6 (2) we have left in these words, but I am inclined to think that they ought to come out of section 6 (2) and not be inserted in section 15 as proposed by the hon'ble mover of the amendment. I think it will be bad drafting to adopt in other sections a different wording suggesting the possibility of other grounds on which a certificate may be cancelled or modified. There is also another point to which I should refer. The amendment refers to appeals under section 18, but it should be section 19."

The Motion was put to the vote and agreed to in the following amended form:—

That in line 5 of section 15, the words "from the date of the determination of the objection" to the end of the sentence, be omitted, and that in their place the following be substituted:—

'from the service upon him of notice under section ten, or if he files a petition of objection under section twelve, from the date of the determination thereof, or if he appeals under section nineteen, from the date of the decision of such appeal, bring a suit in the Civil Court to have the said certificate cancelled or modified.'

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE also moved that the following be added after clause (b) of section 17:—

'That in the case of fines imposed, or costs, charges, expenses, damages, duties, or fees adjudged by a Collector or a public officer under the provisions of any Regulation or Act for the time being in force, the proceedings of such Collector or public officer were not in substantial conformity with the provisions of such Regulation or Act, and that in consequence the judgment-debtor under the certificate suffered substantial injury from some error, defect, or irregularity in such proceedings.'

He said:—"Section 17 states the grounds upon which certificates may be cancelled or modified. Commenting upon this section in the present law, the Select Committee observe that they have amplified its spirit. My amendment follows the spirit of the modification recognized by the Select Committee. What I contend for is, that the certificate should be cancelled when there have been grave irregularities on the part of the Certificate Officer, attended with substantial injury to the party concerned. This is the existing law. I do not ask for the creation of technical difficulties in the way of the Certificate Officer, nor do I wish that the judgment-debtor should obtain any technical advantage, but what I venture to urge is, and I am perfectly certain that the Council will agree with me, that where there has been any grave irregularity on the part of the Certificate Officer, and the judgment-debtor has suffered any substantial injury therefrom, he should have some remedy. It cannot be the intention of the Government that irregularities of this kind entailing serious hardship or even loss should hold good in law, and I am sure the principle will commend itself to the Council."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"I am afraid I cannot promise to meet the hon'ble member quite so readily in regard to this amendment as I did on the last occasion. He asks us to restore a section of the existing Act, which has been deliberately cut out, more in deference to the opinion of the High Court than that of any other authority who has reported upon the Bill. The opinion of the High Court was that directly after a certificate has been filed the Civil Court should intervene to enforce it. I wish to bring this clearly to the notice of the Council and that they will bear it in mind. They say:—

'If the intervention of the Civil Court be thus made before and not after the certificate is enforced, there would seem to the Judges to be no reason for setting aside the certificate on the ground of any irregularity; for if any irregularity has occurred of such a kind as to place the judgment-debtor at a disadvantage, the remedy would naturally be to delay the execution for a reasonable time.'

"We do not propose on behalf of Government to allow the Civil Court to undertake the execution of the certificate. We have always been of opinion that the Revenue Courts are just as capable as the Civil Courts to execute decrees; therefore we have accepted the principle of the High Court's suggestion that a certificate should not be set aside on the ground of irregularity, and we consider that the Revenue Courts will take as much care in the enforcement of decrees as the Civil Courts do. When we addressed the Government of India on the 29th May, 1893, on the subject of this Bill, we stated that we could not accept the High Court's suggestion, that execution should be carried out by the Civil Court, but we went on to say that:—

'The rest of the suggestions made by the High Court under this head appears to the Lieutenant-Governor to be eminently wise and sound. He further concurs in their objection to the double series of litigation which is now open to parties—one before the Revenue Authorities and another before the Civil Courts; and he adopts their view that there should be no setting aside of the certificate after it has been carried into effect, on the ground of irregularity, and that no objection should be taken on the ground of jurisdiction. No suit should be allowed to lie for the purpose of questioning the certificate or invalidating the sale thereunder. It is true that the Hon'ble Judges recommend this course only on condition that the execution case should be transferred, as above explained, to the Civil Courts; but Sir Charles Elliott submits that the same arguments apply to the present system, so long as the procedure in the Revenue Courts is as careful and accurate as that of any Civil Court, and follows the same procedure.'

"The proposal of the Bill is, that all those matters connected with the issue of certificates should be dealt with by the Revenue Courts who are perfectly competent to examine these questions thoroughly and carefully. There will be an appeal to the Collector, or to the Commissioner from original orders of the Collector, and there will be the revisional power of the Commissioner to ensure perfect regularity with regard to the issue of certificates. Therefore we propose that in section 17 the grounds for cancelling or modifying certificates which will be open to the Civil Court should be confined to the grounds of previous payment or non-indebtedness. The use of the little word 'duly' in the beginning of the section will enable any Court to interfere if there has been any substantial irregularity. The section provides that no certificate duly made shall be cancelled, &c. If there has been any substantial irregularities in the making of a certificate, it can hardly be said to have been duly made, and if it has not been 'duly' made, it will be liable to cancelment or modification. There is of course the section in the Code of Civil Procedure which admits of a sale under a certificate being set aside on the ground of material irregularity in publication, but that refers to sales. We are dealing now with the question of cancellation or modification of a certificate, and we say that we have made sufficient provision to prevent any injustice or harm being done to the judgment-debtor when we provide that questions of irregularity should be considered by the Revenue Courts, the plea of non-indebtedness being dealt with by the Civil Court. I am therefore unable to accept this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE said :—"I desire to point out that the suggestion of the High Court in regard to this matter is conditional on the Civil Court being allowed to intervene in the first instance."

The Motion being put, the Council divided :—

The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon.
The Hon'ble Sir John Lambert.

So the Motion was carried.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE also moved that the following be added to section 17 and marked clause (d):—

Want of jurisdiction.

He said:—"I move that section 17 be so modified that a certificate may be cancelled if it is made by an officer without jurisdiction. A certificate made without jurisdiction is really a certificate not 'duly' made: it is carelessly and perfunctorily made, and is therefore liable to be attended with hardship and injustice to the judgment-debtor."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"This provision was struck out of the law on the suggestion of the High Court. In making the remarks I made just now, I particularly drew attention to the fact that the High Court had coupled their suggestion about certificates irregularly made with a condition, and that we proposed to omit the condition while preserving their suggestion. I say this by way of explanation, because the Hon'ble MR. GHOSE appeared to think that I had not borne that point in mind, but in regard to this particular suggestion of the High Court, I may observe that they say nothing about the intervention of the Civil Court. They remark as to this point:—

'Nor would the Judges allow any objection to be taken on the ground of jurisdiction. They do not see why a debtor to the Crown should be permitted to raise questions, often very difficult to solve, as to the boundaries between administrative districts; and they would therefore limit his right strictly to disputing his indebtedness. If this system were adopted no subsequent suit should be allowed to lie for the purpose of questioning the certificate or invalidating the sale thereunder by reason of one or the other not being warranted by the Act.'

"That is quite a different matter to the question of jurisdiction which the hon'ble mover of the amendment has in view. 'Want of jurisdiction' is a comprehensive term which may include several things, but I understand that the High Court mean that if a certificate is 'duly' made, this plea of 'want of jurisdiction' should not be allowed to be urged, and there I intended to leave it."

The Hon'ble MR. WILKINS said:—"I think the High Court may have referred solely to territorial jurisdiction, not to the jurisdiction of an officer who has no power. I find it has been ruled by the High Court that the procedure laid down by Act VII (B.C.) of 1880 must be very strictly followed, and therefore it is absolutely incumbent on the Court, in criticising the validity of a sale, to insist upon compliance with formalities, and one of the formalities is, that the officer has power to do certain acts which justify him in issuing a certificate. A certificate not 'duly' made is not only liable to be set aside, but is absolutely void, and the Hon'ble Judges are supported in that view by a decision of the Privy Council. Therefore a certificate issued by an officer who has no power to issue it is absolutely null and void, and we do not want this clause regarding want of jurisdiction."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"To insert the words 'want of jurisdiction'' will be to have a contradiction of terms. How can a certificate be made if there is no jurisdiction? Every certificate 'duly' made is made with jurisdiction: if it is not made with jurisdiction, it is not 'duly' made."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"With great respect to the learned Advocate-General, I will point out that the words of the original Act are [section 8 (b)]: 'Provided that no certificate duly made under the provisions of this Act shall be cancelled by the Civil Court otherwise than under one or more of the following grounds', and one of those grounds is 'want of jurisdiction.' As the learned Legal Remembrancer said, 'want of jurisdiction' will no doubt make everything null and void, and it may not be necessary to mention this particular ground in the Act, but the difficulty is that this is one of the grounds specified in the original Act, and the omission of these words may create a difficulty."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"As a member of the Select Committee I desire to state that I agreed to the omission of these words solely on the ground of tautology. We have the words 'duly made,' and we do not require the same thing stated again."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE in reply said:—"If these words are omitted from the law now, the inference will be irresistible that want of jurisdiction is not one of the grounds on which a certificate can be cancelled. If, under the present Bill, a certificate made without jurisdiction must necessarily be cancelled as a certificate not duly made, I have nothing further to say; but it has been pointed out that there would be a difficulty unless 'want of jurisdiction' was specifically stated as one of the grounds which would make a certificate null and void."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think this motion stands in a very different position from the amendment which the Council has just accepted. There it would have been possible that grave and substantial injury might have been suffered; here we have only the removal from the mouth of the objector of a technical objection. No real injury will be suffered by the judgment-debtor, but he will have this technical advantage which I do not think he should have."

The Motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, moved that in line 1 of sub-section (1) of section 19, after the words "an appeal from any order" the word "whatsoever" be inserted. He said:—

"I am not sure that I am happy in the wording of my amendment. My object is to make the law self-contained, as the hon'ble mover of the Bill himself desires. If that is our object, then section 19 ought to provide for appeals against orders of every kind. It has been decided by the Board of Revenue and by the High Court that the words 'any order' in section 16 of the present Act refer to orders under the preceding sections—appeals against orders passed upon a petition filed under section 12—and that it gives no jurisdiction as regards proceedings under section 19. That being so, the words 'an appeal from any order' will not cover an appeal against an order of sale. We are in this position that this section does not give a right of appeal against an order of sale; therefore I submit that some words should be added which will provide a right of appeal against an order of sale."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"It is simply a question of language whether the words 'any order' meant any order or not. I should have thought that 'any order' ought to be sufficient. I cannot find any difference between 'any order' and 'any order whatsoever.'"

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, in reply said:—"I will refer the hon'ble member to the Resolution of the Board of Revenue. Section 16 of the present Act is the same as section 19 of this Bill, the only difference being that an appeal from an original order of the Collecter should be presented to the Commissioner within thirty days. But the true meaning of the section is to be ascertained by comparing it with the section of the old law which it superseded, namely section 23 of Act VII of 1868. The place of the section in the Act shows clearly that the appeals referred to there are appeals against orders passed on petitions filed under section 12, and that section 16 gives no jurisdiction as regards proceedings under section 19; so that a doubt is thrown as to whether the words 'an appeal from any order' refer to orders directing sales."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"I venture to think that there is no real difference between the hon'ble member and the Select Committee. I fancy it is not his wish that every ad-interim order given by a Deputy Collector, in the course of granting a certificate, should be appealable: that no one can desire; but all the hon'ble member wishes is, that the provision should be so drafted that there shall be an appeal against orders of sale. I submit that there is no objection to that, and that it is only a question of drafting."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I understand the Hon'ble the Advocate-General's opinion to be that the addition of the word 'whatsoever' will not affect the question at all; that nothing will be gained by so doing, and that the words 'any order' necessarily include orders of sale or attachment, or order for imprisonment, or any order that may be passed."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, in conclusion said:—"My object has been very correctly explained by the Hon'ble MR. LYALL, namely, to give an appeal against an order of sale. If the language of the Bill gives a right of appeal in the case of orders of sale, I am willing to withdraw the motion."

The Motion was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT moved that in sub-section (1) of section 19 for "15 days" the words "thirty days" be substituted. He said:—

"This is a re-enactment of section 16 of the Act, which allows an appeal from the Deputy Collector to the Divisional Commissioner. It has been thought necessary to make these orders appealable to the District Collector. I do not think that will make any difference in the working of the Act. Section 16 allowed thirty days to the judgment-debtor to prefer an appeal, but that has been cut down to fifteen days, presumably because the appeal now lies to the Collector and not to the Commissioner. That will make no difference to the judgment-debtor, because appeals made to the Commissioner from districts other than the Commissioner's head-quarters are made through the Post Office; so that an appeal to the Commissioner really does not require more time than an appeal to the Collector, and I do not see why the time should be reduced in the case of an appeal to the Collector."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"I am afraid the hon'ble member who moved this amendment can hardly have made a careful reference to the original Act. If he compares it with section 19 (1)(a), he will see that appeals from the officers named may be preferred to the District Collector within fifteen days. Then the section goes on to say that appeals from a District Collector's original order may be made within thirty days. I think the hon'ble gentleman is labouring under some mistake. I am not aware of any necessity for altering the existing law with regard to the number of days allowed for appeals."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"On receiving notice of this amendment I looked up the time allowed in similar cases. I find that the general rule (Board's Rules, page 118) provides a period of fifteen days where the period is not regulated by law Then, looking into certain enactments, I find that under the Land Registration Act (section 85) the period is fifteen days; in the Agrarian Disturbances Act the period is fifteen days; in the Partition Act, when the matter is simply a question of fact, the term is fifteen days, but when a question of law is concerned and the party has to consult his legal advisers, the term is extended to thirty days. In the present case it is well to have a rapid appeal to decide the question whether money is payable or not, and I see no reason for extending the period of appeal from fifteen to thirty days."

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT in reply said:—"I am afraid I did not sufficiently explain myself. Under the existing law, 'Collector' means a Deputy Collector in charge of certificate work. That is the definition of 'Collector.' Under section 4 of the Act, any Deputy Collector who performs the work of a Certificate Officer is a 'Collector,' and appeals from his orders are preferred to the Commissioner within one month. Under the wording of this Bill, the Deputy Collector in charge of certificate work is not a 'Collector,' but only a 'Certificate Officer,' and the appeal to the District Collector from the Certificate Officer must be made within fifteen days. That will be really tantamount to reducing the time of appeal from the orders of the Certificate Officer from thirty days to fifteen days. I submit that this reduction of time should not be allowed, and that this amendment should be accepted."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think it must be admitted that although there has been a change in the name of the Certificate Officer, the person who will be the Certificate Officer will be the same as at present. An appeal within the district is to be made within fifteen days; an appeal to the Commissioner outside the district is to be made within thirty days. In that respect no change has been made."

The Motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE moved that in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 19, the word "original" be omitted. He said:—

"The object of this amendment is to give a right of appeal from orders passed by the Collector as an Appellate Court to the Commissioner of the Division. Under the Bill, only original orders passed by the Collector are appealable. I want to give the judgment-debtor double protection--first by allowing him a right of appeal from the Certificate Officer to the Collector, and then an appeal from the Collector to the Commissioner of the Division. I think he enjoys that privilege now, and no case has been made out for depriving him of it."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"I must oppose this motion. There will be ample provision for the prevention of injustice if one appeal from the orders of a Certificate Officer is allowed to the District Collector, and a revisional power is vested in the Commissioner, with a right of appeal from the original order of a District Collector to the Commissioner. The matter has been carefully thought out, and it is considered most desirable that such cases should be brought to a conclusion, and that when opportunity for one appeal is given, there should be an end of it. The idea of allowing two appeals should not be encouraged by the Legislature. It is not that I wish in the least to prevent people from getting their rights, but when a man has had an appeal and can move the Commissioner for a revision, I think he has had ample opportunity for getting justice done to him. I think it would do more harm than good to multiply opportunities for appeal. If I thought there would be a greater chance of justice being done, no one would be more ready than myself to accept this amendment, but I think the judgment-debtor is sufficiently protected by one appeal to the Collector and the revisional power of the Commissioner. He has also power to file a suit in the Civil Court."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE in reply said:—"I am not convinced. Opportunities for appeal mean so many safeguards. I am not in favour of multiplying appeals; but as this privilege is one that I understand is allowed under the existing law it appears to me that no case has been made out for withdrawing it."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think the hon'ble member is making a mistake. Under section 19 of the existing law no appeal is allowed as a matter of right from the Collector in appeal, and we are maintaining the existing state of things."

The Motion was, by leave, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice, that the following proviso be added after sub-section (1) of section 19:—

'Provided that in either case the time requisite for obtaining a copy of the order shall be excluded.'

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice, that sub-section (2) of section 19 be omitted.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice, that in line 1 of section 20, for the words "no appeal as of right" the words "an appeal to the Commissioner of the Division" be substituted, and that the concluding words of the section, commencing with the words "but the Commissioner may" to the end of the sentence, be omitted.

The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE moved that at the end of sub-section (2) of section 19, the words "other than the officer against whose order such appeal is preferred" be added.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, moved that in sub-section (1) of section 21, for the words "section eight" the words "this Act or any person claiming through him" be substituted.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Perhaps it will save time if I explain that the substitution of the words 'this Act' for 'section eight' is accepted by the Government. We have some doubt as to the utility of the words 'or any person claiming through him."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, continued:—"The necessity for this amendment has arisen in consequence of a Full Bench ruling of the High Court concerning section 174 of the Tenancy Act, that the words 'judgment-debtor' mean judgment-debtor alone, and do not include an assignee or transferee. Therefore I wish to provide that either the judgment-debtor or his transferee or his heir should have the privilege of depositing the money, that is to say, that the privilege should extend to the judgment-debtor or his representatives."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I think that, under these circumstances, the amendment should be accepted."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT moved that in section 22, the words beginning with "with interest" and ending with "and costs" be omitted. He said:—

"There has been some correspondence on this subject. The Legal Remembrancer was referred to, and he gave his opinion that interest falling due after a certificate is made cannot be included in it, and therefore the necessity arises of making a fresh certificate. I think the object of this provision is to avoid the making of a fresh certificate and to enable us to realize the amount due under a certificate with interest up to the date of realization. The difficulty is that when we make a certificate, we do not know when the money will be realised. It may take six months, it may take only one month. When the peon goes to the spot and the man pays the money, who is to calculate the amount of interest due up to that date and how is it to be realised? On enquiry I find that at present interest for small periods is not realised. If the money is paid within a month or two, we do not charge interest; but when the period extends over a year, a fresh certificate for the interest may be filed. But this section authorises the realization of any interest which may fall due between the date of the certificate and the date of the recovery of the money."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"The point of the objection raised by the hon'ble member is as to the calculation of interest up to the date of realization. I am quite willing to accept any form of words which will require the interest which has accrued to be specified in the certificate. I would certainly not leave it to be calculated by the peon from the date of the issue of the certificate up to the date of realization."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"I think the object of the alteration proposed in this section has not been understood by the hon'ble mover of the amendment. He has quoted the opinion of the Legal Remembrancer. The change now proposed was made at the instance of the Board of Revenue in the interest of debtors in consequence of the opinion quoted. It seemed to the Board quite unnecessary to saddle debtors with the cost of two certificates when it is so easy in cases of delay in realisation to include the interest in the original certificate. It was never intended to allow a peon to realize interest up to the date of payment. All that was intended was that any sum entered in the certificate as interest and costs should be realized. That is the object of the alteration, but if the object has not been properly expressed, this wording of the section be amended. There is no reason why the Government should lose interest when it is due. At the same time it is hard that on account of interest a man should have to pay the whole cost of a second certificate."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said :—"Perhaps the hon'ble member's object will be met if we undertake to issue orders confining the charging of interest to some considerable period of time, say six months. At present first a notice is served, then follows attachment and sale; when property is sold the nazir calculates the interest and realizes it from the proceeds. I think the hon'ble member's object will be satisfied if the Board will issue orders carrying out the idea he has in view."

The Motion was then, by leave, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND moved that in sub-section (2) of section 23, for the words "Chapters XIX and XX" the words "Chapter XIX (with the exception of section 310A) and Chapter XX" be substituted. He said:—

"I made some remarks on this subject this morning, and there is not much left to say. Section 310A was passed last year as an addition to the Code of Civil Procedure. It provides for an application by the judgment-debtor to set aside the sale on deposit of the debt, and the Council will find that section 21 of this Bill is very much on the same lines as section 310A, though it varies in some small details. We cannot have two sections of very much the same character on very much the same subject; we prefer section 21 of our Bill, and therefore we propose to omit section 310A from the incorporation in section 23 of Chapters XIX and XX of the Code of Civil Procedure. As I have already mentioned, it is within the competence of this Council to do this with the sanction of the Governor General previously or subsequently received under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act of 1892. I think this amendment will commend itself to the Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE moved that in sub-section (2) of section 23, for the words "to enforce such certificate and realize the amount recoverable thereunder" the following be substituted:—

'for enforcing such certificate and realizing the amount recoverable thereunder, and for setting aside any sale held in the course of such execution proceedings, for such reasons for which execution sales are set aside under the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code.'

He said:—"As the Government has already intimated its acceptance of this amendment, it is not necessary for me to say anything in support of it."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, by leave of the Council, withdrew the motion of which he had given notice, that in sub-section (2) of section 23, for the words "to enforce such certificate and realise the amount recoverable thereunder" the words "in respect to such certificate" be substituted.

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT moved that the following proviso be added at the end of section 23:—

'Provided that if the amount of which a certificate is made under the provisions of sections five, seven, or nine, or any portion of such amount be not realized within three years from the date of the certificate, the certificate will cease to be in force in respect of such unrealized amount.'

He said:—"I admit that this amendment is not very happily worded, I shall therefore ask permission to withdraw it and to give notice of a fresh amendment empowering the District Collector to strike off all certificates which are absolutely hopeless and under which it is not possible to realise any money."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I think there is no necessity for this amendment. The Lieutenant-Governor and the Board of Revenue can always give orders for the cancellation of certificates which are unrealizable."

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT in reply said:—"The practice is to keep these very old certificates in the Wards' department alive after we are convinced that their enforcement is practically hopeless. This practice only impedes work. I want power to strike off these certificates, even if proceedings in execution have been taken within three years. The difficulty lies in the fact that managers of Wards' estates will not consent to withdraw them. There are outstanding certificates in Burdwan of eight and ten years' standing, and when the estates are made over to their owners, these certificates remain, and owners will not consent to withdraw them."

The Motion was, by leave, withdrawn.

The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE moved that in section 33, the words between the words "Provided that" and the words "be sent" be omitted, and that the words "whenever the debtor is not personally served the notice shall" be inserted. He said:—

"Practical experience has shown that peons very often do not go anywhere near the place of service, and make absolutely false reports of service. Hon'ble members will, I am sure, agree with me that greater confidence is reposed by the public on postal service than on service by peons. I do not see that there is any question of principle involved in this amendment which should induce the Government to oppose it. If by throwing a little additional work on the Post Office, we can make service more satisfactory, I think the object in view will be secured."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"I made some remarks upon this section in my opening statement, and I do not see any reason to alter what I then said, that in framing this section the Select Committee adopted the very last improvement of the Imperial Legislature, and, until we have some reason to believe that it does not work well, we are very loth to go any further. I think it will be very objectionable to make it compulsory to issue these notices by post; we have therefore made it permissive."

The Hon'ble MR. WILKINS said:—"I may point out that the mode of service of notice in section 33 is very similar to that for many years observed for service under the Civil Procedure Code, under which, in the case of persons of consideration, the Court may substitute for a summons a letter which may be sent by post or by messenger This section goes a good deal beyond even the Code, for it empowers the Certificate Officer to send notice by post in any case, and not only when the person to be served with notice is a person of rank. If the order to send a notice by registered letter is made compulsory in every case in which personal service cannot be had, the judgment-debtor has only to refuse to sign the receipt, and then there will be no service at all; and even if the receipt is signed, there must be evidence to show that the judgment-debtor and not somebody else signed his name. There will be no evidence readily available to prove this, and the proviso to section 33 is intended to be made use of only under circumstances similar to those given in section 91 of the Code or in other exceptional cases which may arise; and to such cases it should, in my opinion, be restricted."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think that on the part of the Government I must agree with the view which has been expressed by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, that the most recent Act passed by the highest authority should for the present guide our proceedings, and that hereafter, if any defect is found in this mode of service, it will be time to alter it."

The Motion was put and negatived.

The Council adjourned to Saturday, the 9th instant.

CALCUTTA;
The 2nd April, 1895.

GORDON LEITH,
Assistant Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal,
Legislative Department.

WEATHER AND CROP REPORT.

Burdwan.—Rainfall nil. Weather seasonable. Rabi harvest nearly completed. Price of common rice varies from 10 to 21 seers per rupee in the district.

Midnapore.—Rainfall nil. Weather hot. Boro (spring rice) and indigo doing well. Fodder and water sufficient. Common rice sells from 17 to 21 seers per rupee.

24-Parganas.—Rainfall nil. Weather seasonable. Prospects good. Condition of cattle good. Fodder and water sufficient. Rice sells at—

	Srs.	Ch.
Sadar	12 to 13	0	per rupee.
Barasat	16	0
Basirhat	20	0
Diamond Harbour	15	0

Murshidabad.—Rainfall ·53. Weather hot. Sowing of til (sesamum) nearly finished. Harvesting of rabi crops continues. Indigo and mulberry doing well. Fodder available. Common rice sells at 15 seers per rupee.

Khulna.—Rainfall nil. Weather seasonable. Harvesting of rabi crops nearly over. Threshing of aman going on. Boro (spring rice) doing well. Common rice sells at from 18 to 22 seers per rupee. Fodder and water sufficient.

Dinajpur.—Rainfall ·04. Weather hot, but mornings and evenings still cool. Cultivation of jute and bhadoi rice going on. Common rice sells at from 15 to 17 seers per rupee. No outbreak of cattle-disease, nor any complaint for fodder and drinking water.

Rangpur.—Rainfall ·41. Aus paddy and jute are still being sown; prospects favourable. Price of common rice 10 to 15 seers per rupee.

Pabna.—Slight rainfall has benefited the cultivation of aus rice and jute and also the standing crops. More rain is required. Fodder and water sufficient. Common rice selling from 14 to 17 seers per rupee.

Dacca.—Rainfall 2·32. Weather seasonable. Prospects of standing crops fair. More rain wanted. Ploughing and sowing of jute and aus going on. Common rice sells from 12 to 18 seers per rupee. No cattle-disease. Fodder available.

Chittagong.—Rainfall nil. Weather warm and occasionally cloudy. Chillies and pulse require rain. Prices steady. Cattle-disease reported from Patia. Water and fodder sufficient.

Patna.—Rainfall ·02. Rabi harvest and opium collection approaching completion. Mango blossoms somewhat injured by unfavourable weather. Common rice selling at 18½ seers per rupee at Sadar and Bihar and 18 seers elsewhere.

Gaya.—Rainfall ·08 at Sadar on Tuesday last (26th March). Weather seasonable. Harvesting of rabi crops going on. Opium collection approaching completion. Prices about normal. Fodder and water sufficient.

Champaran.—Rainfall nil. Harvesting of wheat is in progress. Indigo doing well. Opium collection almost finished. Common rice selling at 16 seers per rupee. Fodder and water for cattle sufficient.

Darbhanga.—Report not received.

Bhagalpur.—Weather hot. North-westerly winds. Rabi harvest proceeding. Wheat and barley are heavy crops. Land is being ploughed for bhadoi. Fodder and water sufficient.

Purnea.—Rainfall ·10. Weather seasonable. Rain is still wanted. Harvesting of rabi crops is in progress. Land is being prepared for bhadoi and aghani crops, and bhadoi rice is being sown in places. Indigo sowings completed; prospects favourable. Price of common rice 15 to 25 seers per rupee. Fodder and water sufficient.

Cuttack.—No rain. Weather seasonable. Dalua (spring rice) harvest is in progress. More rain is wanted for ploughing and for standing crops. Condition of cattle good. Fodder sufficient. Rice sells at from 11 seers 13 chitaks to 23 seers per rupee.

Hazaribagh.—Weather warm. Slight rain in parts. Mahua flowering well. Fodder scanty. Cattle-disease reported. Rice selling average 14 seers per rupee.

General Summary.—There was rain in some of the reporting districts during the week, but, except in Murshidabad (·53), Rangpur (·41), Dacca (2·32) and Purnea (·10), it was insignificant in amount. The rain has assisted preparation of the land for bhadoi rice and jute in Northern Bengal. In parts of Eastern Bengal more rain is still required for the standing crops, notably for the chilly and pulse crops in Chittagong. Spring rice and indigo are doing well. The rabi harvest is proceeding with every prospect of a good outturn. The collection of opium is nearly finished and the weighment is about to begin. In Hazaribagh it is reported that the fodder-supply is scanty and that cattle-disease has appeared. Cattle-disease is also reported from Chittagong. The price of common rice continues generally normal. A slight fall has occurred in some districts.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

REVENUE DEPARTMENT,

VII.—LOCOMOTIVE ENGINES.

Maximum moving dimensions—

(1) The maximum moving dimensions laid down for carriages and wagons apply also to Locomotive Engines.

Weight on a pair of wheels—

(2) Maximum under any circumstances	6 tons.
(3) Maximum per foot of diameter	2·25 „

Weight per foot run of wheel base—

(4) Maximum for either engine or tender separately, in the case of tender engines	1·5 tons.
(5) Maximum for tank engines	2 „

Weight per foot run over buffers—

(6) Maximum for engine and tender together, in the case of tender engines	0·875 tons.
(7) Maximum for tank engines	1 ton.

Total gross weight—

(8) Maximum for engine and tender together, in the case of tender engines	30 tons.
(9) Maximum for tank engines	18 „

N.B.—The weights given above are the maximum permissible under any circumstances with engine in working order and full load of fuel and water.

In exceptional cases engines of weights in excess of the specification given above may be used under the special sanction of the Government of India. Such special sanction must be obtained before the engines are ordered, and the application for sanction must be accompanied by a diagram of the proposed engine, giving full particulars, and by a certificate by the Government Inspector that the bridges on the section over which the engines are intended to work are of sufficient strength.

VIII.—CARRIAGES AND WAGONS.

Maximum moving dimensions—

Maximum width :—

(1) From rail level to a height of 2 feet 2 inches above rail level	7 ft. 6 in.
(2) From a height of 2 feet 2 inches above rail level to a height of 10 feet above rail level	8 feet.

N.B.—These heights are to be taken with the vehicle unloaded and buffer centres at the maximum height of 1 foot 11 inches from rail level. For further details see diagram No. 1.

Maximum height from rail level :—

(3) For unloaded vehicle at centre	10 feet.
(4) For unloaded vehicle at sides	9 ft. 3 in.

Loading gauge for goods in open trucks : —

(5) Maximum width	8 „ 2 „
(6) Maximum height from rail level at centre	8 „ 3 „
(7) Maximum height from rail level at sides	7 „ 3 „

Maximum gross weight—

(8) On any pair of wheels	4 tons.
(9) Per foot run over buffers	0·5 ton.

N.B.—The weights given above are the maximum permissible under any circumstances, with the vehicle fully loaded. The weight on a pair of wheels includes the weight of the wheels, axles, axle-boxes and springs.

Wheel base—

(10) Maximum rigid wheel base for vehicles	9 feet.

Buffers and Couplings—

(11) Central buffers	......
(12) Maximum height above rail level for centres of buffers for unloaded vehicles	1 ft. 11 in.
(13 Minimum height above rail level for centres of buffers for fully loaded vehicles	1 „ 9 „

Height for Floors—

(14) Maximum height above rail level for floor of any vehicle unloaded	2 ft. 5 in.
(15) Minimum height above rail level for floor of any vehicle fully loaded	2 „ 3 „

Wheels and Axles—

(16) Standard wheel gauge, or distance apart for all wheel flanges	2 ft. 3½ in.
(17) Standard diameter on the tread for new wheels ...	1 „ 8 „
(18) Maximum projection for flange of worn tyre below rail level	1 inch.

Roof Lamps—

(19) Standard diameter inside in the clear for rings of carriage roof lamps	8¼ inches.
(20) Standard diameter for carraige roof lamps at level of ring ...	8 „

ESTABLISHMENT.

The 25th March 1895.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns [illegible] wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at le[illegible] ·50 inch of rain has fallen.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 30TH OF MARCH 1895.

AT the close of the previous week weather in Bengal was fine and settled, but a disturbance was shown in North-Western India, which had advanced over the western desert, the centre lying between Bikanir and Jacobabad on the 23rd instant. On the 24th instant, or the first day of the week under review, pressure had fallen moderately to rapidly in Bengal, and was becoming decidedly below the normal; temperature had also risen rapidly, though the day temperatures were decidedly below the normal; humidity was high and cloud proportion was increasing. These changes were apparently induced by the easterly advance of the depression, which was reaching the North-Western Provinces on the 24th, while at the same time a fresh disturbance appeared in the extreme north-west of India, and was largely affecting Quetta and Peshawar. On the 25th instant pressure had again fallen slowly to moderately, and had become in considerable defect, while temperature and humidity had also risen. The sky had become rather heavily clouded over a considerable part of the province, and one or two light showers were reported. The primary depression had again moved eastwards, but it had become of rather diffused character, and on the 25th it was affecting the east of the North-West and Central Provinces, and practically the whole of Bihar, while on the 26th it had again become more diffused and therefore of less importance, and had moved over Central and Eastern Bengal, Assam and Burma. The pressure changes on the 26th clearly indicated the eastward advance of the depression; and while the barometer had fallen in Assam and in Eastern Bengal, a rather rapid increase was reported at the western stations in the Province. Temperature had also again generally risen, and the sky was overcast at many stations, while very numerous stations reported light rain. The extreme northern stations in East and North Bengal, and the Assam stations continued to be affected by the depression on the 27th, and Gnatong reported a heavy snow-storm during which 1·52 inches of rain-water were collected, representing about 15 inches of snow. Over the remainder of the Province, however fine settled weather commenced, and there was a remarkable decrease in the amount of humidity and a smaller decrease of temperature at the western and central stations. On the 28th the depression had quite passed away, and a very rapid increase of pressure occurred, the rise equalling about a sixth of an inch at many stations, while at Dhubri it equalled 0·19". Temperature and humidity on this day began to increase, while on the other hand cloud proportion decreased, and skies became generally almost cloudless. On the 29th and 30th, or the last two days of the week, the changes were unimportant, and fine settled weather of ordinary hot-season character prevailed.

Pressure.—The distribution of pressure during the week has been a little irregular due probably to the slightly disturbed conditions which prevailed during a part of the week. The variations from normal pressure have also been a little irregular, and at some stations slight defects and at others slight excess amounts have been registered, about two-thirds of the stations reporting slight defects. Generally, however, the variations have not been larger than a few thousandths of an inch.

Temperature.—The average mean temperature of the whole province for the week has been 0·6° below the normal, the defect having been largest in Bihar, where it has equalled a degree.

The actual temperatures registered during the week, and their variations from the normal temperature of the season, are clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period:—

Rainfall.—Moderate rain has fallen in East Bengal, which has averaged 0·36 inch, and in North Bengal, which has received 0·23 inch. Slight falls averaging 0·11 inch have been received in South-West Bengal, but the remaining divisions have received practically no rain. In all cases the falls have been decidedly below the normal. In the case of the smaller districts the following have received the largest falls:—In South-West Bengal, Nadia, Murshidabad and Birbhum; in North Bengal, Rangpur, Patna and Rajshahi, and in East Bengal, South Lushai Hills, Dacca and Mymensingh.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the six meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 30th of March 1895:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 5h., 10h., 16h. and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

NOTICES TO MARINERS.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

NOTICE TO MARINERS—No. 53.

[First Publication.]

JAPAN—GULF OF TOKYO.

Passage between Hasiri mizu and Third Fort reopened to navigation.

WITH reference to notice to mariners No. 27, dated 16th February 1895, issued by this office, the British Admiralty has given further notice (No. 131 of 1895) that vessels are now permitted to pass between Hasiri mizu (Hashirimidzu) point and fort No. 3 (Daisan Kaiho), to the northward of that point.

Approximate position on chart No. 2657, fort No. 3, lat. 35° 17′ 10″ N., long. 139° 43′ 35″ E.

The Indian Law Reports.

Published under Authority.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month at Calcutta Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series—one, for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January 1889 the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

PART IV.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Bill was introduced, read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, and referred to a Select Committee, on the 6th April, 1895, and is hereby published with the Statement of Objects and Reasons for general information:—

A Bill to further amend the Calcutta Port Act, 1890.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to further amend the Calcutta Port Act, 1890; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Construction and commencement.

1. (1) This Act shall be read with, and taken as part of, the Calcutta Port Act, 1890.

(2) It shall come into force from the date on which it may be published in the Calcutta Gazette with the assent of the Governor General.

Amendment of section 13.

2. In section 13, in sub-section (2), for the word "this" after the word "under" the words "the last preceding" shall be substituted.

New section 32A.

3. After section 32, the following section shall be inserted:—

"32A. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 57, all fines realized under the last preceding section shall be disposed of in such manner as the Commissioners may think fit.'

Amendment of section 35.

4. In section 35, for sub-section (2), the following shall be substituted:—

"(2) Warehouses and sheds, with all necessary appliances, for receiving and storing goods landed or to be shipped or carried, places suitable for the sampling and selling of such goods. Tramways for the conveyance of passengers or goods, the cars and carriages on the lines of such tramways to be worked with such power only as the Local Government may, from time to time, sanction."

Amendment of section 90.

5. In section 90, after the words "by their servants" the words "or agents" shall be inserted; after the word "discharged" the following proviso shall be inserted:—

"Provided that in the case of cargoes of petroleum it shall be lawful for the Commissioners not only to land the petroleum from all sea-going vessels, but also by their servants or agents to put the petroleum out of the hold and overside such vessels"; and after the word "Provided" the word "further" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 104.

6. In section 104, the words from the words "and also" to the end shall be omitted.

7. After section 104, the following section shall be inserted :—

New section 104A.

"104A. (1) The Commissioners shall also frame scales of tolls for the use of their docks, wharves, quays, stages, jetties and piers by vessels, whether sea-going or not, leviable when the Commissioners permit goods to be landed or shipped by persons other than their own officers and servants.

Commissioners to frame scales of tolls for use of docks, &c., by vessels.

(2) The scales for sea-going vessels and vessels other than sea-going vessels being either the same or different as the Commissioners may think fit."

8. In section 106, after the word "tolls," wherever the same occurs, the words "rates, charges and fees" shall be inserted, the word "any" shall be omitted, and after the word "port" the following shall be inserted :—

Amendment of section 106.

"in respect of such vessels and of persons, whether in charge of, or on board, such vessels, and also in respect of the licensing, registration and regulation of such vessels and persons."

9. In section 108, after the word "all" the words "or any portion or description of" shall be inserted, before the word "vessel" the word "sea-going" shall be inserted, after the word "such" and before the word "tolls" the words "general or differential" shall be inserted, after the word "three" the words and letter "one hundred and four A" shall be inserted, for the word "to" after the word "three" the word "and" shall be substituted and the words "both inclusive" shall be omitted.

Amendment of section 108.

10. In section 109, after the word "such" the words "additional, general or differential" shall be inserted, and after the word "adopted" the following shall be inserted :—

Amendment of section 109.

"with respect to all or any portion or description of goods so landed or shipped as aforesaid, classified by weight, measurement, number of articles or value, and if so resolved, distinguished as between imported and exported goods as to the Commissioners may seem expedient."

11. In section 113, in sub-section (2), after the words "any goods" the words "other than those stored in warehouses declared to be bonded warehouses within the meaning of this Act" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 113.

12. In section 114, in sub-section (1), after the words "any goods" the words "other than those stored in warehouses declared to be bonded warehouses within the meaning of this Act" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 114

13. In section 115, after the words "the said goods" the words "other than those stored in warehouses declared to be bonded warehouses within the meaning of this Act" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 115.

14. In section 116, in sub-section (2), between the word "warehouses" and the words "and," the words "bonded warehouses declared to be such under section one hundred and twenty-two A" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 116.

15. After section 122, the following sections shall be inserted :—

New sections 122A, 122B, 122C and 122D.

"122A. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners, with the previous consent of the Local Government, to declare by notification in the Calcutta Gazette any warehouse, building or godown belonging to the Commissioners to be a bonded warehouse for the purposes of this Act.

Warehouses may be declared bonded warehouses by notification.

"122B. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to store in such bonded warehouses goods landed or received for shipment by them for such time as they may think fit :

Commissioners may store goods in bonded warehouses.

'Provided that in the case of petroleum the Commissioners shall not be liable to compensate the owners thereof for any loss by fire, however arising, or for any deterioration or damage or diminution in quantity by leakage or otherwise, unless such deterioration, damage or diminution has been caused by the negligence of the Commissioners or their servants.

"122C. It shall be lawful for the Commissioners to give, in the manner provided by section fifty-three, general security, by bond or otherwise, for payment of the import duty due on goods stored in bonded warehouses or for the due exportation of such goods. When such security shall have been given by the Commissioners, no further security shall be required by the Chief Customs Authority from any other person to the same effect.

Commissioners may give security for duty on bonded goods.

"122D. Whenever any goods shall have been received by the Commissioners into bonded warehouses, they shall, if required, give to the person from whom they received the same, a warrant signed by the Traffic Manager, or the Secretary to the Commissioners, in the form or to the effect prescribed in the Fourth Schedule, and such warrant shall for all purposes be negotiable by endorsement, and shall entitle the person to whom it may have been endorsed to receive delivery of the goods specified in the warrant on the same terms as the person from whom the goods were received."

Commissioners' warrant for bonded goods.

16. In section 126, in sub-section (1), after clause (a) the following shall be inserted :—

Amendment of section 126.

"(aa) for regulating the manner in which and the conditions under which the loading and discharging of all vessels within the port shall be carried out."

and in clause (b), after the word "warehouses," the words "Bonded warehouses declared to be such under section one hundred and twenty-two A" shall be inserted.

New Schedule.

17. After the third Schedule the following schedule shall be inserted:—

"FOURTH SCHEDULE.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of the Bill is to effect certain necessary changes in the Calcutta Port Act, 1890, and in particular to confer on the Port Commissioners the powers requisite to enable them to facilitate the landing of petroleum. It empowers the Commissioners to employ the proceeds of a Fine Fund in payment of gratuities; to convey passengers as well as goods on their tramways; to frame scales of charges for the landing or shipping of goods from or into sea-going vessels by persons other than their own servants; to levy charges for certain services rendered to boats plying for hire; to substitute for the uniform additional toll now charged under section 108 of the Act different rates of charges on different classes of goods to be calculated in the manner most convenient and expedient for each class; and to make bye-laws in connexion with the landing and shipping of goods at the docks and jetties.

2. Powers are also taken for the Commissioners to put petroleum cargoes out of the hold and over a vessel's side by their servants or by contractors; to declare any of their warehouses to be bonded warehouses; to enter into a general bond with the Customs for the payment of duty on goods stored in their warehouses, and to grant warrants for such goods. In respect of bonded warehouses containing petroleum, the Commissioners are by the Bill exempted from all liability for loss by fire, however arising.

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations under the provisions of the Indian Councils Acts,* 1861 and 1892.

The Council met at the Council Chamber on Saturday, the 9th March, 1895.

Present:

The HON'BLE SIR CHARLES ALFRED ELLIOTT, K.C.S.I., Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, presiding.
The HON'BLE SIR CHARLES PAUL, K.C.I.E., Advocate-General.
The HON'BLE H. J. S. COTTON, C.S.I.
The HON'BLE SIR JOHN LAMBERT, K.C.I.E.
The HON'BLE D. R. LYALL, C.S.I.
The HON'BLE J. A. BOURDILLON.
The HON'BLE MAULVI ABDUL JUBBAR KHAN BAHADUR.
The HON'BLE F. R. S. COLLIER.
The HON'BLE C. E. BUCKLAND.
The HON'BLE C. A. WILKINS.
The HON'BLE ROMESH CHUNDER DUTT, C.I.E.
The HON'BLE SURENDRANATH BANERJEE.
The HON'BLE L. GHOSE.
The HON'BLE MAHARAJA SIR LUCHMESSUR SINGH BAHADUR, K.C.I.E., OF DARBHANGA.
The HON'BLE MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM KHAN BAHADUR.
The HON'BLE W. C. BONNERJEE.
The HON'BLE J. G. WOMACK.
The HON'BLE MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF KHAN BAHADUR.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE asked:—

Will the Government be pleased to state why effect has not yet been given to the recommendation of the Public Service Commission, which has received the sanction of the Secretary of State, to the effect that the post of one of the Under-Secretaries to Government should be given to a member of the Provincial Service? Will the Government now appoint a member of the Provincial Service to the post of an Under-Secretary to Government?

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON replied:—

"The decision of the Government of India and of the Secretary of State referred to by the Hon'ble Member is not to the effect that the post of one of the Under-Secretaries to Government should be given to a member of the Provincial Service The orders go no further than to say that members of the Provincial Service are eligible for such a post.

"In making appointments of this nature the efficiency of the public service ought to be the first consideration. The proper performance of the duties of an Under-Secretary requires exceptional qualifications, and the Lieutenant-Governor has not been able to satisfy himself that any member of the Provincial Service is as well fitted to perform those duties as any of the officers he has hitherto appointed when one of these posts has fallen vacant."

TRANSFER OF THE CHITTAGONG DIVISION.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, asked:—

Whether Government will be pleased to lay on the table the papers, if any, in connection with the proposed transfer of the Chittagong Division from the jurisdiction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to that of the Chief Commissioner of Assam, and to state on what grounds such transfer has been recommended by the Government of Bengal?

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON replied:—

"There are no papers which can be placed on the table regarding the proposed transfer of the Chittagong Division from Bengal to Assam. The question has been under consideration, but is not likely to assume a practical shape until the railway from Chittagong to Assam is open to traffic."

THE BEGUMGANJ MUNSIFI.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, asked:—

Whether Government is aware of the great inconvenience and harassment which the people are put to in consequence of the transfer of the Munsifi at Begumganj, which had been in existence there for about 90 years, to the head-quarters of Noakhali, and whether it has been brought to the notice of Government that the people of the Begumganj chauki are prepared to pay for the erection of a pucka building for the cutchery house, if necessary; and whether in view of such hardship Government would be pleased to reconsider its decision with regard to the location of the said cutchery?

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON replied:—

"Begumganj is very close to the head-quarters of the Noakhali district, and when the Munsifi there was burned down the other day, it was decided by the Lieutenant-Governor, with the concurrence of the High Court, who were consulted in the matter, to transfer the Munsif's Court to the head-quarters of the district. His Honour is aware that petitions opposing this transfer have been sent in, signed by some of the people residing at Begumganj, but he does not believe that the inconvenience to them can be considerable, and he is satisfied that the policy of concentrating Munsifis as far as possible at the head-quarters of districts and subdivisions is desirable and beneficial to the administration of justice."

THE PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY ACT, 1880, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. R. C. DUTT moved that, for the proviso to sub-section (2) of section 13 of the Bill to amend the law relating to the recovery of Public Demands, the following be substituted :—

'Provided that, if in the opinion of the Certificate Officer, the petition involves a bonâ fide claim of right, he shall refer the petition to the District Collector for orders, and the District Collector, if he is satisfied that a bonâ fide claim of right is involved, shall make an order cancelling the certificate.'

He said :—" I have taken the liberty of making one or two verbal alterations in order to adopt the usual legal phraseology. My object was fully explained at the last meeting of the Council, and I need only briefly state now that the proviso to the section as it stands in the Bill is somewhat indefinite, and I want to make it clear that we do not intend to depart from the principle on which we have proceeded so long, namely, that a certificate shall issue only in cases where there is no question of right or title. There is a Board's rule which lays down this principle, and I have drafted the amendment so as to make it clear that this principle shall be adhered to."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—" The Government are prepared to accept this amendment in the form in which it has been altered by the hon'ble member. Perhaps I ought to add a few words of explanation, and at the same time point out that the amendment is now slightly different from the proviso as it was originally drafted. The Government have been much influenced by the fact that the Board have for some time past issued and acted upon a Circular which involves the same principle as the amendment. The result will now be that if we have the concurrent opinion of the Certificate Officer and the District Collector that the petition involves a claim of right, then the certificate shall be struck off. The Government is of opinion that no harm will be done by this proviso, and in fact it makes more definite a ruling than that which we endeavoured to provide for by the proviso to section 13, clause (2). The original idea of referring the parties in these cases to the Civil Court came from the Board of Revenue, and the Select Committee adopted it in a different form of words. The original suggestion was that, if complicated or difficult cases arise, they should be referred to the Civil Court. Now, if this amendment is accepted by the Council, and if difficult and complicated cases arise which do not involve a claim of right, such cases will still have to be decided by the revenue authorities, but such complicated and difficult cases are so very few that they may be disregarded for all practical purposes. Therefore the Government are prepared to accept this amendment in the form of language adopted by the hon'ble member now."

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said :—" In regard to the amendment, I submit that it is in perfect order, and is a workable amendment such as it is desirable to have in the Statute Book."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—" With Your Honour's permission, I beg to move an amendment of a formal character. I may remind the Council that at the last sitting I had the honour of moving an amendment in connection with section 2 of the Bill. What I then urged was, that the omission of certain words from section 2 of the Act created a difficulty as regards the right of appeal by a person whose property has been sold under the Act, and that a doubt was raised in consequence of a ruling in the case of Sadoo Sawares (?) I further pointed out that under a Resolution of the Board of Revenue, Messrs. Cockerell and Reynolds presiding, in connection with section 16 of the Act, they concluded from the position of the section that it did not give a right of appeal to a person whose property is sold. Therefore I moved at that time that some words should be added to one of the sections of this Bill to remove the difficulty, but at the suggestion of the learned Advocate-General I withdrew the motion. But now an addition has been made with regard to sales to make the procedure of Chapter XIX of the Code of Civil Procedure applicable to sales under this Act. That Chapter, however, does not deal with appeals; so that at present there is no right of appeal provided by any section except section 19. If the words in section 19 be construed as giving an appeal in all cases, there will be no difficulty; but as there has been a ruling that the Legislature did not intend to give a right of appeal in case of sales, I now beg to move that the position of sections 19 and 20 be changed, and that they be placed at the end of the Bill."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I at first thought that the section was far from being doubtful, but I have since been considering the matter, and I think the hon'ble member is right, and that it will be desirable to put those two sections at the end of the Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"In deference to the advice of the learned Advocate-General, I have no objection to offer to the arrangement of the sections now proposed. The motion has been sprung upon us at the last moment, and I am not prepared to contest it myself."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed. He said:—

"After the full consideration given to this Bill, section by section, and after the lengthy debates which took place at the last meeting of the Council, I think I may claim that this little measure has been fully and thoroughly threshed out, and I should be doing wrong in taking up the further time of the Council by recapitulating what we have already done."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

THE LAND RECORDS MAINTENANCE BILL.

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"Before calling upon the Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND to bring forward the next motion which stands in his name, I may mention that notice of an amendment has been given by the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE, which I think is out of order. His proposal is, that the motion to refer the Bill to provide for the maintenance of the Records of Rights in Bengal to a Select Committee be postponed until the Bill has been redrafted. I have already pointed out to the hon'ble member, and now mention for the information of the Council, that there is no way of redrafting the Bill except by referring it to a Select Committee. Whatever suggestions hon'ble members may make now will be brought to the notice of the Select Committee, and they will have the power of redrafting the Bill and making any amendments in it they may desire. I understand the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE accepts my interpretation, and is prepared not to make the motion, but to bring forward for the consideration of the Select Committee whatever proposals he has to make."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said:—"In rising to speak to the motion which stands in my name, I shall only remind the Council that a similar motion was before the Council a fortnight ago, and I hope that during the fortnight which has elapsed since the consideration of this Bill was postponed they have had time to consider the numerous reports we have received. We have received valuable suggestions from the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court and independent Associations, also some very useful and very helpful, and some perhaps somewhat impracticable, but on the whole the reports contain a very valuable amount of criticism, which, speaking on behalf of myself and the members of the Government concerned, we cordially welcome. We also have had to consider these reports, and to provisionally make up our minds as to which are worthy of consideration, and which of them can be accepted and which we must decline to accept. But the general conclusion to which we have arrived is, that many of these points will be better discussed in Select Committee. In some cases the criticisms are directed merely to mistakes in drafting, and in others they have merely called attention to little slips and obvious omissions. There are, of course, other debatable points on which it is open to the many gentlemen reporting to hold as many different opinions. Many of the criticisms are directed to show that the Bill as it has been drafted is not a perfect one; that we are quite willing to admit, as we never expected that it would be so regarded. It has always been put forward as a tentative measure in which we expect the co-operation of the Council and the assistance of the classes which will be affected by it.

"The object of the Bill is to take a great step in advance in the registration of tenant rights, and this is not an easy matter to carry out; it is the first time that such an attempt has been formally made in this Council, or, as far as I know, by any Legislature. Many of the principal Acts which are now to be found in the Statute Book have had to go through several editions before they have arrived at anything like maturity. There have been several editions of the Registration Act, and it is perhaps not even yet perfect; there have also been several editions of the Codes of Civil and Criminal Procedure, and the Penal Code has been constantly amended. Therefore we cannot take to ourselves any reproach if this measure which we have now launched is not perfect at all points, and we admit candidly that it is not perfect. But we hope with your co-operation to make it as workable as such an Act can be made, by foreseeing as far as possible objections which can be taken, and doing all we can to anticipate difficulties which are likely to arise in working the measure.

"When I introduced the Bill in Council on the 19th January last, I made some general remarks with regard to the principles of the Bill, somewhat amplifying the Statement of Objects and Reasons which was then presented. I will with your permission to some extent recapitulate what the main principles of the Bill are. Its fundamental principle is that it aims at enabling a record of changes in tenant rights to be maintained automatically, and this it is proposed to do by the establishment of a number of registration offices, and by making it easy for tenants to appear and to register under this Act their transfers and successions, at the same time imposing upon them certain disabilities by way of stimulus to them to encourage them to come forward and register their mutations of tenant rights. The method which it is proposed to adopt to effect this object is somewhat similar to that contained in the Land Registration Act, which records transfers of proprietary rights in what is known as Register D, and from that register Register A of revenue-paying estates and Register B of revenue-free estates are written up from time to time. The modus operandi, if the Bill is passed in its present form, or some similar form as we expect it to be, is to fuse together the systems of registering deeds and of recording transfers of proprietary rights. We propose to adopt the main procedure of the Registration Act of 1877, and to use it so as to get mutations of tenant rights registered under this Bill. The idea is that, where it is compulsory to register a deed now, the registration of mutations should also take place. We also propose that where it is not compulsory now to register a deed, a notice of a transfer or a succession should be filed and registered; and it is further proposed that this notice should be made in a form which should contain all particulars necessary to show what transfer or succession has taken place, and that this notice of mutation should take the place of a deed which would otherwise be registered under the Registration Act. It is not intended in any way to make any revenue out of this Act, but it will be necessary to require certain little charges in the shape of fees to be paid in order to defray the cost of the establishments involved. The question of fees I will allude to at a later stage of my remarks.

"These are the main points of the first part of the Bill. When I introduced the Bill on the 19th January, I mentioned that the opportunity had been taken to provide an alternative procedure for the apportionment of the cost of settlement and survey—an alternative procedure to that contained in section 114 of the Bengal Tenancy Act. That principle has been adopted, as I will afterwards explain, on the recommendation of SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL, who was acting as Lieutenant-Governor in 1893. The idea is to provide for the apportionment of the cost of survey and settlement among the parties interested, and to impose upon the zamindar the duty of collecting the share due from the raiyats unless it is collected by the Settlement Officer in the first instance.

"These are the main principles of the Bill; and with the permission of the Council, I will now go more particularly into the various sections, alluding as may appear desirable to some of the reports and opinions which we have received. On section 2, the Interpretation clause, we have received various suggestions to the effect that more words and expressions should be defined than we have defined in the Bill. It is suggested, for instance, that we should introduce definitions of the words 'proprietor,' 'tenant,' 'holding,' 'village,' 'raiyat,' 'non-occupancy raiyat' and 'holder of estate.' These are very proper and useful suggestions, which will receive due consideration. It is also suggested that we should alter the explanation to be given of the term 'record of rights' so as to include what is known practically as a record of rights, though it may not consist of the documents known as khewat and khatian.

"In section 3 of the Bill it is proposed that all Registrars and Sub-Registrars under the Registration Act shall be Registrars of Mutations under this Bill. It has been suggested that Registrars of Mutations for the purposes of this Bill should be persons who should not also be Sub-Registrars under the Registration Act. That suggestion has not commended itself to the Government. The idea is, that all Sub-Registrars under the Registration Act should have this extra duty of registering mutations imposed upon them, and not that Registrars should be appointed for a limited purpose only.

"Section 4 has appeared to many gentlemen and Associations to provide a procedure for doing very much the same work as that which is already done under the Land Registration Act. That is no doubt to some extent true. The object of the section is to provide facilities for the better use and application of the Land Registration Act. It has been thought that persons having proprietary interests would be more willing to go a few miles off to a Sub-Registrar under this Bill, and there give notice of a change of proprietary right, than if they had always to go to head-quarters. The idea has been that when a proprietor acquiring a right, or a manager coming into his charge, has got a notice of this sort to give, he might give it at the local office, and that the notice should there be taken charge of and the registration effected for him. It is perhaps a question, not whether this duplicate procedure, is necessary, but whether it is desirable. It is known to the Council that the Land Registration Act has not been as much used as it might have been. Numbers of proprietary rights have escaped registration which it would be very desirable to include. In fact the object of this section is to afford facilities for the registration of proprietary rights. The attitude of Government towards this section of the Bill is that its adoption or rejection may well be open to argument, and that it may be fairly considered on its merits. At the same time many objections have been taken to the fact that under this section of the Bill only four months are allowed to a person who has to give notice, whereas under the Land Registration Act six months are allowed. That is perhaps also open to argument, but Government are inclined to think that the term proposed under this Bill should be limited to four months rather than extended to six months.

"I come now to section 5, which proposes to limit the use of section 43 of the Land Registration Act. Section 43 allows the Lieutenant-Governor to exempt by executive order the owners of small estates from the performance of the obligations required under the Act. By this section of the Bill it is proposed to provide that such exemption shall only be granted on the registration of mutation being effected in the Sub-Registrar's office. This, however, may as easily be done under section 43 by the issue of an order that no such exemption shall be made; therefore the Government do not attach much importance to this section (5).

"By section 6 we provide for periodical statements to be filed in Sub-Registrars' offices. It has called down much criticism, and sometimes erroneous criticism. It has sometimes been said that the road-cess returns are sufficient, and therefore no more periodical statements should be required under this section. I am afraid that some of the Associations who have reported on this Bill had very indefinite notions of what they were writing about; but with regard to this section, I may say that, while it is desirable to take this power under the Bill, it may be open to question whether it should be used. At present it is under consideration whether this power should be used so long as the Patwari Regulation, XII of 1817, remains in force. If it should happen that that Regulation should be repealed and the zamindar has no longer a patwari to provide for, it is considered that it will be reasonable to call upon him for an annual list of changes in the record of-rights, and that this list of changes submitted by the zamindar should be compared with the registration of mutations, and any omissions corrected. This section as it stands by itself has been challenged by a Commissioner who reported upon it, and it has been suggested that some further provision ought to be made for a penalty in the case of an erroneous statement. That is a point which is well worthy of consideration by the Select Committee. The present object is for Government to take power to call for these statements if necessary.

"Section 7 is perhaps one of the most important sections of the Bill. It provides for transfers of, and successions to, tenures and rights lower than tenures being reported to the Sub-Registrar. The intention is, as I said just now, that, where a registered deed is not compulsory, notice of transfer should be filed and take the place of a deed. In this section it has been attempted to provide that the notice shall contain the information that so and so has transferred his right in certain parcels of land specified by certain numbers, and that somebody else has purchased them, and that both the transferor and transferee apply for their registration. We do not provide in the Bill for the compulsory appearance of both the parties at the same time. When these parties appear and acknowledge the mutation, if no objection is made, on notice being given, it is intended that the mutation shall be registered. But if either party denies the transfer, then the idea is that the Sub-Registrar will refuse to register it and refer the parties to the Civil Court, and at the same time the transferee should be warned of the legal disabilities to which he is subject until he gets the mutation registered. It is not proposed to give the Sub-Registrar any judicial or quasi-judicial power to enquire into objections. It is also intended to provide that in the case of successions the party succeeding should announce to the Sub-Registrar the death of the person from whom he inherits, and should apply that he and his co-sharers (if any) should be registered in the place of the deceased. Provision is made in this connection that the notice shall be affixed in a conspicuous place in the village, calling upon any objector to appear within a certain time to prefer objections. I wish particularly to lay stress upon this point that it is not intended to give the Sub-Registrar any judicial powers. It has been said that they are not altogether qualified for such duties as it is proposed to impose upon them. The answer to that is that the duties which it is proposed to give to them to do are not more onerous or difficult than those with which they are already charged, provided always that they are not given any judicial powers. It is thought that the time which is given to an objector to appear, namely, fifteen days, will be sufficient, considering the small extent of circle to which a Sub-Registrar would be appointed. It is intended that provision should be made for reference to the original record to see whether the transferor has his name recorded all right in that or in the Register of Mutations. The idea is that a continuous record of successions and transfers should be kept up, starting from the original record of rights; so that, if these mutation registers are properly kept, it will be possible for any one on inspection to see who has held this particular parcel of land from the time when the survey and settlement which is now in progress were made.

"Section 8 provides for a notification of the fact of transfer being made to the landlord. As I have said, the Sub-Registrar is to register transfers of tenant right under section 7: he is to do so if they are acknowledged to be accomplished facts. The legal question whether a right to transfer exists is not affected by this provision of the Bill. It is thought fair to provide for intimation to be given to the zamindar of such transfer having been made so as to enable him to declare whether he accepts the transfer or not. If he does not accept the transfer, it will be competent to him to take any steps he thinks proper to contest its validity, or he may ignore it and refuse to receive any rent from the transferee. It has been suggested that this provision will stimulate litigation and set class against class. The object of the provision is that the landlords should know what transfers are taking place, and should have due notice thereof. If they are not prepared to accept this provision, then Government will not oppose the omission of this section.

"Section 9 relates to the presumptive force of mutations in rent suits. It has been suggested that this presumption should apply more widely than to rent suits only; for instance, that it should apply to any judicial proceeding for possession. This is a question which is fairly open to argument, and deserves full consideration. Towards the middle of the section some words have crept in regarding registration under the Registration Act, which it would be desirable to omit, and to substitute the expression 'registered under this Act.' It is also suggested that it should be enacted that the presumption should only apply to undisputed transfers. That is a point also for consideration.

"I hardly need refer to section 10 regarding the specifications to be required in the notices of mutation, or to section 11, which gives power, formally, to the Sub-Registrars to keep any number of Registers, provided that two of them are Registers of Mutations.

"We have received hardly any criticism on section 12. Therefore I may pass on to section 13, which proposes to lay down that all Courts shall forward memoranda of decisions affecting landed property to the Sub-Registrars to enter in their mutation registers. But the High Court have called attention to the fact that a very similar provision to this was contained in Act XVI of 1864, but after some years the practice was abandoned. I have looked up the history of the matter, and find the provision in section 45 of Act XVI of 1864, one of the early Registration Acts. It was a provision that all Civil Courts shall send memoranda of decrees affecting immoveable property to the registry office for registration. The same principle was reproduced in sections 41-43 of Act XX of 1866, another Registration Act; but when that Act came again before the Legislative Council and was formally passed as Act VIII of 1871, Mr. Frank Cockerell, who was in charge of the Bill, gave good reasons for giving up the particular procedure of these sections. It was found in both the Revenue and the Civil Courts to be impracticable, and it was eventually left to the persons affected by decrees to make their own applications to the Registrar for the registration of their new rights. The Government are much obliged for the criticism which has called their attention to this point; and as it was found unworkable some years ago, it is not proposed to revive it. The intention, therefore, is to allow section 13 to be cut out of the Bill.

"Section 14 applies to fees to be paid under the Bill. As I said just now, fees of some sort must be provided for to admit of the cost of establishment in the working of the measure, and it is impossible to say beforehand what fees should be exacted. Therefore it is proposed that this section should be amended by giving power to the Lieutenant-Governor to prepare a table of the fees payable for registration of mutation, for granting copies, and for any other object for which a fee should be required. It is proposed to revise this section and to give Government power to alter the table of fees as may be shown to be necessary from time to time. In sub-section (3) there is a little slip in drafting, where it is provided that the Register shall be open for inspection at all reasonable hours without the payment of a fee. This would repeal a provision of the Registration Act, and therefore it is proposed to enact that inspection of the Register shall not take place without a fee.

"Section 15, sub-section (1), contains a provision for a disability to attach to a proprietor who has failed to register a mutation. The fate of this sub-section very much depends on the fate of section 4, which refers to the mutation of proprietary rights. If section 4 is struck out in Select Committee, then, probably it will be thought necessary also that section 15, sub-section (1), should be altered so far as it relates to proprietary rights. But if it is kept in, it has been suggested that it should not be compulsory on the proprietor to file certified copies of the entry in the register in all cases of rent suits. It has been suggested that this filing of extracts from the records of rights and Register of Mutations should only be required if the tenant denies that the landlord has registered or when the Court requires it. There would be a considerable reduction of the direct disability on the landlord by this sub-section. But sub-section (2) stands on rather a different footing. This is the only disability we have been able to devise to bring some stimulus to bear on the tenant to give notice of mutation of his tenant right. The meaning of this sub-section is that, if a landlord sues a tenant to enhance his rent, it should not be open to the tenant to plead that he has a particular status or a privileged right unless he has complied with the provisions of section 7 of this Bill and given notice of transfer of his tenant right. If the intention of the section is not clear, it will be open to the Select Committee to alter it in such a way as may be desirable.

"In section 16 we have provided a general penalty for failure to register mutations. Objections of course have been taken to this. Some people say it is superfluous; others that the fine is arbitrary and too heavy; and it has also been suggested that a sliding scale of fines based on the area or value of the holding should be substituted, and that provision should be made for rewards to be given to informers; also that a penalty should only be inflicted when the parties have voluntarily or negligently omitted to comply with the provisions of section 7 of the Bill. These are questions of detail which may fairly be discussed in Select Committee. It has also been thought, if Government are prepared to accept it, that provision should be made to enable those to register who have omitted to register within four months; and that an opportunity should be given to repair the omission by payment of some small charge. This was foreseen in the Land Registration Act, and it may be considered fair to allow a locus penitentiæ to a person who has omitted to register his tenant right under this Act.

"I come now to Part II, which deals with the recovery of costs of the Survey and Settlement and the preparation of a Record of rights. It has been pointed out that more names ought to be added to the list of persons from whom a portion of the costs ought to be recovered; that the owners and occupiers of rent-free holdings should be added to the list of those from whom the cost of survey-settlement can be levied; also that a zamindar who has let his land out in patni should not be held liable. These suggestions well deserve the attention of the Select Committee, and will no doubt receive it at their hands.

"I will not pause now over section 18, which refers to the levy of a cess for the recovery of the cost. The more important suggestions we have received refer to section 19, which deals with the question of the levy of a survey-settlement cess. It has been suggested, for instance, that the proportions in which the cess should be levied from the different persons interested in the survey and settlement should be stereotyped in the Bill; and that the proportions which have been adopted by the Secretary of State in regard to the Bihar survey should be made generally applicable to all future surveys and settlements. This is hardly a reasonable suggestion, and the Government are not prepared to adopt it. Circumstances may vary between one settlement and another, and it is therefore thought right to leave the proportion of cost to be determined from time to time by high authority. This question of proportion will no doubt be subjected to full discussion in each case, and it is thought better to leave it open for that reason. The Council will observe that in this section there is a list of proprietors and tenants and owners and occupiers of rent-free tenures and holdings who may be called upon to pay this cess. It has been suggested that the list of persons who are to pay this cess should be identical with the list of persons upon whom the rate per acre is imposed. That is a matter of drafting, and can easily be arranged. Then, the distribution of the cess will be found to be referred to in the last four lines of the section. We have had for the last few years a number of important settlements to deal with, and it has been found practically that in no two cases have the cost of settlement proceedings been distributed in quite the same way. It has been found necessary to charge the different grades of persons interested in the proceedings more or less according as they applied for survey-settlement, and according as through their neglect or misconduct such settlement proceedings were really necessary, or according as they were more or less benefited by its operations. It is therefore thought right that the distribution of the cess should be made under rules to be framed from time to time by the Board of Revenue with the sanction of the Local Government. That would leave it open for the various circumstances of each case to be fully considered. With regard to section 20, it has been brought to notice that the amount leviable should not be payable only once annually with the instalment of revenue due on the 28th of March, but at other times of the year with other instalments of land revenue. That is a question on which the convenience of the payers may be fairly consulted. The 28th of March is hardly a good date to fix upon because there are estates, I believe, which do not pay revenue on that date; but this is a point which, like many others I have mentioned, may fairly be considered in Select Committee.

"In section 21 the proposal that the cess should be paid by the landlord on behalf of the tenants is one which, as might have been expected, has called forth many and various criticisms. The proposal that the cost of the survey and settlement should be levied in this way emanated, as I have stated in the early portion of my remarks, from SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL in his long Minute of 20th September, 1893. I alluded to it briefly when introducing this Bill on the 19th January last, and I should like to refresh the memory of hon'ble members of Council by reading an extract from that Minute. He then wrote:—

'The method of recovering the cost of a Cadastral Survey and Record of Rights prescribed in section 114 of the Tenancy Act has been found by practice to be in some cases defective. It is suitable in the case of small estates; it is less suitable when large areas are concerned. In the latter cases it involves very intricate calculations, especially where subinfeudation has gone to any considerable length: it must cause some, though transitory, inconvenience to the poorer classes of people by making the debt payable in a single instalment; and by necessitating the employment of a collecting agency of tahsildars, peons, &c., it not only adds something in the shape of fees to the original burden, but opens the door to the irregularities which the memorialists connect with the employment of low-paid and ill-supervised agency. To the preceding objections against the existing arrangements from the landlords' and raiyats' side might be added the additional objection from the side of the Government (which advances the cost of the operations), that when the expenses are divided among and have to be collected from several millions of people, there is risk of short collections, unauthorized exactions on the part of process-servers or collecting peons, and the certainty of intricate accounts and protracted proceedings. All these conditions point to the desirability of devising some means whereby the costs of the Cadastral Survey and Record of Rights may be recovered in such instalments as will not be felt by any party, and under such conditions that there will be no addition to the original apportionment and no opportunity for exactions on the part of a collecting agency.'

"As I explained on a former occasion, the idea of adopting the Road Cess Procedure for the apportionment of the rate has been abandoned, because it would be difficult to conform to the proportion which the Secretary of State has decided upon, namely, $\frac{1}{4}$th from the Government, $\frac{7}{16}$ths from the landlord, and $\frac{5}{16}$ths from the tenants. The plan which we propose to adopt is set out in this Bill, namely, that tenants should be called upon to pay at the time the khatians are distributed to them, and that if they do not pay, the zamindar should be called upon to collect what is due from non-paying tenants, and pay it over to the Government, and that the zamindar should receive an additional 20 per cent. to cover their collection expenses. These provisions have been challenged on the part of the zamindars, who, of course, go back to the time of the Permanent Settlement, but I do not think anybody who has read the Proceedings connected with the passing of the Road Cess Act of 1871 can for a moment attach validity to any argument which is based on any condition of the Permanent Settlement. But other criticisms have been offered to the effect that we are calling upon the landlord to collect our bad debts for us, and not allowing him 20 per cent. for collecting what may be called good debts. I for one am not prepared to say that it will not be very hard on a tenant if Government were to refuse to receive a payment which he is willing to make, and to say that the zamindar will a month later collect from him Rs. 6, instead of the Rs. 5 which he is willing to pay. I am not at all prepared to accept that proposal. There are certain suggestions which Government are willing to entertain favourably; for instance, the proposal that these dues should be recoverable from landlords not by sale of their estates, but by the Certificate Procedure, of which we have heard so much lately.

"It has also been suggested, and Government are prepared to entertain the suggestion, that there should be a provision allowing the zamindar to make a requisition to the Collector, and that outstanding debts from non-paying tenants should be recovered on behalf of the zamindar by the Certificate Procedure. That of course will be a very great extension of the use of the Certificate Procedure, but it is one which is very fairly open to consideration, and it is one which Government is prepared to receive favourably. It will of course be necessary for Government, through its Settlement Officer, to give to the landlord a list of all the payments they expect the landlord to make on their behalf from non-paying tenants. That provision has not yet been introduced in the Bill, but there is no reason why it should not be.

"The whole question with regard to the recovery of these costs is,—what is the most convenient way by which they can be recovered? I am quite prepared to show the Council the reason why, when the Road Cess Act was passed in 1871, the duty of collecting was imposed upon the zamindar. The main point is that it is a matter of expediency. They have their establishments, and it is considered that on the whole the work will be more easily done by the zamindar than by the Government having a separate establishment going about the country for this purpose. The Council is perhaps not aware of the enormous number of khatians which will have to be made. In a district of three thousand square miles there may be as many as 12 lakhs of khatians to be made, on the assumption that there are 2½ plots to an acre and 4 plots to each khatian. To collect for 12 lakhs of khatians is rather a large undertaking. It has been suggested by the Commissioner of the Patna Division that if proper steps are taken at the time of the distribution of the khatians, there will not be any great amount of outstanding dues for recovery subsequent to the settlement proceedings. The Commissioner writes in a communication which is in the hands of the Council:—

'The subsequent certificate proceedings will, as a rule, be of a very simple character, for we shall have in the khatians a reliable description of the defaulter's immoveable property, and there should be no difficulty in summarily realizing the amounts due by attachment of their holdings. It must be remembered that the dues will individually be very small—only a few annas per acre, and I have no doubt that the raiyats will pay up at once when they see that we mean business..............where a collecting officer can present himself with a bill in one hand and a warrant in the other, it will only be in cases of downright insolvency where he will fail to realise.'

"That points to the adoption of the plan of Government collecting at once by the Certificate Procedure from the raiyats at the time of the distribution of the khatians. I am in a position to state that Government does not attach very great importance to the section as it is now drafted; and that it is willing to accept any modification of it by means of the Certificate Procedure or otherwise, which would admit of these costs being recovered with the least possible annoyance and oppression of the people.

"The remaining sections of the Bill will not detain us very long. A slight alteration will be requisite in sub-section (2) of section 22, which provides that every order passed by an officer engaged in the registration of mutations in any district shall be appealable to the Collector of the district. It has been suggested that the appeal should be confined to orders affecting any entry in the register, but that is a detail which can be considered.

"With regard to appeals, some of the Associations who have reported upon the Bill have made valuable suggestions. Some of them object to the Commissioner's order being final; others suggest that an appeal should lie to the Board of Revenue. No final conclusion has been arrived at by Government on this point, and it is a matter with which the Select Committee can properly deal.

"With regard to section 24, as to the power of making rules, it is certainly necessary that the power to do so should be retained in the hands of the Lieutenant-Governor—certainly as to the rules for regulating the fees to be paid. The clauses of this section speak for themselves. It must be open to Government to provide for the appointment, control, discipline and payment of all Registrars' and Sub-Registrars' establishments; and the Government must also have the power of prescribing the method and periods for making entries of mutations in the record of rights, and so on. These are matters which the Government must keep in their own hands, but it will be open to the Board of Revenue to make any suggestions they may think fit. There will be no necessity for the retention of sub-section (c), regarding rules for the distribution of the cess, if it is to be also provided for in the previous section (19). Nor will it be necessary to retain sub-section (2) if power is taken in section 14, as has been suggested, for Government to prescribe the fees to be levied, and to alter them from time to time as may be necessary.

"I must apologise for taking up the time of the Council at such length over this important measure, but I have done so in order to make clear to hon'ble members what matters Government will agree to omit from the Bill, what matters they are prepared to leave to the Select Committee, and how far in a general way they are prepared to go in making concessions to the criticisms which have been advanced. The necessity for the maintenance of a record of rights in some form or other has been asserted throughout the correspondence ever since the time the Secretary of State, in his Despatch of the 24th December, 1891, gave his sanction to the Bihar survey-settlement operations. The particular form which the maintenance of the records of rights should take has been the subject of discussion for some years past since it was first mooted, more particularly in the letter which the Government wrote in June, 1892. The main principles on which it is now proposed to take action have, I think, been sufficiently elucidated by the several opportunities I have had of making explanations in this Council, and by the Statement of Objects and Reasons before the Council. It therefore remains for me only to ask the co-operation of the Council to enable Government to pass a workable and practical measure, entailing as little harassment and trouble to the parties concerned as may be compatible with the maintenance of the records in some way or other. We hope that in Select Committee any further defects which may present themselves will be found out and rectified, and that, by the time the Bill comes back from the Select Committee, it will be accepted by this Council as a workable and practical measure for the object for which it is intended.

"With these remarks I beg to move the further consideration of the motion that the Bill to provide for the maintenance of the Records of Rights in Bengal and for the recovery of the cost of Cadastral Surveys and Settlements be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Lyall, the Hon'ble Mr. Wilkins, the Hon'ble the Maharaja of Darbhanga, the Hon'ble Maulvi Serajul Islam, the Hon'ble Mr. Dutt and the Mover."

The Hon'ble MAHARAJA SIR LUCHMESSUR SINGH BAHADUR OF DARBHANGA said:—"I desire to offer a few remarks upon the Bill which this Council is about to refer to the consideration of a Select Committee. In so doing I trust I may be allowed to say, in order to guard against any possible misconception as to my attitude upon the question, that I have not in any way withdrawn from, nor in any degree modified, the position taken up by me in the past with regard to the justice or desirability of either making or maintaining a Record of Rights in Bihar. I still hold, as I have always held, that any such scheme should only be undertaken with the cordial co-operation and the assent of those on whose behalf it is proposed; and that in face of the opposition manifested by all classes of the community in Bihar, the action of Government is inexpedient and, if I may say so with all due respect, altogether arbitrary. But I am compelled to bow to the inevitable, and to recognise the fact that, notwithstanding the strenuous objections and remonstrances of those affected, Her Majesty's Secretary of State has given his sanction to the proposal which has been embodied in the Bill now before us. Bearing in mind these preliminary observations, which I have thought it my duty to make on behalf of myself and of those whose interests I am privileged to represent, I come to a consideration of the Bill itself. I do not propose to enter into a lengthy criticism of Part I of the Bill. The system of registration which it provides is the best, inasmuch as it is the least burdensome of the schemes that have been in the contemplation of Government; and I am grateful to your Honour for so far yielding, if I may so express it, to the wishes of myself and those who think with me. I cannot, however, conceal from myself that the proposal to utilise the services of the Rural Sub-Registrars for the maintenance of the Record of Rights has met with strong objection in influential quarters. But with due deference to the opinions of Mr. Forbes and Mr. D. J. Macpherson, I venture to think they have somewhat exaggerated the difficulties of the situation. Granting that the existing Sub-Registrars do not as a class give that satisfaction to which the Government as well as the Public are entitled, the true remedy, in my opinion, is to be found, as my friend Kumar Gopendra Krishna, the Inspector-General of Registration, remarks in considerably modifying the existing rules relating to the appointment of these officers. In any event, I am prepared to face these evils, if they can be said to exist. It is my deliberate opinion that the scheme propounded in the first part of the Bill is the most feasible under the circumstances; and it possesses, moreover, the merit of imposing no additional cost upon the tax-payer. The landlords and tenants of Bihar are deeply sensible of the consideration Your Honour has shown to them in this connection, and for your unceasing and unwearied advocacy of a proposal, which, whatever its defects, has this to recommend it that it relies in no small degree for its success upon the loyal co-operation of the people concerned: I trust I shall not be deemed presumptuous if I take it upon myself to give expression to their sentiments.

"There are, however, a couple of omissions in the earlier portion of the Bill to which I feel I should call attention. The first is, the omission of any procedure to be followed by the Registrars of Mutations in cases that may come before them under the Act. I submit that it is necessary, in the interests of those who will fall under the operation of the Bill, that some form of procedure should be clearly and carefully laid down by legislative enactment, and in the same Bill which confers new powers upon these officers. I trust it may be found possible for the Select Committee to add sections dealing with this important matter. While I am upon the point of procedure, I hope it will not be considered irrelevant if I give publicity to a criticism of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, which appears to me to be well worthy of consideration. They say:—

'The Committee note that in sections 4, 6, 7, 8, 14, 19 and 24 power is given to the Board of Revenue to make rules and to do certain other matters. The Committee would protest against this transfer of what is clearly a duty of the Local Government to the Board of Revenue, and, similarly, they further object to an appeal to the Board of Revenue being denied by section 23, whilst an appeal from the decision of a Collector is only allowed to the Commissioner. The Board of Revenue sits as a Land Court, and where this is so, work should not be taken from it and given to a local officer like the Commissioner: and in this connection, the Committee may remark that they view with much alarm the attempt made from time to time to transfer judicial functions to executive officers and to make the decisions of such officers final. They consider the policy of such transfers inexcusable, uncalled for and wrong, and holding this view, they object to power being taken from the Local Government, properly belonging to that authority, and given to the Board of Revenue; whilst authority is taken away from the Board of Revenue and given with finality to the Commissioner.'

"I do not desire to dwell further upon this question at the present stage: but I cannot quit it without expressing a hope that in this connection also the Council may see its way by judicious excisions and amendments, to removing these very reasonable objections on the part of the Chamber of Commerce. I would urge further that the rules made under the Act should, before being put into force, be published in the Gazette for a period of at least three months, and that they should in every case be subject to the approval of the High Court.

"The second omission to which I have to direct attention is referred to by the Secretary to the Bihar Indigo Planters' Association in terms so concise and complete that I will venture to adopt them as my own. 'The draft Bill,' writes Mr. Macnaghten, 'makes no alteration in the status of the village patwari. Indeed, the name of that official is not once mentioned in it. It should be clearly laid down, if such is intended, that the patwari, as a Government servant, has ceased to exist. The deputation that waited on His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor at Sonepore received the distinct assurance from him that on the completion of the survey and record, the patwari would cease to be a servant of Government; and in his letter to the Board of Revenue, dated the 31st of June, 1892, the intention to abolish the patwari is affirmed. In the words of Sir Charles Elliott:—The patwaris have altogether failed to give satisfaction: they have long since ceased to fulfil the functions of a patwari under Regulation XII of 1817, and the present system of dual control has been universally condemned. And again:—It is mainly from this point of view that Sir Charles Elliott is of opinion that the first step is to clear the ground by the repeal of Regulation XII of 1817, and the abolition of patwaris as a class of Government servants in Bihar. Section 6 imposes a heavy burden on zamindars and tenure-holders. Under the Road Cess Act, jamabandi papers are signed by the landlord or tenure-holder, while the real responsibility should rest on the patwari, who is not a private servant. If under section 6 the whole responsibility is to rest upon the landlord, he should have entire control of the patwari.' The Tirhut Landholders' Association and the Indian Property Association express themselves in similar terms: and those important bodies are considerably strengthened in the position they take up by the observations of the Secretary of State in his despatch of the 5th of July last. In that despatch he remarks, with reference to the alternative schemes for the maintenance of the Record of Rights which were put forward by Your Honour and Sir Antony MacDonnell:—

'There are two features common to both schemes. The first is that the patwaris, as established by Regulation XII of 1817, should be abolished and the Regulation repealed, on the ground that the patwaris have failed to perform for the villages, for the raiyats, or for the district administration, the services contemplated by the Regulation, while their dual relation to the Collector and to the Zamindar interferes with their usefulness to the landlords whom they served. As at present advised, I see no objection to the proposed repeal.'

"At the close of the despatch there is a further reference to the subject: when it is expressly ordered that 'provision should be made for repealing the Patwari Regulations in the Bill for the maintenance of the Record of Rights which Your Honour was authorised to introduce into this Council.'

"I have not ventured, Sir, to impose this series of quotations upon the good nature of Your Honour and of this Council without a purpose. Your Honour's declarations on the question of the abolition of the patwari are so explicit, the sanction accorded by the Secretary of State to the proposal is so express and so unambiguous, that I cannot refrain from giving expression to my respectful astonishment at the fact that it finds no place in the Bill we are now considering. I would urge that effect should be given to the pledges of Government upon this point, approved and authorised as they are by Her Majesty in Council, and that the necessary provisions should be added before the Bill is passed into law, or that a separate Bill may be introduced and carried through simultaneously with the present measure. Not only will there exist after the passing of this measure no necessity for the dual services of the patwaris, but I will not conceal from Your Honour that a great measure of the support which the present proposal has received has been based upon the confident belief that the pledges given by Government upon this point will be fully and unhesitatingly redeemed. The omission from the Bill of all mention of the future status of the patwari has been productive of much disappointment and dissatisfaction: and I venture to express the earnest hope that the Government will carry out the promise to which they have committed themselves, by the adoption of one of the two courses I have indicated.

"There is one more point with which I wish to deal before I leave Part I of the Bill, and that is with reference to section 16. The penal provisions of this section have been most unfavourably commented upon by the Associations who have been consulted. It is pointed out, and, as it seems to me, with irresistible force, that section 15 provides an ample penalty for persons who fail to register. They are debarred from asserting certain rights in Court. If a person fails within the specified time to sue for or to recover the rent of any land which is the subject of mutation (and he can only succeed on production of a certified copy of the entry in the Record of Rights and of the entry in the Registers of Mutations) his right to institute the suit abates. As the Chamber of Commerce remark, 'the section is of a distinctly minatory character.' Sufficient precautions are taken under its provisions to secure the proper observance of the Act; and, that being so, I confess to finding some difficulty in understanding why the second penalty of a severe fine should be provided in section 16. The method by which the fine is to be realised is, in my humble opinion, also open to very serious objection. A system of daily fines, even though the amount may seem insignificant, will spell ruin and starvation to the Bihar raiyat, while it must not be forgotten that the fine proposed is an arbitrary one of Rs. 50, and no regard whatever is paid to the value of the tenure. Under the circumstances, the penalty appears to me to be not only uncalled for (for the loss of the right to recover in a Court is surely in itself a sufficient punishment), but altogether out of all proportion to the offence. The remarks of Mr. Forbes upon the point are so pertinent and so forcible that I will quote them here:—'I am much opposed,' he says, 'to any system of daily fines in the case of tenants. Any one who has had any experience of the working of the provision in the case of proprietors in cess revaluation, partition and other proceedings, will understand the inadvisability of extending the system further. As regards landlords, the punitive provisions of section 65 of the Land Registration Act of 1876 are sufficient. As regards tenants, I would prescribe fines on a sliding scale based on the area or annual value of the holding. There might be an initial fine, followed up by a further fine (or fines) for neglect to supply the omission within a reasonable period (or successive periods) to be allowed for the purpose.' I will only myself add to this eminently reasonable suggestion the observation that the British Indian Association, the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, and the Bihar Landholders' Association have independently arrived at the same conclusion as Mr. Forbes; and I would respectfully suggest to the Council the advisability of adopting a recommendation which finds favour in such influential and authoritative quarters.

"There is one other amendment in connection with section 16 that I desire to press upon the attention of the Council, although I trust it may be found possible to omit the section altogether, for the reasons to which I have already referred. But if this should be found impossible, the section should be redrafted, not only in accordance with Mr. Forbes' excellent suggestion, but also as nearly as possible upon the lines of the corresponding section 65 in the Land Registration Act. That Act, as the Indian Property Association point out, also renders persons who omit to apply for registration liable to fines, but unlike the present Bill, it safeguards such persons by imposing upon the Collector the burden of showing that such omission was voluntary or negligent. There should be some similar safeguard inserted in section 16, and I would represent to the Council that the words 'voluntarily or negligently' should accordingly be added, as a measure of bare justice to those who will fall under the operation of the Bill.

"I now address myse'f to the second portion of the Bill, that which relates to the recovery of the cost of the Survey: and I regret to say that I am totally unable to accord my support to the method proposed. The principle under which cesses are levied is, in my humble opinion, a distinct violation of the conditions of the Permanent Settlement. I take my stand upon the provisions of Regulation VIII of 1793, which prohibits in the clearest and most express terms the levying by any actual proprietor of land of any new abwab or mahtut upon the raiyats under any pretence whatever. A cess such as the Survey-Settlement Cess, which is contemplated by the present Bill, is, I venture to assert, nothing more or less than a legalised form of an abwab. What does it matter to the raiyat that his money is appropriated to the use of the Government instead of finding its way into the landlord's treasury? The fact that it is levied by Government and not by the Zamindar does not in any way absolve it from the charge of constituting a direct breach of the covenant of 1793. I am rejoiced to find that I am supported in this view by an array of names which include some of the most distinguished administrators and legal luminaries of this country during the present century. In the year 1877, when the Public Works Cess Bill was before this Council, Sir Erskine Perry, then a Member of the Council of India, wrote:—'I object to the despatch of the Secretary of State (in which sanction was given to the introduction of the Bill), because, even in its modified form, it seems to decide, and I believe does decide, that there is nothing in the language or promises of Government in 1793 to preclude the present Government from levying local taxes in Bengal for local objects. I have come reluctantly to this conclusion after many struggles and attempts to draw fine distinctions in support of a different view, that the language and act of Lord Cornwallis and of the members of Government of his day were so distinct, solemn and unambiguous that it would be a direct violation of British faith to impose special taxes in the manner proposed.' These are trenchant and weighty words, and they are endorsed by men such as Sir Frederick Halliday, Mr. Henry Thoby Prinsep, Mr. R. D. Mangles, Sir Frederick Currie and Sir H. C. Montgomery. The last named writes:—'A Government should not, in my opinion, voluntarily place itself in a position which lays it open to the charge of breach of faith. It should rather avoid any measure which would be so held in the estimation of its subjects specially interested. Sound policy would seem to point out this as the course to be pursued, that carrying the landholders and their dependants with us must be more efficacious than meeting their opposition at every turn, and fostering in their mind the idea, however well or ill-founded, that their rulers are breaking faith with them under the specious plea of doing what they assert to be for their ultimate good.'

"How unavailing and unheeded were their dignified and statesmanlike protests may be gauged by the mere recitals of the various burdens which are to-day pressing the landed interest. Irrespective of the land-tax, the holders of land have to pay most of the local taxes raised in Bengal—the Zamindari Dâk Cess, the Embankment Cess, the Municipal Taxes, the Chaukidari Tax, the Rural Police Cess, the Road Cess, the Public Works Cess and the Irrigation Cess. I do not speak of the Survey Settlement which it is now proposed to add to this crushing list, nor of the bulk of the indirect taxes which are also contributed by the class most interested in land. I venture to put it forward with all respect that, even if we cast aside every other consideration, it is not consonant with the principles of equity and justice to thus burden a single class with the task of supplying the funds required for general administration and improvement. I will for a moment accept the answer to my contention which will probably be made, and allow that the present cess is not confined to the zamindars alone, but is levied also from the raiyats, who will equally share in the benefits to be conferred by the survey. The case on the side of the raiyats against the imposition of the cess is no less strong. It cannot, I apprehend, be admitted that it would be legal for a landlord to collect from his tenantry the expenses of a survey that he himself takes in hand, even if it is undertaken for the benefit of the tenantry. And the Government can claim to stand on no better footing. The smallest concession that the Government can make in this respect is to invite the opinions of the raiyats before authorizing the Cadastral Survey of a village or an estate. They cannot, in common fairness, be made liable for the cost of the survey unless and until the majority, or at all events a large proportion of them, consent to its being undertaken. But if the raiyats are silent, and the zamindar hostile, the inference becomes irresistible that the survey is solely required, if required at all, for administrative purposes, and as such its cost should be entirely borne by the Government. I would go even further. In my opinion no survey should be undertaken in a village except at the request of the zamindar or the raiyats, unless the presence of exceptional or prolonged agrarian disturbance calls for the interference of the Settlement Officer.

"But objectionable as is the levying of the proposed cess upon general grounds, I venture to say that the method in which it is to be levied is still more objectionable. And, first, I would point out that to all intents and purposes the cess which is to be levied is a permanent one. There is nothing in the Bill to indicate its temporary character, although it is distinctly stated in paragraph 3 of the Statement of Objects and Reasons that the object of this portion of the Bill is to facilitate the recovery of the cost of a Survey Settlement by a temporary cess. On the contrary, section 18 leaves the cess as a permanent cess. There is thus a conflict between the Bill and the Statement of Objects and Reasons, and it is a conflict which should be terminated by the explicit declaration in section 18 that the cess which it imposes is to be a temporary one. Then, as to the proportion of the cost which is to be borne by the various parties interested, it was distinctly laid down by the Secretary of State in his despatch of the 5th July, 1894, that the cost should be borne in certain ascertained and well-defined shares. He said:—'I agree in Lord Cross' view that, in the circumstances of the North Bihar Survey, the State should bear a smaller share of the cost than it did in the Benares district. But I do not think the State share ought to be less than one quarter of the total cost of making the Survey and Record of Rights. The large rentals and profits enjoyed by the zamindars do not make the raiyats of North Bihar more able to sustain their share of the cost; and the additional one-eighth (two annas) devolving on the State under my present instructions should be given in reduction of the raiyats' share of the expenditure. The cost of the survey will then fall one-quarter on the State, five-sixteenths on the raiyats, and seven-sixteenths on the zamindars.' I submit these instructions are quite clear, and I confess I can discern no adequate reason why the proportions, as definitely fixed in Bihar by the Secretary of State, are not embodied in the Bill. As matters now stand, it is provided in section 19 that the distribution of the cess shall be made under certain rules to be framed by the Board of Revenue, but the proportion is not stated. The reason for its omission is by no means obvious, and I would recommend that the proportions, as sanctioned by the Secretary of State, should be repeated in the section. It should be definitely stated, as the Bengal Chamber of Commerce suggest, that, following the precedent set in Bihar under the orders of the Secretary of State, the amount to be paid by the Government on the levying of each temporary cess shall be four annas, that to be paid by the landlord seven annas, and that by the tenure-holder five annas. The amounts could be the maximum amounts, and the same procedure should be adopted as in the case of the other cesses, notably the Road Cess, levied upon the inhabitants of these provinces. And in this connection the Indian Property Association make the very reasonable suggestion, which I desire to endorse, that the number of annual instalments in which holders of estates shall be entitled to pay the amount leviable from them should be expressly specific in the Act, and that such number should not be less than five. It is in my opinion absolutely essential that these four points, to which I have referred, should find a place in the Bill before it is passed into law. As I have said, I find it difficult to comprehend why the explicit instructions of the Secretary of State are not carried into effect, or why this cess, which is declared to stand on the same footing as other cesses, should be subject to none of those very necessary restrictions and limitations under which all other cesses are levied.

"I now come to section 21 of the Bill. My own views upon this portion of the Bill are already known to hon'ble members, and I do not desire to weary them with any repetition. But the remarks of Mr. Forbes upon the point are so weighty and so suggestive, that I take the liberty of placing them before the Council in extenso. The argument, as I regard it, is unassailable, and I trust this Council will be found at a later stage to share my opinion that section 21 should find no place in the Bill. Mr. Forbes says:—

'I find it impossible to give my support to the proposal to throw the duty of collecting the arrears of the cess from defaulting tenure-holders and raiyats upon the landlords, and I trust that the Government, after further consideration, will abandon this part of the scheme. In the case of the Road and Public Works Cess there was this to be said in favour of such a system, viz, that those cesses formed an annually recurring demand for all time which could practically be incorporated by the landlord in his annual rent demand. It was foreseen that landlords and tenants would have time, in the course of recurring years, to fall in with the system, and this has been the case. The landlord's establishment has become accustomed to collect the aggregate demands, and the tenants to pay it, and the rent-stream, after the agitation caused by the first influx of its new tributary, flows smoothly along its former channel. But in the present instance the case is very different The demand is an exceptional one, lasting for only a short period, and I have no doubt but that both parties, landlords and tenants, will mutually suffer by being forced into the position of tax-collectors and assessees. On the part of the landlords, I would submit that the recovery from them, as an arrear of land revenue, of debts due to Government by the raiyats, but for the collection of which the landlords are obliged to have recourse to the Civil Courts, cannot be regarded as fair or reasonable. Even for the recovery of the amount of Road and Public Works Cess which a landlord has paid in excess of his share from the co-sharer for whom he has paid it, he is allowed to have recourse to the certificate procedure, and thus practically to make the Collector recover his debt for him. In that case the person sued is usually a well-to-do person, from whom the amount of the decree and the costs of litigation can generally be recovered. But this is not so likely to be the case when the defaulters sued are the cultivators. I cannot think it right that while Government makes use for itself of the summary proceeding allowed by law against the middleman, it should not permit him to do so too. It is true that the landlord is allowed to recover from the raiyat 20 per cent. over and above the actual debt; but even if this covers his money losses, it will certainly not make up for the trouble to which the attendant litigation will put him, and for the strained relations that will necessarily result between himself and his defaulting tenants. From the point of view of the raiyats the proposal has still less to recommend it. Where the landlord is unscrupulous, he will probably try to seize the opportunity of making a permanent addition to his demand; and even a good landlord, though he might be inclined to be lenient with his tenants in the matter of rent, will certainly not be so where the arrear is a debt to Government which the raiyat ought to have paid himself. It would certainly be a matter of much regret if an epidemic of litigation between landlords and tenants be the result of a Survey and Record of Rights. It seems possible that Government, in proposing this measure, has over-estimated the trouble to which it will be put in collecting the arrears. I see no reason why, with proper arrangements and foresight, the difficulty should be excessive. If the cost of the survey can be determined with sufficient accuracy for each tenant's accounts to be ready in time, and it be made an order on the Settlement Officers not to give out the khatians without payment of the amounts due, and if each Settlement Officer be allowed the services of one or more tahsildars to assist him in making the collections, I see no reason why the bulk of the dues should not be realized at once without recourse to law proceedings. For the recovery of the amounts outstanding we must look for lists of the defaulters, their debts and addresses, to the Settlement Officer. The subsequent certificate proceedings will, as a rule, be of a very simple character, for we shall have in the khatians a reliable description of the defaulters' immoveable property, and there should be no difficulty in summarily realizing the amounts due by attachment of their holdings. It must be remembered that the dues will individually be very small, only a few annas per acre, and I have no doubt that the raiyats will pay up at once when they see that we mean business. If at the same time the Settlement and Assistant Settlement Officer's hands are strengthened by their being given the powers of a Collector under the Certificate Act, the collections should proceed very rapidly. An instance of the success of a similar scheme is supplied by the case of the Sone Canals. There a collecting establishment, under a Deputy and two Junior Deputy Collectors exercising powers under the Certificate Act, realized over 9½ lakhs on account of water-rates in 1892-93, and about 8½ lakhs in 1893-94, from some 342,000 assessees. The efficiency with which the work of collection was performed can be judged by the fact that at the end of 1892-93 the outstanding balance on account of the preceding year (1891-92) amounted to only Rs. 7,353 while the outstanding balance for 1892-93 at the end of 1893-94 was only Rs. 3,960 against a demand for each year of something like 10 lakhs of rupees. Where a collecting officer can present himself with a bill in one hand and a warrant in the other, it will only be in cases of downright insolvency where he will fail to realize. We should not either forget that even if we oblige the zamindars to make our collections for us, we shall still have to supply them with all the necessary information to enable them to sue the defaulters, so that we shall, after all, be able to shift only part of the work on to them. But that part, there can be little doubt, will, in their hands, cause a much greater sum total of vexatious harassment than if we undertake it ourselves.'

"With reference to these remarks, I observe that Mr. Forbes has urged that the Government should permit the zamindar to avail himself of the certificate procedure for the recovery of arrears of cess. I was unfortunately unable to be present at the last meeting of this Council, but I understand that Your Honour announced at that meeting that it was proposed to adopt the suggestion of Mr. Forbes and to authorize the zamindar to collect these arrears by means of the certificate procedure. I desire to express my obligation to Your Honour for the concession. The injustice is patent of compelling the zamindars to collect the dues of the raiyats, and making their property liable to summary sale in case of default, without at the same time giving them summary powers for the realization of the arrears of the raiyats. But candour compels me to add that the concession deprives the proposed scheme of even that small measure of justification which it formerly possessed. Why should the Government hand on to the zamindar the task of proceeding under the certificate procedure? Is there any reason why the Government should not itself make use of the certificate procedure for the recovery of these arrears of cess, which are after all its own debts? It is surely most unjust upon the zamindar that the whole of the odium of employing this summary procedure should be transferred to his shoulders. The unwillingness of the Government to discharge its duties can only be ascribed to a knowledge of the unpopularity which the proposed cess will awaken and the consequent difficulty in realization. The Central National Muhammadan Association have described the situation vary tersely and clearly. 'It is certain,' writes Nawab Syed Amir Hossein, 'that well-to-do tenants will pay direct to the Government and thus save themselves 20 per cent. The zamindars will then be left saddled with liability for those tenants who are in embarrassed circumstances and unable to pay the Government. The offer of 20 per cent. to the zamindars under such circumstances seems to be rather illusory.' I venture to submit it is not too strong a criticism to offer, to say that the Government are attempting to realise, through the zamindars, debts which they cannot realise from the tenants. Wherein is the justification for such a policy? In my humble opinion, it is the bounden duty of the Government to itself undertake the collection of the cess from the raiyats. How can the zamindar hope to succeed when the Government, with all its resources, is apprehensive of failure? The present proposal to punish the zamindar for the sins of his raiyats was not in any way contemplated by the Secretary of State, and I will add that I find it difficult to believe it would have met with his approval. The principle by which it is sought to make one man responsible for the default of another is an essentially vicious one. It must not be forgotten, as the British Indian Association very justly remark, that 'in the case of the Zamindari Dâk Cess and the Road Cess, a provision was made in the law for the recovery of the cesses from raiyats through the landholders, simply because in both cases a large and influential body of landholders, as represented by the British Indian Association, agreed to realise the cesses from the raiyats and pay them to Government.' In the present case, however, they have agreed to do nothing of the kind. Experience has shown them that, even where a liberal allowance is made for cost of collection, the loss they have to suffer by non-realization on various grounds is very considerable. The Bengal Chamber of Commerce support the suggestion that if the section is retained (although it is not easy to see in what way it is possible to defend it), interest at a certain fixed rate per annum should be allowed on the arrears of cess in addition to the 20 per cent. already provided, the object being, if possible, to make the tenant perceive that it is to his interest to pay the landlord the amount of the cess, and to avoid trouble to himself and to his landlord. The Central National Muhammadan Association urge that, if the section is to be retained, all tenants should be bound to pay to the zamindar, so that the zamindars may be safeguarded against serious loss through default on the part of their tenants. This is the principle upon which the Road Cess is levied; and if we admit the justice of levying the present cess, the suggestion has everything to recommend it. But I find myself unable to make this admission. The zamindars do not demand this survey. It has been sanctioned in the teeth of their opposition. They are now not only called upon to pay their share of the costs of a measure which they regard as both unnecessary and unjust, but also to recoup the Government for the unrealisable shares of the raiyats. They are unable to perceive the equity or justice of such a proposal. The Government revenue on their property was fixed at 90 per cent. of their revenues at the time of the Permanent Settlement. This was clearly pointed out by Sir Frederick Currie in 1877, in his minute of dissent to the Public Works Cess Bill. It cannot surely be urged that the Government of 1793 erred on the side of leniency in their assessment. In this respect the Bengal Land Settlement is very different to the settlements in the other provinces, where the talukdars and zamindars receive a much higher percentage. It is notorious that many of the original landholders were reduced to beggary within the first twenty-five years of the settlement, by their inability to comply with the Government demands. Those estates whose good fortune enabled them to survive are now, it is true, in a better position than they were in 1793. But does that constitute a valid reason for mulcting them of the increase which they owe to their management and to the careful husbanding of their resources?

"I desire, in conclusion, to draw attention to the special hardships which the collection of the Survey Cess will occasion in districts such as Purnea, where the annual rent of a raiyat is often less than the average estimated cost per acre of the survey. A rule should be laid down that the cost of the survey should in no case exceed ten per cent. of the annual rent per acre of the raiyat's holding. I submit it is essential that the Government, which is conferring the unmixed benefit of a survey upon landlords and tenants, should at the same time acquaint those classes with the exact price they are to pay for the benefit that is being conferred upon them. It may not improbably be discovered hereafter that the cost is far beyond the means of the raiyats for whose protection the survey is being undertaken, but it will then be too late to remedy the evil.

"I do not desire, Sir, to detain the Council any further. I have already placed before hon'ble members the criticisms I had to offer with regard to the sections in Part III of the Bill. The main portion of the Bill to which I am compelled to take serious exception is the second Part."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"I must, in the first place, offer my thanks to His Honour the President for having acceded at my request to the adjournment of this debate, and allowed a fortnight's time to enable us to consider the important questions of principle and the details involved in this Bill. I have made the best use of the time that I have been able, and I have informed myself of the views and opinions entertained on this subject by others, and I have formed conclusions on the various questions which relate to this Bill, and I shall place my opinions before the Council in as brief a compass as possible. But I must say, with reference to most of the observations which I shall have to submit to the Council, that those observations are not to be taken as my matured, final and conclusive opinions on those questions, but that in matters of such great importance they are the first impressions I have formed on those questions, and that they are subject to modification, having regard to the views which may be expressed by any hon'ble member of this Council, and especially by the observations which may be addressed to the Council by His Honour the President at the close of the debate. The observations, therefore, which I shall make regarding some of the provisions of the Bill, not in a state of hostility, but by way of friendly criticism, are not to be regarded as final and conclusive as far as I am concerned.

"In regard to the questions of principle involved in this Bill, I say that it is wholly out of place and wholly unnecessary for me now to express the views I may entertain as regards the main principles involved in the Bill, and as regards the question of expediency whether this Bill should be considered or not. It is wholly unnecessary for the Council to say that this Bill should not have a trial. So much has been said by friends in support of the measure, by enemies by way of hindrance to the Bill, that the only way to decide the pretensions of the respective parties will be to give the Bill a fair trial, and then judge by experience. And in making these observations I am to a very considerable extent led by the opinions of those who are better able by their superior intelligence and by their experience to form mature views on the subject. And in fact it appears to me that for a long series of years a stream of thought has been running in certain quarters only in one direction, and that direction is the scheme which has now been submitted to the Council as one which is likely to prove beneficial to the raiyats, if not beneficial to the zamindars as well and to the Government likewise.

"The opinions entertained by persons in favour of this measure will either receive corroboration or will be displaced by the working of this Bill, but I think I may say that I shall not be true to myself or true to the traditions to which I belong were I to say that this Bill will result in anything but unmixed evil and unmixed mischief. I cannot shut my eyes to the fact that even at the present moment in litigations which come up to the High Court in matters relating to chittas of 1842 are laid hold of by suitors in support, or for the purpose of asserting claims and objections. And those chittas having been made from a point of view totally different from the purposes for which they are sought to be made available, the Courts have assigned to these materials a position in the cases with more or less satisfactory results. But I say in the year 1895, judging from the past history of this measure, and feeling that there is no escape from it, I say let this measure by all means have a trial. But I also say that to a large extent the success of this measure will be due to the proper wording of the Bill, to its being properly worked, and it will also be due to the absence of that interference of the Legislature in matters, because outside the Council the impression prevails that as soon as a measure of the Government has been commenced by the introduction of a Bill, and has commenced to work satisfactorily, the Legislature steps in for the purpose of unhinging that which has been just commenced to be properly understood and worked. As an instance of unnecessary interference with an existing measure, although not intentionally, I will refer to some of the provisions of this very Bill itself, as it bears on some of the sections of the Land Registration Act.

"There are two matters to which I wish to refer cursorily before coming to the sections of this Bill—the first is one which has been referred to by the Hon'ble THE MAHARAJA OF DARBHANGA. It relates to the patwari, and the way in which I put forward this matter is this, that there is no section in the Bill which provides for the repeal of any Act or Regulation. As I do not wish to prolong, I do not desire to revert to arguments which have been placed before the Council by the Hon'ble MAHARAJA OF DARBHANGA in favour of the view that the Patwari Regulation should be repealed, or rather that it is expedient that should be repealed. I submit that some steps should be taken either in this Bill or along side of this Bill, or at a time which may be convenient to the Government to do away with the dual control of the patwari. The second matter to which I wish to refer is the procedure in regard to the realisation of rents. Before the passing of the Tenancy Bill in 1885, and after 1885, in fact, it is impossible to discover the order of time, it has been under the consideration of the Government and of the officials to provide facilities for the realisation of rents by zamindars; but in 1885 no definite result could be arrived at because no procedure could be devised which was feasible and free from the defects to which such procedure is generally open. The defect on account of which this inability arose has now been remedied, and if the conviction is certain as regards the success of this Bill, I submit that the results which should follow from the working of this Bill should also follow, namely, that the zamindar should be armed with the certificate procedure within limits to be laid down for the purpose of realising their just dues.

"With these observations, I shall just glance over the provisions of this Bill and state to the Council on what point or points those provisions are in my opinion defective. I think I am right in saying that this Bill is the first outcome of Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act, that it presupposes operations contemplated in that Chapter, namely, that a record of rights has been effected. With that this Bill has nothing whatever to do. Now, a record of rights having been effected under that Chapter X, and the points noted in section 101 of the Tenancy Act having been laid down, this Bill comes into play. The object of this Bill is to maintain that which has been attained by the operation of Chapter X.

"One or two minor suggestions have crossed my mind. In some of the papers before the Council it has been pointed out that section 1 should be improved in this way. As it stands if in reference to, say, twenty bighas of land in a certain district, this Bill comes into operation, then the whole of the district will be liable to the cess—a result which, I think, is not intended by the hon'ble mover of the Bill. I do not think it was ever the intention to make the whole of a district liable owing to operations which have taken place only in a certain defined area in that district. Therefore the language of the first section should be modified in order that the intention in reference to the operation of this Bill should be clearly expressed.

"In reference to section 2 of the Bill, the words 'record of rights' should be defined with reference to the khewat and the khatian, but they themselves are terms which require definition. But these are minor points. I have examined the provisions of the Bill, both as they bear on the subject-matter of the Bill, and also as they bear on existing Acts, and the result of my examination has been that certain sections of this Bill most certainly conflict with certain sections of the Land Registration and of the Bengal Tenancy Acts. I shall explain myself fully on this point so as to give an opportunity for explanation in reply that the conflict imagined by me is not real."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I would suggest that it is unnecessary to enter into such questions of detail: if there is any such conflict, the Select Committee will set it right."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, KHAN BAHADUR, continued:—"Then I shall omit the observations I have to make with reference to sections 4 and 15, which seem to me to conflict with certain sections of the Land Registration Act. I was going to observe, with reference to section 3 and section 11 of the Bill, that regard being had to the scope and object of the Bill, it appears to me that it is not necessary that the khewat portion of the record of rights should be reflected in the mutation registers, or if it is necessary for the sake of symmetry that the khewat should also find a place in the mutation registers, I submit that the words towards the end of section 4 would be amply sufficient to convey information to the Sub-Registrar to enable him to make the corresponding changes in the register.

"It should not be a part of this scheme that proprietors should be made to apply to the Registrar of Mutations in respect of proprietary interests, but that if it is necessary that proprietary interests should also find a place in the Register of Mutations, then the Collector should transmit the necessary information to the Registrar. Therefore I submit that this Bill should confine itself to the subject-matter of section 7.

"As regards section 6 also, it appears to me that it is not necessary that the information there required should be given by proprietors under the working of this Bill. As regards section 7, I know that non-occupancy raiyats are not obliged to register. The record of rights to the extent which concerns non-occupancy raiyats will be incomplete, and fresh additions will not be so certain as if the whole of the khatian had been considered. But the question which I raise is this, that under the working of section 7, as far as occupancy raiyats are concerned, zamindars might be placed under some disadvantage, because, as matters stand at the present moment, the transfer of occupancy rights depends upon custom; and I think the law should not be laid down now in a way to interfere with the law as it is to be found in the Bengal Tenancy Act. There are other suggestions which have been made with reference to section 7, which refer to matters of detail, and I therefore omit them for the present.

"As regards section 9, regarding the presumptive force of recorded mutations, I submit there is an apprehension that the section will militate against the right of the landlord not to recognise subdivisions of tenancy and subdivisions of rights, and that care should be taken that the law as it stands now should not be interfered with.

"As regards sections 15 and 16, they go along with section 4, and therefore I will not dwell upon them any longer.

"I now come to Part II, which is the most important part of the Bill. I submit that sections 1 to 4 contain sufficient provision for enabling the Government to realise its dues. But if those sections be considered insufficient, then I submit that the law should not be laid down in the way in which it has been laid down by section 21, because the considerations which obtained when the Road Cess Act of 1871 was passed, and the reasons for which the Act was passed and the obligation then imposed upon the zamindar do not exist at present. From the debate which took place in 1871, it would appear that it was considered the duty of landlords to make some provision for roads in their estates, and therefore he was bound to collect the cess. But the measure now before the Council is intended for the benefit of tenants, and I submit that either the Government should collect the dues from the tenants or they should not be collected at all; but if zamindars are to be made to collect the cess for the Government, then I submit that interest should be allowed to them.

"With regard to the last few sections of the Bill, I submit that it is not made clear whether the word 'final' in section 23 means final, so as to shut out the matter from the cognizance of the Civil Courts, or only so far as the Revenue Courts are concerned; that is a point which should be made clear. I think that the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts should not be barred from extending relief to persons who are dissatisfied with the decision of the Revenue Courts in these matters."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND in reply said:—"I do not propose to detain the Council at any length. The remarks with which we have been favoured by the Hon'ble THE MAHARAJA OF DARBHANGA, I am afraid, hardly reached us on this side of the room, but I did make out some of the points to which the hon'ble member referred. I am glad to hear from him that the scheme of registration contained in this Bill is the best of the schemes which have been before the public. Coming to the objections raised by the Chamber of Commerce, I may observe that I have already alluded to them in my preliminary remarks; they referred to the appellate sections at the end of the Bill, and I may say that they will receive our full consideration. With reference to the quotation which the hon'ble gentleman read from MR. E. MACNAGHTEN's report, it will be in the recollection of the Council that it was about the patwari. It is perhaps known to some hon'ble members that considerable correspondence has taken place on this very subject, and before long the papers will very likely be published, and will contain some very interesting information on this subject, but at present they are not available. I think I caught some remarks of the Hon'ble THE MAHARAJA OF DARBHANGA in regard to the Permanent Settlement. I do not propose to follow him in detail on that subject, because we shall never come to an end if we go back to the time of the Permanent Settlement, but I would ask him to refer to the debate in Council in June, 1871, when the Road Cess Bill was before the Council; and if he would refer to the remarks of MAHARAJA SIR JOTENDRO MOHUN TAGORE at the time, it will save me some trouble now. I would also refer him to the remarks of BABU DIGUMBER MITTER, who then said:—

'As regards the main principles involved in the proposed measure, viz., the liability or otherwise of the lands in the permanently-settled estates in Bengal to additional taxation, the question having been already disposed of in the affirmative by the highest executive authority, this Council, he supposed, had no other alternative than to carry out that order in all its integrity. He would therefore refrain from making any observations on that point.'

"And MAHARAJA SIR JOTENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said:—

'The question of imposing a cess on the permanently-settled estates of Bengal had been almost discussed threadbare. Eminent lawyers like SIR ERSKINE PERRY and SIR BARNES PEACOCK had given their decided opinion as to the legal bearing of the question; and statesmen of wide Indian experience had also clearly recorded their views on the subject, as we see from the Education Blue Book lately published. He had nothing now to add, and he would not attempt to hold his farthing rushlight to the sun. It had been said that the Government had no intention whatever of breaking the stipulations of the Permanent Settlement, and a distinction had been attempted to be drawn between land revenue and land tax. He confessed that to the natives it seemed to be a distinction without a difference; for so long as the demand was upon the land, and was to be recoverable as arrears of revenue, it mattered not under what name that demand was to be made; and so long as the landholder's found that it took away so much of the profits the enjoyment of which had been solemnly guaranteed to them, they could not but look upon the demand as an infringement of the promise made to them by Lord Cornwallis and ratified in the British Parliament.'

"And more to the same effect. But he went on to say:—

'But we know that the Secretary of State had already given his decision on the question of the proposed cess, and it was not for him (RAJA JOTENDRO MOHUN TAGORE) to hamper the proceedings of the Local Government by raising factious opposition.'

"I think it is hardly necessary to multiply quotations from the literature of the subject on the question of the Permanent Settlement. There is no intention whatever of breaking that Settlement. All that we say is that, if it is decided by the Select Committee that this is the best way of collecting these dues on account of the cost of a survey and settlement, there is nothing in the Permanent Settlement to show that that procedure should not be adopted. Whether the procedure which is sketched out in the Bill should be adopted is a question which we practically leave the Select Committee to decide.

"There is no intention whatever, although the words in section 18 do not prevent that conclusion, to make this cess a permanent one. There is a certain bill to be paid, and when that is paid off the cess will naturally lapse. It has all along been considered advisable that this cess should be levied on certain lines, but those lines are not altogether settled, except that it is important to make it as light as possible. There are two ways of looking at this question, and it is for consideration whether we are not going a little too far in entrusting the collection of this cess to the zamindars. Several authorities have offered in their reports the opinion that there is a certain amount of risk attaching to these collections, and it has been thought that they are very liable to be abused, and by some of the smaller zamindars to be converted into a permanent cess, much to the discontent of the raiyats. Not long ago I found a rather strong passage to this effect in one of the native papers, in some comments upon this Bill. It said:—

'The raiyat's part of the cost will be realized from the zamindar, who, in his turn, will realize it from the raiyat. This process will certainly lead to the oppression of the raiyat.

There are zamindars in Bengal who levy the Road Cess at the rate of one anna per rupee of rent, but pay to Government only at the rate of a quarter anna. In fact a good many zamindars have increased the rents of their raiyats in the name of the Road Cess. And it is certain that what is taking place in connection with the realization of the Road Cess will also happen in connection with the new cess, if its collection is left in the hands of the zamindars. Government is therefore earnestly requested to make the collections in the present instance directly from the raiyats.'

"I merely mention this to show that there are two sides to the question, and that it is a matter of some difficulty, and it is therefore thought that it will be best to leave it to the Select Committee to decide which is the best course.

"The hon'ble member who spoke last (MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF) went considerably into details, and to a large extent over the same ground as I did in my preliminary observations. When the report of his speech is printed, I shall be able to give his views the attention they deserve.

"With these remarks, I hope the Bill will be allowed to go before the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I do not think I am called upon to-day to add very much to what has been said by the Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND in defence or explanation of the provisions of the Bill, as I think that what had been said is sufficient. I listened with great attention, but I am sorry to say with very ill success, to the important speech made by the Hon'ble THE MAHARAJA OF DARBHANGA. What he said hardly reached me, but I shall have an opportunity of studying it very carefully afterwards. The principal point which he dwelt upon was the important point involved in section 21 of the Bill. If I apprehended rightly, what he said was that he met this section with uncompromising opposition. The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND has already explained pretty fully the position which the Government take up in proposing this form of collecting the cost of the survey. It was first suggested by SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL, who was greatly impressed by the argument used as to the labour which would be involved in collecting such a great quantity of minute demands from all the raiyats, and the great advantage which would result to them and the country at large if the zamindars would collect the cess on their behalf. I certainly thought when I adopted his views that the suggestion would not meet with any serious opposition. Of course I realized that there are cases in which there would be some annoyance and trouble to the zamindars, but on the whole I thought that the annoyance would be so small, and the advantage to the raiyats so great, and that there is so much solidarity between the interests of the zamindars and the raiyats which stand and fall together, that it would be better for them for their own sakes and for the raiyats' sakes to undertake this charge than to leave it in the alternative manner in which it stood, and is still standing, namely, that these costs should be collected individually by the certificate process from the raiyats.

"Since the discussion on this Bill began, we have had a report from Mr. Forbes, Commissioner of Patna, which is written with great ability and knowledge of details, and he has endeavoured to show that the difficulties and the annoyance to cultivators have been overrated, and that it will not be so costly and laborious a process to collect from them, and he instanced the collection of the canal water rate and canal dues in the district of Shahabad, where it may be said that innumerable small rates are collected with a minimum of friction and inconvenience. That of course is an argument which would weigh with the Government and with the Select Committee, but speaking on behalf of the Government, I wish it to be understood that there is no intention on my part to override the feelings and the wishes of the zamindars on this subject. I proposed it as a sort of olive branch: I threw it out as a procedure which I thought zamindars would be glad to adopt, feeling that with the responsibilities attaching to their position, they would obtain a certain amount of indirect but real advantage, and seeing that the interests of the zamindars are identified with those of the raiyats.

"I should myself be extremely unwilling to see this measure passed, if it is passed in the face of the opposition of the zamindars and landholders in Bengal; and if I did not succeed in bringing round the Hon'ble THE MAHARAJA OF DARBHANGA to our view and the other hon'ble members who represent the landed interest in this Council, I shall be quite content to omit the proposal; but I should be very much more content and satisfied if we can bring them round to our views, and I should be glad if they would be prepared, with the modifications and facilities we propose to grant them, to withdraw their opposition and assent to the arrangement; otherwise if the opposition is kept up, my advice to the Select Committee would be to adopt their views and remodel section 21 so as to cut out the provision for collecting through the zamindars and to simplify and carry out the original procedure as laid down in section 114 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, under which we are now recovering, and collecting directly from the raiyats themselves. I believe that on the whole the better arrangement would be—for the good of the whole community, for the diminution of expenditure, diminution of loss of time, and friction and irritation in setting up of class against class,—I believe that it would be better that our proposal be accepted. I do not wish to take up the position of using the official majority of the Council or the general majority of the Council to force the measure on them, unless the zamindars themselves accept it.

"Turning to the remarks of the Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, I trust that he did not think that I interfered unduly in pointing out to him that this was not a suitable time for entering upon objections on matters of detail which he might see in the draft Bill. One of the principles which underlie the Bill is that we should attempt to fuse the Land Registration Act and the Indian Registration Act together, and make them work together, so that the work of registering a deed should ipso facto be the work of registering the dakhil kharij, and that the procedure of the Registration Act should go on and become the registration of mutations. When the Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF said that there were many points in which there was conflict between the two Acts, I said that it was not necessary to elaborate the argument, because I admitted it, and the hon'ble mover of the Bill admitted it. Several small points of detail have been pointed out that would require a little modification here and there, but the object of appointing a Select Committee is that they may fuse the two Acts together in the way we desire.

"I will only say a word or two in regard to the papers which have been laid before the Council. I wish first to express on behalf of the Government our sense of the care and good sense with which the Bill has been criticised, and I wish particularly to return our thanks to the Hon'ble Judges of the High Court for the excellent letter which we have received from them. There is not a single suggestion made by them which I do not accept, and which I do not think should be embodied in the Bill, except so far as they have misunderstood our intention and assumed that we are going to give quasi-judicial powers to the Sub-Registrar. That assumption, as I have said, is a mistake: we have no intention to give any quasi-judicial powers to these officers, who are to treat these notices of transfer exactly in the same way as any other deeds brought to them. If they are properly admitted before the Registrar they are registered: if they are disputed, the Registrar will refuse to register them, and leave the parties to carry on their quarrels and settle their differences in the Civil Court; they will do nothing as to the registering notices of transfer unless both parties agree; and if it is a case of succession, unless full publicity is given and the village at large has full opportunity of stating whether they accept the fact that a certain person is the successor of a deceased raiyat, and that he ought to have his name registered.

"As the Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND has stated, there are two sections in particular which we have put in for the sake of facilitating matters for the zamindars, and which are not essential to the principle of the Bill, section 4 and section 8. As I mentioned before, the idea in section 4 is to make it easier for land-owners to effect mutations by enabling them to go to the nearest Registrar only three or four miles off, instead of to the head-quarters at a considerable distance. But at the same time several difficulties have been pointed out, and unless the Select Committee can make the two Acts work together, it is a point which must be given up, and also if zamindars and raiyats do not desire it, it must go out. A more difficult section is section 8 which I commend to the careful consideration of the Select Committee. We propose that the zamindar should receive intimation that there has been a transfer inter vivos from one raiyat to another of part of his holding or the whole holding. Thus if A B asserts that he has sold, and C D states that he has bought, and nobody disputes the fact, then the registration is effected. Then comes in the legal right of the zamindar to object to the transfer, totally apart from the fact that the transfer has taken place. Mr. Forbes has in a very forcible letter suggested that we should have nothing to do with this side of the question, on the ground that we would be creating an opportunity for litigation and would be setting class against class. That is not my own view, but it is a view which is tenable, and a view which, if this Committee agree with it, will be fatal to the section. From the zamindar's point of view it seems fair that he should receive information of transfers of this kind, and that transfers of holdings or parts of holdings which have taken place should not be recorded behind their backs and without their knowing it. But the section is in no respect vital to the Bill, and involves no principle, and it is for the Select Committee to be guided by the opinions they receive, and to decide whether the section should remain with more or less modification, or whether it should go out altogether.

"With these remarks, I will close the discussion of this subject, and I will only say with regard to the action of the Select Committee that if they find it possible to revise the Bill, although I know it requires a great deal of revision, and to make their report within a fortnight, it will be advantageous to the general procedure, and it will have the particular advantage of the assistance of the Hon'ble the Legal Remembrancer, who will be leaving at the end of that time; but if the report cannot be made before he leaves, his successor will take his place, and it will to a certain extent delay the completion of the work. I have no desire to press for any undue haste, but if the Select Committee find themselves able to bear this in mind and report the Bill within a fortnight, it will conduce to the general rapidity of the proceedings of the Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

Khulna.—Rainfall nil. Weather seasonable. Harvesting of rabi crops over. Threshing of aman continues. Boro doing well. Common rice sells at from 18 to 22 seers per rupee. Fodder and water sufficient.

Dinajpur.—Rainfall nil. Weather very hot at midday, but cool both in the morning and evening. Cultivation of jute and bhadoi paddy going on. Price of rice 15 to 16 seers per rupee. No outbreak of cattle-disease, nor any complaint for fodder and drinking water.

Rangpur.—Rainfall nil. Aus paddy, jute and til (sesamum) are being sown. Prospects favourable. Rain wanted.

Pabna.—Rainfall ·10. Weather hot and windy. Sowing of paddy and jute has commenced. Rain wanted Common rice selling at from 14 to 17 seers per rupee. Fodder and water sufficient.

Dacca.—Rainfall ·24. Weather seasonable. Prospects of standing crops fair. Ploughing and sowing of jute and aus paddy continue. Common rice 18 seers per rupee. No cattle-disease. Fodder available.

Chittagong.—Rainfall ·12. Weather variable. More rain is needed for crops. Prices have slightly risen. Cattle-disease still reported from Patia. Water and fodder sufficient.

Patna.—Rabi harvest and opium collection nearly finished. Threshing of rabi going on. Millets are being sown. Common rice selling at 18 seers per rupee.

Gaya.—Harvesting of rabi crops approaching completion. Opium collections completed and weighments commenced. Drug reported to be of high consistence. Mahua doing well. Prices of food-grains about normal. Water and fodder sufficient.

Champaran.—Rainfall nil. Harvesting of rabi crops almost finished. Opium weighments have commenced. Common rice selling at 15½ seers per rupee. Fodder and water for cattle sufficient.

Darbhanga.—Weather cloudy. Rabi harvest and collection of opium approaching completion. Cultivation for early paddy sowing in progress. Common rice selling at 18 seers per rupee. Fodder and water sufficient.

Bhagalpur.—Weather much warmer. Rabi harvest nearly over; results above average. Ploughing for bhadoi proceeds. Indigo flourishing. Water and fodder sufficient.

Purnea.—No rain. Sowing of paddy, both aghani and bhadoi, going on. Indigo sowing is over, but jute is still being sown. Price of common rice 15 to 25 seers per rupee. Fodder and water sufficient. No cattle-disease.

Cuttack.—Slight rain. Weather cloudy. Dalua rice harvest continues. More rain wanted for ploughing and for standing crops. Condition of cattle good. Rice sells at from 11 seers 13 chitaks to 21 seers per rupee at Sadar market.

Hazaribagh.—Weather cooler owing to storms, but no rain. Mahua harvest in progress with good prospects. Fodder scanty. Water sufficient. Cattle-disease in parts.

General Summary.—There was rain in the central and eastern districts of the Province during the week. Preparation of the land for jute and bhadoi paddy is in progress, and in several districts sowing itself has commenced, but rain is still required in parts. Boro paddy and indigo are doing well. The harvesting of the rabi crops is approaching completion, and the general result is satisfactory. The weighment of opium has begun with expectation of a fair outturn. In Gaya the opium is said to be of high consistence. A good crop of mahua is expected in Gaya and Chota Nagpur. In Hazaribagh the fodder-supply is still scanty. Cattle-disease is reported in parts of that district and also in Chittagong. The price of common rice continues steady and normal.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY THE 6TH OF APRIL 1895.

At the close of the previous week conditions over Bengal were fairly normal, and weather was generally fine and settled. On the 31st March, or the first day of the present week, the pressure changes were remarkably small and the general distribution was quite unaltered; temperature, however, had generally increased, though humidity was low and weather was fine, except for a very light shower at Gnatong. On the 1st of April pressure was increasing moderately, but temperature and humidity were falling. Weather had been slightly less settled than on the previous day, and a thunderstorm was reported from Narayanganj during which light rain fell. On the 2nd the changes in Bengal were again small and unimportant, but over North-Western India a large shallow barometric depression appeared, in which on the 3rd two centres of disturbance or depressions appeared over the Punjab, giving rise to unsettled weather over a large part of North-Western India. These were, however, on this day too far distant to affect Bengal, and weather again continued fine and settled except for light showers in East Bengal and a snow-storm at Gnatong. Temperatures had again risen on the 3rd, but the other changes were unimportant. On the 4th the depressions over the Punjab had practically filled up, and the area of lowest pressure accompanied by rather disturbed conditions was transferred to Bengal, where pressure fell rapidly, and the changes of temperature and humidity became decidedly variable, and where a good many local storms with rain were reported. Over North-Western India on this day a most remarkable fall of temperature occurred, and the day temperatures at some stations were about 20° below the normal. On the 5th the depression over Bengal began to pass away, and it was transferred in an easterly direction towards Burma, but from the 5th to the 6th the changes were small, and the depression still existed over Burma. Pressure was therefore generally rising slowly on these two days, but as conditions were still disturbed, a few local storms with rain continued to occur. The most noticeable change, however, was the spread of the wave of comparatively low temperature mentioned previously from North-Western India over Bengal, and hence temperature and humidity were becoming relatively low at the end of the week, while weather was again becoming fine and settled. Indeed the mean temperature of the northern and western half of the province was in defect on the 6th instant by amounts ranging up to 5·2° at Motihari.

Pressure.—The variations of the pressure from the normal have again not been large, and at the majority of stations slight excess amounts have been recorded. On the other hand, slightly defective pressures have been recorded at most of the stations in South-West and North Bengal. The variations, however, generally do not average more than about 0·01 inch to 0·015 inch.

Temperature.—The average mean temperature of the whole province for the week has been 1° above the normal, the excess being usually largest in Chota Nagpur and North Bengal, where it has equalled about 2°.

The actual temperatures registered during the week, and their variations from the normal temperature of the season, are clearly seen in the table below, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures for the week at nine typical stations in different districts of the province are compared with the normal values for the same period:—

Table showing the excess or defect of the actual mean temperature from the normal for the week ending Saturday, the 6th of April 1895.

Rainfall.—The average rainfall for the week in East Bengal has equalled 0·29 inch and in Orissa 0·12 inch, while South-West Bengal has received 0·06 inch. In the remaining divisions there has been practically no rain. In all divisions, therefore, rainfall continues in defect of the normal.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the six meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 6th of April 1895 :—

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 3 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 1·0⊖ lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograp[h]

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All t[he] thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at t[he] Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four fe[et] above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard Newman's No. 8 formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed [by] the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

JAPAN—(1) Seto uchi, (2) Simonoseki strait.

(1) Seto uchi—Light beacon on Habushi iwa.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 157 of 1895) that a light would be exhibited from a conical masonry beacon, painted red and black in horizontal bands, recently erected on Habushi iwa (Ten feet rock), St. Vincent channel:—

Habushi iwa light is a fixed white light, elevated 33 feet above the sea, and visible in clear weather from a distance of 6 miles.

Approximate position, lat. 34° 20′ 45″ N., long. 133° 42′ 25″ E.

As this light is not constantly watched, it cannot be implicitly relied on.

(2) Simonoseki strait—Aino sima—Light beacon and withdrawal of buoy.

Also, that on the same date a light would be exhibited from a conical, masonry beacon, painted black and white in horizontal bands, recently erected on Omoji iwa, the rock situated N. ¼ W. (N. 3° W.), distant half a mile, from the north point of Aino sima, western entrance to Simonoseki strait.

Omoji iwa light is a fixed light with the following sectors:—red from N. 27° W. to N. 43° W. (over Koshiki iwa); and white from N. 43° W., through west, south and east, to N. 34° E.; elsewhere it is obscured. It is elevated 45 feet above the sea, and visible in clear weather from a distance of 6 miles.

Approximate position, lat. 34° 0′ 40″ N., long. 130° 48′ 20″ E.

Alterations in lights in Hobson bay.

The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 138 of 1895) that on 4th March 1895, Gellibrand point light-vessel (flashing white light) would be withdrawn, and replaced by a circular light-vessel, painted red, with a cylindrical, iron tower, painted white, and showing the undermentioned light:—

Gellibrand point light-vessel light is a fourth order, dioptric, fixed red light, elevated 38 feet above the sea, and visible from a distance of 10 miles in clear weather.

Approximate position, lat. 37° 52′ 45″ S., long. 144° 54′ 50″ E.

The fog signal on board this light-vessel will be as heretofore, viz., a fog horn and explosive rocket, sounded and fired alternately every five minutes.

Also, that on the same date, the light shown from the extremity of Williamstown breakwater pier would be altered from a fixed red to a fixed white light.

AUSTRALIA—WIDE BAY BAR.

Alteration to leading lights and beacons.

THE Port master, Brisbane, has given notice (No. 4 of 1895) that the square white leading beacons, carrying the lights for crossing Wide Bay Bar through the North Channel, have been shifted, and must now be kept in line bearing N. 77° 30′ W. This line carries a minimum depth of 20 feet at low-water springs.

The triangular leading beacons for the South Channel across the Bar now bear when in line N. 52° W. As this channel is subject to rapid alteration, it must be used with caution.

The red buoy on the end of Hook Point Spit is temporarily absent. It will be replaced as soon as possible.

THE YEARLY EXAMINATION OF CANDIDATES FOR FOURTH GRADE OF ACCOUNTANTS.

THE yearly examination of candidates for fourth grade of accountants, Public Works Department, will be held at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on Monday and Tuesday, the 3rd and 4th June 1895, at 10-30 A.M. :—

SUBJECTS.

	Full marks.	Minimum pass marks.
Writing (neatness, clearness and rapidity) ...	100	50
Dictation (spelling, punctuation, etc.) ...	100	50
Arithmetic (the whole) ...	240	160
Mensuration (a), the whole ...	60	30
Book-keeping (b), mercantile ...	100	50
Total ...	600	400

Minimum required in all papers collectively.

(a) Todhunter's Mensuration for Beginners.
(b) "Book-keeping" by Ball and Hamilton.
"Book-keeping," by double and single entry, by W. Inglis (Chambers Educational Course).

The marks gained by candidates who fail will not be published.

1. The examination is held annually at the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, on the 1st Monday in June. The examination will be conducted either at the College or by an Examiner, Public Works Accounts (including Railway and Telegraph) in Bengal, Assam, and Burma only. The examination will be ipso facto vitiated if it be not held (begun and completed) on the dates fixed, but the officer who will conduct the examination may make his own arrangements in regard to the place and hour of examination with the candidates.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

A candidate already in permanent Government employ* may be allowed to compete in the examination even if he is more than 25 years of age, and may be appointed to an accountantship if he passes it, but if he is not already in pensionable service, he will be eligible only for appointment to the non-pensionable establishment on State Railways.

* This term includes employment under Local Boards and foreign bodies if such is pensionable by the British Government.

2. The candidate should apply to an Examiner of Public Works Accounts not later than 30 days previous to the date fixed for the examination, and obtain his consent to conduct the examination, if examination at the College is not convenient. The application must bear the address of the candidate, must be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 10 and the following certificates, and must be forwarded by him not direct to the Principal, but through the Examiner.

ACCOUNTS.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned :—

(1) Certificate of good character signed by applicant's immediate official superior or by the instructor under whom he has been educated, or by some other superior under whom he may have been brought up or employed, or to whom he may be well known. (This certificate must have special reference to the two years immediately preceding the application.)

(2) Certificate of age (baptismal or of birth not required if the candidate is already in permanent Government employ).

(3) Certificate that the application is in the candidate's handwriting.

It will rest with the Examiner of Accounts, to whom the candidate submits his application, on a consideration of these certificates, to decide whether the candidate should be registered for the examination or whether his application should be rejected. He will only forward the names of accepted candidates to the Principal, together with their applications in their own handwriting, statement of their ages, and fees. These should be transmitted altogether under one covering letter on the last day allowed by the rule.

3. Examination papers that are issued for examination need not be returned.

4. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion must undergo the full examination and furnish fresh fee and certificates.

5. Passed candidates should apply, not to the Principal of the College, nor to the Accountant-General, Public Works Department, but direct to the Examiner of Public Works Accounts in the province or railway under whom they may desire to be employed.

6. It must be distinctly understood that the passing of this examination does not give any claim to an appointment, and that in making appointments preference will be given to qualified persons who are already employed in the Department.

7. The Civil Engineering College acts solely as an examining body in reference to admission to the fourth grade of Accountants, Public Works Department.

J. S. SLATER, Principal,
Civil Engineering College.

SIBPUR, the 26th March 1895.

N.B.—The attention of candidates is drawn to the alteration in rule 2 (3). In future no candidate is to apply direct to the Principal for permission to attend the examination, but must send his application through an Examiner of Public works Accounts, who will decide whether the candidate is to be admitted.
The Principal will attend to no application received direct.

The HON'BLE MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF KHAN BAHADUR.
The HON'BLE C. E. SMYTH.

NEW MEMBERS.

The Hon'ble Messrs. Beighton and Smyth took their seats in Council.

LICENSES FOR ARMS.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee asked:—

Whether the attention of the Government has been called to a statement which has appeared in the newspapers to the effect that the licenses for arms which are being issued by the Magistrate of Dacca permit the carrying of arms only within the limits of the town or village where the holder of the license may happen to live? Whether it is true that it has hitherto been the practice at Dacca to grant licenses for the carrying of arms throughout the whole district, and with the authorization of the Commissioner throughout the whole Division? Will the Government be pleased to state why it has been found necessary to depart from the practice of previous years; and having regard to the complaints which the new orders have given rise to, will the Government be pleased to direct that the practice of the former years be followed, and that the license should authorize the carrying of arms throughout the whole district, or with the consent of the Commissioner throughout the whole Division?

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton replied:—

"The question of the Hon'ble Member has been transmitted to the Commissioner of the Dacca Division, with a request that he will report upon the facts of the case."

INSUFFICIENCY OF MUNSIFFS.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee asked:—

Is the Government aware that Munsifs through want of time and pressure of work have to put off from day to day the hearing and final disposal of many cases, and that parties and witnesses have to be in attendance in Court from day to day at great sacrifice and inconvenience to all concerned? Whether this state of things is not due to the insufficient number of subordinate Judicial Officers and to the circumstance that Munsifs have more work thrown upon them than they can cope with? If so, will the Government be pleased to add to the number of Munsifs?

Will the Government state the number of Munsifs employed in these Provinces in 1892-93, 1893-94 and 1894-95, the number of suits instituted before them, and the number disposed of by them in 1892-93, 1893-94, and the nine months of 1894-95?

The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton replied:—

"The Lieutenant-Governor is afraid that the postponement of cases is too common in the Civil Courts, but he does not believe that the délay in the disposal of cases is due to any material extent to insufficiency in the number of Munsifs' Courts, since the number of cases disposed keeps fairly even with the number of cases instituted. His attention and that of the High Court have been directed to the abatement of the tendency and to the measures which should be taken to ensure the efficient performance of the work of the Courts. The High Court have recently added to the Register of Civil Suits a column showing the date of each adjournment, such as has always been done in criminal registers, so as to attract the eye of the District Judge or other inspecting officer to cases where postponements have been abnormally numerous and where enquiry is primâ facie called for. Moreover, the High Court have recently recommended, and the Lieutenant-Governor has sanctioned, the grant of Small Cause Court powers on an extended scale, so as to enable the Munsifs to deal with their cases expeditiously.

"Statistics of civil work are compiled by the calendar year. The following figures which have been extracted from the reports of the High Court on the administration of civil justice give the information desired by the Hon'ble Member:—

1	2	3		4		5	6
YEAR.	Number of Munsifs.	ORIGINAL SUITS DISPOSED OF UNDER ORDINARY PROCEDURE.		ORIGINAL SUITS DISPOSED OF UNDER SMALL CAUSE COURT PROCEDURE.		Total.	Average number of cases disposed of per Munsif.
		Contested.	Uncontested.	Contested.	Uncontested.
1890 ...	262	77,060	244,673	11,168	74,908	407,809	1,556
1891 ...	275	76,815	252,339	12,660	91,075	432,889	1,574
1892 ...	285	84,729	267.647	18,988	137,804	509,168	1,786
1893 ...	289	82,170	268,210	21,610	151,835	523,825	1,812

"From this statement it will be seen that there has been a steady progressive improvement in the number of cases disposed of by each Munsif, and therefore presumably less delay in the disposal of cases. It will also be observed that a considerable increase in the number of Munsifs has been made during the past four years; a further increase in their numbers was sanctioned during the year 1894, and this, together with the enlargement of their summary powers, will, it is hoped, enable them to keep the work under."

THE BENGAL PROVINCIAL SERVICE BUDGET FOR 1895-96.

The Hon'ble MR. BOURDILLON laid on the table the Bengal Provincial Service Budget for 1895-96. He said:—

"With your Honour's permission I will follow the precedent of last year, and, instead of reading the statistical document in my hands, will lay it on the table for the perusal of hon'ble members and for publication. I will ask the members of this Council, after considering it, to submit, as soon as possible, any questions that they may desire to put in order that the answers may be given at the next sitting of the Council. I am sure hon'ble members will recognise that it is obviously desirable that this should be done in order that the Secretary who prepared this budget may be able to reply to any questions which may be put in regard to it, instead of this task being left to his successor.

EXPLANATORY NOTE ON THE BENGAL PROVINCIAL SERVICE BUDGET FOR 1895-96.

"This is the third occasion on which the Financial Statement for the Province of Bengal has been presented before this Council. On both previous occasions the system of Provincial Finance and the financial relations of the Supreme Government with that of Bengal were explained at some length. No change has been introduced during the past year in the arrangements described a year ago, and since many members of this Council were present at the Budget debate of 1894, while for the remainder the necessary information is available in the proceedings of this Council, I do not consider it necessary again to trace the history or expound the system of Provincial Finance.

"2. Following the procedure adopted last year, I propose to divide my remarks into two parts—of which the first will deal with (1) the closed accounts of 1893-94, (2) the revised estimate for 1894-95, and (3) the budget estimate for 1895-96; while the second will treat in greater detail of the Budget of 1895-96.

(1) CLOSED ACCOUNTS OF 1893-94.

"3. In the Financial Statement which was laid before the Council on 31st March 1894, it was assumed that the year 1893-94 had opened with a credit balance of Rs. 22,55,000, and had closed with a credit balance of Rs. 29,87,000; that the total amount available for expenditure during the year was Rs. 4,56,65,000, and that out of this sum Rs. 4,26,78,000 had been spent. The actual result as ascertained from the closed accounts proves to have been worse than this estimate by Rs. 3,63,000. The actual amount available for expenditure was Rs. 4,55,33,000, and the amount actually expended Rs. 4,29,09,000, so that the closing credit balance was Rs. 26,24,000 instead of Rs. 29,87,000. This reduction was caused by the actual receipts being less than the estimate by Rs. 1,32,000, while at the same time the expenditure exceeded the estimate by Rs. 2,31,000.

"4. The chief causes which led to the diminution of receipts were (1) the payment of about half-a-lakh to the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh as compensation for the loss sustained by that Government owing to orders forbidding the importation of Shahjehanpur rum into Bengal except under bond; (2) a falling off of a lakh in the sale-proceeds of jail manufactures owing to smaller supplies to the Military and Opium Departments; (3) railway receipts being Rs. 90,000 below the estimate; and (4) a falling off of Rs. 20,000 in registration receipts owing to the reduction of the ad-valorem fee on documents not exceeding Rs. 50 in value from twelve annas to eight annas. Against these decreases there was an increase of about a lakh and three quarters under Irrigation Major Works owing to larger traffic on the Orissa Canals, and to the recovery of old outstandings on the Midnapore Canals, as well as improvements under other heads.

"5. The increase of expenditure was chiefly under the heads of Land Revenue (Rs. 42,000); and Salaries and expenses of the Civil Department, specially under Courts of Law (Rs. 60,000), Jails (Rs. 45,000), Police (Rs. 43,000), Marine (Rs. 26,000), Education (Rs. 27,000), Medical (Rs. 14,000), and Scientific and other Minor Departments (Rs. 29,000). The increase under Jails was caused by the high prices of food-grains, and that under the head of Scientific and other Departments is attributable to the payment of the first instalment (Rs. 50,000) of the price of the Nimbong Cinchona Plantation. There was also an increase of Rs. 50,000 under Miscellaneous, due partly to a special adjustment of Rs. 31,000 paid to the descendants of Khajeh Amir Shahid of Burdwan on account of arrear charges for the maintenance of his tomb, and partly to a refund of percentage charges for treasury establishments levied in excess from District and Road Funds. Against these increases there was a saving of Rs. 1,46,000 under Stationery and Printing, due to a more careful scrutiny of expenditure enforced under the orders of the Lieutenant-Governor.

"6. The actual net result was a surplus of receipts over expenditure, amounting to Rs. 3,69,000 only, against one of Rs. 7,32,000 anticipated when the revised estimate for the year was passed.

(2) REVISED ESTIMATE FOR 1894-95.

"7. The budget estimate for 1894-95, as adopted by the Government of India, assumed that the year would open with a credit balance of Rs. 29,87,000, that the total revenue would amount to Rs. 4,28,28,000, and the total expenditure to Rs. 4,35,98,000, so that the year would close with a balance of Rs. 22,17,000. The latest estimate available for the accounts of the year shows that the total receipts have been Rs. 4,42,97,000, which is better than was originally expected by Rs. 14,69,000, and that the expenditure has been Rs. 4,35,48,000, which gives a decrease of Rs. 50,000: the two together give a net betterment of Rs. 15,19,000, but there was a falling off of Rs. 3,63,000 in the expected amount of the opening balance.

"8. The large increase of revenue in the revised as compared with the original estimate is mainly attributable to a sudden advance under Railways of Rs. 9,50,000 earned by the Eastern Bengal Railway chiefly in carrying jute. There was also a considerable increase under Stamps (Rs. 4,87,000), Excise (Rs. 1,12,000), Assessed Taxes (Rs. 1,00,000), Miscellaneous (Rs. 1,22,000), and Civil Works (Rs. 1,12,000), all of which figures denote a year of general prosperity. Smaller advances also appear under Salt (Rs. 40,000) and Land Revenue (Rs. 38,000). On the other hand against these increases decreases are anticipated under the heads of Jails (Rs. 1,75,000), caused by smaller demands for articles manufactured by the prisoners, Irrigation receipts (Rs. 88,000), Registration (Rs. 45,000), and Courts of Law (Rs. 44,000). The net result of these variations from the budget of 1894-95 is an increase in the closing balance of Rs. 11,56,000, from Rs. 22,17,000 to Rs. 33,73,000, almost the whole of which is due to the unexpected increase in railway receipts.

(3) BUDGET ESTIMATE FOR 1895-96.

"9. The Budget Estimate for 1895-96, as finally passed by the Government of India, accepts Rs. 33,73,000 as the opening balance, and contemplates receipts aggregating Rs. 4,41,97,000 and expenditure Rs. 4,43,08,00, leaving a closing balance of Rs. 32,62,000.

"10. It is estimated that on the whole the receipts, though Rs. 13,69,000 better than the budget of 1894-95, will be 1 lakh less than the revised estimate of the same year. The chief fluctuations compared with the revised estimate for 1894-95, are (1) an increased grant of one lakh from Imperial Funds for Customs establishment, (2) an increased grant of Rs. 59,000 for the Hidgili Tidal Canal, and (3) an increase of Rs. 90,000 in Jail receipts. To these direct increases should be added the sum of 3 lakhs, which, though levied by the Government of India in 1894-95 as a contribution from Provincial to Imperial Funds, will not be taken again in 1895-96: as the adjustment has been made under the Land Revenue head, it has been found convenient to treat the sum in 1895-96 not as a reduction of expenditure, but as an item of increased receipts. The items of increase thus aggregate Rs. 5,49,000. Against these it has been considered wise to budget for a decrease of Rs. 6,50,000 in receipts from Railways, since it is improbable that they will be so remunerative again. Thus the result, as already stated, is a decrease of 1 lakh in anticipated revenue.

"11. On the expenditure side the total grant exceeds the revised estimate of 1894-95 by Rs. 7,60,000. A part of this extra expenditure (Rs. 2,18,000 according to figures supplied by the Accountant-General) is debitable to the payment of exchange compensation, but the advance of Police expenditure by Rs. 1,06,000 over the revised figures of the present year includes also a large proposed expenditure of about a lakh in carrying out some of the recommendations of the Police Commission. The head of Customs shows an increase of Rs. 80,000 required to meet the pay of the additional establishment necessitated by the reimposition of duties on cotton goods and yarns. The estimated expenditure under Jails also shows an increase of nearly a lakh, chiefly in the cost of raw materials. The grants for Public Works have been raised by Rs. 2,34,000, while the estimate for Stationery and Printing has been reduced by nearly a lakh in pursuance of the economies inaugurated by the Lieutenant-Governor in a previous year.

"12. The net result is as follows. The total estimated revenue of the year, together with the opening balance, is Rs. 4,75,70,000. On the other hand, the sanctioned grant for expenditure in 1895-96 is Rs. 4,43,08,000 compared with Rs. 4,35,48,000, the revised estimate of 1894-95, and Rs. 4,35,98,000, the budget estimate of the same year; the closing balance is estimated at Rs. 32,62,000 as compared with Rs. 33,73,000 at the end of 1894-95, and Rs. 26,24,000 at the end of 1893-94.

PART II.

DETAILED REMARKS ON THE BUDGET FOR 1895-96.

RECEIPTS.

"13. Land Revenue.—Little variation is possible in these figures. The average receipts during each of the past five years have been Rs. 3,87,17,000. The actuals in 1893-94 were Rs. 3,87,06,000, and the estimate for 1895-96 has been placed at Rs. 3,87,00,000. The 12 per cent. on collections from Government estates for 1895-96 have been estimated at Rs. 4,77,000 against Rs. 4,75,000, the budget estimate for 1894-95 and the actuals of 1893-94 amounting to Rs. 4,78,505. Transactions of account between the Imperial and Provincial Funds are, for the sake of convenience, adjusted under the head of Land Revenue, and the details of the calculations for 1895-96 are given below:—

	Estimate, 1895-96.
	Rs.
Fixed contribution to Imperial Revenue under the terms of the Provincial contract	14,39,000
Add (payable to the Imperial Funds)—
(a) Interest on the advance for the Hidgellee Tidal Canal ...	26,000
Total to be deducted from the Provincial share ...	14,65,000
Deduct (to be received from Imperial Funds)—
(b) Advance for the remodelling of the Hidgellee Tidal Canal	1,65,000
(c) Grant on account of Imperial buildings placed under local bodies	10,000
(d) Compensation for loss sustained by the Provincial Revenues on account of the reservation of the Western Duars for the Khedda Department ...	18,000
(e) Grant for the additional establishment entertained in the Calcutta Custom House on the introduction of the new Tariff Acts	2,64,000
(f) Assignment for the Gnatong police guard ...	16,000
Total to be added to the Provincial share ...	4,73,000
Net sum to be transferred to Imperial Funds out of the Provincial share (one-fourth) ...	9,92,000

"14. The estimated Provincial share of Land Revenue is arrived at as follows:—

Heads.	Figures passed by Government. Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.
	Rs.	Rs.
Gross Land Revenue	3,86,50,000	3,87,00,000
Deduct 12 per cent. on estimated collections from Government estates ...	4,75,000	4,77,000
Net amount divisible between Imperial and Provincial Funds	3,81,75,000	3,82,23,000
Provincial share of above (one-fourth) ...	95,44,000	95,56,000
Deduct on account of adjustments ...	14,60,000	9,92,000
Net ...	80,84,000	85,64,000
Add 12 per cent. collections ...	4,75,000	4,77,000
Total Provincial share	85,59,000	90,41,000

The above estimate does not include any provision for "Recoveries on account of the cost of Bihar Survey and Settlements." It is anticipated that Rs. 1,50,000 will be recovered in 1895-96, but this will be added to the Imperial share of Land Revenue.

"15. Stamps.—The budget estimate of total receipts in 1894-95 was Rs. 1,00,50,000. In view of the steady increase that has occurred in this branch of revenue during the last six years, averaging 4¼ lakhs per annum, both the revised estimate for 1894-95 and the estimate for 1895-96 have been placed at Rs. 1,67,00,000. The Provincial share is three-fourths of this sum and amounts to Rs. 1,25,25,000, which is an advance of Rs. 4,87,000 on the budget estimate of 1894-95.

"16. Excise.—The progressive increase of Excise revenue since 1890-91 has been as follows, giving an average annual advance of Rs. 5,61,000:—

			Rs.	Increase over preceding year. Rs.
1890-91	...	...	1,04,65,000	.....
1891-92	...	...	1,11,34,000	6,69,000
1892-93	...	...	1,15,94,000	4,60,000
1893-94	...	...	1,21,48,000	5,54,000

In the Resolution on the administration of the Excise in Bengal during 1893-94, the Lieutenant-Governor pointed out that revenue had increased at a higher ratio than consumption in regard to the three important heads of Country Rum, Opium and Ganja, while the increase in the consumption of distillery liquor exceeded that of revenue chiefly in Bihar, where duty was intentionally reduced and revenue surrendered in order to check illicit distillation. In view of the steady increase above recorded and of the general prosperity which the good crops of 1894-95 may be expected to induce, the estimate for 1895-96 has been placed at Rs. 1,27,00,000. The Provincial share is one-fourth, and amounts to Rs. 31,75,000, which is a lakh and a half higher than the budget estimate of the current year.

"17. Provincial Rates.—The budget estimate of total revenue from Provincial Rates for 1895-96 amounts to Rs. 42,81,000, or Rs 3,79,000 less than the budget estimate of the previous year. The decrease is chiefly nominal, and is due to the fact that, owing to a change in the mode of adjusting the cost, no credit has been taken in the Provincial accounts for "Recoveries of the proportionate cost of establishment for collecting Road Cess." The amount will now be debited direct to the District Funds in the Local Funds Budget instead of being passed through both sides of the Provincial accounts.

"18. Assessed Taxes.—The budget estimate of total revenue from Assessed Taxes for 1894-95 amounts to Rs. 43,00,000. The actual receipts in 1893-94 were Rs. 43,50,479, and the collections in the first ten months of the current year show an increase of Rs. 1,12,000 as compared with those of the corresponding period of last year. The increase is attributable partly to better assessments, and partly to prompter payments, which latter cause would lead to an expectation of smaller receipts during the remainder of the year; but, looking to the steady growth of revenue under this head from year to year, the revised estimate for 1894-95 and the estimate for 1895-96 have each been placed at Rs. 45,00,000. The Provincial share is one-half and amounts to Rs. 22,50,000, which is one lakh better than the budget of 1894-95.

"19. Forests.—The total receipts of the Forest Department are estimated at Rs. 8,10,000 against Rs. 8,02,000, the actuals of 1893-94, and Rs. 8,00,000, the revised estimate of 1894-95. The Government of India have recently proposed certain relaxations of the restrictions hitherto imposed upon the grazing of cattle in Government forests, and the Inspector-General of Forests has been requested to suggest the best method of giving effect to the principles now laid down for adoption. It is possible that some reduction of income may ensue, but pending receipt of further information, the estimate of total receipts for 1895-96 has been retained at Rs. 8,10,000. One-half is Provincial.

"20. Registration.—The actual receipts of 1893-94 amounted to Rs. 13,89,000 in round numbers and the Budget Estimate of 1894-95 was Rs. 14,50,000. The small amount of the receipts in 1893-94 has been attributed chiefly to the orders reducing the minimum ad valorem fee for registration from annas 12 to annas 8, which took effect from the 1st July 1893. These orders are still in force, and will continue to affect the receipts during 1894-95; but as the reduction of the fee did not prevent an increase of 50,182 in the number of registrations in 1893-94, and a further increase is anticipated during 1894-95, the revised estimate for the current year has been placed at Rs. 13,60,000, and for 1895-96 the estimate has been raised to Rs. 14,00,000. One-half of these receipts is Provincial.

"21. Jails.—The budget estimate for 1894-95 was fixed at Rs. 9,55,000. In view of smaller receipts from cash sales of manufactured articles and from supplies to Departments, and the actuals of the twelve months ending 31st December 1894, amounting to Rs. 7,45,000, the revised estimate has been reduced to Rs. 7,80,000. On the average of past actuals, the estimate for 1895-96 has been placed at Rs. 8,70,000.

"22. Marine.—The revised estimate, based on actuals of the earlier months of the current year, has been placed at Rs. 9,45,000 against Rs. 9,34,000, the actuals of 1893-94. In view of the fact that the imposition of import duties on cotton goods may possibly prevent any further increase in the trade of the Port of Calcutta, the estimate for next year has been placed at Rs. 9,40,000.

"23. Scientific and other Minor Departments.—The total receipts for next year are estimated at Rs. 1,99,000 against Rs. 1,85,000 the revised, and Rs. 1,74,000 the budget estimate for 1894-95. The increase is expected chiefly from larger sales of quinine and from a new item, viz. "Veterinary receipts."

"24. Miscellaneous.—The receipts under this head are essentially fluctuating and difficult to forecast, and the estimate for next year has been placed at Rs. 8,62,000 with reference to the average actuals of past years, although it is much below Rs. 9,35,000, the revised estimate of 1894-95.

"25. Railways.—Under the terms of the Provincial Contract the Local Government has been relieved of all responsibility in the matter of Railway administration, though the Province receives half the net earnings of the Eastern Bengal State Railway. The Government of India estimate the Provincial share of these receipts for 1894-95 at Rs. 43,00,000, against Rs. 33,50,000 anticipated when the budget was originally passed. The increase is attributable to a large extent to increased receipts for carrying a heavy jute crop. For next year the estimate has been placed at Rs. 36,50,000, for although the Eastern Bengal Railway is doubtless an improving property, it would be unsafe to expect the recurrence of a third year of such high profits as the present and the past.

EXPENDITURE.

"26. Land Revenue.—The total Provincial expenditure under this head in 1893-94 was Rs. 35,30,000, and in consideration of the actuals in the first eight months of the current year, the revised estimate for 1894-95 has been placed at Rs. 36,00,000. The estimate of expenditure for next year has been fixed at Rs. 36,88,000, which includes a grant of Rs. 50,000 for agricultural improvements in Government estates, an item which has hitherto been debited to Irrigation—Minor works. As compared with the budget grant for 1894-95, there is an increase of Rs. 1,15,000 under "Charges of District Administration," which is due (a) to a larger provision of Rs. 60,000 for exchange compensation allowance, (b) to increased provision for clerks who are required in the Certificate Department (Rs. 10,000), (c) to increased provision under Partition establishment necessitated by an increase of work in that Department (Rs. 6,000), and (d) to an increased grant for the survey of waste lands in Jalpaiguri (Rs. 18,000). The advance of Rs. 10,000 under "Land Records and Agriculture" is chiefly due to the provision of Rs. 3,000 for the local allowance to the Director of Land Records and Agriculture, sanctioned by the Secretary of State, and also for increased provision under Establishment and Contingencies, with reference to past actuals.

"27. Salt.—The estimated expenditure in 1894-95 was Rs. 33,000. In consequence of the large importations of salt during the current year, it has been necessary to make additional grants (1) for extra establishment, (2) for structural alterations in the salt warehouses, and (3) for the hire of extra accommodation required at the Kidderpore Docks; and in view of these facts, the revised estimate for 1894-95 has been placed at Rs. 40,000. The total expenditure for 1895-96 is estimated at Rs. 36,000, as it will probably not be necessary to incur again construction charges such as those referred to above.

"28. Stamps.—The actual expenditure of 1893-94 was Rs. 6,32,000, and the budget estimate of 1894-95 was Rs. 6,82,000, the revised falling to Rs. 6,73,000. The estimate of total expenditure for 1895-96 amounts to Rs. 6,95,000, which is expected to be Rs. 22,000 higher than the revised estimate of the current year. The increase is chiefly in the cost of "Stamp Paper supplied from Central Stores." This increase is a necessary complement of the more extensive use of stamps and of the consequent increase in receipts, as it is caused by the larger supplies of paper taken out in order to be impressed with stamps, and also to be sold for use with adhesive stamps. The Provincial share is three-fourths or Rs. 5,22,000.

"29. Excise.—The variations under this head are extremely small, the estimated expenditure in a total of Rs. 1,66,000 being only Rs. 6,000 higher than the revised estimate of 1894-95.

"30. Provincial Rates.—As compared with the budget estimate of 1894-95, there is a great apparent decrease in the revised estimate of 1894-95 and the budget of 1895-96 of Rs. 3,22,000 and Rs. 3,11,000 respectively, which is due to a change in the mode of adjusting the cost of charges for the collection of cesses and the valuation and revaluation of estates, as has already been explained.

"31. Customs.—Almost the whole of the expenditure under this head is incurred in Calcutta. The increase in these charges, amounting in the revised estimate for 1894-95 to Rs. 1,95,330 above the figures of the budget estimate, and in the budget for 1895-96 to another Rs. 79,140, is due to the cost of additional establishment, the entertainment of which is necessitated by the passing of the Tariff Acts VIII and XVI of 1894. The provision is at present tentative only, as the Supreme Government has not yet formally accepted the proposals of the Lieutenant-Governor.

"32. Assessed Taxes.—The total expenditure of the Income-tax Department for 1894-95 was originally estimated at Rs. 1,88,000, and this amount has been reduced to Rs. 1,82,000 in the revised estimate for 1894-95, while the estimate for next year stands at Rs. 1,90,000. The estimate for 1895-96 includes for the first time a provision of Rs. 3,500 to meet the salary of occasional and temporary peons employed in the mufassal for the realization of the arrears of income-tax which has hitherto been charged against Land Revenue. The provision has been made on the understanding that the receipts from process-fees earned by these peons will be credited to the head of Income-tax.

"33. Registration.—The figures for 1895-96 exceed by Rs. 32,000 those in the budget for 1894-95, chiefly because under "District charges" larger provision has been made on account of commission payable to Special and Rural Sub-Registrars—a necessary consequence of the establishment of new offices and of the anticipated increase in registrations. A smaller sum has been provided under Superintendence, partly owing to the reduction in the salary of the Inspector-General of Registration, and partly because the present incumbent is not entitled to the exchange compensation allowance.

"34. General Administration.—The estimate of expenditure under this head during 1895-96 amounts to Rs. 17,08,000 against Rs. 16,77,000, the budget estimate, and Rs. 17,20,000, the revised estimate for 1894-95; in the net increase of Rs. 31,000 over the budget estimate of 1894-95 the principal items are "Civil Secretariat" (Rs. 13,000) and "Commissioners" (Rs. 33,000). With regard to the first-named head, the increased provision during 1895-96 is due to larger deductions having been made on account of probable savings in 1894-95. The increase under "Commissioners" is partly due to the provision of Rs. 13,000 made towards the construction of a new steamer for the Chittagong Division, and partly to smaller deductions on account of probable savings in 1895-96.

"35. Law and Justice—Courts of Law.—The estimate of total expenditure for 1895-96 amounts to Rs. 90,32,000, which provides for an increase of Rs. 1,56,000 on the budget estimate, and of Rs. 1,37,000 on the revised estimate for the current year, of which Rs. 1,50,000 arises from the growth of exchange compensation allowance. The other increases of expenditure are due to the appointment of two new Munsifs and of additional establishment in the Courts of Munsifs (Rs. 20,000), and to the ordinary growth of charges for copying, process-peons, &c. (Rs. 12,000), which necessarily accompanies increased litigation. On the other hand, there is a decrease of Rs. 34,000 caused by the elimination from the budget of provision for the salaries of eight Munsifs and one Subordinate Judge employed in Assam, which were erroneously included in the budget for 1894-95.

"36. Law and Justice—Jails.—The estimate of total expenditure sanctioned for 1895-96 amounts to Rs. 21,47,000. The general result as compared with 1893-94 is an increase of Rs. 72,529, and as compared with the budget of 1894-95 a decrease of Rs. 97,000. The heads in which the largest fluctuations occur are those of "Supplies and Services" and "Manufactures." The expenditure under the former head chiefly depends on the number of prisoners in jail and the price of provisions. There has of late been a continued increase in both these factors, but in the coming year it is expected that the prosperity caused by a good harvest will lower the price of provisions and cause a decrease of crime. The chief items of expenditure under the head "Manufactures" are raw materials and purchase of machinery. A high figure was granted under those heads in the budget of 1894-95, which does not seem likely to be worked up to, and the grant for 1895-96 has been fixed upon a consideration of the average figures for the last five years.

"37. Police.—The anticipated expenditure in 1895-96 is Rs. 60,18,000 as against Rs. 55,93,000 in 1893-94, and a revised estimate of Rs. 59,12,000 in 1894-95. Over the budget estimate of 1894-95 the increase is Rs. 1,26,000.

"38. Under the head of Presidency Police, the estimate passed for 1895-96 is larger than the budget estimate for 1894-95 by Rs. 17,000. A portion (Rs. 8,000) of this increase is due to the larger provision made for exchange compensation allowance and another (Rs. 2,000) to the increase in the number of guards for public buildings required for the Calcutta Collectorate. A new provision of about Rs. 6,000 has been made for refunds with reference to the actuals, which in 1893-94 amounted to Rs. 8,043. The increase of Rs. 3,000 in the estimate for 1895-96 under (3) "Superintendence," over the budget estimate for the current year, is attributable to the increase of establishment sanctioned for the office of the Inspector-General, and to exchange compensation allowance.

"39. Comparing the budget estimates for 1894-95 and 1895-96, the net increase under the head of "District Executive Force" amounts to Rs. 98,000. The chief items under this head are a provision of Rs. 1,01,000 to enable the Inspector-General of Police to carry out further, during 1895-96, the reforms recommended by the Police Committee. Provision has been made for an increase of 563 in the number of constables and of 219 in the number of Sub-Inspectors, involving an increased cost of Rs. 1,37,000, against a reduction of 196 in the number of head-constables, resulting in a decrease of Rs. 32,000 in cost. Another large item is that of Rs. 1,59,000 provided mainly to meet the additional charge for "Station charge allowances," the grant of which is also one of the recommendations of the Police Committee; a provision of Rs. 10,000 has also been made for a school for the training of Sub-Inspectors. By these means the Lieutenant-Governor will be able to take a large step towards fulfilling the recommendations of the Police Commission, and will leave little to be done in future years.

"40. There is a provision of Rs. 16,000 under "Special Police" on account of the military police guard to be enlisted for service at Gnatong. The cost of maintaining this garrison at Gnatong will be met from the Imperial Revenues by a corresponding annual assignment of Rs. 15,650 which will be adjusted under the head of Land Revenue.

"41. Education.—The total sum spent by Government on education from Provincial Revenues, or under its auspices from Local Funds, is not shown under this head, but is distributed over several budgets, viz., the Medical Budget for Medical Education, the Public Works Budget, which deals with the construction and repairs of school buildings, and the budgets of District Boards and Municipalities, which contain contributions from Provincial Revenues for scholastic purposes. Recognising the incomplete character of the figures contained in the Educational Budget strictly so called, the Lieutenant-Governor has caused to be prepared a statement of which the following is an abstract, showing the true total of expenditure on education in these Provinces during 1893-94, 1894-95 and 1895-96:—

Source of provision.	1893-94.	1894-95.	1895-96.
1	2	3	4
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Provincial Funds	30,20,304	30,14,681	31,10,990
District Funds	10,83,441	10,86,000	12,24,843
Mohsin Fund	69,833	81,000	67,153
Other sources	18,794	10,051	8,645
Total ...	41,92,372	41,91,732	44,11,131

No figures are given for municipal expenditure, as the returns received are incomplete for 1894-95 and 1895-96. The actual expenditure in 1893-94 was Rs. 93,201.

"42. It is further to be noticed that out of the sum shown as contributed by District Funds, Rs. 10,39,177 (which will be increased from the year 1895-96 to Rs. 10,99,177) represent the amount made over by Government annually to District Boards for the maintenance of schools under their control. Consequently as a matter of fact the true sum expended on Education from Provincial Revenues in each of the years under notice may be taken as Rs. 40,59,481, Rs. 40,53,858, and Rs. 42,10,167 respectively as shown below. The other noteworthy points in these figures are the large rise in the expenditure from the Mohsin Fund in 1894-95 and the steady decrease in the contributions from "Other sources."

"43. The figures contained in the provincial budgets under the heads of Education, Medical and Public Works stands as follows for the past, the present, and the coming year—

BUDGETS.	1893-94.	1894-95.	1895-96.

GRAND TOTAL ...	40,59,481	40,53,858	42,10,167

"44. Turning to the Education Budget proper as it now stands, the estimate for 1895-96 exceeds the budget estimate of 1894-95 by Rs. 26,000, and the revised estimate by Rs. 62,000. Under the head of Inspection there is a decrease of Rs. 30,000, being the pay and allowances of 25 Sub-Inspectors who will be placed under District Boards with a contribution from Government to that amount which will appear in another budget. This sum forms part of the additional Rs. 60,000 mentioned in paragraph 42.

"45. Medical.—The estimates for 1895-96 show an increase of Rs. 1,15,000 over those originally sanctioned for 1894-95, but of Rs. 29,000 only over the revised estimate of the same year. Of the increase first named, Rs. 60,000 is accounted for by exchange compensation allowance. The orders of the Government of India establishing a reserve of medical officers involve an increased provision of Rs. 25,000, while in order to meet the increased activity of the Sanitary Department an additional grant of Rs. 15,000 has been sanctioned for travelling allowance. A sum of Rs. 8,400 will be expended on improvements at Medical Schools and Colleges.

"46. Scientific and other Minor Departments.—The estimate of expenditure for 1895-96 under this head amounts to Rs. 4,61,000 against Rs. 4,42,000, the budget estimate for 1894-95, and Rs. 4,37,000, the revised estimates of the same year, giving an increase of Rs. 19,000 over the budget and of Rs. 24,000 over the revised estimate of 1894-95. The only item which shows considerable increase is that of "Cinchona Plantation," and in this case it is due to the provision of Rs. 71,000, the last instalment of the purchase-money of the Nimbong Plantation, against Rs. 50,000, the amount paid during the current year.

"47. Stationery and Printing.—The estimate under this head is less than the budget estimate of 1894-95 by Rs. 60,000, and than the revised estimate by Rs. 98,000. The greater part of this decrease appears under the head of "Stationery supplied from Central Stores," the estimate for which has been reduced by Rs. 70,000. Measures have been taken by Government and the Board of Revenue to effect as much economy as possible in the number of forms printed and in the quality and size of paper used for them, as well as in the consumption of forms and of stationery proper, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that it will be possible to make a still further reduction without at all impairing the efficiency of the Department.

"48. Miscellaneous.—The estimate for 1895-96 of the somewhat heterogeneous items of expenditure classed under "Miscellaneous" is Rs. 17,000 higher than the Budget of 1894-95, but Rs. 1,000 lower than the revised estimate of the same year. The principal item is an increase of Rs. 10,000 under Rents, rates and taxes, which is mainly due to the enhancement of the municipal assessment on the Bengal Secretariat building in Calcutta.

"49. The detailed figures of the heads under the control of the Public Works Department are not yet available, but will be laid upon the table on a future occasion."

APPENDIX B.

Bengal Provincial Expenditure in detail of minor heads.

[The figures in columns 4 and 5 are those accepted by the Government of India.]

1. Refunds and Drawbacks—

Heads.	Actuals, 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.	Remarks.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Provincial Rates	8,000	9,000	9,000	8,000	Based on the average actuals of the past three years. The increase under Excise in 1893-94 was due to a special payment of Rs. 42,000 to Messrs. Carew and Company on account of extra duty on rum.
Salt (other than customs and excise duty)	......	......	......	......
Customs (other than export and import duty) ...	......	......	......	1,000
Land Revenue (one-fourth)	13,000	11,000	15,000	12,000
Stamps (three-fourths)	1,08,000	1,08,000	1,02,000	1,06,000
Excise (one-fourth)	13,000	1,000	3,000	2,000
Assessed taxes (one-half)	14,000	24,000	19,000	21,000
Forest (one-half)	......	1,000	1,000	1,000
Registration (one-half)	1,000	1,000	2,000	1,000
Total ...	1,57,000	1,55,000	1,51,000	1,52,000

2. Assignments and Compensation—

Heads.	Actuals, 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.	Remarks.
Malikana	1,59,000	1,79,000	1,65,000	1,72,000	The estimates of District Officers as passed by the Board of Revenue have been accepted. This is a compulsory charge and varies from year to year according to resettlement or new-settlement of estates.

3. Land Revenue—

Heads.	Actuals, 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.	Remarks.
Charges of District Administration	30,46,000	30,69,000	31,13,000	31,84,000	Increase chiefly for exchange compensation allowance, and partly for increases under certificate department, (transferred from Provincial Rates), partition establishment, and survey of waste lands in Jalpaiguri.
Management of Government estates	4,03,000	3,87,000	4,00,000	4,14,000	In the estimates for 1895-96 a provision of Rs. 50,000 has been made to meet the cost of works of agricultural improvement in Government estates by a corresponding reduction in the Public Works Department grant for Irrigation Minor Works.
Land Records and Agriculture	81,000	80,000	87,000	90,000	The increase is due partly to increased charges for temporary establishment, and partly for the payment of local allowance to the Director of Land Records and Agriculture.
Total ...	35,30,000	35,36,000	36,00,000	36,88,000

5. Salt—

Heads.	Actuals, 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.	Remarks.
Salaries, establishment and contingencies	27,000	33,000	40,000	36,000	The increase in 1894-95 was due chiefly to the hiring of sheds at the Kidderpore Docks for the storage of the unusually large importation of salt, and partly for the temporary establishments in connection therewith, and also for structural alterations in the salt warehouses. The estimate for 1895-96 also provides for increased expenditure in the hire of godowns rents for the storage of salt.

6. Stamps—

Heads.	Actuals, 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.	Remarks.
Superintendence	83,000	83,000	78,000	86,000	The decrease in 1894-95 is chiefly in consequence of the appointment of a lower paid officer as Superintendent of Stamps in place of the permanent incumbent on leave in England.
Charges for the sale of general stamps	1,05,000	1,07,000	1,07,000	1,08,000
Charges on sale of court-fee stamps	1,15,000	1,21,000	1,17,000	1,18,000
Discount on plain paper	14,000	14,000	14,000	14,000
Stamp paper supplied from Central Stores	3,15,000	3,57,000	3,57,000	3,69,000	The increase is a necessary concomitant of the increase in receipts, as it is caused by the larger supplies of paper taken out to be impressed with stamps, and also to be sold for use with adhesive stamps.
Total ...	6,32,000	6,82,000	6,73,000	6,95,000
Provincial share (three-fourths)	4,74,000	5,12,000	5,05,000	5,22,000

7. Excise—

HEADS.	Actuals 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate 1895-96.	REMARKS.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Superintendence	64,000	71,900	66,000	73,000	Rupees 4,000 have been provided for exchange compensation allowance and Rs. 1,500 for local allowances of Rs. 60 per mensem to each of the two Inspectors. The saving in 1894-95 is chiefly in the charges for contingencies and for the construction of distillery buildings.
Presidency establishment	80,000	97,400	84,000	90,000
District establishment—
Sadar establishment	1,03,000	1,04,268	2,62,000	1,00,212
Inspection and prevention	1,61,000	1,57,832		1,58,762
Allowances	80,000	78,863	2,28,000	81,026
Distilleries establishment	63,000	62,396		63,012
Supplies and services	27,000	27,045		27,000
Contingencies	62,000	70,296		70,388
Total ...	6,49,000	6,70,000	6,40,000	6,64,000
Provincial share (one-fourth)	1,62,000	1,67,000	1,60,000	1,66,000

8. Provincial Rates—

HEADS.	Actuals 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate 1895-96.	REMARKS.
Collection of rates and cesses	3,01,000	3,16,300	44,500	44,500	The decrease is due to a change in the mode of adjusting the cost of collection and revaluation charges, which from the year 1894-95 will be debited direct to the District Funds in the Local Funds account, instead of being passed through the Provincial accounts.
Valuation and revaluation work	1,27,000	79,800	29,500	40,500
Total ...	4,28,000	3,96,000	74,000	85,000

9. Customs—

HEADS.	Actuals, 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.	REMARKS.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Direction	65,000	70,000	76,000	74,000	The decrease in the actuals of 1893-94 is due to a lower paid officer having been appointed to act as Director of Public Instruction during the absence on leave of the permanent incumbent.
Inspection	3,55,000	3,63,000	3,70,000	3,40,000	The decrease in 1895-96 is due to the transfer of 25 Sub-Inspectors to District Boards.
Government Colleges, General	5,16,000	5,36,000	5,30,000	5,60,000	Increase due to exchange compensation allowance, appointment of an additional lecturer for the Dacca College, cost of compiling a new catalogue of Sanskrit manuscripts, and also to increase in municipal taxes.
Government Colleges, Professional	1,23,000	1,19,000	1,18,000	1,34,000	Increase due to the appointment of a teacher of free-hand and ornamental drawing for the Sibpur Engineering College, to the provision of the cost of medical establishment of the College, which was formerly shown under Civil Works and to increased provision for tools and materials and boarding charges of the College owing to an increase in the number of students.

HEADS.	Actuals, 1893-94.	Budget estimate, 1894-95.	Revised estimate, 1894-95.	Estimate, 1895-96.	REMARKS.
Medical establishment	6,16,000	6,28,000	6,80,000	6,91,000	The increase as compared with the estimate of 1894-95, is due chiefly to the following causes:— (i) Increased provision under salaries of district medical officers consequent on grade promotions, and increased payments on account of exchange compensation allowance; (ii) To the allowance to be granted to clerks for doing vaccination work; and (iii) To increased provision under reserve medical subordinates consequent on the increase in their number.
Hospitals and dispensaries	4,45,000	4,26,000	4,35,000	4,38,000	The increase as compared with the estimate of 1894-95 is due to larger provision on account of expenditure for diet and clothing of patients in hospital, and also for exchange compensation allowance.
Sanitation and vaccination	2,07,000	2,12,000	2,30,000	2,24,000
Grants for medical purposes	2,000	4,000	4,000	3,000
Medical Schools and Colleges	2,90,000	2,75,000	2,95,000	3,03,000	The increase, as compared with the estimate of 1894-95, is due chiefly to the following causes:— (i) Increased provision on account of exchange compensation allowance to officers of the Medical College and to the provision of Rs. 5,000 to fitting up an anatomical museum in that College. (ii) To smaller deductions made under salaries of medical schools and to the special provision of Rs. 8,000 for models and diagrams for medical schools.
Lunatic Asylums	1,13,000	1,14,000	1,14,000	1,18,500

Cinchona plantation	1,77,000	1,75,000	1,75,000	1,93,000	The increase is due to the provision of Rs. 71,000, the last instalment of the purchase-money of the Nimbong Plantation, against Rs. 50,000, the payment during 1894-95.
Public Exhibitions and Fairs	12,000	2,000	2,000	2,000	The actuals of 1893-94 include a special payment of Rs. 10,000 for the display of Indian Tea at the Chicago Exhibition.
Veterinary and Stallion charges	16,000	22,000	20,000	19,500	The low actuals of 1893-94 were chiefly in consequence of the appointment of officers and establishment towards the latter part of the year.
Botanical and other Public Gardens	1,16,000	1,15,000	1,15,000	1,19,000	The increase is due to grade increments.

THE LEPERS BILL.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the segregation of pauper lepers and the control of lepers exercising certain trades be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee. He said:—

"The Bill is before hon'ble members, and unless any member proposes to discuss any particular section, I understand that the procedure will be that the Bill will be passed as it stands, subject to the verbal amendment which I am about to propose."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon moved that sub-section (2) of section 4 of the Bill be omitted. He said:—

"On the last day that the Bill was before the Select Committee, the Hon'ble Mr. Lyall drew attention to the fact that this sub-section (2) was mere surplusage, and was not required. The Select Committee were anxious that their Report should be submitted without delay, and they therefore allowed the sub-section to stand on an undertaking being given by myself that an enquiry would be made as to the genesis of it. The whole section 4 was adopted from section 3 of a Bill drafted by the Government of India of 1889, and I therefore referred to the Home and Legislative Departments of the Supreme Government to ascertain what the meaning of the sub-section was. It was explained that this section probably referred to certain local Acts applying to the North-Western Provinces and Oudh only, and, as far as could be seen, it would have no application in this province. The Secretary to this Council has verified this statement by looking through our Statute Book, and as he finds that this sub-section is without meaning in Bengal, and has no application here, I therefore move that the sub-section be omitted."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon also moved that the Bill as settled in Council be passed.

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose said:—"I wish to ask your Honour whether there would be any objection to extend the scope of section 12 of the Bill, so that lepers engaged in certain trades and callings might be prevented from doing so, not only within municipal areas but also in rural areas. It is a matter of great importance that such persons should not be allowed to trade in articles of food or any trade or calling of the kind contemplated in the section, and I merely throw this out as a suggestion whether it would not be advisable to provide for such extension."

The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon said:—"I have only to say in reply that on a former occasion I declared that the policy of the Government was that the operation of that part of the Bill which refers to lepers who are not pauper lepers should be confined to municipalities. I am somewhat at a loss to know how persons carrying on a trade or calling in places which are not municipalities are to be controlled. There will be no municipal bye-laws in such places, and I do not quite understand with what machinery my hon'ble friend proposes to carry out the provisions of these sections. In the absence of any municipal body and any bye-laws, the Magistrate will either pass executive orders which must be enforced by the Police, an expedient to which objection is sure to be taken, or the law will remain a dead-letter."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I am glad to welcome the suggestion just made by the Hon'ble MR. GHOSE as a proof that he approves the general principle which we have attempted to embody in this Bill. We have, as the Hon'ble MR. BOURDILLON has stated, confined the operation of this part of the Bill to municipal areas, but if it is found at any future time that practical measures can be suggested for extending it to rural areas, and if suitable authorities can be found who can be trusted to carry it out, it will be a fortunate thing if the hon'ble is still a member of this Council and is able at any future time to introduce a measure of legislation in this direction. I fully recognise the desirability, on purely abstract ground, of such extension, but I agree with the Hon'ble MR. BOURDILLON that it will be impossible at the present stage of this Bill to carry out the suggestion. It is also always desirable to introduce changes of this kind in a gradual and tentative manner. We shall try it, at first in Calcutta and in other municipalities under the eyes of the public and under strict supervision, and if we find that it works satisfactorily, then there may be good grounds for extending it to rural areas; and if any portion of the procedure should require alteration, we shall have the advantage of the experience which has been here gained before extending it elsewhere.

"Turning to the general object of the Bill, which I am gratified to find has the unanimous approval of the Council, it is only necessary to say in a brief way what the procedure of the Government will be on this Bill being passed into law and after it has received the sanction of the Governor-General in Council. A site has already been selected by a Committee who took great pains and deserve our warm thanks for the trouble they took in examining a large number of sites in and around Calcutta. The site which has been selected seems to approve itself to all persons who have visited and examined it, and who agree in pronouncing it to be a most suitable site for a leper asylum. The difference between the new asylum and the present one will be that the former will be a place of compulsory residence, for pauper lepers will not be allowed to leave the asylum whenever they like, whereas they are at present allowed to leave at their pleasure. The asylum in Amherst Street was a very good one under existing arrangements and so long as it was not a compulsory place of abode for lepers, but now that we are able to secure their attendance by compulsion, we need pay less regard to the condition that the place should be one which would be popular, which would be near the markets and centres of traffic, and conveniently situated for begging. Those are the very circumstances which have led to the passing of this Bill, and the proposed site is one which lends itself with great facility to the imposing of compulsory segregation. We propose to part with the present asylum, to sell it and to use the funds obtained in this way to recoup the Government the cost of building a new asylum on the new site which has been selected. The price of the new ground will for the most part be met by the subscriptions which were raised in honour of the visit of our lamented Prince Albert Victor, which would be made over by the Committee who collected them for this purpose. We shall have to appoint Inspectors of Lepers and a Board, who will pay monthly visits and examine the asylum.

"The Board will be composed of the principal medical men of Calcutta, in whose judgment and discretion the Government and the public will have confidence that no undue severity will be used. The treatment of lepers is a subject which is still open to very much doubt and discussion, and it will be undesirable that any measures of extreme stringency should be carried out beyond those which the majority of scientific men agree to be desirable, and which the conscience of the public will justify. I am, I believe, justified by the sense of this Council in thinking that we have in this case hit upon the happy means, and that we shall find that this Act will work well both for the benefit of the unfortunate lepers themselves as well as to the advantage of the community at large, who are in danger of contagion by the proximity of persons who suffer from this horrible disease."

The Motion that the Bill be passed was put to the vote and agreed to.

THE CALCUTTA AND SUBURBAN POLICE ACTS, 1866, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to further amend the Suburban Police Act, 1866, and the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill.

The Hon'ble MAULVI ABDUL JUBBAR, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"As a member of the Select Committee I desire to make a few observations on the Bill now before the Council. It must be admitted that there exists in Calcutta the evil which the Bill proposes to deal with, and which ought to be put down by legislation. The Bill, as the Council is aware, was introduced at the instance of the Social Purity Committee, composed of gentlemen who have at heart the moral improvement of the citizens of Calcutta, and who deserve every legislative assistance in carrying out their laudable object. No one will deny that solicitation to immorality is an act of gross misconduct, and much more so when it is done in a public place. Everybody interested in the well being of the Society should vote for the punishment of the offence, and as far as I know there is no opposition to the offence being made punishable, but the objection is mainly against the investment of the police with power to pounce upon such offenders. A human law is not like a law of a nature that a breach of it should inevitably bring about the penalty as a matter of course. All human laws require human agency to carry them out, and Government must provide that agency. Accordingly Government has organised the police for the execution of the penal laws. Therefore the police must possess certain powers to bring offenders to justice. If the police are not to have the limited power which section 5 of the Bill contemplates to confer on a selected few, the law will be inoperative,—a dead letter. Immoral men and women know the people whom they should address, and naturally those accosted by them are rather amused than annoyed, but it is the innocent inhabitants and passers by whose moral feelings are hurt by the indecent proposals made in their hearing. These persons, rather than those solicited, require the protection of the police. I do not mean that the police are immaculate or incapable of dragging innocent persons into court, but if that be the reason for withholding from them the power of arrest under the present Bill, it is equally applicable to all cases in which the police are to be employed.

"In my humble opinion if there is any case in which the power of the police is to be innocuous, it is the case of offence punishable under this Bill. There will be no danger to respectable women from the power of arrest given by this Bill, especially in a country where the zenana system prevails and where extreme modesty in the fair sex is the sign of respectability and good breeding. Here respectable females do not promenade the street in a manner that would render them liable to arrest. The police have already got the power of arresting drunken men and women in the street, but I have not seen in my long experience a single case in which a respectable woman was brought up by the police on a charge of being drunk and obstreperous. I can say that the police seldom abuse their power in cases in which they act solely on their own responsibilty, but they are often mischievous in cases in which they are sure to be supported by false complaints and lying witnesses. If they are to exercise their power of arrest under the present Bill only on complaints it will, I am afraid, raise a crop of false and vexatious prosecutions. Disappointed lovers will not unoften wreak their vengeance upon women who may have moral strength to set their faces against improper addresses. With these marks, sir, I would support the Bill as amended by the Select Committee."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee. He said:—

"It will be seen that the Select Committee have introduced one modification of importance into the Bill as originally drafted. The original Bill contemplated the punishment of mere solicitation to immorality in a public place; but it has been justly pointed out that acts of immorality such as those to which the Bill refers are not in themselves an offence under the law, and that solicitation to commit such acts ought not by itself to be made punishable. The Select Committee therefore decided to adopt the wording of the English law in this respect, and have inserted the words 'to the annoyance of the inhabitants or passers-by,' after the word 'immorality' in sections 2 and 5 of the Bill. The Bill as it now stands, is therefore substantially identical in this part of the wording with that of the English law on the subject, which runs as follows:—'Every common prostitute or night-walker loitering or being in any thoroughfare or public place for the purpose of prostitution or solicitation to the annoyance of the inhabitants or passengers . . . shall be liable to a penalty of not more than forty shillings, and it shall be lawful for any constable belonging . . to the Metropolitan Police Force to take into custody without warrant anyone who shall commit any such offence within view of any such constable.' The points of difference are these: First, under the English law, imprisonment is not an alternative penalty. We have proposed imprisonment in this Bill in order to meet the case of male touts who are the chief offenders in Calcutta. Secondly, the English law empowers any constable to arrest, but looking to the constitution of the police in India, we have proposed that the power of arrest should be limited to 'any police officer above the rank of native constable, and such other officer as the Local Government and the Commissioner of Police may appoint in that behalf.' Thirdly, in England every prostitute loitering or being in any thoroughfare or public place for the purpose of solicitation is liable to arrest. The police have no occasion to wait for any overt act of solicitation, and in this respect the Bill now before us does not go as far as the English law. We have also inserted other safeguards to prevent abuse. The arrest is illegal if the name and address of the offender be known to the police officer, or can be ascertained by him then and there. I am glad to find from the letter of the Rev. Mr. Ashton, who addressed the Select Committee on the subject while the Bill was under consideration, that he expressed himself, on behalf of his Committee, as satisfied that the safeguards embodied in section 5 of the Bill ought to disarm apprehension of serious abuse. I do not think I need detain the Council with any further observations regarding this Bill. I can say with confidence on behalf of the Police of Calcutta that its provisions will be administered with moderation and discretion, and I am equally sure that the sagacity and sound judgment of the magistrates of this city will ensure that each case laid before them will be dealt with in a manner which will at once suppress the evil, and also give satisfaction to the public.

"I have once more to say to the Council that this is not a Bill which the executive have applied for to increase its own powers; it has been brought forward by the Government in response to an agitation on the subject by an influential section of the Calcutta public, and the Government are satisfied that it is calculated to afford a remedy for an acknowledged evil which cannot be effectually dealt with by the law as it now stands, and they consider that no measures short of those contained in the Bill will attain the desired object."

The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose said:—"The object of the amendment which stands in my name and which I now move is to state in clear and definite terms the class of persons with whom the police will be empowered to deal under this measure. If you retain the present wording of the Bill, I am afraid it will open a very wide and dangerous field for the operations of the police, for in that case persons who do not belong to the classes aimed at will also be at the mercy of an unscrupulous police officer who may choose to say that he or she was soliciting some other person to immorality, and it will also be seen from the words of the Metropolitan Act which have been just read by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill that my amendment is in exact conformity with English legislation on the subject. At the time of the case of Miss Cass, which created considerable sensation, it was pointed out by the Law Journal that the section of the Metropolitan Police Act, and of every other English, Scotch and Irish Act which provides against nuisances in the public streets, contains a number of clauses, all of which, with one single exception, deal with the general public; but the clause which deals with this particular subject does not refer to the general public at all, but expressly provides that action is to be taken by the police only in the case of prostitutes and night-walkers who may be guilty of this offence. The result is that it is a condition precedent to such a charge that the person accused must be known to the police as a prostitute or a night-walker. The law therefore as it prevails in England is not directed against all Her Majesty's female subjects, but only against those who belong to a particular class, and I submit that this Council cannot do better than follow the analogy of the law of the United Kingdom, and state in express terms the class of persons with whom you intend to deal. With that object I move that in line 7 of section 2, the words 'Any prostitute or tout who' be substituted for the word 'Whoever.' I desire to add one word by way of explanation. In the English Act we have the expression 'night-walker.' Fortunately we have here no class of persons corresponding to that term, but we have, on the other hand, a class of persons who are in the habit of touting for prostitutes, and I therefore substitute the word 'tout' for 'night-walker;' and as I understand the main object of the Bill is to deal with such persons, I trust my amendment will be accepted."

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"I think the amendment proposed by my hon'ble friend is calculated to create some embarrassment and possibly to defeat one of the main objects with which legislation has been introduced into this Council. My hon'ble friend raised this proposal in Select Committee, and it was then considered, and the majority of the Committee were of opinion that the expression 'whoever,' which the Bill contains, comprising all sections of the people in the most general terms, was better adapted to meet the object of the law than any definition confining it to a particular class of persons. There can be no doubt that if my hon'ble friend's amendment is accepted, any one who is prosecuted under this section will in the first instance call for proof before the Magistrate, that is to say, the burden of proof will lie on the prosecution to show that he or she is a tout or a prostitute. And although the difficulty of proving a woman who accosts a man in the street to be a prostitute is not likely to be considerable, yet in the case of touts the difficulty is likely to prove very great indeed. A policeman may be perfectly sure that the rascal concerned is an actual tout, but when he is put to strict proof he may easily be nonplussed, and I apprehend that if the amendment is carried, the law, so far as regards touts, will become a deadletter. The law as drafted by the Select Committee applies in general terms to all who solicit to immorality and cause thereby annoyance to the public, and although it is the case that the law when given effect to will practically apply to prostitutes and touts exclusively, there seems no objection to the general expression which is embodied in the draft Bill as it stands before you. If any other person than a tout or a prostitute should commit the offence contemplated by the Bill, I see no reason why he or she should not be punishable in the same manner as though a tout or a prostitute had committed the offence. Such cases will no doubt be exceedingly rare, but they may arise. The difficulty of proving a man or a boy to be a professional tout will be very great, and I for one am of opinion that the acceptance of the amendment will render the provisions of the Bill inoperative."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I entirely support this amendment, and I am not persuaded by what has fallen from the Hon'ble MR. COTTON as to the propriety of the word 'whoever' standing in the Bill. We are dealing with certain vices likely to be committed by certain classes of people. We have nothing to do here with the community at large. We are dealing with the particular cases of prostitutes and touts, and I see no reason why, when dealing with such cases, we should not name them. Then, as to the question of proof, I can only say that any vigilant policeman must pretty well be aware of who the touts and prostitutes are in and about the locality where he is located, and there can be no difficulty in proving that a certain woman is a prostitute and a certain person is a well-known tout. The object is to prevent annoyance to persons of the nature of this description, and the law should be so worded as to prevent mistakes by referring to touts and prostitutes in such a manner that the object of the law will be at once known."

The Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON said:—"I think, for very much the same reasons as those adduced by the Hon'ble MR. COTTON, that this amendment should not be accepted. The word 'tout' does not occur in the Bill nor in the English Act, on which the Bill professes to be founded, nor has it received any judicial interpretation, and I think that if that word is used, it will create many difficulties in bringing home offences. The word 'whoever' is no doubt a sweeping word, but I cannot see why any person, whether a prostitute or a tout, or any other, should not come under the provisions of this Bill if he commits the offence against which this Bill provides. We are proposing to legislate against an offence—not merely against the classes who are most frequently guilty of the offence. There is no difficulty in understanding what the offence is, but if we define the classes to whom the Bill is to apply, there may be considerable difficulty in proving that a particular individual belongs to those classes. I think that to limit the scope of the Bill to prostitutes and touts will, to a great extent, render the provisions nugatory."

The Hon'ble MR. BONNERJEE said:—"I support this amendment. The difficulty which has been pointed out by the Chief Secretary and the Legal Remembrancer seems to me to have no existence at all. The word proposed to be inserted is 'tout' simply, and not the words 'professional tout'; therefore if any person on behalf of a prostitute by words or signs or gestures solicits another person to immorality, he for the time being becomes a tout for such particular prostitute, and not for prostitutes in general; therefore I do not see the difficulty of prosecuting him on a charge of touting if he commits the act described. My principal reason for supporting this amendment is this: I am not aware of any legal definition of the word 'immorality.' The section runs thus:—'Whoever in a public place solicits any person to immorality.' What is the meaning of the word 'immorality' as used there? I do not know of any definition of immorality in the English law books or in the Indian Acts. The dictionary meaning of the word is 'an act or practice which contravenes the Divine commands or a social duty: injustice, dishonesty, fraud, slander, profaneness, gaming, intemperance, lewdness, are immoralities.' That is the definition as given in Ogilvie's Imperial Dictionary, edition 1874; and unless you connect immorality with some other words, so as to show that you mean sexual immorality, it will be almost impossible to prevent an over-energetic policeman, fraught with zeal in his opposition to heathenism, from arresting a person who to the annoyance of another over-energetic person solicits such person to go to Kalighat to worship at the shrine of Kali on a charge of soliciting to immorality. Take another instance of a person who in the presence of a policeman and to the annoyance of the inhabitants in a public place addresses slanderous words with regard to somebody else. Slander is immorality, and therefore the policeman may immediately arrest him and take him before a Magistrate and may get him fined fifty rupees, or sentenced to imprisonment for eight days. I apprehend that it is not the object of the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill to bring about such a result. You must therefore limit the meaning of the term 'solicits to immorality' by some reference to prostitutes and touts, and I think my hon'ble friend's amendment exactly meets the case; but if you leave the section as it stands, it will lead to very great abuse."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"As a member of the Select Committee who signed this Report, I submit that the arguments which have been advanced in favour of the amendment are not such as to commend the amendment to the acceptance of the Council. The arguments advanced by the hon'ble member who last spoke amount to this, that it is necessary that some words should be used in this section which should point to the particular immorality contemplated or intended by this section. Now I submit that a fair and unbiassed reading of this section, bearing in mind the admitted scope and object of the measure, ought to lead a reasonable mind to the conclusion that the immorality referred to in section 2 is nothing but sexual immorality, and therefore I submit that it is not necessary for other words to be introduced in this section with the object of making it clear and manifest with what intention the word immorality is used. As regards the amendment itself, I submit that for the very reasons which the hon'ble mover of the amendment has assigned in favour of the amendment, that amendment should not be accepted: if the amendment is accepted, then the offender must be proved to be already a prostitute or tout, as the case may be, and the result will be that a novice or one who has just commenced to be initiated, and who has not become a full-fledged prostitute or tout, will not be liable; but I do not see why the operation of the Act should be so restricted and why there should be a period of probation and immunity. Even if the offence is committed by a person who for the first time is beginning to act as a tout, or who might not have practised prostitution before, I do not see why that offence should not be taken cognisance of under this Bill. If the main object of the amendment is to see that a police officer shall not be vested with powers which he might be tempted to abuse, then such object is safe, regard being had to the words which have already been added by the Select Committee. It was considered by the Select Committee that the addition of words 'to the annoyance of the inhabitants or passers-by' will afford a sufficient safeguard against abuse, and I submit that no reasonable ground exists any longer for the apprehension that the power of arrest will be used for purposes for which it is not intended."

The Hon'ble MR. SMYTH said:—"I wish to say one word in favour of the amendment. It seems to me that this Bill confers very great powers upon the police. It is a Bill for a special purpose, and it seems to me that the amendment just provides what is required. The Bill is directed against a certain form of immorality, and the amendment proposes to limit its operation to prostitutes and touts, and I am very strongly of opinion that the Bill should not go beyond that. Personally I think we should all feel that it would be a very bad thing if one innocent person is brought up under the provisions of the Bill, even if fifty prostitutes and touts were to escape."

The Hon'ble MR. LYALL said:—"The hon'ble mover of the amendment has based his amendment on the analogy of the English Law. But the offence which will be punishable under this Bill has nothing to do with the English Act. The offence is the overt act of solicitation, and I can see no reason whatever why a person who commits that overt act should only be punishable if he or she is first proved to be a tout or a prostitute. Under the English Act the offence is committed by a common prostitute going about the streets. No solicitation is required, and therefore the gist of the offence under the English Act is the character of the person who commits the act, but the gist of the offence under this Bill is the act committed."

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT said:—"The real point is whether the omission of the words proposed by the amendment is likely to cause injustice, and will their insertion act as a proper safeguard? It appears to me that no danger need be apprehended to an innocent person from the Bill as it stands. As the Hon'ble MAULVI ABDUL JUBBAR has said, he has seldom known an instance in which the police have gone wrong in a case of this kind when left to themselves. As regards the public women the police know perfectly well who they were, but as regards touts, although they know who are touts, there may be some difficulty in proving it, and therefore I think it will be better to leave the Bill as it stands."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"In dealing with a question of this kind where no important change of principle is involved, but where a suggestion is made to make a slight alteration in the wording with a view to avoid a possible danger or of effecting a possible improvement, I feel strongly that the Council should be bound to a great extent by the action of its Select Committee, and I say this specially with reference to what has fallen from the hon'ble member who has addressed us for the first time just now (MR. SMYTH). I feel that unless the Council reposes confidence in the Select Committee, except where very good reason is found for not supporting their action, we may find it very difficult to get hon'ble members to go through the laborious work of examining draft Bills and of improving and correcting them as they do now in Select Committee. I think the present question is one of this kind. I do not consider that the words suggested by the amendment will be destructive of the principle of the Bill, nor do I think they will effect any considerable improvement, but the arguments used in their favour seem to me on the whole more hostile to the Bill than anything which has not been said, and which may occur to hon'ble members.

"I always feel considerable diffidence when my views are opposed to those of the hon'ble the Advocate-General, whose long experience in this Council is unsurpassed, but I think he can hardly have noticed what the Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF alluded to, namely that, though the amendment did not suggest the idea, the speech of the hon'ble member who moved the amendment showed that he intended it so to act as to throw considerable difficulty or considerable delay in effecting what the Council desire to effect. He considers that the effect of the amendment will be that no person could be arrested by the police unless he had been for a long time on the streets, or a long time acting as a tout, and become personally known to the police; that we are to treat these abominable people as if they were foxes and give them a fair run; that every one of them was to get at least a month to practise immorality, and it is only after they have been corrupting the public and our young men for some considerable time that we are to allow the Police to interfere. This shows how disastrous would be the result if the proposed amendment were to become law.

"Then, with regard to the observations which fell from the Hon'ble MR. BONNERJEE in his entertaining speech on the dictionary meaning of the word 'immorality,' I think he could hardly have intended us to take his speech seriously, because I think no member of this Council can conceive the possibility of the police arresting any one under this Act for asking another to go to worship at Kalighat, or for uttering slander against any one in a public place. The instances he gave are so far-fetched and so ludicrous that it shows that the arguments he put before us could hardly have been intended to be seriously considered. I feel therefore bound to advise the Council not to accept the amendment which is now before us."

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 8.	Noes 9.
The Hon'ble Mr. Smyth.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Muhammad Yusuf Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Mr. Womack.	The Hon'ble Mr. Beighton.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bonnerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Buckland.
The Hon'ble Maulvi Serajul Islam Khan Bahadur.	The Hon'ble Mr. Collier.
The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jubbur Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon.
The Hon'ble Mr. Dutt.	The Hon'ble Mr Lyall.
The Hon'ble Sir Charles Paul.	The Hon'ble Sir John Lambert.
	The Hon'ble Mr Cotton.

So the motion was lost.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE said:—"It has been suggested to me by the Hon'ble MR. COTTON that the Government would be prepared to accept the amendment which stands in my name, subject to this modification, namely, that I should introduce the plural form as regards the words 'inhabitant or passer-by;' so that the amendment would run thus:—"that in line 4 of the second paragraph of section 2, the words 'person solicited or of two or more of the inhabitants or passers-by' be substituted for the words 'inhabitants or passers-by.'"

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"The word 'inhabitants' is rather a dangerous word to use: it means not one or two or three, but a fair number of the inhabitants. I merely throw this out for the consideration of the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill."

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"The point to which I desire to invite particular attention is, that it is the principle of the Bill that a person should be punishable, not for soliciting to the annoyance of an individual, but to the annoyance of the public; and from that point of view there is very great difference between the wording of the amendment as it was originally drafted by my hon'ble friend and that which he has been good enough to say he is prepared to accept. I entirely concur with the remarks which fell from the Hon'ble MAULVI ABDUL JUBBAR when he dwelt with much force on the valuable provisions of the present Bill in affording protection to the public who are outraged by these solicitations. If we are to depend on the complaint of the individual solicited, or if it were necessary to prove that the person solicited had been annoyed, then I am afraid that the value of the present Bill will be minimised. It is to be assumed, as the Council were told just now, that the offenders as a rule know perfectly well the classes of persons whom they accost, and certainly in many instances the persons accosted are not annoyed, and are not likely to complain of annoyance. It is not for their protection that we have introduced this legislation. It is for the protection of the general public. From this point of view I wish to impress upon the Council the advisability of the provisions of this Bill being worded as in the English law, where the same principle is maintained by the use of the word 'inhabitants' in the plural. There is no difficulty, I apprehend, in determining who are the inhabitants of a locality or who are the passers-by in that particular place. The custom of calling upon the Legislature to define the meaning of words is liable to great abuse. We must depend upon the Courts to exercise reasonable sagacity and commonsense in interpreting words of this nature. I understood the Hon'ble the Advocate-General to say that the word 'inhabitant' should be defined, but I am afraid there will be no end to it if questions of this kind are thrust upon us."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE also moved that in line 6 of the second paragraph of section 5, the words "on the complaint of the person annoyed or of two or more inhabitants or passers-by whose names and addresses shall be ascertained by the police officer" be inserted after the word "may." He said:—

"The section to which this amendment refers was the subject of considerable debate when this Bill was referred to a Select Committee. I will not repeat those arguments on the present occasion. It is not necessary to do so. I should have preferred if this section were altogether abandoned, and if solicitation to immorality were declared to be an offence, and the rest of the Bill were dropped. I am aware of the objection to this course. It has been said that if this were done the Bill would be inoperative. It would be operative when the person injured chose to complain, otherwise not. Is it not the case with regard to a large class of offences that they are not cognizable by the police? The person injured sets in motion the machinery of the law, and the law becomes operative. We are legislating for the first time in regard to a new matter altogether, and it is of the first importance that we should so legislate that the law does not operate with severity upon the people. I would place this class of offences in the category of non-cognizable offences. I am unwilling to add to the powers of the police, even for so laudable a purpose as the promotion of social purity; for I fear it would lead to abuse and would be used as an instrument for levying blackmail.

"I claim for my amendment that it is supported by the Association at whose instance this legislation has been undertaken. They have not left us in the dark as to their views. We have a letter from the REV. MR. ASHTON, the Convener of the Committee of the Social Purity Association. I will read the last paragraph of his letter. He there says:—

'The Committee feel the force of the remarks that have been made as to the possible working of section 5 of the Bill, but they think that section 2 will be practically inoperative without some such provision as is contained in section 5, while the safeguard imposed in that section ought to disarm the apprehension of serious abuse, especially if the section be so far modified as to make arrest lawful only at the instance of the person solicited.'

"The Committee recommend the safeguard which is embodied in my amendment. They suggest that the section be so far modified as to make arrest lawful only at the instance of the person solicited. That is the gist of my amendment. The person solicited must complain, and then only will the police arrest. If we make this concession we satisfy the demands of public opinion, and at the same time conform to the views of the Social Purity Party. I am afraid that without some such safeguard this section will be converted into an engine of oppression, and an instrument for the purpose of levying blackmail. I am free to acknowledge that the Government is actuated in this matter by the purest of motives, and that it is entitled to command in an unstinted degree the co-operation of public opinion. My amendment seeks to bring about this result and to enlist public opinion on behalf of this measure by reconciling the interests of social purity with those of personal liberty."

The Hon'ble Mr. Beighton said:—"I desire, like the Hon'ble Mr. Cotton, to associate myself with much that has fallen from the Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jubbar. It is impossible not to respect the motives of those who have taken the initiative in this matter or to withhold sympathy from their conscientious efforts in the cause of morality and social purity. I will go further and admit that though the evil against which we are asked to legislate has not attained in Calcutta anything like the serious and scandalous proportions which it has reached in London and some continental capitals, still it is clear from what was said by the Hon'ble Sir John Lambert when he introduced the Bill, and from the observations he has made to-day, that there are areas in Calcutta where public propriety is scandalized by open solicitations to immorality, and, to check this evil, legislation is undoubtedly demanded.

"But while I concede so much, it must not be lost sight of that the Bill not only creates in this country a new offence, but it introduces a novel procedure. Speaking very generally, the power of the police to arrest without warrant and without complaint is restricted to heinous offences and offences against the public tranquility. The new offence defined by this Bill certainly does not come within either of these classes. It has been contended by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill that reasonable precautions against misconduct on the part of the police have been taken by limiting the exercise of the power conferred on the police by the Bill to an officer 'above the rank of police constable.' This provision would, I suppose, allow any European constable to take action under section 5 of the Bill. If so, it goes very far, as I shall hope to show presently, beyond the ordinary Municipal Law of England. Then, again, there is no restriction whatever as regards the rank of the 'other officer,' whom the Local Government or the Commissioner of Police may empower under the Act. This also is a point, as it appears to me, worthy of notice in considering the sufficiency of the safeguard introduced into the Bill.

"When I read the debate which took place in this Council on the occasion of the introduction of the Bill, I must confess I shared, and still share to some extent, the misgivings to which eloquent expression was given by the hon'ble mover of the present amendment and the Hon'ble Mr. Ghose. Without going so far as to anticipate the wholesale blackmailing and oppressive treatment of the poorer classes of the community, I do think that the Act may occasionally be used as a means of extortion, and my fears on this head are by no means allayed by the arguments we have heard to-day from the Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jubbar. The hon'ble member spoke of the immunity from arrest or annoyance that the zenana system conferred upon respectable native females. But has the hon'ble member forgotten that there are other females of a humbler class, whose avocations compel them to pass through the streets of Calcutta, even at night, with perfectly innocent motives? I cannot but fear that though there may be no such widespread mischief as the Hon'ble Mr. Ghose has prophesied, there may be, if no additional safeguard be introduced into the Bill, some individual cases of extortion, and that scandals may in isolated instances occur which may reasonably shock the whole community.

"The Council will perhaps permit me to detain them while I make some observations on the law as it exists in England and in other countries. If I understood the hon'ble mover of the Bill rightly, he said in his introductory speech that the police possessed in England the same power as it is proposed to confer upon them by this Bill, and both he and the Hon'ble Mr. Cotton referred to the words of section 54, 2 and 3 Vic., Chapter 47, as the foundation for the Bill. I must confess, however, I am surprised to find that neither of the hon'ble members seem to be aware that this Act is in force only in the metropolis. The law as regards all the other Municipal Corporations in England is contained in the 'Towns Clauses Consolidation Act,' section 28 of which renders punishable every common prostitute or night-walker loitering and importuning passengers for the purposes of prostitution. This Act, however, contains no provision as to how the law is to be enforced, but merely defines the offence. That provision is to be found in section 253 of the Public Health Act of 1878; and not to detain the Council by unnecessary reference to technical details, I may say at once that no cognizance can be taken by the Police of the offence defined, nor can they arrest or prosecute any offender except on the complaint of some person aggrieved. This is the law as regards ordinary municipal boroughs in England, and it is well that the Council should note that we are proposing to confer upon the police of Calcutta exceptional powers which exist in England only for the government of the metropolis. Even in the metropolis it is a matter of common notoriety that a Police Magistrate will not convict on the uncorroborated evidence of a police constable. The case of Miss Cass, which has been so often referred to, is not an illustration of the imperfection of the law as it stands, but rather a proof of its inadequacy to prevent an occasional instance of oppression and a forcible example of the mode in which an unscrupulous police constable may, under colour of the law, act in defiance of its provisions.

"The law in other countries, so far as I have been able to ascertain, is very much the same as in the municipal boroughs of England. In America all or nearly all the State Legislatures have enacted that no police officer can arrest, and no complaint can be entertained in the Police Courts except at the instance of some one who has been aggrieved and who publicly comes forward to state that he has been aggrieved. In Germany the law is the same, while in Italy the power of interference is still more restricted. No police officer has the right to arrest any person for soliciting to immorality whether a complaint is made or not. The person aggrieved must himself lodge a complaint before a Magistrate. An attempt to legislate for the towns of Rome and Naples on something like the lines of the present Bill was defeated in the Chamber of Deputies.

"This summary, brief as it is, is, I trust, sufficient to show the Council that any powers conferred upon the police to interfere in cases of solicitation are regarded throughout the civilised world with great distrust. But while I am bound to say that I cannot vote for section 5 of the Bill as it is drafted, I do not think the Council ought to accept the amendment now under discussion.

"I entirely concur with what has been urged by the Hon'ble the Chief Secretary and the Hon'ble Sir John Lambert, both to-day and during the former debate, that if the person solicited or any other person is to be compelled to give his name and address before any complaint as to solicitation can be recognized by the police, the provisions of the Act will be rendered altogether nugatory. The publicity attending such a provision would practically deter either the person solicited or any member of the public who was present from coming forward and complaining of any solicitation either addressed to him or which took place in his presence. But this is a very different thing from saying that no complaint ought to be made. We have been told several times in this Council that the Bill is framed in the interests of the public. If so, it is surely not too much to expect that some individual will come forward in the interests of the public and make a complaint. I think that a passer-by who might well shrink from giving his name and address need not shrink from putting the machinery of the Bill in motion and claiming the protection of the police when there is no such ordeal to be faced. It may be argued by those who support the more drastic proposal of the hon'ble member that my suggestion would not be a sufficient precaution against extortion. I do not share this apprehension. It would be perfectly well known both to the police and the public that the former could not act otherwise than on complaint of some kind, even if it be a complaint of an unknown person, and this would in practice operate as a check on malpractices. The police would be unable to levy blackmail from prostitutes and their servants without a conspiracy which would require at least one confederate, and this would greatly increase the chances of detection; and if any attempt were habitually made by any police officer to secure convictions under this section by falsely alleging that a complaint had been made by some one unknown to him, he would, after a short time, infallibly be detected by his superior officers, and no Magistrate would attach any credence to his evidence.

"I have one more observation to make as to one of the safeguards in the Bill on which stress has been laid by the hon'ble member opposite (MR. COTTON). The provision for limiting the power of arrest to cases where the offender refuses to give his name and address appears to me illusory, for there is nothing to prevent a dishonest police officer from asserting that the offender refused to give these particulars, whether he did so or not.

"I have been precluded, owing to my very recent appointment as a member of this Council, from giving the usual notice, but I have drafted an amendment to-day which will, I hope, meet with the approval of the Council, and have handed it to His Honour the President. If he permits me to do so, I will move at the proper time that after the word 'may' in the 6th line of paragraph 2 of section 5, the words 'at the instance of any person aggrieved' be inserted. The 'person aggrieved' may be either the person solicited, or any member of the public who was present and was annoyed by the act of solicitation. This is, after all, a small amendment, but I hope the Council, and even the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE, will accept it as sufficient to meet the fears that have been expressed as to the effect of the exceptional powers conferred upon the police."

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"I venture to trouble the Council with a few words with reference to the proposal of the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE, and also with regard to the remarks of the Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON. I must say that certain of these observations seem to me calculated to mislead the Council as to the powers already exercised by the police in this town. If I understand my hon'ble friend correctly, he laid down the law to be that only in cases of heinous offences and with regard to public disturbances had the police power to arrest without warrant. It appears to me that my hon'ble friend entirely lost sight of a very large number of offences with regard to what are termed nuisances, which are tried by Magistrates. All matters which relate to public nuisances are cognisable by the police. The police may arrest persons committing such nuisances without warrant. The Calcutta Police Act enumerates in section 66 a vast number of offences of that nature, the essence of which is that they cause public annoyance; in other words, that they are nuisances. There is a special section which empowers the police to arrest without warrant persons found drunk or incapable of taking care of themselves, or are guilty of rioting in the streets. Amongst other offences are included the exposing of one's person, exposing sores and wounds, and begging: all these are substantive offences, for which the police can arrest without warrant. The point is this, that any police officer may arrest in the case of such offences without warrant; and it was originally proposed by the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE that the same power of arresting without warrant should be extended to the new offence now created; in other words, that it should be an offence for which any police officer may arrest without a warrant. [The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE said:—"My hon'ble friend will pardon me. I made that statement at a time when I was not aware that the offence was an offence cognisable by the Police."] But as a matter of fact all these offences are cognisable by any police officer, and it was proposed by the Social Purity Association that the offence of solicitation should be added to the offences enumerated in this section of the Calcutta Police Act. That was a step beyond what the Government was prepared to take. There is no doubt that this is a new offence,—this solicitation to commit immorality to the annoyance of the public,—and the Government are most anxious that a new offence of this kind should be safeguarded in such a way as to ensure that the public should be protected.

"With this view various safeguards were proposed, one of which was that the power of arrest should be restricted to a police officer above the rank of native constable, and to police officers specially appointed by the Lieutenant-

Governor or the Commissioner of Police, and other safeguards were added. I lay much stress on this consideration, as I think it cuts at the root of the objection which my hon'ble friend takes to allowing these powers to be exercised by the police. The English Metropolitan Law places this power in the hands of any constable of police. We have not done that. I wish hon'ble members carefully to consider that point. The Government has been most anxious that powers conferred upon the police should not be abused, and I think the Council may accept the assurance of the Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT that the discretion vested in the police will be judiciously exercised.

"Then, as to the proposal contained in the amendment that cases of this kind should only be taken up on complaint—a proposal which is substantially endorsed by the Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON when he recommends that cases shall only be brought at the instance of the party aggrieved. I object as strongly to one amendment as to the other. The object of the law is to create an offence which is an offence against the public, not an offence against an individual. This offence comes in the same category as all public nuisances which have designedly been made cognizable by the police, and for which they can arrest without warrant; and as this new offence classes itself in the category of public nuisances, it is legitimately and properly an offence for which the police may arrest without warrant. There is no harm in any one complaining. If an individual is annoyed he can complain; but the police will act as guardians of the public welfare under this law. The public is aggrieved by solicitation, but individual members of the public will not complain in such cases. I cannot imagine myself in the position of a complainant in such a case, and I should be very much surprised if any hon'ble member would go so far as to complain to the police or to a Magistrate of an offence under this section. I think we should leave the power of acting in cases of nuisances of this kind in the hands of the police, who are the custodians of the public welfare. We know from experience that individuals will not complain. It is not the case in Calcutta only, but all the world over, that the person solicited is probably the very last person who will complain. I hope, gentlemen, you will vote against this amendment."

The Hon'ble SIR CHARLES PAUL said:—"I do not understand my hon'ble friend, the Legal Remembrancer, to have desired that an arrest should not be made without warrant, but he desired simply that the arrest should be at the instance of the person aggrieved, in order to prevent any policeman taking malicious or capricious action under this section. My mind has vacillated between the two questions whether there should be a complaint or not; but on the whole I have come to the conclusion that it would be better to have a complaint, and what has convinced me is the second portion of the amendment, of which notice has been given by the Hon'ble MR. GHOSE, namely, that the Magistrate may, when he finds it necessary, require the complainant to appear and give evidence. The Hon'ble MR. COTTON has suggested that the offence with which this Bill deals is an offence which comes under the category of a public nuisance; that the policeman is the guardian of the public welfare. I never knew that before, but we live and learn. He is a gentleman, no doubt, who is employed to keep the peace and to do other things, but I never knew that he was the custodian of the public welfare. Any one of the public should be at liberty to set the Police in motion, but he should not be bound to come forward and give evidence. The advantage of this course will be that it will put an end to the possibility of a policeman acting capriciously or maliciously."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUHAMMAD YUSUF, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"When this Bill was being referred to the Select Committee, I suggested that the words 'on complaint' might be introduced in this section, but in the Select Committee certain modifications were made which rendered it unnecessary that the words 'on complaint' should be introduced. The Bill as it stood before afforded every facility for abuse of its powers by the Police, but the words which the Select Committee introduced provided sufficient safeguard against such abuse: the words which the Select Committee introduced were that the solicitation must be 'to the annoyance of the inhabitants or passers-by.' After the introduction of these words it is unnecessary that there should be a complaint. The section having been thus amended, and for the exercise of the power of arrest it being necessary that the names and addresses of the inhabitants should be known, no urgency exists for a complaint. I shall therefore vote against this amendment.

The Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM, KHAN BAHADUR, said:—"The object of this amendment is to prevent a police officer arresting a person of his own motion in such a case. By this Bill you are creating a new offence, and are giving additional powers to the police, and therefore it is essentially necessary that there should be some safeguard. I do not think the safeguard provided by section 5 is quite sufficient; and if that is so, I submit that the police ought not to take any action unless on the complaint of the person who has been solicited or of the inhabitants or passers-by. If the gist of the offence is the annoyance caused, how is the police officer to know that annoyance has been caused unless there is a complaint. The complaint would be the test of the annoyance; and therefore I humbly think that the addition of the words proposed in this amendment are very necessary. It was said by the Hon'ble MR. COTTON that the object of the law is to provide a remedy against a public nuisance. If that is so, what is the test that the conduct of a certain person amounts to a public nuisance? It is a complaint, and unless there is a complaint, it cannot be said that there is any offence at all."

The Hon'ble MR. BONNERJEE said:—"I also support this amendment, and the reason which has been given by the hon'ble gentleman, who has just spoken, is so conclusive that I do not think it necessary to adduce any other reason. I rise chiefly to enter my respectful protest against English law and English Statutes being brought to bear upon the consideration of policy in this Council when those statutes and those laws are of a character which take away from the liberty of the subject; when it is urged on behalf of the people of this country that such and such institutions exist in England, the answer given on behalf of the Government is that the condition of things in England differs entirely from those in India, and therefore you cannot have English institutions given to you. If we are not to have English institutions favouring the liberty of the subject, do not let us have English institutions which do not favour the liberty of the subject."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"The reasons against requiring the person aggrieved to make a formal complaint have been fully stated on various occasions, and have been stated again on this occasion. I cannot say that anything that has been said has materially altered my view or has led me to think that there should be a complaint. The object in view is to stop the commission of the offence, but we shall weaken the measures taken to stop it if we require a complaint. I do not feel the same objection to the amendment about to be proposed by the Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON, namely, that the Police Officer should act at the instance of the person aggrieved. Practically, we know that something of the kind does take place: the Police will not act unless moved by some person who is aggrieved."

The Motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 7.	Noes 9.
The Hon'ble Mr. Smyth.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Muhammad Yusuf, Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Mr. Womack.	The Hon'ble Mr. Dutt.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bonnerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Beighton.
The Hon'ble Maulvi Serajul Islam, Khan Bahadur.	The Hon'ble Mr. Buckland.
The Hon'ble Sir Luchmessur Singh Bahadur of Darbhanga.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jubbur, Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon.
The Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Lyall.
	The Hon'ble Sir John Lambert.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton.

So the Motion was lost.

The Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON said:—"I have already detained the Council for so long a time with the arguments on which my amendment is based that I do not intend to inflict another speech upon them. I have to thank the Hon'ble MAULVI SERAJUL ISLAM for an argument which strengthens the reasons for my amendment, and that is the doubt which the police must feel in ascertaining whether any annoyance has been caused unless some complaint has been made. I have expressly used the word 'instance' instead of the formal word 'complaint' in order that it should be understood that the person making the complaint is not bound to appear and give evidence. I move that in line 6 of the second paragraph of section 5, the words 'at the instance of any person aggrieved' be inserted after the word 'may'."

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"The objections I took to the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE'S Motion apply with equal force to this amendment. In fact, I feel that there is no radical distinction between the two amendments: the difference is the difference between tweedledum and tweedledee! There is no difference between a provision in the law authorising action to be taken by the police on a complaint made and action taken by the police at the 'instance' of the person aggrieved,—whether it is called a complaint, a statement, or a representation I do not care,—but the fact remains that in either case the police will not be able to take action unless some person comes forward and makes a representation to them. I understand from the observation that your Honour dropped a minute ago, that you are of opinion that the police would not act except at the instance of some person who might be aggrieved. With due deference to that opinion, which I do not hold, I would refer to cases of public nuisances in which the police do act on their own authority; in the case, for instance, of a carriage driven on the wrong side of the road or without lights, in such cases the police take up the driver. There is no complaint; the police don't act at the instance of a person aggrieved; they act on general instructions given to them. Again, when a person is drunk and disorderly in a public place, the passers-by do not say 'arrest that person,' but the police arrest him of their own accord. Any police officer may arrest in such cases. In this particular instance, which creates a scandal to the community, it is also proposed that the police shall act on their own authority; but a safeguard is enacted, only the higher officers of police shall be so empowered. To suppose that members of the public will come forward to complain is chimerical, and if this amendment is carried, the law had better not be passed at all."

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT said:—"I entirely agree with what has fallen from the Hon'ble MR. COTTON. It will be useful, I think, for the Council to know what generally takes place in such cases. I have been in Calcutta, in the appointment which I have the honour to hold, for a long time, and I can say that, as a rule, complaint is made not to the subordinate police but direct to the Commissioner of Police. It is made by persons of respectability, and the complaint is that in a certain locality an annoyance of the kind referred to is caused, and the Commissioner of Police is asked to take such steps as will enable the residents to get relief. The Commissioner then places a selected officer in the locality, and instructs him to take steps to stop the nuisance. That is what generally happens. But if the police on duty in the street are to wait until they are called upon by individuals, or by the residents of the locality, or by persons aggrieved, to make arrests, then this Act will assuredly be a deadletter, and it had far better be withdrawn."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"I trust that the prophecy of the Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT will not be found to be a truthful one, supposing this amendment to be carried. It must be observed that even the chief supporters of the Social Purity Association, at whose instance mainly the Government has moved in this matter, have supported an idea of this kind, and I confess, in spite of what has been said, that I think the proper and reasonable procedure is that the persons aggrieved should make the first move in the matter, and I am inclined to think they would call in the Police to stop annoyances of the sort, provided it would not result in their having to make an appearance before the Magistrate at some future date. Even granting that this Act becomes a dead-letter, there will be later opportunities for the Council to enlarge the powers given to the police. If we find that what we have done is insufficient, we can do something more. But in all cases of this kind it seems desirable to step moderately, and not to rush into a new departure. On these grounds, after hearing all that has been said, my personal feeling is in favour of the amendment of the Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON."

The motion being put, the Council divided:—

Ayes 12.	Noes 6.
The Hon'ble Mr. Smyth.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Muhammad Yusuf, Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Mr. Womack.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jubbur, Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bonnerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon.
The Hon'ble Maulvi Serajul Islam, Khan Bahadur.	The Hon'ble Mr. Lyall.
The Hon'ble Maharaja Sir Luchmessur Singh Bahadur of Darbhanga.	The Hon'ble Sir John Lambert.
The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose.	The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton.
The Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee.
The Hon'ble Mr. Dutt.
The Hon'ble Mr. Beighton.
The Hon'ble Mr. Buckland.
The Hon'ble Mr. Collier.
The Hon'ble Sir Charles Paul.

So the motion was carried.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRANATH BANERJEE moved that in line 9 of the second paragraph of section 5, the words "person solicited or of two or more of the inhabitants or passers-by" be substituted for the words "inhabitants or passers-by." He said:—

"This amendment is the same as that which has been accepted by this Council on my motion in reference to section 4."

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"I cannot agree to this amendment, and would wish my name to appear as opposed to it. I believe it will prove to be an injurious provision in the law."

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. GHOSE said:—"I think it necessary to bring forward the motion which stands in my name for reasons which I shall state. On the last occasion when this Bill was before the Council, several hon'ble members agreed with me as to the dangerous character of the powers which were proposed to be conferred on the police, and I have not heard anything in the Select Committee or in the debates which have taken place to-day which induces me to alter my opinion. On the contrary, the more I have reflected and the more I have discussed the matter with my friends, the more fully am I convinced that it will be dangerous to pass this Act without some more efficient safeguards than are provided in the Bill. No doubt the amendments which have just been carried go to a certain extent to meet the object I have in view, but there is one matter which has been overlooked. A police officer is bound to take action at the instance of some person or persons aggrieved, but unless you also compel him to ascertain the name and address of the persons making complaint, you leave us exactly where we are, because we shall have nothing more than the bare statement of the policeman that some persons complained to him, but he did not know who they were or where to find them. It is absolutely necessary that where a false case is brought against an innocent woman, the police officer should be able to disclose the name and address of the person who set the law in motion. The object of my amendment is not that in every case or in the majority of cases the person or persons who complained should be compelled to give evidence in Court.

"In the vast majority of cases where the offence is committed in the public streets, the persons charged will either be prostitutes or touts; there will be no dispute in such cases; the persons charged will admit the offence, and the whole thing will be over in a minute. But my amendment is intended to meet the case where the woman denies the charge, and where she is able to prove to the satisfaction of the trying Magistrate that she is not a prostitute, but a respectable person. In such cases the Court should have the power to compel the person who is responsible for a malicious and false prosecution to come forward and give evidence. I submit that this is still necessary; otherwise you would leave such innocent persons without any remedy whatever. This class of cases may be very rare, but such cases may occur, and I think a safeguard should be provided to meet them. I still hold that there is no necessity whatever for this legislation, and I respectfully advise some of those who are agitating in this direction to look homewards and to direct their exuberant energies towards the purification of Regent Street and Piccadilly, and a hundred other important thoroughfares in London and in every other large European city compared with which our streets may be regarded as models of purity. However, be that as it may, I submit that if we do pass an enactment such as this, the amendment which I now propose should be accepted, as it will tend to some extent at least to minimise the dangers and the evils which I apprehend. With these remarks, I move that at the end of section 5 the following proviso be added:—

'Provided that it shall be the duty of every police officer taking action under this section to ascertain the name and address of the person aggrieved.

'Provided, further, that the person aggrieved need not attend to give evidence unless required by the Magistrate so to do.'"

The Hon'ble MR. COTTON said:—"I most strongly oppose this, as I have done all previous amendments in the same direction. It strikes at the very principle of the Bill, which is to provide for certain offences against the public and not against individuals. A clause of this kind will stultify the Bill, and I hope the Council will not pass this amendment."

The Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON said:—"I think, for the reasons I have already fully placed before the Council, that this amendment ought not to be accepted. I may observe with regard to the second of the two provisos, the Magistrate already has the power, under the ordinary law, of summoning any person to give evidence in any case before him, and I can see no possible object in passing a provision which is redundant and merely draws unnecessary attention to the powers conferred upon all Courts of law. I am by no means sure that the proviso will not have the opposite effect to that contemplated by the hon'ble member."

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT said:—"I am afraid that these provisos will not help us. The state of the law will very soon be known, and all that the person charged will have to do will be to deny that he or she committed the offence, and request that the person or persons at whose instance the arrest was made be produced, and it will invariably happen that the person who has given his name to the police will be summoned by the Magistrate to give evidence. As soon as this is known, the law will become inoperative, and there will certainly be no possibility of oppression or illegal conduct on the part of the police, for the simple reason that they will cease to act at all."

The Hon'ble THE PRESIDENT said:—"My objection to this amendment is that I fear it will make the law very largely inoperative. Persons aggrieved, will prefer to undergo the annoyance rather than face the trouble and annoyance of appearing in the Police Court; and this will especially be the case with ladies who are ignorant of the nature of a Police Court, and who would naturally object to appear in such cases. I think it will be extremely unwise to make it impossible for people to rid themselves of the annoyance which they suffer. I trust all who desire the success of this Bill, and to support the action of the Government in bringing it forward, will vote against this amendment."

The Motion being put the Council divided:—

Ayes 7.	Noes 9.
The Hon'ble Mr. Smyth.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Muhammad Yusuf Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Mr. Womack.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Serajul Islam Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Mr. Bonnerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Beighton.
The Hon'ble Maharaja Sir Luchmessur Singh Bahadur of Darbhanga.	The Hon'ble Mr. Buckland.
The Hon'ble Mr. Ghose.	The Hon'ble Maulvi Abdul Jubbar Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Babu Surendranath Banerjee.	The Hon'ble Mr. Bourdillon.
The Hon'ble Sir Charles Paul.	The Hon'ble Mr Lyall.
	The Hon'ble Sir John Lambert.
	The Hon'ble Mr. Cotton.

So the Motion was lost.

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN LAMBERT moved that the Bill as settled in Council be passed. He said:—

"The Bill has been very materially altered, and I trust it will be found to work, but I am very doubtful whether it will have the effect which is desired."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

THE LAND RECORDS MAINTENANCE BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND moved that the Hon'ble MR. BEIGHTON be appointed to the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the maintenance of the Record of Rights in Bengal, and for the recovery of the cost of Cadastral Surveys and Settlements in the place of the Hon'ble MR. WILKINS.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Saturday, the 30th instant.

RESOLUTION ON THE OPIUM ADMINISTRATION REPORT, 1893-94.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—OPIUM.

Calcutta, the 13th April 1895.

RESOLUTION No. 2032.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Opium Department for the year 1893-94 (1st September 1893 to 31st August 1894).

The Board's report is due to this Government by the 1st February, and should be forwarded to the Government of India by the 1st March, together with His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor's Resolution on it. The present report did not, however, reach Government till the 26th February 1895. This delay is said to have been due to the late receipt of the Opium Agents' reports in consequence of certain revisions in the form and system of the report which had been ordered by Government. As the orders referred to were passed so long ago as the 22nd December 1893, they should not have been allowed to cause delays.

2. The season 1893-94 is memorable for its disastrous results; the failure of the crop was far more serious than in any of the preceding five years, during which it had been continuously deficient. It is remarkable that, until the collection of the opium had actually begun, no indication of the serious nature of the falling off in the outturn had been perceived by even the most experienced officers. The crop report at the end of March estimated the produce in the Bihar Agency at 33,660 maunds, while the actual result was 24,312 maunds at varying consistencies. Mr. Wright closed his tour in the Benares Agency on the 17th April without having noticed that there was any cause for alarm. Even now, though the reports make mention of "unseasonable weather," "rainy, cloudy and unfavourable weather," "east winds and fogs which induce blight," "excessive and continuous damp," there is no assertion that these conditions prevailed to an abnormal extent, and there is an entire failure to record with precision the meteorological history of the season and to connect cause with effect. The extent of the damage was not realized until the lancing of the poppy had shown how meagre the secretion of juice in the capsules actually was. This failure to read the signs of the sky reflects severely on the agricultural knowledge of the department.

Cultivation and produce.

3. The area actually cultivated with poppy in the Bihar Agency, excluding failures, was 3,79,714 bighas (2,37,321 acres) against 3,85,761 bighas in the season 1892-93, and in the Benares Agency 3,53,409 bighas (2,20,881 acres) against 3,41,028 bighas. The area of failures in both the agencies was less than in 1892-93, being 3 per cent. against 5 in the Bihar Agency, and 1·3 per cent. against 3 in the Benares Agency. But, as stated above, the outturn in both the agencies was remarkably poor. Bihar produced only 26,116 maunds at 70° consistence, and Benares 35,236 maunds, against 40,339 maunds and 42,970 maunds, respectively, in the preceding year. The average produce per bigha was 2 seers 12 chitaks in the Bihar Agency and 3 seers and 15 chitaks in the Benares Agency, against a normal average of about 5 seers to the bigha. The average in both the agencies is the worst on record. The number of cultivators was 621,266 in Bihar and 544,005 in Benares, a slight decrease in both cases on the figures of the preceding year. The average produce to each cultivator was only 1 seer 10¾ chitaks in Bihar and 2 seers 9½ chitaks in the Benares Agency, against 2 seers 8 chitaks and 3 seers 1¼ chitaks, respectively, in the two agencies in the year 1892-93. Thus the loss to the cultivators, who were paid at the rate of Rs. 5 per seer, was serious. Mr. Tytler, the Sub-Deputy Opium Agent, Aliganj, estimates that the blight cost the cultivators in his Sub-Agency seven lakhs of rupees, and the loss to Government in that area was of course far greater. The consistence of the drug was much higher than usual, the average being 69·89 in Bihar against 63·57 in 1892-93, and 71·33 in Benares against 67·2 in 1892-93. The result was that all the opium in Benares was manufactured at 72°, the standard being 71° and nearly half that in Bihar had to be manufactured at a consistence of 76° the standard being 75°. A high consistence, the Benares Agent remarks, is satisfactory to the cultivator, in that he gets a higher price for the drug: but to Government it causes loss; thus 16,543 chests were manufactured at Ghazipur at a consistence of 72°; had it been possible to bring this down to 71°, there would have been 233 more chests, which at an average price of Rs. 1,200 would have produced Rs. 2,79,600. This sum was lost to Government and also a premium of Rs. 1,31,875 was paid to the cultivators on account of the higher consistence, making a total loss to Government of Rs. 4,11,475. Additional work was also entailed on the factory staff in having to reduce the high quality down to the proper consistence for caking. The superior quality of the drug, moreover, as the Board point out, brings in little or no extra profit to Government, for the prices realized at auction are regulated not so much by the actual quality of the opium as by the quantity available for sale.

Cost price of opium to Government.

4. The cost price of a maund of opium to Government rose from Rs. 220 in 1892-93 to Rs. 232 in Bihar, and from Rs. 227 to Rs. 230 in Benares, and the cost price of a chest from Rs. 362-10-10 in Bihar and Rs. 394-15-7 in Benares in 1892-93 to Rs. 389-2-10 and Rs. 404-2-6 respectively. This increase was due partly to the high consistence of the crude opium already referred to, and partly to the fact that, as the outturn was small, the fixed charges for permanent establishment, &c., had to be divided among a smaller number of chests. The price paid to cultivators for the raw produce was Rs. 5 a seer as in former years. For some time past it has been recognised that owing to continued failures of the crop and to the rise in the price of other crops which especially compete with the poppy, the esteem in which the crop has always been held among some of the cultivating classes has tended to decrease: and an increase in the rate of payment for the raw produce was only a question of time. In the Resolutions on the reports for 1891-92 and 1892-93 remarks to this effect were made. The necessity for such a concession was accentuated by the particularly bad results of the year under report, and it was felt that it could no longer be withheld if the cultivation of poppy on the same scale as in past years was to continue. Accordingly, the Government of India decided in May 1894 that the price of raw opium should be raised from Rs. 5 to Rs. 6 per seer with effect from the crop of the season 1894-95, and it is to be hoped that this measure will have the effect of erasing from the cultivators' minds the disastrous and disheartening results of the past few years. Judging from the results of the settlements of the current season, it appears to have already had this effect in the Benares Agency where the area engaged for was 438,681 bighas or an increase of 26·41 per cent. on the area for 1893-94. In the Bihar Agency on the other hand the area engaged for (3,88.613 bighas), notwithstanding the enhanced price, showed a decrease of 4·1 per cent. compared with the previous year.

Outturn and sales.

5. The number of chests of provision opium manufactured was 16,785 in the Bihar and 16,543 chests in the Benares Agencies, giving a total of 33,328 chests, that is 7,177 chests less than in the previous year. The normal sales used to be fixed at 54,000 chests a year, and the reserve at 30,000 chests, but these totals have not been reached for several years past, and in fact the reserve has disappeared. It was originally arranged to sell 42,300 chests during 1894; but, in consequence of the scanty outturn of the season of 1893-94, it was decided to reduce the number to 41,040 in order that the chests thus saved might be sold in 1895. Ultimately the number to be sold in 1895 was fixed at 37,260 chests, and to enable even this reduced number to be available, it will be necessary to indent on the current season's crop to the extent of som 2,651 chests.

Malwa opium.

6. In order to supplement the home produce and reserve it as far as possible for the manufacture of provision opium, the purchase of Malwa opium for excise purposes, which had been abandoned since 1886, was again resorted to during the year under report, and Mr. Hastings was deputed to Indore to buy 5,000 maunds of the drug. The quantity actually purchased was 3,455 maunds, which is estimated to produce 2,550 maunds at 90° consistence. The drug thus purchased was found to be much saturated with oil. The average cost to Government of a maund at 90 per cent. of the Malwa opium purchased in 1893-94 was Rs. 387-7-4, which is less than in 1882 and 1884, but more than in the years 1883, 1885 and 1886. It is much higher than the price paid to the Bihar raiyat.

Excise Opium.

7. The Board have caused the forms of the statements relating to excise opium submitted by the Benares Agent to be altered so as to assimilate them to those in the Bihar report. This change prevents any comparison being made, as far as Benares is concerned, with the figures under this head for previous years. From Table XX in the two Agents' reports, it appears that in the Patna Factory 3,503 maunds 13 seers of Excise opium were manufactured between the 1st September 1893 and the 31st August 1894, compared with 1,455 maunds 26 seers during the corresponding previous period. At Ghazipur 4,839 maunds 27 seers were manufactured between September 1893 and August 1894. During the financial year 1893-94, 1,338 maunds 2 seers were despatched from Patna, and 3,671 maunds 1 seer from Ghazipur.

The figures in the tables relating to Excise opium, of which there are five in each report, are rendered obscure and confusing by the fact that they deal with three different periods, viz., the financial year from 1st April to 31st March, the Factory working period from 1st April to 31st October, the opium year from 1st September to 31st August. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad if the Board would consider whether, by selecting for comparison one period only, these statistics could not be simplified.

Expenditure.

8. The total expenditure during the year in the two agencies was Rs. 1,41,67,587 against Rs. 1,86,18,101 in the preceding year. The decrease in the aggregate is due to the low outturn. Under the head of "cost price of opium" there was a decrease of Rs. 28,60,206 in the Bihar, and Rs. 15,80,601 in the Benares Agency. There was also a decrease in all the other main heads of account in both agencies, except under manufacturing charges and establishment in Bihar. Larger payments for exchange compensation allowance account for the latter increase, while the former is said to be due to the purchase of a large quantity of timber for the manufacture of chests in the saw-mills, Government having ordered that chests should no longer be supplied by contractors.

Irrigation and advances for wells.

9. All the poppy lands in the North-Western Provinces are irrigated excepting 6,013 bighas in Gorakhpur, 1,205 bighas in Gonda, and 300 bighas in Basti. In Bihar, on the other hand, 22 per cent. of the land is unirrigated, and while in Monghyr and in the South Ganges districts all the lands are irrigated, in Motihari, Tirhut, Bettiah, and Hajipur the percentage of unirrigated lands rises as high as 72, 68, 64 and 41 respectively. Whether it be due to the character of the soil or to the absence of wells, the average outturn in these subdivisions is lower than in any of those where irrigation is more generally practised. But on the other hand, in a wet season like that of 1893-94, the benefit of artificial irrigation was less clearly felt, and the loss in the unirrigated subdivisions, compared with the preceding year, was less than in those where the system of cultivation is more elaborate. This leads to the conclusion that, while advances for constructing wells should be liberally given where the soil is good and will repay the cost, there are tracts where such an outlay will be less, or hardly at all, remunerative. Out of a total sum of Rs. 11,059 advanced in that agency, none was distributed in Tirhut and Motihari, and only Rs. 135 in Hajipur and Rs. 408 in Bettiah. In the Benares Agency the results are more favourable. Out of Rs. 11,176 advanced, Rs. 5,759 or more than half was taken by cultivators in Gorakhpur. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that the granting of advances for the purpose should be encouraged, but with discrimination.

Saw-mills.

10. The working of the saw-mills at Patna during the year has proved very successful. In December 1893, Government approved the Board's proposals for working the mills throughout the year instead of closing them for some months as had formerly been the practice, and as a result it is now found possible to abandon entirely the purchase of chests from contractors, and to manufacture at the mills enough for both agencies at a reduced cost and of a better quality. The cost price of a mango wood chest made at the mills during the year under report was Re. 1-11-8 against Re. 1-13-9¾ in the preceding year; the average price of a similar chest made by contract during the last ten years is said by the Bihar Agent to have been Re. 1-14-11.

No sâl wood has been purchased since 1891, but a stock of it was kept to guard against contingencies, and this the Board nôw propose to do away with. The average price paid per cubic foot of sâl wood was Re. 1-5-5, that of mango wood annas 6-7½, so that the saving effected by this change has been considerable. The total number of chests turned out during the year was 48,288 against 17,414 in 1892-93.

Breaches of the Opium law.

11. The following table shows at one view figures relating to the breaches of the Opium law during the past two years:—

	Cases investigated.		Persons— Tried.		Persons— Convicted.		Persons— Acquitted.		Fines— Imposed.		Fines— Realized.		Rewards to informers.

Three hundred of the cases investigated in Bengal during the year were under Act XIII of 1857, against cultivators for short cultivation; all the persons involved, 315 in number, were punished. These cases were confined almost entirely to Saran district, but no reason has been given for the large number of offences there. Of the fines imposed, Rs. 1,417 were remitted on appeal. In the North-Western Provinces only twenty-five out of the 552 cases were under Act XIII of 1857—13 for short cultivation, 10 for embezzlement of opium, and two for the illegal purchase of opium from cultivators. There were two important seizures of opium during the year—one of 36½ seers at Samastipur, and the other of 22 seers at Bankipore. In both cases the delinquents were adequately punished with fine and imprisonment.

Khatadari versus asamiwar system.

12. The question of introducing the Benares or asamiwar system into the Bihar Agency has engaged the attention of Government for a series of years, but hitherto every proposal has been vetoed, mainly on the ground of the increased establishment it would necessitate. The important difference in the two systems, which creates a grievance that ought to be removed, is that, while in Benares each cultivator is paid separately for the crude opium he brings to weighment after deducting the advances he has received, in Bihar, though each cultivator's output is separately weighed, payment is made in a lump to the khatadar for all the cultivators he represents after deducting all the advances they have received. If therefore a bad cultivator has received an advance larger than the value of the opium he brings, the balance is not refunded by him, but is deducted from the sum due to the good cultivators, the value of whose opium exceeds their advances. There is another grievance arising out of the commission (kharcha) which the khatadar levies from all his cultivators at a rate varying from 12 annas to Rs. 2-8 a bigha. The Opium Commission of 1883 strongly recommended the extension to Bihar of the Benares system, but Government at that time were of opinion that, although no doubt existed as to its theoretical superiority, there were financial considerations against its introduction, and deemed it inexpedient to disturb a system which had taken deep root, until at least maps and other field records, such as existed in the North-Western Provinces, were available in Bihar in order to secure reasonable chances of success. The Government of India accepted this view. Since that time the attention of Government has been attracted to the evils of the khatadari system more than once, and proposals for the partial introduction of the Benares procedure into Bihar have been made. During his tour in Bihar during the last cold weather the matter was prominently brought to the notice of Sir Charles Elliott; he was led to doubt whether any such large increase of establishment as was feared would really be requisite, in order to distribute money separately to cultivators whose produce had already been separately weighed and recorded; and he proposed to introduce the Benares system experimentally in two or three sub-divisions. On further consideration, however, it seemed better to propose a careful and detailed enquiry into this question, and the other subsidiary points connected with it, and a reference has been made to the Government of India to this end.

Merits of officers.

10. Mr. F. Baker, who was Officiating Opium Agent, Benares, from the 25th April to the end of the season, deserves special mention for the interest taken by him in the settlements for the current season, which owe their success to his endeavours. Among the officers subordinate to the Agents, Mr. Tytler, the Sub-Deputy Opium Agent of Aliganj, is again commended for the general excellence of his work, in recognition of which he has been lately appointed a Companion to the Order of the Indian Empire. Messrs. L. Parrott and A. C. Bryson, Sub-Deputy Opium Agents, Bihar, and Dr. Maynard, Officiating Factory Superintendent of Patna, are also favourably mentioned. Mr. Wright, the Benares Agent, has refrained from expressing any opinion on the merits of officers under him, as his experience of them is yet very limited; but he has placed on record his high opinion of Mr. Gregory both as Sub-Deputy Agent and Factory Superintendent, and commends Mr. Hastings' work in connection with the purchase of Malwa opium.

The Lieutenant-Governor desires to record his appreciation of the value of the services of Mr. D. R. Lyall, the Member of the Board of Revenue in charge of the Opium Department. He inspected both the agencies during the year, and Mr. Westmacott, who officiated for him in the summer, also inspected the Patna Agency.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. E. BUCKLAND,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

SURVEYS AND SETTLEMENTS IN BENGAL DURING THE YEAR ENDING 30TH SEPTEMBER, 1894.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT, LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 13th April 1895.

RESOLUTION No. 2031.

READ—

Letter No. 260A., dated the 9th March 1895, from the Board of Revenue, submitting the Reports of the Director of Land Records on Settlements, and the Director of Bengal Surveys on Surveys, during the year ending the 30th September 1894.

Submission of reports.

THE Lieutenant-Governor observes with pleasure the earlier dates of the submission of these reports to the Board and Government as compared with the previous year. The dates are shown in the following table :—

	Due to Board.	Dated	Reached the Board.	Due to Government.	Reached Government from the Board.

Survey Report ... { 1893-94 ...	Ditto ...	12th December ...	28th January ...	Ditto ...	14th March.

Though considerable improvement in punctuality has thus been effected, admitting of the issue of this review about two months before the date of its publication in 1894, the Lieutenant-Governor is not satisfied that his object has yet been fully attained. He is anxious, for the sake of the Directors and the officers of their Departments, that their reports should be written, and off their minds, before the commencement of the inspection season, that is, before the end of October, and he looked to the individual Settlement Officers to have their reports ready in time for this purpose. He regrets to find that the officers in charge of the important settlements could only submit their reports on dates ranging from 29th October to 25th November, and he is aware that the Directors' tours of inspection have consequently been interrupted. If the tabular statements are written up monthly, the totals for the year should be in each Settlement Officer's hands by the 5th October, and his report ought to be in the Director's hands by the 15th, so as to enable the Director to submit his Departmental report by the 15th November. These dates are prescribed as the obligatory points for future working; so that the field season may be kept free, or nearly so, from report-writing.

Charge and inspection.

2. Colonel J. E. Sandeman, I.S.C., was Director of Surveys in Bengal throughout the year, but was absent on privilege leave from 8th August to the end of September, when arrangements were made for the current duties of his office. He was in camp for 190 days, which were distributed over every month he was on duty, except during the recess of May and June. Mr. W. C. Macpherson, C.S., was in charge of the Office of Director of Land Records and Agriculture throughout the year, with the exception of a month's privilege leave in May-June, during which Mr. E. G. Colvin officiated for him. The Director and his locum tenens were on tour for 152 days in the year, distributed over every month of the year. His tours which took him, often more than once, to every settlement under his charge, included journeys to a Simla Conference and the Central Provinces on business connected with the Department.

The Lieutenant-Governor inspected the settlement work in North Bihar in February, in Cuttack and Balasore in April, and in Tippera in August, 1894. The Member of the Board of Revenue in charge of the Department was unable to inspect any of the major settlements during the year.

3. Considerable relief has been afforded to the Director of Land Records by the entire transfer of petty settlements and connected correspondence to the Commissioners and the Board: a manual of standard procedure for these minor operations has been under consideration during the year, and will shortly be issued.

General results.

4. The Director of Land Records has had during the year the supervision of settlements, including both the major and minor operations, in all the nine Divisions except Bhagalpur and the Presidency: the survey work has extended over seven Divisions, Dacca and Bhagalpur alone not having been touched. The following areas were under the control of the Director of Land Records:—(1) for settlements of revenue in temporarily-settled tracts and Government estates (inclusive of portions of permanently-settled and revenue-free estates included in the survey operations), 8,178 square miles; (2) for survey and record of rights in private estates, 3,669 square miles; (3) for survey and record of rights in wards' estates, 1,189 square miles; total 13,037 square miles, as compared with 12,490 square miles in 1892-93. The following statement shows the general outturn and cost of survey-settlement work under the control of the two Directors during the year 1893-94, as compared with the two preceding years, according to the reports received:—

* Includes 363 square miles revision survey in Cuttack.

† Including revision survey of 105 square miles in Puri and 63 square miles in Gaya.

The cost of survey and settlements incurred by Government from the beginning of the operations up to the 30th September 1894 in the three important areas under settlement of land revenue, viz., Orissa, Chittagong, and the Western Duars, has increased from nearly 27 lakhs to nearly 32 lakhs of rupees. The expenditure in Wards' estates on account of survey and settlement proceedings has increased in two years from Rs. 71,147 to Rs. 1,30,223, exclusive of some revision proceedings in the several estates. In Private estates the expenditure has risen from Rs. 32,914 in 1891-92 to Rs. 5,94,144 in 1893-94, in consequence of the development of work in North Bihar, and in the estates of the Maharaja of Hill Tippera.

Statistics and reports.

5. In this Government's Resolution No. 118T.R., dated 30th May 1894, the Lieutenant-Governor expressed his views with regard to the improvements which he desired to see carried out in the statistical information furnished in the survey and settlement reports and in their arrangement, and he is glad to find that his wishes have been complied with. Ample statistical information has been generally supplied by the Settlement Officers, though not always in the same forms: and the Director of Land Records has been able in his General Summary to show the areas under settlement, of record-writing completed, of records attested and existing rents recorded, the number of tenants for whom rents were settled, and the area of final publication of records. The Director has also furnished a useful resumé of the important subjects of correspondence and legal decisions during the year with regard to procedure and principles of survey and settlement, which will be convenient for future reference. In the Survey Report the estates have been dealt with in the groups and order followed in the Settlement Report, as directed last year.

6. In the following paragraphs the progress made in the larger survey-settlements will be reviewed in the same order as in preceding years.

BIHAR.

Survey.

7. By the end of the season, out of the whole area of 12,524 square miles of the four districts of North Bihar under survey-settlement, traverse survey remains to be completed in 4,098 square miles, cadastral survey in 8,830, and record-writing in 9,179. The work done from the beginning of the operations is shown in the following statement :—

* The figures for Muzaffarpur exclude the work done during the experimental survey of 1885-86.

8. These figures show that the traverse had got far ahead of the cadastral survey, and its progress was therefore greatly curtailed in 1894-95, and confined to the completion of the Saran district. The cadastral survey has somewhat improved in quantity; in 1892-93 one party accomplished 945 square miles; in 1893-94 two parties covered 2,045 square miles. This, however, is still below the rate at which trained amins ought to work, and it is hoped that in the current year a nearer approach will be made to the standard of 1,250 square miles per party. The amins employed are partly from the North-Western Provinces and partly local men (but not patwaris, the employment of these having been forbidden by Sir A. P. MacDonnell's orders in the autumn of 1893 as noticed in the Resolution on the previous year's report): the former are always better in survey work, while the latter come near them or even surpass them in record-writing. In the Saran district there were 108 foreign and 99 local amins, in Champaran 79 and 127, in Muzaffarpur 198 and 294 respectively. The total number is 905, and as they surveyed 2,045 square miles, the average area per amin was 2·26 square miles in the season. Their respective capacity for work is shown in the following table of daily outturn:—

The variation in the figures of the cost-rate shown in columns 9, 10, 11 of the table in the last paragraph is partly explained by these variations in the rates of work, but too much stress must not be laid on the figures, as the work of one year has to some extent overlapped and fallen on the next year, and the cost-rate of the respective stages of work cannot be accurately given till the work is entirely finished in a district or part of a district. The record-writing fell a little behind the mapping in 1892-93, and still more so in 1893-94; taking the two years together, of 290 miles mapped in 1892–94, the records had to be written when the season of 1894-95 opened. Most of these arrears accrued in Muzaffarpur, where the records are more complicated because of the complicated tenures and minute subdivisions of proprietary right in the coparcenary villages.

9. Colonel Sandeman gives the following account of the changes made during the year in the technique of the work of record-writing:—

"Formerly one man constructed the map, and another frequently wrote the records; the map and the numbers in it were left in pencil for a draftsman to ink them in office; another draftsman finished the map; a third wrote the title, a fourth the surrounding names; special estimators extracted the areas; one set of muharrirs entered them in the khasras, others in the khatians, which were written by a special establishment; terijes, milan khasras, and crop statements were all prepared by special and separate establishments. At every step a stranger to the records of a village had the handling of them. The loss of power in such a system can only be appreciated by those who have seen the voluminous and complicated nature of many a village record.

"Under the new orders our establishments are of fixed strength in each camp, and are also employed during the recess in completing their own work. The season's area for survey is divided among them, each man having a small circle of two-and-a-half square miles, or as much as he can do. Of this area he submits maps, complete as to outline, topography, title, and adjoining names—all in ink; he and his muharrir, who will also be the chainman in future (a reform introduced by Lieutenant Crichton), write the khasras and parchas, extract areas, khatians, milan khasras, terijes and crop statements themselves,—in fact, they do everything from start to finish of their own villages, so that the record never changes hands, which is an improvement which can hardly be too highly rated."

The principle thus introduced is that of doing in the field only that part of the work which must be done there, leaving the rest of the record to be completed in the recess. The Lieutenant-Governor believes that the aim of the Survey Department should be to accomplish the following work in the field: the map should be plotted, the fields numbered, and the areas roughly taken out by the amins with the comb; the khasra should be filled up except in cases where disputes are found to exist and the amin is not authorized to make an entry; the parcha should be prepared in counterfoil, entering the names of tenants, numbers of fields, and approximate areas; one copy of it should then be given to the tenant with a warning that the areas are liable to alteration, and that the places for rent and status will be filled up at the time of attestation. The rest of the record should be prepared during the recess.

10. As regards the principles on which the record-writing should be based, there was considerable discussion during the year. Material changes had been introduced by the Lieutenant-Governor in the season 1892-93, by allowing the amins to make the preliminary entries of rent and status against each tenant's name in the records, and where a dispute as to the facts existed, to make in red ink the entry which they found or believed to be true. This was contrary to the previous practice in Bengal, though it was in conformity with the practice of other Provinces in India. It was opposed by the Board on the ground that too much power was thrown into the amin's hands, while the argument on the other side was that the system of check and control was so complete that the amin could hardly misuse his power, and that such facts can be more accurately collected by an inspecting officer on the field than by a judicial officer sitting in his tent as a Court. Sir A. P. MacDonnell, while officiating as Lieutenant-Governor, agreed with the Board of Revenue, and directed the procedure to be based on their views. On Sir C. Elliott's return from leave, a compromise was arranged by which the landlord should give in a list of his tenants and their rents, and the amin should make entries according to this list unless the tenant denied its accuracy, in which case he should enter in red ink the rent which he declared himself to pay.

The season was then (at the end of January 1895) far advanced, and it was impossible to introduce this system very widely. So far as it was put in force, it was not approved by the officers who had to work it, as great delay took place in filing the lists, and many errors were found in them when filed. At the close of the season reports were sent in which were generally condemnatory of it, and the Lieutenant-Governor proposed to abandon it and revert to the system which he had introduced in 1892-93. The Government of India, however, decided that what may be called the special Bengal system should be retained, under which the entries of rent and status are not made in the field but in the attestation camp; and in matters under dispute the amin makes no entry, and unless an inspecting Revenue Officer can settle the dispute on the spot, while the record-writing is going on, the column remains blank, to be filled up at the time of attestation.

11. The settlement work done in each of the three districts during the two years 1892-93 and 1893-94 is shown in the following statement:—

12. In the previous year the records of 466 square miles had been written and those of 66 square miles attested, leaving 400 square miles to be done. The programme for 1893-94 was to write the records of 1,015 square miles which were to be surveyed, besides an area of 63 miles over from last year, and to attest the 400 square miles of which records were prepared last year. Two Assistants were appointed to supervise the record-writing, but the area done only amounted to 788 square miles; the defect is attributed mainly to floods, an epidemic of cholera, minute subdivision of proprietary right, and greater care to turn out accurate work. The attestation work (which actually covered 376 instead of 400 square miles), was divided between four officers: it was begun early in October and lasted about six months, during which time 150,069 tenants were attested with 487,090 plots, or about 3¼ plots apiece. Thus each officer on an average slightly exceeded the standard number of plots, 20,000 per month, and covered the average area of 94 square miles. The case-work was carried on by three Assistants during the recess: it was heavy under sections 105 and 106, but the enhancement suits under section 104 were few and unimportant; suits were brought only against 2,273 tenants, or about 1·5 per cent. of the whole number attested, and the rents were raised from Rs. 23,600 to Rs. 24,240—a rise of 3·7 per cent. The majority of these cases were decided on the basis of a compromise in which the raiyat acknowledged the truth of the allegations as to encroachment. Almost all the cases were tried by Mr. Lyon himself. The following remarks are quoted from his report on the subject. They show that the principles on which contested suits of this class should be decided are in a very unsatisfactory state, and in all probability they will have to be clearly laid down by legislation :—

"The basis of the large majority of the applications has been the discovery that the tenants are holding more land than they are entitled to hold at the rent which they are paying, but the judgment of the Settlement Officer has been so greatly fettered by the case-law that has grown up around this subject, that comparatively few cases on this basis have been proved against the tenants, even when the fact that they were cultivating excess land was patent to the enquiring officer. In a closely cultivated district like Muzaffarpur there is little room for extension of cultivation, but the pressure on the soil has been so great of recent years, that many raiyats have undoubtedly taken advantage of the leniency or carelessness of their landlords to absorb into their holdings small patches of waste or lands abandoned by other tenants, without any increase to their rent. In villages in which rents are screwed up to the highest point by constant remeasurements and resettlements, such encroachments are quickly discovered, and the rents of the trespassers are immediately enhanced by the landlords; but in those in which rents have been allowed for many years to stand unchanged at a low figure, and in which the landlord has made no recent enquiries as to the capacity of his tenants to bear a higher rental, these encroachments have been left for the survey to discover. It is accordingly from the more lenient landlords that the chief applications for increase of rents usually come, and it is rarely found that the rents which it is proposed to enhance are already calculated at high rates. For the above reasons it is to be regretted that the case-law relating to this question should have made it increasingly difficult for these landlords to take fair advantage of the survey operations, and to obtain rent at the current rates for lands which are at present practically paying no rents and to which the holders have no real title. The Bengal Tenancy Act clearly intended that they should obtain rent for these lands, and even instructed the Settlement Officer in certain cases to proceed of his own motion to settle rent on such lands, but successive interpretations of the Act by the High Court have imposed on the landlord conditions as to proof of the increase in area which it is well nigh impossible for most of them to fulfil. At the same time these conditions have not yet been clearly laid down or defined, and it is not altogether easy to deduce them from the cases which have hitherto been decided, with the result that neither the applicants nor the tenants understand what has to be proved, and their legal advisers, and even the Assistant Settlement Officers themselves, are hardly better informed. There has consequently been a failure on the part of the Settlement Courts to meet the reasonable expectations of some of the best landlords of the district, the officers presiding in those Courts having found themselves unable to settle a fair rent under the law, even in cases in which the applications were made in respect to tenants who were clearly trespassers on lands to which they had no right."

Champaran.

13. In the Champaran district the records of 320 square miles out of 416 square miles surveyed had been written in 1892-93 and were ready for attestation: the programme was to write the records of the arrear area (94 square miles) and of about 500 square miles to be surveyed in the current year, and to attest the area prepared last year together with as much more as could be done in the early part of the current season. The record-writing of the season covered about 600 square miles, and this was placed under two inspecting officers. The area actually attested was 380 square miles: it was divided into four circles—three of about 100 square miles each, and one which was only opened in December of 70 square miles. The number of tenants attested was 61,022, with 323,511 plots—about 5½ plots to each tenant: work began early in November, and lasted till the end of April; assuming that it went on in full swing for five full months, each officer attested about 16,000 plots a month, which is considerably below the standard of 20,000 plots. The average area covered by each officer was 95 square miles. The most important class of cases in this district is the enhancement class under section 104. The work done was almost entirely within the limits of the Bettia estate, in which there has been a great spread of cultivation in recent years: and claims were put in for increased rent on account of this increase of area. Suits were brought against 15,720 out of a total of about 45,000 tenants—a proportion of one in three, and their rents were raised from

Rs. 1,07,439 to Rs. 1,20,833—a rise of 12·4 per cent. These cases were tried by Mr. Colvin himself and two Assistants, Babu Promotha Nath Dutt and Maulvi Gholam Ghous.

Saran.

14. In Saran no field survey or record-writing had been done the previous year, and consequently there was nothing ready for attestation at the commencement of the season. The programme of the year was to write the records of the 500 square miles which were to be surveyed, and to attest a small portion of that area, if the records could be completed and sent in in time. Two officers were employed in inspecting the record-writing which was completed for 527 square miles out of the 549 square miles surveyed, and at the end of February one attestation camp was started under Munshi Nundjee, and an area of 19 square miles was completed by the end of April. During the recess he was employed in case-work. Enhancement suits were brought against 426 tenants out of a total of 4,525, or about 10 per cent., and their rents raised from Rs. 2,779 to Rs. 2,992; the ground of enhancement in almost all cases was increase of area.

The sphere of this work lay entirely within the Hatwa Estate, and the accuracy of the jamabandis kept up by the Maharaja's Manager facilitated the preparation of correct records and their attestation with comparatively few disputes. Two peculiar classes of cases, however, arose in this estate from the Maharaja's claims. He denied that the raiyats' homestead lands form a part of their holdings, and the Settlement Officer accepted his claim so far that he drew up a separate list of these holdings in each village, recording the Maharaja as proprietor and the raiyats as occupants holding rent-free and not liable to ejectment. Again, the Maharaja made extensive claims to "zerat," (or proprietors' sir land) including in that category lands thrown up and leased afresh to new cultivators, and many disputes have arisen out of these claims.

15. The result of the settlement, so far as it has gone in these three districts in recording the status, area and rent of each class of tenant, is shown in the following table:—

The salient points in this statment are—

(1) The great preponderance of "settled raiyats" in all three districts.

(2) The lower rate of rent in the Bettiah estate as compared with the other two districts.

Taking all classes of raiyats together, the average rate per annum in Saran is Rs. 4-12-5, in Muzaffarpur Rs. 3-4-1 and in Champaran (Bettiah) Re. 1-14-5. This low rate explains and justifies the large amount of enhancement claimed and decreed in this district.

16. The total cost of settlement in the operations in North Bihar down to the end of 1893-94 amounts to Rs. 1,84,324, and the expenditure on traverse and cadastral surveys, including record-writing, in Muzaffarpur, Champaran, Saran and Darbhanga, being Rs. 6,51,203, the total amount spent in North Bihar on survey and the preparation of a record of rights down to the end of September 1894 is Rs. 8,35,527. The Settlement Officer of Champaran and Saran states that the cost of settlement of the area already dealt with in those districts will not much exceed 5 annas an acre (exclusive of survey), and he hopes that with the experience now acquired work will be done more cheaply.

ORISSA—Survey.

17. The survey of the temporarily-settled estates in Orissa has now been completed with the exception of a few scattered mahals, comprising a few square miles, in killa Aul in the district of Cuttack. The following table shows the progress made in each year from the commencement of the operations in 1889-90:—

N.B.—In the case of 363 square miles in Cuttack (dealt with in a previous season, not in 1893-94), the work consisted of the revision of the maps and records of a previous cadastral survey of the canal-irrigated area, and no traverse survey was found necessary.

18. The year's survey work comprised the measurement of an area of 105 square miles in Puri, belonging to the Temple of Jagannath, undertaken on the application and at the expense of the Temple authorities, and the completion of the Balasore district, of which 649 miles remained over for survey and record-writing, besides an arrear from 1882-93 of 15 miles, the records of which had not been written. The year's work also included the tracings and final preparation of the records of Cuttack town, the survey of which was commenced in 1891-92, and the survey of the town of Balasore as also the demarcation of the Madras boundary bordering on the Chilka lake.

With the exception of the Jagannath Temple lands, mentioned above, the survey hitherto has been confined to the temporarily-settled estates and to a few permanently-settled estates intermingled with temporarily-settled estates or commanded by State canals. With a view to make the new map of Orissa complete, it has been decided that a village boundary survey with topographical details should be made of the other permanently-settled estates in Orissa, which are estimated to comprise in all 1,060 square miles, and the work is in progress during the current season.

The total cost incurred under the head of survey from the beginning of the operations down to the 30th September 1891, amounted to Rs. 2,36,028 according to the Surveyor-General's reports. The following table shows the amounts expended during the last three survey years:—

* The cost of Balasore for 1893-94 excludes cost of Balasore town, which amounts to Rs. 2,036.

Excluding Rs. 6,293, which represents cost of the revision of survey of the Puri Temple lands, the total expenditure in Orissa under the head of survey amounts approximately to—

19. Mr. W. Maude was in charge of the settlement work in both districts with 23 Assistants under him. His programme was (1) to carry on the supervision of the record-writing in Balasore, of which three officers were in charge, Messrs. Maddox, Taylor and Cumming, who inspected 770 villages between them: this work was carried out with exceptional vigour and completeness; (2) to complete as much attestation work as possible. All the 23 Assistants were employed on this work—some for nearly seven months, some for shorter periods when they could be spared from inspection of record-writing or other special work: but the progress made was disappointing. In Cuttack 13 officers working altogether for 74 months, attested 101,548 tenants with 438,158 plots, or $4\frac{1}{3}$ plots to each tenant. The average work done was therefore only 5,921 plots per mensem, and each officer covered an area of about 25 miles. In Balasore 10 officers working altogether for 38 months, attested 108,435 tenants with 475,833 plots ($4\frac{2}{3}$ plots per tenant), giving an average of 12,523 plots per mensem, or more than double the Cuttack rate. It is difficult to explain the extraordinary smallness of the Cuttack outturn. It is said that the records had been badly prepared and ill-inspected, and this is to some extent true, but in the previous year 17 officers in Orissa had attested 11,20,721 plots, or 66,000 each, or about 11,000 per mensem, while, in 1893-94, 23 officers attested only 917,029 plots. The Balasore staff was abler and more energetic, while the Lieutenant-Governor found that there was lack of intelligence and zeal among those of the Cuttack staff who were inspected by himself and the Director in April 1894. He does not, however, wish to say too much on the subject, as the reproach has been wiped away during the current year, the progress having been at the rate of not less than 20,000 plots per man up to the present month. The following table shows the entire progress in attestation work from the beginning of the work:—

20. Only three officers were retained during the recess, the rest reverting to general duty. Mr. Taylor was employed on the work of fixing fair rents. He prepared rate maps for 41 villages in pargana Bakhrabad, near Cuttack, and settled fair rents for 32 villages, containing 5,320 tenants whose rents were raised from Rs. 7,384 to Rs. 11,054. The Director of Land Records observes that this work and the assessment of revenue promise to be attended with much difficulty in Orissa on account of the length of period which has elapsed since the last settlement, the number of privileged tenures, and the cumbrous nature of the procedure of the Tenancy Act.

Another Assistant Settlement Officer, Babu Prasanna Kumar Banerjee, tabulated statistics for eight parganas of the district of Puri, with the result that out of 201,536 tenancies, excluding under-raiyats, 140,181 were found to be of settled and occupancy raiyats, 10,761 of non-occupancy raiyats, and the remainder holdings of proprietors and tenure-holders and holdings of rent-free tenants. The table, however, is not prepared in such a way as to be compared with the figures presented above in paragraph 15 for the three Bihar districts. A third was employed in publishing draft records and in case-work; 563 boundary cases and 10 disputes under section 106 were disposed of.

21. Much more work ought to have been done during the year in regard to both these items. The tabulation of results as to status and existing rents should go on pari passu with the attestation, and should afford the Settlement Officer grounds for his first rough estimate of the character of the fair rent settlement which has to be undertaken. And he should both take that settlement in his own hands and also employ two or three of his most capable Assistants on it in order that by degrees experience may be obtained, and a system laid down. It is a great mistake for a Settlement Officer to keep his eyes too much fixed on one class of work and to aim at finishing attestation (for instance) over the whole district, before enhancement cases are begun or the principles of the settlement of Land Revenue worked out.

22. The cost incurred during the year ending 30th September 1894 amounted to Rs. 1,66,331, which, distributed over 634 square miles, the total area attested, gives a cost rate of about Rs. 262 per square mile, or about 6½ annas per acre, against 7½ annas, the rate per acre arrived at in the previous year. The total cost of the settlement operations down to the end of the year is reported to be Rs. 6,08,320, and the expenditure under the head of survey being Rs. 9,52,300, the total amount expended on the survey and settlement operations in Orissa down to 30th September 1894 amounts to Rs. 15,60,620.

Chittagong.

23. In Chittagong the survey work is completed and the survey parties have left the district. The settlement was under Mr. Allen, aided by six Assistant Settlement Officers; the aim of the staff was to finish attestation, to make progress with the settlement of fair rents, and to complete the identification of the 80,000 new mahals with those of the old settlement—a work known as "mahal milan." Accordingly these officers completed the attestation of 72,036 tenants with 319,609 fields, or about 4½ plots to each tenant. This work was done with the expedition which always characterised the Chittagong attestation, at the rate of about 25,000 plots to each officer per month. The area covered was 283 square miles, or 94 square miles apiece: one camp closed work at the end of December, the other two at the end of March. The work of "mahal milan" was more complicated than had been anticipated, and only half the programme was got through. But it was in the work of settling fair rents that the greatest disappointment was experienced, only 13,780 tenants being disposed of, instead of 150,000 as had been hoped. Mr. Allen and five of his assistants took part in this work, and he attributes the delay to legal difficulties, and to the cumbrous procedure which was thought necessary. The new rules published under the Tenancy Act in November last have removed some of the difficulty, and in the current year the standard of 1,500 tenants per mensem for each officer is being worked up to. Even at this rate it will take to the end of the season 1895-96 to finish the 250,000 Noabad tenancies whose fair rents have to be fixed.

The following table shows the outturn of work under the principal heads from the beginning of the settlement to the end of the year under review.

(a) The records of only the permanently-settled portions of these villages have been published.

24. In the Thana Ramu the new assessments came into force from 1894-95 in 48 of the 50 villages, the revenue being raised from Rs. 89,328 to Rs. 1,20,466. The collection of the enhanced revenue imposed on the Noabad taluks has so far been very satisfactory. The final report on the assessment of this circle has not yet been received, but is expected shortly.

The effect of the settlements of fair rents in the Sadar subdivision in increasing the Government revenue is as follows:—

CLASSES OF TENANTS.	Number of tenants.	Former rental.	New rental.	INCREASE.
				Amount.	Percentage.
1	2	3	4	5	6
		Rs.	Rs	Rs.
Talukdars	1,571	4,687	7,841	3,154	67·

Tenants who previously paid no rent ...	232	......	612	612
Total ...	3,987	8,788	12,837	4,049	46

Rents of raiyats have been generally left untouched except where new lands have been taken up: in the assessment of taluks at least 30 per cent. of the assets has been left to the talukdars, and, where there is any likelihood of hardship resulting from too large an increase of the rent payable by the talukdar, a discretion has been left to the Settlement Officer to leave a larger percentage of the assets to the talukdar, and to take progressive enhancements. In order to prevent excessive enhancement in any particular case, the general rule has been laid down that (except where the amount is extremely small) no one's rent should be more than doubled, and where necessary the Settlement Officer is empowered to ease off the increase by progressive assessments, not taking the whole at one step.

25. Statistics have been tabulated for 601,211 of the 759,112 tenancies for which rights and existing rents have been recorded:—

The Board have rightly remarked on these surprisingly high rent rates which exceed anything on record in other parts of Bengal, and an explanation should be furnished by the Settlement Officer as to the manner in which these figures have been reached and the productive capacity of the soil from which such heavy rents can be realised.

27. Of the other major settlements, that of the Western Duars was all but finished last year. During 1893-94 the work done consisted of the publication of records in Ambari-Falakata, the confirmation of the settlement in each pargana by the Commissioner, the writing of the completion report and other minor items of office work. The Lieutenant-Governor had expected it to be finished at latest by the end of March, but it lingered on to the middle of October. As stated by the Director of Land Records, the settlement has increased the revenue from Rs. 2,33,999 to Rs. 3,74,901, or 60·21 per cent., and the cost incurred on 504,638 acres cadastrally surveyed and settled, and 269,570 acres surveyed on the scale of 2 inches to the mile, is—

28. The traverse survey was begun in August 1893, and 38 square miles were completed in 1892-93. In the season 1893-94, 247 square miles were traversed, 131 square miles cadastrally surveyed and their records partially written, but none were ready for attestation during the field season.

Palamau.

The total cost of the traverse work amounted to Rs. 7,749, or about Rs. 24·4 per square mile, and that of field survey and record-writing to Rs. 12,085 and Rs. 8,204, or Rs. 92·5 and Rs. 62·8 per square mile respectively. No Settlement Officer was employed. Attestation was commenced in August 1894 under an Assistant Settlement Officer, who had been employed till then in inspecting the record-writing; he attested the records of 33 villages covering an area of 21·69 square miles, with 1,591 tenants and 18,925 plots: 12 plots to each tenant. The cost incurred under this head was Rs. 1,145. This was far below the out-turn of work anticipated, the failure being due to the slowness with which the local and untrained amins worked. The operations were supervised by the Deputy Commissioner, Mr. W. R. Bright.

The status of 1,557 out of the 1,591 tenants was recorded as follows:—

Class.	Number.	Cultivated area.	Rent.	Rate per acre.
1	2	3	4	5
		Acres.	Rs.	Rs. A. P.
Tenure-holders ...	4	29	117	4 0 0

Rent-free holders ...	17	43	...	...
Total ...	1,557	7,969	8,307	...

The large number of non-occupancy raiyats is partly due to the great increase of cultivation in recent years, and apparently some of them are under-tenants of the thikadars.

No progress has yet been made in determining the principles on which the settlement is to be based.

29. The only other settlements which are of sufficient importance for special mention are those of the Tikari Ward's Estate in the district of Gaya and the estates of His Highness the Maharaja of Hill Tippera, in the districts of Tippera and Noakhali.

30. The traverse survey was commenced late in the season 1891-92, and finished in 1892-93: the field survey and record-writing which began in 1892-93 were completed in 1893-94. The survey work done and the cost incurred since the beginning is as follows:—

According to the latest account received, the Survey Department have finished their work in these estates at a total cost of Rs. 1,87,551 which, distributed over the total area (559·15 square miles) which came under traverse survey, gives a rate of Rs. 335·4 per square mile, or 8 annas and 4 pies per acre. This high rate is attributed to the great difficulties experienced in the record-writing, the complicated nature of the tenures, and the want of information among the Maharaja's staff as to the areas occupied by the various talukdars and tenure-holders who pay rent to His Highness. These difficulties were aggravated by the Survey officer, who in neglect of orders, gave out no "parchas" to the occupiers of land during the season of 1892-93. The cost has also been somewhat increased by the survey being prolonged over two seasons at the request of the Maharaja.

The Settlement Officer was changed three times during the year owing to unavoidable causes, and the progress made in settlement work was far from satisfactory. The two Assistant Settlement Officers were mainly employed in inspecting the record-writing and deciding petty disputes. No attestation work was done, and no attempt was made to decide, or to lay down a basis for deciding, a test case relating to the two important classes of disputes between the Maharaja and his talukdars; viz., the rate at which a fair rent, based on the rents received by the talukdars from the cultivating raiyats, should be settled; and the status of a talukdar who holds both rent-paying and rent-free lands under the Maharaja, the aggregate area being far larger than the area to which he is entitled by patta. The Lieutenant-Governor visited the Tippera district in the rains of 1894, and thought it necessary to remove the Settlement Officer and place the work in the hands of Mr. J. G. Cumming, C.S. The cost incurred in settlement operations during the year was Rs. 23,406, and from the beginning Rs. 38,804.

There was only one officer of the Settlement Department to supervise the record-writing and decide boundary disputes which numbered 235, of which only 75 were decided. From 1st April 1894, this settlement was placed under the superintendence of Mr. P. C. Lyon, Settlement Officer, Muzaffarpur. The cost under the head of Settlement being Rs. 5,033, the total cost down to 30th September 1894 amounts to Rs. 96,234. Colonel Sandeman reports that the attitude of the inhabitants was generally favourable to the survey.

* This includes expenditure on 10 estates, the settlement of which was finished before the beginning of the year.
† The rest is jungle, rivers, &c., surveyed on the scale of 4 inches to the mile.

Sonthal Parganas.

33. Besides the above-mentioned operations, the settlement of private estates in the Sonthal Parganas, which was not under the control of the Director of Land Records, continued under Mr. J. A. Craven with three Assistant Settlement Officers. The settlement of five estates comprising 190·3 square miles of cultivated and 200·9 square miles of uncultivated lands had been completed by the end of October 1893. The Pargana of Teur and the Sonthal villages in Parganas Sultanabad and Ambar, comprising 873 villages, with an area of 461·8 square miles, of which 277 square miles are cultivated, were brought under settlement during the year. The survey and record-writing of the entire area were completed as well as the attestation of all but 14 villages. The number of tenants attested was 36,214, with 900,935 plots, including uncultivated land. Fair rents were settled for all these tenants, the amount being raised from Rs. 97,916 to Rs. 1,43,811, ad rise of nearly 50 per cent. The principal work of the Settlement consisted in ousting the foreigners ("Dikkus") who under the Regulations are not allowed to hold land in Sonthal villages, but who, being mostly money-lenders or shopkeepers, had managed by sale mortgage or sub-lease to secure possession of the lands of Sonthal cultivators and had to be evicted unless they had been in possession for many years. These proceedings involved the deciding of over 10,000, civil suits. The records of 249 villages were finally published, and since the close of the year the Settlement Officer has reported the completion of final publication with regard to the rest of the villages. The expenditure incurred during the year amounted to Rs. 71,830, and the total cost since the beginning of the operations to Rs. 1,45,781.

Maintenance of settlement records.

34. In Chapter V of his Report, the Director of Land Records has summarised the correspondence that has passed on the subject of the maintenance of settlement records. The question is being discussed with regard to several estates, but no real work has yet been done. As regards Bihar, the proposal of the Bengal Government to make the registration of all mutations compulsory under a penalty, having been approved by Her Majesty's Secretary of State, a Bill has been drawn up and is now before the Bengal Legislative Council. In Orissa, rules for the maintenance of settlement records are under preparation for Khurda, Angul, and Banki, on the basis of the Central Provinces Patwari Rules. In Khurda, the current settlement of which will expire on 7th September 1897, the sarbarahkars will revise the maps and records for purposes of the new settlement, and they are now being trained under the supervision of Mr. R. C. Ewing, Assistant Superintendent of Survey, who is in charge of the Orissa Survey.

35. As in previous years, Colonel J. E. Sandeman and Mr. W. C. Macpherson have both managed their Departments very successfully, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires his warm acknowledgments to be conveyed to them for their indefatigable energy and enthusiasm. Lieutenant R. T. Crichton has shown great ability in his conduct of the survey operations in North Bihar, and some valuable reforms in the details of procedure have been suggested and carried out by him. The following officers deserve the special thanks of Government for their successful conduct of the settlement operations during the year:—

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

POLLUTION OF THE WATER OF RIVERS IN BENGAL.

JUDICIAL.

Calcutta, the 16th April 1895.

RESOLUTION—No. 2151J.

READ—

A letter No. 1074, dated the 2nd February 1895, from the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal on the practice of casting dead bodies into the rivers of Bengal.

The attention of Government has repeatedly been called to the highly obnoxious and insanitary practice which prevails among the poorer class of Hindus of casting dead bodies in the river as well as of staking their dead in the beds of rivers in order to avoid the expense of cremation or burial in prescribed places. The subject is one which came prominently to the notice of the Commission (Dr. Lidderdale and Messrs. Paul and Wickes) appointed in 1881 to enquire into the causes of the epidemic fever of Nadia, and they referred to it in the following forcible and graphic terms:—

Casting of Corpses.

"A very large, perhaps the largest, part of the water-supply of the district is from dead rivers, and nothing can be worse than their condition. Corpses are freely thrown into them as long as there is sufficient water to cover the dead body. In many parts of the district no pretence of cremation was observed, and burning their dead among the lower classes of Hindus is evidently not now the custom. Near Meherpur, on the Bhyrub, just above the municipality, where a fishing weir had created a pool, a peculiar oily scum, very evidently of animal origin, was plentiful, clearly betokening that many corpses had been thrown there, while all along the course of this stream there was further evidence of the practice. Near Akundaberia, the lake that is now the source of the Cobaduck was manifestly a favourite spot for this immersion of corpses, for dozens of turtles came swimming to where we happened to stop to converse with the villagers, evidently mistaking our gathering for a funeral party, and so expecting to obtain a meal.

"Nothing can be more horrible or more dangerous than this practice of throwing the bodies of the dead—many perhaps victims of contagious disease—into the drinking water-supply of the survivors. At all costs it should be prevented. The extracts appended from communications received from Babu Shama Churn Chatterjee and other inhabitants of Durgapur show that the more intelligent natives are fully alive to the danger, but the mass of the people are utterly careless and thoughtless. At a place called Bura Soloosh the villagers took credit to themselves for throwing their dead into the Mysore stream below their village, but only smiled when it was pointed out that this stream, a mile lower down, flowed past Kaloopole and supplied its inhabitants with water.

"The custom has long existed, but in this time of excessive mortality and sickness has enormously increased, probably owing to the survivors being unfitted by ill-health or prevented by poverty from obtaining sufficient fuel. The scarcity of fuel is, no doubt, the great obstacle to proper cremation; forests and jungles have long since disappeared, and the sole supply available is derived from the village lands. The amount belonging to each village is insufficient in ordinary years, and therefore cannot possibly meet the demands of periods of sickness. The difficulty is further complicated in some places by private rights in existing burning ghâts, which add greatly to the cost of cremation. Altogether the question is so involved that we confess that after careful thought we are unable to suggest any really satisfactory solution."

2. During 1883 and 1884 there were constant complaints to Government of the great insanitary inconvenience occasioned by dead bodies in the rivers of the Nadia district, and especially of the Chooadangah sub-division, but no effectual steps were taken to remedy the evil.

3. In Calcutta itself the number of dead bodies and carcasses floating in the river Hooghly and dealt with by the Calcutta River Police has of recent years shown a tendency to decrease, and although the actual decrease as shown by the figures given in the margin is not great if the past ten or fifteen years only be considered, there can be no doubt that a very different state of things exists now from that which was formerly the case. It was reported by Mr. Wauchope, the Commissioner of Police in 1864, that no less than 4,187 dead bodies of human beings were thrown into the river in Calcutta during 1863, of which 1,690 were from the various hospitals. It was estimated that in addition to this number, nearly 100 bodies a day, which had floated down the river from neighbouring districts, were sunk by the establishment entertained for the purpose. An agitation was at that time set on foot, and after much public discussion and correspondence with the Justices of the Peace for the Town of Calcutta, a body which exercised functions corresponding to those of the Municipal Commissioners of the present day, orders were issued by Sir Cecil Beadon's Government which concluded with the following words:—

No. 1762, dated 16th March 1864.

"The Lieutenant-Governor desires to congratulate the Justices on the great advance made in practical sanitation by providing for the cremation of the bodies of paupers, and for the absolute prohibition of the practice of throwing the corpses of men and animals into the river. In 1854, when the Government desired to put a stop to this practice, it was represented that such a prohibition would, as regards the bodies of Hindus, be regarded as an unwarrantable interference with religion; but now the practice is condemned by the unanimous voice of the Native Justices, and its prohibition will accordingly be carried out with general consent. The Commissioners of the Burdwan and Nadia Divisions have already been desired to prevent the practice of throwing dead bodies into the river or into the nullahs leading to it."

4. The present state of things therefore is very different from that which prevailed thirty-one years ago, and the improvement is primarily due to the vigorous executive measures taken by the police and municipal authorities. The evil, however, still continues on a serious scale, and in 1887 a Conference consisting of the officials noted on the margin assembled in Calcutta under the orders of Sir Steuart Bayley to consider and report on the practice of throwing corpses and carcasses into the river Hooghly. It was shown to the satisfaction of that Conference that the corpses, which were generally those of Hindus whose mouths had been scorched with fire, came from places above the town of Calcutta and did not belong to Calcutta itself. The members of the Conference recorded their opinion that effective control over the practice would be a matter of great difficulty, but suggested that a proclamation should be issued under sections 188, 290, and 291, Indian Penal Code, forbidding bodies being thrown into the river without cremation, and that all riparian municipalities should be instructed to publish a special bye-law on the subject.

Mr. F. M. Halliday, Chairman of the Port Commissioners.
Mr. A. Smith, Commissioner of the Presidency Division.
Mr. R. H. Wilson, Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.
Mr. H. J. S. Cotton, Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.
Dr. R. Lidderdale, Sanitary Commissioner.

5. On receipt of this recommendation, the Lieutenant-Governor consulted the Law Officers of the Crown, and eventually directed the publication of the following notice in convenient places in the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions:—

"Any person found throwing a corpse or a carcass into the river Hooghly or the channels communicating with it, will be prosecuted under section 290, Indian Penal Code. The Government have been advised that the practice causes danger to health, and is therefore a common danger to the public and to the people in general who dwell in the vicinity of the river or the channels."

It cannot be said that the publication of this notice has produced much effect, so far as the corpses of human beings are concerned; but the number of carcasses of animals floated on the river has evinced a marked reduction. Prosecutions have been sparingly instituted, and the law has been applied with discretion, but in almost all cases convictions have been obtained.

6. The Sanitary Commissioner has now pressed upon the Government that similar notices to those published in the neighbourhood of Calcutta should be issued in all divisions of Bengal, and that a clause should be added forbidding the staking of dead bodies in the beds of rivers, khals or other water-courses which are resorted to for drinking or culinary purposes. He proposes also that all municipalities situated on rivers or other water-courses should be instructed to frame a bye-law on the subject, and that in rural tracts the provisions of section 290 of the Indian Penal Code should be rigorously enforced through the agency of the police, the village chaukidars, and the panchayets.

7. Before taking any action on these proposals, the Lieutenant-Governor desires to be favoured with the advice of Commissioners and District Officers as well as of associations and native gentlemen, official and non-official, who may be in a position to speak with authority on the subject. The practice of throwing dead bodies into a river is no doubt primarily due to the poverty of the poorer classes of Hindus who cannot afford to completely incinerate a corpse, and therefore merely scorch the lips of a dead body and then commit it to the river. The practice of staking bodies in the beds of rivers is not necessarily confined to the poorer classes, but is adopted after partial incineration in order to consign the unburnt remains to the sacred stream. Both practices are probably now far less in vogue than formerly—a change due partly to police interference and partly to modified customs and habits among the people. Such a change must no doubt be very gradual when it extends over a whole province, but there is ample evidence in the records of Government to show that the practices referred to have in many cases become highly repugnant to Hindus themselves. The members of the Nadia Fever Commission, in the extract from their report already quoted, refer to a communication received from Babu Shama Churn Chatterjee and other inhabitants of Gosain Durgapur on the subject, and the Lieutenant-Governor has caused these notes to be annexed to this Resolution as affording a favourable illustration of the opinions entertained by well-qualified and educated native gentlemen of the present day. His Honour does not wish to take measures which will be in direct opposition to Hindu sentiment. But he believes that the feeling of opposition to such steps as those proposed by Dr. Gregg is gradually dying out, and that an influential body of opinion would not hesitate to support their adoption. It is principally with a view to ascertaining opinion on the subject that this Resolution has been recorded. Commissioners and District Magistrates are requested to ascertain and report on the actual practice followed in their divisions and districts, and to elicit public opinion on the proposals put forward by the sanitary authorities to put a stop to the evil wherever it exists. With the same object the principal representative associations in the province will be consulted by Government direct.

8. The legal aspect of the question raises considerations of difficulty which were discussed on receipt of the report of the Conference of 1887, and in order to facilitate the present discussion of the subject, the opinion of the Honourable Advocate-General, dated 10th December 1888, is annexed, as a second appendix to this Resolution.

ORDERED that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Commissioners, and to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, for information, and for the favour of a report.

Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the leading Associations for information, and for the favour of careful consideration and report to Government.

Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Police, and to the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, for information, with reference to his letter No. 1074, dated 2nd February 1895.

Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Municipal Department of this office for information and for communication to the Sanitary Board.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H J. S. COTTON,

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

APPENDIX A.

POLLUTION OF RIVER WATER.

Extract from Notes on the probable causes of the increase of fever in and about Gosain Durgapur, by BABU SHAMA CHURN CHATTERJEE, B.A., M.B.

THE pollution of the only source of wholesome water is, we humbly beg to suggest, opposed to all laws—social, religious, and moral. It is a matter deeply to be regretted that the lower classes of the people have gradually got into the bad habit of throwing their dead bodies into the river water without being in any way checked. No argument is necessary to condemn such an objectionable practice. It should at once be put down by legislative measures. Our Shastras strictly enjoin that the dead bodies of men and beasts should not, under any circumstance whatever, be cast into the river. "If a Hindu (Joogis and Boiragees excepted) throws the remains of his deceased relative into the river in an unburnt state, he shall lose his caste, and not be allowed to perform the Sradh and other religious rites for the benefit of the deceased's soul. Only children under two years of age are to be buried in the earth." So say our wise forefathers and social legislators. Annexure A contains verses from the texts of Manu, Bramhopuran, Smirtha, and Jaganauth Tarkopunchanun, as collated by Pundit Sreenath Sironmoni of Durgapur. Such a consensus of opinion bearing the authority of even Manu himself deserves the respectful consideration of every enlightened Government. All these high authorities unanimously declare that the contamination of drinking water by throwing dead bodies into it should be strictly interdicted under penalty of forfeiture of caste. Our countrymen cannot in consonance with the injunctions of their own Shastras, raise the voice of opposition, if Government should consider it worth its while to interdict this hateful practice. Some may say that such interdiction by legal measures would press rather heavily upon the poorer classes of Hindus. Of course, Muhammadans are altogether out of question. My only answer to such objection would be that the proposed legislation would be entirely in keeping with the teachings of our Shastras and the laws of sanitary science. It is a laudable custom among our well-do-do countrymen, especially in villages, that whenever a poor Hindu requests them for a supply of fuel wood to burn their deceased relatives, they immediately and unhesitatingly comply with the poor man's request. The very poorest people, who cannot afford to pay for the trifle of a funeral expense, have this resource to fall back upon to enable them to discharge their last debt to dead humanity. It is therefore to be reasonably expected that Government will not permit them to persist in a course of malpractice based upon an act of sacrilege, and opposed to the simplest rules of hygiene and common sense.

Translation of Sanskrit passages.

THERE are three different rites which should be performed in reference to a deceased person. They are thus referred to in the Suddhikáriká:—"There is the preliminary rite, the intermediate rite, and the subsequent rite. The preliminary rite is described as one which commences with cremation, &c., and ends with the offering of the Pindas (funeral cakes)." It appears from texts like these that without cremation no right accrues to the intermediate and subsequent rites, inasmuch as he alone who has had his preliminary rite performed is entitled to the subsequent one. Hence it follows that the purificatory rite of cremation is required by all. But an objection may arise as to what is to be done with children who have not completed their second year, as cremation in their case is prohibited by the verse that "cremation should be performed to males and females alike above the age of two years." This objection is futile, since burial in the ground is provided by Yajnya Valkya in the verse "those who are under two years of age should be buried, and no libation of water is to be poured for them." From the principle that the meaning of the Shastras determined in one place is to be adopted in other places, if there be nothing to the contrary, burial in the ground is adopted in the case of Jugis and Vaishnabs; and from the same principle it follows that those who have no cremation should be buried in the ground.

The water of tanks, &c., gets defiled by contact with dead bodies. Thus the Brahma Purana:—"The bodies of those animals whose meat should not be used for food defile the water of tanks, wells, and reservoirs by coming in contact therewith." Bodies means carcasses, because in the next verse the word kunapa or carcase is used.

APPENDIX B.

OPINION.

IT is desired to put a stop to the practice which exists of throwing corpses and carcasses into the Hooghly, on the ground that the practice causes danger to health, and it has been suggested by the Conference appointed to consider the matter that a circular should be issued under sections 188, 290, and 291 of the Indian Penal Code, and by the Deputy Legal Remembrancer that a notification should be inserted in the Official Gazette under sections 134 and 144 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, forbidding the practice.

Section 188 of the Indian Penal Code provides that whoever knowing that, by an order promulgated by a public servant lawfully empowered to promulgate such order, he is directed to abstain from a certain act, disobeys such direction, shall, if such disobedience causes, or tends to cause, danger to health, be punished.

By section 268 a person who does any act which causes any common danger, injury, or annoyance to the public or to the people in general who dwell or occupy property in the vicinity, is guilty of a public nuisance.

Section 290 provides the punishment for a public nuisance not otherwise punishable. Section 291 provides the punishment for the repetition or continuance by any one of a public nuisance having been enjoined by any public servant who has lawful authority to issue such injunction not to repeat or continue such nuisance. Now, assuming that the practice of throwing corpses and carcasses into the Hooghly causes or tends to cause danger to health, before section 188, Indian Penal Code, can be brought into requisition for the purpose of suppressing the practice, an order would have to be promulgated by a public servant who is lawfully empowered to promulgate such order, directing the public to abstain from the practice. Is any public servant lawfully empowered to promulgate such order? In order to answer this question, it is necessary to ascertain with what powers of promulgating orders in cases of nuisances the law invests Magistrates. The Code of Criminal Procedure invests them with all the powers which they possess. Neither Chapter X of that Code, which deals with public nuisances, nor Chapter XI, which empowers certain Magistrates to issue temporary orders in urgent cases of nuisance (but to the public generally only when frequenting or visiting a particular place) in my opinion authorises the promulgation of such an order as it is desired to address to the public in the present case. And I may add that by no other portion of the Code are they so empowered. I am therefore of opinion that no Magistrate is lawfully empowered to promulgate an order addressed to the public directing them to abstain from throwing corpses or carcasses into the Hooghly. The only course which appears to me to be open to Government is to cause notices to be exhibited in convenient places, stating that any person found throwing a corpse or a carcase into the Hooghly will be prosecuted under section 290 of the Indian Penal Code, Government being advised that the practice causes danger to health, and is therefore a common danger to the public and to the people in general who dwell in the vicinity of the river.

Harvesting of rabi crops nearly completed; the outturn will be about 15 annas. Jute and bhadoi and aghani paddy are being sown. Price of common rice 18 to 25 seers per rupee. Fodder and water sufficient.

Cuttack.—Slight rain. Weather cloudy. Dalua (spring rice) harvest continues. Ploughing for next rice crop commenced in places where rain was sufficient. Condition of cattle good. Fodder sufficient. Rice sells at from 11 seers 13 chitaks to 26 seers 4 chitaks per rupee.

Hazaribagh.—Weather seasonable. Slight rain in places. Mahua harvest in progress with good prospects. Fodder scanty. Water sufficient. Common rice selling at from 14 to 20 seers per rupee.

General Summary.—Rain accompanied with thunderstorms fell generally over Bengal Proper and has done good. It was heavy in the Western districts, where it was especially wanted. In Bihar there was no rain and very little in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. The preparation of the land and the sowing of jute and of the bhadoi crops is going on. More rain is required in parts. Spring rice and indigo are doing well. In Orissa the spring rice is being harvested. The harvesting of the rabi crops is practically over, and the general result is good. The weighment of opium continues. The mango crop in Bihar promises well. Cattle-disease continues in Chittagong. The fodder-supply in Hazaribagh is still scanty. The price of common rice is generally steady with a slight tendency to fall.
